Financial

First Mortgage 6% Ten Year Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of National Conduit & Cable Company, Inc.

The undersigned Committee has received an offer from a responsible party to buy all FIRST MORTGAGE SIX PER CENT. TEN YEAR SINKING FUND GOLD BONDS of NATIONAL CONDUIT & CABLE COMPANY, INC., which are deposited with The National City Bank of New York, No. 55 Wall Street, New York City, on or before Tuesday, June 5th, 1923, at seventy cents (70c) on the dollar of principal, without interest, that is, at $700 net cash for each $1000 bond, with the coupon due October 1, 1921, and all subsequent coupons attached, payable at said Bank, in New York funds, on or before June 20th, 1923; provided, that if less than seventy per cent. (70%) in amount of the total issue of said bonds should be deposited with said Bank on or before said 5th day of June, 1923, the party making the offer will have the right either to purchase at said price the amount of bonds which has been deposited or to withdraw the offer and refuse to take any bonds.

To avail themselves of this offer, holders of Certificates of Deposit for bonds deposited with this Committee under the Bondholders Protective Agreement, dated April 1, 1921, should immediately send in their Certificates of Deposit to the said Bank, so that they will be received not later than June 5th, 1923, and holders of bonds which have not been deposited under said Agreement should immediately send in their bonds, with all unpaid and unmatured coupons attached, as above stated, so that they will be received by said Bank not later than said date. Receipts will be issued by said Bank for all Certificates of Deposit and for all bonds so deposited. Upon surrender of such receipts to said Bank on or after June 21, 1923, the holders will be entitled either to collect the said net price for their bonds if funds for payment of the same have been received by said Bank, or to receive back, without charge, the Certificates of Deposit or bonds represented thereby.

If the above offer is accepted by the holders of the requisite amount of bonds, the Committee will forthwith terminate the Bondholders Protective Agreement, dated April 1, 1921, and will fix a sum to cover its expenses which will be approximately, but not exceeding, ten dollars ($10) for each bond which has been deposited under said Agreement; but in order that the above offer may afford a net price to the depositing bondholders who accept it, the Committee has arranged to collect from the purchaser a sum which will be sufficient to cover their proportion of such expenses.

The Committee has made diligent efforts to find a responsible purchaser for the property of the Company at a satisfactory price, but no such purchaser has appeared, and the attempted sale of the sheet mill or North Plant under the order of the Court resulted in no bid. In preference to the uncertainties and delays of reorganization or liquidation, the Committee recommends to all bondholders the acceptance of the above cash offer for their bonds. Having consulted in advance as many holders as could conveniently be communicated with on short notice, the Committee has already received assurances from holders of more than a majority in amount of the bonds that they will accept the offer.

From the accompanying letter addressed to us by The Robert Dollar Co., we summarize as follows:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS

The Dollar Portland Lumber Company, a Delaware corporation, is the successor to the timber and lumber manufacturing business of the Portland Lumber Company and its predecessors. The Robert Dollar Co., in acquiring 51% of the common stock of the Dollar Portland Lumber Company, brings under its control two splendidly located tracts of timber containing 1,406,984,000 feet, and a modern electrically driven mill located on 12.1 acres of fee simple owned waterfront property in the city of Portland, Oregon, together with other substantial assets.

SECURITY

These bonds will be secured in the opinion of counsel by an absolute first mortgage on the hereinafter described properties conservatively appraised at $3,212,222.

1. Approximately 24,000 acres of standing timber in Linn and Lane Counties, Oregon, cruised in December, 1922, by James D. Lacey & Company, nationally known timber appraisers, who estimated the merchantable timber thereon at 1,406,984,000 feet (90% Douglas Fir), valued at $2,462,222.
2. Real estate consisting of 12.1 acres in the city of Portland, Oregon, fee simple owned, with water frontage of approximately 600 feet on the Willamette River, and appraised by Wakefield, Fries & Company, of Portland, at $20,000 per acre, or approximately $250,000.
3. Modern individual unit drive, electrically operated sawmill, located on the tract last above described, including machinery and equipment, valued at $500,000. $416,000 fire insurance is carried thereon, with loss payable clauses in favor of the Trustee for additional protection of the bondholders.

The Dollar Portland Lumber Company also owns other valuable assets as set forth in the financial statement appended hereto.

EARNINGS

In the acquisition of 51% of the capital stock of the Dollar Portland Lumber Company by The Robert Dollar Co. careful investigation was made by the latter of future operating profits. The Robert Dollar Co. is well equipped to estimate such earnings accurately in view of its own intimate knowledge of timber and logging operations covering many years and the special value of the products of the Dollar Portland Lumber Company to their large shipping and export business. With its ownership of a modern electrically driven mill strategically situated in one of the largest log producing areas on the Pacific Coast, The Dollar Portland Lumber Company can operate profitably either through the purchase of logs in the open market or by cutting its own timber. Operating the Portland mill, by purchase of logs and based on a lumber output of over one hundred million feet per year, with adequate provision for administrative and operating expenses, taxes, depreciation, etc., The Robert Dollar Co. estimate net profits exceeding $200,000 annually. The maximum interest charges on the first mortgage bonds amount to $92,750.

MANAGEMENT

The financial policy and the operation of the company will be directed and controlled by The Robert Dollar Co., thus insuring a continuity of the same management which has been responsible for the success of The Robert Dollar Co. during the past thirty years.

The operating management of the company will be in the hands of practical mill and timber men of long experience who are closely identified with The Robert Dollar Co. The following is a list of officers and directors of The Dollar Portland Lumber Company.

R. Stanley Dollar, President	Vice-President, The Robert Dollar Co.
L. J. Wentworth, Vice-President	Dollar Portland Lumber Company.
H. M. Lorber, Treasurer	Secretary and Manager, The Robert Dollar Co.

NOT REDEEMABLE FOR TEN YEARS EXCEPT FOR THE SINKING FUND

CUMULATIVE SINKING FUND SUFFICIENT TO RETIRE ENTIRE ISSUE BY MATURITY

His Excellency Eusebio A. Morales, Minister of Finance, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the Republic of Panama, summarizes from his letter to the Bankers as follows:

RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES: Under the Treaty between the United States and Panama, ratified February 26, 1904, the United States was granted in perpetuity the "use, occupation and control" of the Canal Zone. Article I of this Treaty reads: "The United States guarantees and will maintain the independence of the Republic of Panama." By Article XIV, the United States is obligated to pay the Republic $250,000 gold per annum. Pursuant to the same article, the United States paid the Republic $10,000,000 gold, from which payment the Republic established a "Constitutional Fund" of $6,000,000 which is invested in first mortgages on New York City real estate and is to continue to be so invested so long as any of these Bonds are outstanding.

SECURITY: These Bonds are to be a direct obligation of the Republic of Panama. They are to be specifically secured (a) by allocation, throughout the term of this loan, of the net income from the Constitutional Fund (which income averaged $292,610 for the seven years 1916-22) and (b) by allocation of $59,741 per annum during the first 21½ years of the loan, and of $250,000 per annum during the last 8½ years, from the annual payment by the United States. The income so allocated is to be used for interest on, and retirement of, these Bonds, any excess to revert to the Republic annually, as provided in the Trust Agreement.

SINKING FUND: A cumulative Sinking Fund, operative semi-annually commencing September 1, 1923, is to retire the entire issue by maturity. Sinking Fund payments are to be used for purchase of Bonds in the open market up to the current redemption price, or if not so obtainable, for redemption of Bonds after call by lot. Bonds so acquired are to be cancelled.

RELATION OF ALLOCATED INCOME TO LOAN SERVICE:

Average Annual Income from the "Constitutional Fund" for the seven years 1916-22	$292,610
Portion of United States Annual Payments to be allocated to service of this loan during the first 21½ years thereof	59,741
Annual Interest and Sinking Fund requirements of this loan during the first 21½ years	$281,000

Average Annual Income from the "Constitutional Fund" for the seven years 1916-22	$292,610
Entire United States Annual Payments to be allocated to service of this loan during the last 8½ years thereof	250,000
Annual Interest and Sinking Fund requirements of this loan during the last 8½ years	$479,000*

* Increased requirement in these years results from an increase of the Sinking Fund at the time the entire amount of the United States annual payments is to be allocated to service of this loan.

DEBT: Upon completion of this financing, the funded debt of the Republic will aggregate approximately $7,000,000, of which $6,148,000 will be external debt. The total fixed service on such external debt will be approximately $471,250; whereas net income from the Constitutional Fund for the year 1922 plus the annual payment by the United States was $580,131.

The Republic is thus in the unique and advantageous position of carrying its external debt wholly with external resources and without using revenues from taxation.

PURPOSE OF THE LOAN: The proceeds of this loan will be used chiefly for construction of modern highways designed to develop further the resources of the Republic.

Application will be made to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

Price 97½ and accrued interest, to yield over 5.65% to maturity

We offer these Bonds when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to prior sale and to the approval of Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell, Counsel for the Republic of Panama, and of Messrs. The following information is summarized by Mr. T. R. Crumley, Vice-President, from his letter to us and from auditors' and appraisers' reports and other reliable sources:

BUSINESS: Jersey Central Power & Light Corporation supplies electric light and power service to some forty communities in central New Jersey, through local operating companies, all the stocks and bonds of which are owned by it. The territory served includes part of a great metropolitan district, tributary and suburban to New York City, and which is steadily growing in population and importance. The present population is in excess of 100,000. Most of the communities in this territory lie within commuting distance of New York City. The communities served include Morristown, Summit, Lakewood, Spring Lake and Toms River.

SECURITY: These bonds represent a first lien on all the properties of the local operating companies through pledge of all outstanding securities of such companies, including all of their bonds and stocks, except that in the case of Toms River Electric Company no bonds are outstanding or pledged. The issuance of such pledged bonds and stocks has been authorized by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of New Jersey. It is provided that any additional bonds or stocks which may be issued by the constituent companies in the future shall likewise be pledged as additional security under the trust agreement securing these bonds.

VALUATION: These properties have recently been appraised by Messrs. Sanderson & Porter, Engineers, New York City, at $6,275,800, an amount equivalent to nearly $1,800 for each $1,000 bond of this issue. The equity behind this bond issue is represented by $1,250,000 Ten Year Debenture Bonds, $1,142,000 Preferred Stock and 120,000 shares (no par value) Common Stock.

EARNINGS: The combined earnings of the constituent companies for the twelve months ended March 31, 1923, were as follows:

Gross Earnings	$1,196,662
Operating Expenses (including current maintenance and taxes other than Federal Income taxes)	727,788
Net Earnings	$468,874
Annual Interest Requirements on First Lien Bonds, Series A	$227,500

It is anticipated that materially larger earnings will result in future from unified and centralized operation and management of these properties, construction of transmission lines to inter-connect previously independent power stations and increased operating efficiencies thereby made possible.

SINKING FUND: A Sinking Fund is provided in the amount of $35,000 in each of the three years 1925 to 1927, inclusive, and of $52,500 in each of the years 1928 to 1947, inclusive. The Sinking Fund is payable semi-annually in cash or may be satisfied by the surrender of bonds of this series at par. All moneys in the Sinking Fund are to be used exclusively for the purchase or redemption of bonds of this series and all bonds acquired by the Sinking Fund are to be cancelled.

All legal details in connection with this issue of bonds will be passed upon by Messrs. Chapman, Cutler & Parker, Chicago, and Messrs. Chadbourne, Hunt, Jaeckel & Brown of New York. All properties have been reported upon by Messrs. Sanderson & Porter, Engineers, New York. The accounts for the calendar year 1922 have been audited by Messrs. Arthur Young & Company, Certified Public Accountants, New York. These bonds are offered for delivery, when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of counsel. It is expected that temporary bonds exchangeable for definitive bonds when issued will be ready for delivery about May 22, 1923.

The United States of Mexico

Readjustment of Debt.

Under date of June 16, 1922, the International Committee of Bankers on Mexico concluded an arrangement with His Excellency Adolfo de la Huerta, Minister of Finance of the Republic of Mexico, for the resumption of the payment of interest on various bonds, notes and other securities, a list of which is shown below.

Following the conferences with the Commission appointed by the Minister for the purpose of agreeing upon the various details necessary to carry out the plan, steps have been taken to prepare the receipts and other documents which will be distributed among the depositaries as promptly as possible in order that the necessary call for the deposit of Bonds may be issued. In the meantime, the International Committee announces that the provisions of the plan and the application thereof to the Bonds involved, are briefly as follows:

CURRENT INTEREST FROM JANUARY 3, 1923, TO DECEMBER 31, 1927, INCLUSIVE

The Mexican Government during the first five years covered by the plan undertakes to set aside certain prescribed revenues, starting the first year with a minimum of 30,000,000 pesos ($15,000,000 U. S. gold), this minimum increasing by 5,000,000 pesos ($2,500,000 U. S. gold) per annum for each of the ensuing four years, reaching 50,000,000 pesos ($25,000,000 U. S. gold) in the fifth year. Out of this fund payments in cash as set forth in the table below are to be made to the bondholders. The difference, if any, between the full interest on the Bonds and the amounts provided to be paid in cash is to be dealt with in twenty-year scrip not bearing any interest during the first five years, but bearing interest at the rate of 3% per annum for the balance of fifteen years.

INTEREST IN ARREARS TO AND INCLUDING JANUARY 2, 1923

The coupons maturing on or before January 2, 1923, are to be lodged with a depositary against the issue of non-interest bearing receipts. Such receipts are to be purchased or redeemed by the Government from a fund sufficient to retire them in full during a period of forty years, beginning January 1, 1928. The receipts will be of two classes—Class "A" and Class "B" (Class "A" to be retired completely prior to Class "B")—and will be issued in the approximate proportions shown in the table below.

TITLE OF ISSUE	Settlement of Interest in Arrears — RECEIPTS — Class "A" — Representing interest matured on and prior to	Class "A" — Approximate per cent of total interest in arrears	Class "B" — Representing interest matured prior to Jan. 3, 1923 and on and subsequent to	Class "B" — Approximate per cent of total interest in arrears	Percentages of Current Annual Interest to be paid in Cash During the Five Year Period — YEAR 1st %	2nd %	3rd %	4th %	5th %

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Neither termination nor relaxation in the hostile alignment in the building trades and in building can be reported yet. The bricklayers' strike announced last week began on Monday, stopping work on nearly a dozen more of important business buildings and some half-dozen apartments, and bringing the reported estimate of the aggregate construction temporarily halted up to from 125 to 200 millions in amount. The demand of the men is for $12 a day on a two-year contract, against a refused offer of $10 for 3½ years with a bonus until Jan. 1 1924. Past experience shows that the union idea of a contract is too often that it binds only the employer, and there is usually a pretext available for a demand for a "bonus" or some variant in conditions, whereby the actual wage rate may be pushed up; moreover, the higher the pay the less the effectiveness of the labor. The fever has spread into the kitchens of the hotels. The men have boldly asserted that "the public and the bankers are behind us," but this is in dispute and doubt. Banks and other lending institutions are credibly reported to be taking notice of the situation and to be seriously thinking it over, the manager of one of the mortgage loan companies being quoted as saying that we are moving to a question whether less than 150,000 persons in the building trades shall decide how four millions here shall live and that since a date early in the war almost no housing has been produced here for persons earning only $3,000 or less.

Speaking of one bill before him for carrying the emergency rent laws back to cover all leases and contracts made since Sept. 27 1820, Governor Smith says that such a bill "might threaten the stability of the whole real estate system," that the State's police powers "cannot be invoked forever to permit tenants to virtually fix their rents," and that emergency measures can be pushed so far as to destroy all their good. It might equally be said that labor unions cannot be permitted to go on indefinitely in pushing up prices. It is always wiser and safer to discover unpleasant truths and face them than to soothe ourselves with agreeable falsehoods, and a slowing up of building is a timely step to realizing our situation. Deferring to the autumn all which can be deferred, and carrying some construction into the winter months, is advised; postponement of some highway construction work planned for the next six months is also announced on the part of the State, although doubtless needed.

The encouraging factors of the situation include even its menacing seriousness, since when matters approach the worst they must be made to mend and excess defeats itself by inducing reaction. Employers and bankers, and the thinking part of the public also, are beginning to realize that the country cannot and must not lose what gain has been made—and made painfully—towards normal conditions since 1918; therefore, a stand against the mad struggle of unionized and deluded labor to start us back on the upward spiral must be resisted; yielding now means repeated and increasing stresses for all concerned and more yieldings hereafter. Positively the only safeguard against a series of downward steps, in every aspect and relation in human life, is to stand with all possible firmness against the first bad step. The next encouraging factor is that the necessity of positive effort to undo the long misteaching of labor unions is more and more realized; the leaders cannot recant or relax, for that would be to dethrone themselves by confession; they must continue as they began, until their own downfall. The open shop, as has been and must be said over and over, is the only and the natural outcome. The "company union" is its preliminary step and its helper. Of course, Mr. Gompers and his followers disapprove it, and accuse it as meaning company domination of labor; but it is the liberation of labor. In all the world's troubles in which our own share has to be borne, the best encouragement is the certainty that unless Creation is without plan and hence no improvement on the primal chaos those troubles are working out their own solution.

The resignation of Premier Poincare of France and his Cabinet late Thursday evening came as a complete surprise, even to President Millerand. The New York "Times" correspondent said that "M. Millerand assured M. Poincare that his resignation was not called for and refused to accept it. For three-quarters of an hour the two men argued the situation, and at the end of that time M. Poincare agreed to remain as Premier." It seems that "M. Poincare explained that the Senate, sitting as a High Court, has just refused to try Deputy Marcel Cachin and his Communist lieutenants for sedition, as M. Poincare had asked it to do, and therefore the position of the Government was untenable." The correspondent added that "M. Poincare's offer to resign was made less than two hours after he had scored an enormous success at the debate on the Ruhr in the Chamber, where he proclaimed that France was going to do to Germany what Germany did to France in 1871." Cabling from London, the representative of the New York "Tribune" asserted that "the resignation of M. Poincare and his entire Ministry is regarded as clear indication that M. Poincare feels he has lost control of the political situation, and now is ready to pass on to other hands the legacy of dealing with the consequences of his adventure in the Ruhr." He further declared that "the opinion is strongly held in authoritative British quarters that the upshot of the crisis will be the elevation of Henry Loucheur, the financier and industrialist, to the Premiership."

Prior to the French Cabinet incident the resignation of Andrew Bonar Law as Prime Minister of Great Britain stood as the conspicuous event of the week in the European political situation, although that step had in it none of the sensational elements possessed by the action of Premier Poincare. Bonar Law's resignation was tendered to the King last Sunday, May 20. The action was taken because of the serious condition of the Premier's health. At that time it was expected in London, according to the cable dispatches from that centre, that Lord Curzon, Foreign Secretary, or Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, would be asked by the King to assume the Premiership. The announcement of the resignation did not cause special surprise, either in the capitals of Europe or in this country. Paris and London cables late last week, as noted in the "Chronicle," indicated the seriousness of Mr. Law's ailment and strongly intimated that a cancerous growth was at least feared. Cable dispatches received here early Monday forenoon stated that "a slight operation" had been performed on the former Premier's throat, but that "otherwise his condition is unchanged."

The early cable advices Tuesday morning reported that, so far as known, the King had not taken any step the day before toward selecting a successor to Bonar Law. Before noon, however, word came from London that the King had summoned Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to Buckingham Palace, and a little later that the latter had accepted, and that at the request of the new Premier Sir Robert Horne had consented to serve as Chancellor of the Exchequer. Mr. Baldwin will also hold the office of First Lord of the Treasury. He is a prominent member of the Conservative Party. It was emphasized in the London cable advices that because of the steadily increasing strength of the Labor Party, and the fact that it has no representative in the House of Lords, it would have been unwise for the King to select a member of that body to head the Cabinet. Commenting on this point, the London correspondent of "The Sun" of this city said: "At the meeting of the Tory caucus the objection of having a Premier in the House of Lords was voiced on all sides. This killed the chances of Lord Curzon. Added to the influence that Baldwin wields in 'the City,' London's Wall Street, this fact made the Chancellor of the Exchequer the only possible choice." He also observed that, "on the face of it, the selection appears to be a great victory for the 'diehards,' but it is now found, after a canvass of Unionists, that Baldwin enjoyed more general support than was at first imagined. In order to maintain the unity of the party, many Unionist stalwarts, who were hoping for Curzon's success, had reluctantly to abandon their choice in favor of the commoner." Regarding the probability of other changes in the Bonar Law Cabinet, the correspondent said that "it is understood here that there will be little change in the personnel of the Cabinet when after the legal lapse of 24 hours they receive their seals of office. Sir Robert Horne has accepted the Chancellorship, rendered vacant by the elevation of Baldwin, and it is said that Curzon has agreed to serve under the new Premier. As Curzon loves his post, this latter agreement was expected." It was noted that the new Premier arrived at Buckingham Palace at 3.20 p. m. Monday and remained about an hour. Returning to his official residence as Chancellor at No. 11 Downing Street, "The Sun" representative cabled that "he was surrounded by a large crowd of people. Some of those who gathered round him asked him if they might offer him their congratulations. He answered, 'I think I need your prayers rather than your congratulations.'" It was expected in London at that time that the new Premier "will meet Parliament next Monday with his Ministry complete."

Word came from London Wednesday evening that "Lord Curzon will continue to act as Secretary for Foreign Affairs in the Cabinet of Prime Minister Baldwin, according to unofficial predictions in Government circles to-day." The Earl of Derby announced the same day that "he had received an offer from Prime Minister Baldwin to continue to serve as Secretary of State for War and that he had agreed to do so." The earlier report that Sir Robert Horne had consented to serve as Chancellor of the Exchequer apparently was incorrect, as the cable advices as late as Thursday evening stated that he had not reached a decision. The Cabinet situation, as outlined in yesterday morning's press dispatches, did not show much change, except that Lord Robert Cecil had "accepted the office of Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster." The New York "Times" correspondent observed that it is "a post of curious unimportance for a statesman of his calibre. Recently it has not carried with it a seat in the Cabinet, and its duties are of slight importance. However, it now makes Lord Robert a member of the Administration and available for any duties that the Premier may delegate to him.'" It was suggested that he might become Foreign Secretary if Lord Curzon should drop out later "on account of his health." It was intimated also that Premier Baldwin might continue for a time as Chancellor of the Exchequer."

According to an Associated Press dispatch from London last evening, several earlier statements relative to probable changes in the Baldwin Cabinet proved to be incorrect. It was stated that "the official list of the new Cabinet of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, issued this afternoon, shows that Lord Robert Cecil has been appointed Lord Privy Seal, and that J. C. C. Davidson, who was Secretary to ex-Premier Bonar Law, becomes Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. Mr. Baldwin combines the Premiership and the Chancellorship of the Exchequer. The other members of the Cabinet are practically the same as in the Bonar Law Ministry." The correspondent observed that "the list shows that Prime Minister Baldwin failed to persuade Sir Robert Horne or Austen Chamberlain of the Lloyd George Cabinet to join his Ministry." He added that "the Prime Minister has gone to Chequers Court to spend the week-end."

Opinion still differs widely, even among nations friendly to France, as to the wisdom of the Ruhr invasion. Doubt has existed all along as to whether it would accomplish the supposed purpose, and for this reason alone the contention naturally has been made that the great cost was not justified. Deputy Eymond caused to be published in the "Journal Officiel" on May 20 figures which showed that the occupation from Jan. 11 to May 31 would cost 145,500,000 francs. According to the figures also, "against that amount can be set off 102,000,000 francs realized from profits on the sale of coke and coal seized in the district, from fines and penalties inflicted and from the operation of the Rhineland railroad system." In cabling a synopsis of the report, the Paris correspondent of the New York "Times" said that "these figures are given in a supplementary report prepared by Deputy Eymond on the eve of the Parliamentary debate on the finances of the occupation, scheduled to begin in the Chamber on Tuesday [May 22]. According to the reporter's statement, the cost of operation has been much below the credits demanded by the Premier for the civil missions engaged in the Ruhr and for the exploitation of the railroads. The same is also true of the military costs." He also said that the report showed that "for the cost of the civil mission and the railroads 133,000,000 francs was asked, but only 84,500,000 has been spent. The estimated cost of the military occupation was 141,500,000 francs, but only 99,000,000 is being spent. If the normal costs of the maintenance of the troops engaged is deducted the actual excess costs of the military occupation amounts, says Eymond, to only 61,000,000 francs." The "Times" representative observed, furthermore, that "the reporter's account of the receipts from the operation comes very near justifying the Premier's claim last Thursday before a commission of the Chamber that the occupation would be soon self-supporting."

In another dispatch the same day, the Paris correspondent of the New York "Times" stated that "Premier Poincare has decided to answer the expected new German note in advance by sending more troops to the Ruhr. To the 50,000 already there it has been decided by the Government to add another 15,000 to 20,000. These troops will be taken from the young 1922 class, which has had a year's training." The correspondent even asserted that, "with the dispatch of these new troops new measures of greater severity will be taken. The new coke stocks will be opened and control of all outlets from the Ruhr will be made much more vigorous. It has been found that recently there has been a good deal of leakage through the military customs cordon, and Premier Poincare is determined not only to make the occupation more productive to France but much more severe for Germany." On May 18 "the Commission on Reparations, by a majority vote, called on Germany to deliver 60,000 tons of nitrate during the year 1923. Failure on Germany's part to deliver this will, as usually, probably ultimately entail seizure."

Chancellor Cuno and his closest associates are reported to have been busily engaged, even over the Whitsuntide holidays, with the consideration and working out of a new reparations plan. Under date of May 19 the Berlin correspondent of the Associated Press cabled that "Germany's forthcoming reparations proposals will stipulate definite annuities instead of offering a fixed total, according to information emanating from political quarters. It is stated that the German League of Industrialists is preparing a plan which will enable the Government to make an offer based upon positive concrete guarantees, for which the German industrial, financial and commercial interests, political parties and labor unions will go security." The correspondent added that, "although the details of the forthcoming offer have not been divulged or even discussed in official circles, it appears that the powerful industrial league has succeeded in convincing Chancellor Cuno and Foreign Minister Rosenberg of the futility of speculating upon an international loan as a basis for reparations." Continuing his outline of the scheme, he said in part: "The League, instead, proposes to substitute a system of gold annuities to be guaranteed through the co-operation of the labor unions in connection with the platform calling for increased production all around. The gold is to be raised by a process which is described as a giant hypothecation of all the nation's productive units—mines, factories, farms, banks, fisheries, etc." Although the Cabinet were giving their time "to an examination of the basic features of the scheme, they are not expected to reach a definite conclusion before the end of next [this] week." Regarding the supposed attitude of the Cabinet, the "Times" representative said: "It appears, however, that the Government has permanently jettisoned its hopes of obtaining a hearing among the creditor Powers, especially France, for any reparations plan based upon an intangible foreign loan, and it is believed that the proposals as outlined above suggest a more promising solution."

A fresh obstacle to the successful and profitable operation of some of the coal mines in the occupied Ruhr area developed on Monday, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Essen that evening. It was stated that "seven coal mines in the Dortmund district have been compelled to shut down because of the Communist agitation for higher wages. It is estimated that 32,000 miners are striking and that 10,000 others are being prevented from working as a consequence of the trouble. Two of the mines affected are Stinnes properties, one is a Prussian State mine, and the remainder belong to smaller companies." The dispatch added that "at a meeting of 6,000 Communists in Dortmund last evening speakers declared the Communist organization was prepared to fight to a finish in the struggle for increased wages. They declared that although the German Government and the German industrialists were spending money like water in passive resistance to the French they had refused the men's demands for increased wages to meet the recent rapid rise in food prices." The correspondent further observed that "the Communist members declare all the strikers are not of the Communist persuasion, and they predict that the strike will eventually tie up all the mines in these two districts, which contain 200,000 miners. In neutral quarters this Communistic agitation is regarded as likely to become a serious threat to the region."

In a cablegram from Essen last evening it was asserted that "the strike in the Ruhr inaugurated by the Communists is gaining in numbers and now includes thousands of iron and steel workers, in addition to the miners previously out. The latest to join were 20,000 employees of the steel works at Remscheid, near Elberfeld, whose demands for a 50% increase in pay was refused. It is estimated that 50,000 miners are striking in the Gelsenkirchen district." From Dortmund came a report at the same time that "the strike here continues to gain ground. Three other mines have been compelled to shut down, making ten thus far closed. The woodworkers and carpenters also have joined the strike, and at three mines in Bochum the workers have gone out."

According to a Berlin dispatch Thursday morning, the Cuno Government will not make another offer until Premier Baldwin makes his first speech in Parliament as head of the Cabinet. The correspondent also said that the opinion prevailed in the German capital that the resignation of Andrew Bonar Law is "a boon to Germany's policy of procrastination and offering an excuse for putting off any decision about a new reparations offer. There is not only no regret but considerable gratification over the delay."

The Paris correspondent of the "Times" observed facetiously in a cablegram under date of May 23 that "Premier Baldwin will find the Ruhr baby on the doorstep at 10 Downing Street by the time he gets his trunks unpacked. Premier Theunis of Belgium notified Premier Poincare this afternoon that he was coming with Foreign Minister Jaspar to Paris on Sunday. His primary purpose is to try to establish the Allied front toward Germany. This means he will try to get England, France and Belgium with Italy into agreement on the reparations program." The correspondent also declared that "it may be taken for certain that following the conversations here on Sunday and Monday the new British Prime Minister will be immediately sounded out, for a new German offer is expected by the middle or latter part of next week, and it is Belgium's idea that the reply should be a collective Allied note laying down a reparations program."

The occupied Ruhr area has not been entirely free from violence. The Associated Press correspondent at Dortmund cabled the evening of May 23 that "five persons were killed, including a woman and child, and from 60 to 80 persons wounded last night in fights between striking workmen and the police." The dispatch further stated that "many thousands of strikers attended mass meetings to-day in Dortmund, Bochum and other towns and passed resolutions to extend the strike throughout the Ruhr and the Rhineland. The strikers demand a 50% pay raise. Speakers at the meetings to-day said the men were on a 'hunger strike.' They cited prices to show that the cost of living had doubled in the last few days."

Some progress appears to have been made at the Near East Conference at Lausanne, although it is said to have been near a break. Cabling from that centre on the evening of May 19 the Associated Press correspondnt said that "the question of the status of foreign religious, educational and charitable institutions in Turkey, which is of special importance to the United States because of the numerous American schools, hospitals and churches on Turkish soil, was definitely settled by the Near East Conference today." In giving further details of the day's proceedings, the correspondent stated that "the Allies agreed to accept separate letters from Ismet Pasha, the Turkish Foreign Minister, to the heads of the British, French and Italian delegations recognizing such foreign institutions and the special character of the foreign schools. Ismet refused to insert this recognition in the treaty itself, as he deemed such a step incompatible with Turkish national dignity. Ismet's letters will recognize the institutions founded before October 1914 and express Turkey's intention benevolently to examine the status of institutions established from the outbreak of the war to the signing of the treaty here. This examination will take into account the special conditions under which the foreign establishments are working and especially consider the practical organization and teaching arrangements of the foreign schools." In a cablegram Monday afternoon, the Associated Press representative said that "preliminary conversations between the American and Turkish delegations are now proceeding with the object of establishing a common basis for a revision of the antiquated Turco-American treaties that will prepare the way for formal negotiations."

Fresh trouble between the Turks and Greeks seemed more than probable, according to the dispatches from Lausanne Tuesday morning. The Associated Press correspondent cabled under date of the evening before that "if Turkey insists on war to settle the question of the indemnity she claims from Greece, Greece will accept the gage of battle. This is what M. Alexandris, the Greek Foreign Minister, told the foreign correspondents to-night." According to the correspondent also, "the Greek delegates, he added, would be withdrawn from the Near Eastern Conference this week if Turkey persisted in her reparations demands. The Turks have given no indication of an intention to recede from those demands, and M. Alexandris's declaration that Greece was resolved not to pay one cent of indemnity brought increased pessimism in Conference circles."

The correspondent further observed that "the second month of the second Conference will open tomorrow [May 22] in a troubled atmosphere, with none of the great issues settled." The already strained relations at the Conference were not helped by reports on Tuesday that the Greek fleet was "cruising about the entrance to the Straits of the Dardanelles." The Paris correspondent of the New York "Times" sent word Wednesday evening that "strenuous efforts are being made by the French, British and Italian Governments to prevent a rupture at the Lausanne Conference, which has reached a critical stage. Although the Allies have succeeded in settling almost no main disputes with the Turks, the issue which has brought the negotiations to all but a break is the demand of the Turks for reparations from Greece because of the devastation in Anatolia. Foreign Minister Alexandris and ex-Premier Venizelos, the Greek delegates at Lausanne, have received formal instructions from Athens to consent to no recognition of Greek obligation for reparations, and the Turks stand firm for either the fixing of the sum due them or at least recognition of the principle with the promise of a future conference to work out the details." The Associated Press representative at Lausanne said that "the Allies have postponed the next formal session of the Near East Conference probably until Saturday, in order to seek a settlement of its troublesome problems, avoid a rupture of the Conference and find a solution of the Greco-Turkish differences arising over reparations. An effort is being made to straighten out the reparations matter by inducing Greece to cede some territory to Turkey in return for renunciation of an indemnity."

Premier Mussolini of Italy, according to cablegrams from Rome, has been called upon to meet defections in the ranks of those supposedly his adherents. The correspondent at that centre of the New York "Times," in a wireless dispatch under date of May 21 said: "Fascismo encountered to-day its first really serious difficulty since Mussolini's rise to power. It came in the form of the secession of great numbers of Fascisti in Naples and the adjacent districts, who tendered their resignations en masse." He explained that "the present crisis had its origin in the early days of Mussolini's success. As soon as the Fascisti marched on Rome and Mussolini became Premier of Italy thousands of Socialists, Communists and revolutionaries of all kinds, realizing that their game was up, made an effort to enter the ranks of Fascismo. Mussolini, however, decided that he had no use in his hour of victory for people who had not been with him in his hour of danger and slammed the doors of Fascismo in their faces." Continuing to outline the confused political situation resulting from recent events, the "Times" representative said in part: "All those who had been Communists when Communism had the upper hand and wished to become Fascismo now that the Fascisti had triumphed, therefore deserted their respective parties and bodily joined the Nationalists, whose aims and methods were very similar to those of the Fascisti. In Southern Italy, however, where Nationalism had never made any headway, the former revolutionaries founded local Nationalist sections composed almost entirely of revolutionaries and run by themselves. In Southern Italy, therefore, Fascismo found itself in conflict with Nationalism. Later the Fascisti and Nationalists joined forces and became a single party. All the Nationalists, after a careful examination of their antecedents, automatically entered the ranks of Fascismo. This change proceeded smoothly and without incident in Northern and Central Italy, but not in the South, where the Fascisti could not bear the thought of having to fraternize with the men against whom they had been fighting for the last three years." It was also stated that "General Debono, who has the double post of Generalissimo of the Fascista militia and Director-General of Police, has been dispatched post-haste by Premier Mussolini to make a thorough inquiry and take whatever measures he thinks best of patching up the present difficulty. The Premier himself is deeply grieved at the action of the Neapolitans, and is extremely anxious for the settlement of the difficulty before any further harm is done." The correspondent further asserted that "the Government is in a difficult position, as it cannot go back to its former decision without giving the impression of weakness. Great confidence, however, is felt in General Debono's persuasive powers, so that a peaceful reunion of the factions is expected. No untoward incidents have occurred so far, mainly owing to Captain Padovani's action in appealing to his followers to remain calm and obey Mussolini's orders." According to an Associated Press dispatch from Rome under date of May 23 the Premier felt compelled to take drastic action relative to even Captain Padovani. It was stated that "Premier Mussolini to-day expelled from the Fascisti Capt. Padovani, commander of the Neapolitan Fascisti and Padovani's followers and then left Rome by airplane for Apulita, in the Carso region, where to-morrow will be celebrated the eighth anniversary of Italy's entrance into the World War." The assertion was made also that "the expulsion of Capt. Padovani and his followers is regarded in official circles as having been ordered at a critical moment, when the Premier had to choose between lack of discipline in the Fascista ranks or striking with an iron fist. Padovani was one of the Premier's dearest friends, to whom the Fascismo owes its success in Southern Italy."

Apparently the negotiations between Russia and Great Britain following the so-called "ultimatum" delivered recently to the former by the latter have resulted satisfactorily in spite of early reports to the contrary. At all events, definite announcement from London Thursday morning that "the long-awaited reply of the Soviet Government to the British ultimatum was handed to Lord Curzon to-day at the Foreign Office by Leonid Krassin. It is of a markedly conciliatory character, and, with certain reservations, it grants the British demands for compensation for the seizure of trawlers and for the execution of Charles F. Davison and for the imprisonment of Mrs. Stan Harding, and offers to withdraw the letters signed by Gregory Weinstein, written in reply to the British protest against the prosecution of Church officials. It suggests a conference concerning Soviet propaganda in the Far East." According to an Associated Press dispatch that evening, "at Prime Minister Baldwin's first Cabinet meeting held at noon that day Lord Curzon presented the latest note from Soviet Russia for consideration by the Ministers." The correspondent added that "there is still discussion as to whether the Soviet concessions meet all the British demands, but it is generally thought that the present trade relations with Russia will be continued and the disputed questions remaining settled at the conference table."

No change has been noted in official discount rates at leading European centres from 18% in Berlin; 6% in Denmark and Norway; 5½% in Belgium and Madrid; 5% in France; 4½% in Sweden; 4% in Holland, and 3% in London and Switzerland. Open market discounts in London remain at 2⅛% for short bills, while three months' bills were lowered temporarily to 1 15-16@2%, but yesterday recovered to 2@2 1-16%, as against 2⅛@2 3-16% last week. Call money at the British centre continues to be quoted at 1½%. In Paris the open market discount rate is still at 4½%, and in Switzerland ⅞%, both unchanged.

The Bank of England again added to its gold holdings, there having been an increase of £1,543. Furthermore, note circulation was reduced £196,000, so that total reserve registered an expansion of £198,000, while the proportion of reserve to liabilities advanced to 20.27%, which is not only a new high figure for the current year, but the highest reserve ratio for the corresponding week of any year since 1916. A week ago it was 19.44%, 20% in 1922 and 14¾% a year earlier. The lowest in 1922 was 18.87% on Jan. 4. Deposits were all substantially lowered, public deposits declining £3,083,000 and "other" deposits £918,000. The bank's temporary loans to the Government showed a falling off of £1,555,000. Loans on other securities were reduced £2,022,000. Threadneedle Street's stock of gold on hand totals £127,526,547, against £128,880,842 a year ago and £128,349,547 in 1921. Reserve aggregates £23,996,000, which compares with £26,440,867 the preceding year and £18,991,887 a year earlier. Loans amount to £69,604,000. A year ago the total was £74,593,141 and in 1921 £89,139,884. Circulation stands at £123,280,000, in comparison with £120,889,975 and £127,807,660 one and two years ago, respectively. No change has been made in the bank's official discount rate, which continues at 3%. Clearings through the London banks for the week were £577,909,000, comparing with £678,973,000 last week and £699,918,000 a year ago. We append herewith comparisons of the principal items of the Bank of England returns for a series of years:

The Bank of France continues to report small gains in its gold item, the increase this week being 135,525 francs. The Bank's gold holdings, therefore, now aggregate 5,537,242,475 francs, comparing with 5,527,645,053 francs on the corresponding date last year and with 5,518,503,305 francs the year previous; of these amounts 1,864,344,927 francs were held abroad in 1923 and 1,948,367,056 francs in both 1922 and 1921. During the week, silver increased 82,000 francs, bills discounted rose 11,040,000 francs and general deposits were augmented by 74,133,000 francs. Advances, on the other hand, fell off 55,892,000 francs, while Treasury deposits were reduced 24,419,000 francs. Note circulation registered the further contraction of 305,935,000 francs, bringing the total outstanding down to 36,388,138,000 francs. This contrasts with 35,674,179,970 francs at this time last year and with 38,233,194,370 francs the year before. Just prior to the outbreak of war, in 1914, the amount was only 6,683,184,785 francs. Comparisons of the various items in this week's return with the statement of last week and corresponding dates in both 1922 and 1921 are as follows:

In its statement issued as of May 15, the Imperial Bank of Germany indicated a continuance of the spectacular increases that have featured nearly all of the institution's returns for many months. Discount and Treasury bills registered the huge expansion of 580,489,542,000 marks. Deposits gained 474,151,040,000 marks, while note circulation was increased 389,679,821,000 marks. This latter brought the already unwieldy total of outstanding obligations to over seven trillion marks. There was an addition of 185,676,605,000 marks in bills of exchange and checks and of 86,069,202,000 marks in Treasury and loan association notes. Other liabilities expanded 29,325,328,000 marks, other assets 20,186,858,000 marks and advances 20,376,854,000 marks. Smaller increases were 311,961,000 marks in notes of other banks and of 225,877,000 marks in total coin and bullion. Investments were reduced 180,710,000 marks and gold 71,998,000 marks. The bank's gold holdings are now reported as 841,911,000 marks. A year ago they were 1,002,365,000 marks and in 1921 1,091,578,000 marks. Note circulation is 7,112,782,337,000 marks, which comparse with 141,522,034,000 marks in the corresponding week of 1922 and 70,834,179,000 marks a year earlier.

The Federal Reserve Bank statement, issued at the close of business on Thursday, showed a substantial addition to gold reserves with a reduction in the bill holdings. Gold holdings expanded $5,400,000. Rediscounts of Government secured paper increased $6,600,000, but this was offset by a contraction of $3,600,000 in "all other," and a falling off in open market purchases of $10,700,000, with the net result a decline in total bills on hand of $7,700,000. Notwithstanding this reduction, earning assets increased $11,000,000, which is accounted for by the purchase of $20,609,000 certificates of indebtedness by the New York bank. Deposits declined $7,000,000, and the volume of Federal Reserve notes in circulation was reduced $5,000,000. The New York bank lost gold heavily in its transactions with interior institutions, the amount of the decrease being $37,000,000. At the same time bill holdings increased $7,900,000, to $236,868,000, as against $95,028,000 last year. Earning assets increased $26,900,000, but deposits declined $23,000,000. Notes in actual circulation decreased $2,300,000. Member bank reserve accounts were drawn down locally more than $15,000,000, but for the banks as a group there was an increase of $23,000,000. The ratio of reserve for the System was a trifle higher, .3% to 75.6%, but at New York there was a decline of 1.0%, to 83.1%.

The weekly statement of New York Clearing House banks and trust companies, issued on Saturday last, showed expansion in loans, discounts, etc., of $37,124,000. Net demand deposits increased $5,460,000, but time deposits were reduced $12,491,000, to $496,102,000. The total of demand deposits is now $3,727,885 000, which is exclusive of $148,802,000 in Government deposits. This constitutes an expansion in the latter item of $67,447,000, indicating extensive Government operations. Other lesser changes included a decrease of $2,059,000 in cash in own vaults of members of the Federal Reserve Bank, to $49,448,000 (not counted as reserve); increases of $221,000 and $665,000 in reserves of State banks and trust companies in own vaults and in other depositories, respectively. Member banks increased their reserve credits at the Reserve bank $2,694,000 and this, notwithstanding the addition to deposits, brought about a gain in surplus of $3,242,490, raising the total of excess reserves to $10,720,410. The figures here given for surplus are on the basis of reserves above legal requirements of 13% for member banks of the Federal Reserve System, but not including cash in own vaults to the amount of $49,448,000 held by the institutions on Saturday last.

By reason of the heavy withdrawals by the Government at this centre and throughout the country on Monday, the higher rates for call money on that day caused no surprise. As was expected, the trend was downward as the week progressed. While opinion in speculative, and even in investment, circles as to the extent of the liquidation in stocks has varied considerably, it is safe to assume that this kind of selling was sufficiently large to be a factor in the downward movement, and perhaps in the money market as well. Representatives of the more conservative speculative houses, and in whose business investment buying plays a fairly prominent part, said before the recovery in stocks began that their loans had not changed materially. The more highly speculative firms admitted that a contraction in their loans had taken place. There were two conspicuous announcements having a direct bearing on the money market, and which are likely to be reflected in many directions in due time. The first was that the Federal Reserve Board had decided that "rediscount rates shall be maintained at their uniform level of 4½% for the present because of satisfactory business conditions throughout the country." This announcement was made on Tuesday at the conclusion of the meeting of the Advisory Council of the Board in Washington. The second was that of J. P. Morgan on Wednesday afternoon relative to the country-wide participation of American bankers in the offering in the United States of $25,000,000 of a proposed international loan to Austria of $130,000,000. Special significance was attached to that part of Mr. Morgan's statement in which he said that the American bankers who had looked into the matter are confident that the bonds are well secured, and particularly that in his judgment American bankers should take their share of this the first offering of securities for a Central European Power in which all the leading nations are joining. The opinion seemed to prevail that if the prominent bankers of this and other countries feel justified in offering bonds to help a country that has been in such dire financial straits as Austria they will be willing to take similar action in behalf of other European countries that have not been so badly off financially, but which need money nevertheless for rehabilitation purposes. A large offering in the aggregate of foreign bonds in this country naturally would affect both the investment and money markets. Yesterday it was reported that American bankers were negotiating with representatives of the Irish Free State relative to a loan of $25,000,000. There has been no material change in the industrial demand in this country for funds. If anything, probably it is smaller than it was a week ago.

Dealing with specific rates for money, loans on call this week covered a range of 4½@5½%, as against 4@4½% last week. Monday the high was 5½%, with 4½% the low and ruling quotation. On Tuesday call funds did not get above 5¼%, and this was also the renewal basis; the low was still 4½%. Easier conditions prevailed on Wednesday and renewals were negotiated at 4¾%, which was the maximum figure, with 4½% again the lowest for the day. Thursday and Friday there was no range, a flat rate of 4½% prevailing, this being the high, the low and the ruling figure on both days. The temporary stiffening noted earlier in the week was due to Government withdrawals incidental to redemption of Victory notes. The figures here given are for both mixed collateral and all-industrials alike. For fixed-date maturities, very little change has taken place. Sixty days continues to be quoted at 5%, with ninety days, four and five months at 5@5¼%; but six months' money has been advanced to 5¼@5½%, against 5@5¼% a week ago. Trading has been light, with only a limited demand reported. Regular mixed collateral and all-industrial money are now quoted at the same figure without differentiation.

Mercantile paper rates have not been changed from 5@5¼% for sixty and ninety days' endorsed bills receivable and six months' names of choice character, with names less well known at 5¼%, the same as a week ago. Country banks continue the principal buyers, but only a moderate volume of business has been reported.

Banks' and bankers' acceptances have been in good demand and both local and out-of-town institutions, as well as individual investors, have been in the market as buyers. An easier undertone has prevailed, but actual quotations have remained without change. For call loans against bankers' acceptances the posted rate of the American Acceptance Council remains at 4%. The Acceptance Council makes the discount rates on prime bankers' acceptances eligible for purchase by the Federal Reserve banks 4⅛% bid and 4% asked for bills running for 30 days, 4¼% bid and 4⅛% asked for 60 and 90 days, 4⅜% bid and 4¼% asked for 120 days and 4¾% bid and 4½% asked for bills running for 150 days. Open market quotations follow:

The week's movements in sterling exchange have not been particularly significant and prices have fluctuated within narrow limits on quiet trading. As a matter of fact the market has been more or less in neglect much of the time, with attention transferred to the Continental exchanges. In the early dealings an additional feature in the dulness was observance of the Whitsuntide holidays abroad and the volume of transactions was reduced to negligible proportions. With the resumption of business on Tuesday an accumulation of orders over the week-end gave the market a false appearance of activity, and, under better buying, demand bills sold up to 4 63¾, a gain of about 1¼ cents. However, the activity was short-lived, and it was not long before the market relapsed into its wonted dulness, while operators withdrew to await developments. Speculative interests shared to a very limited extent in the week's dealings. Just at present there is a lull in the selling of sterling by Great Britain to accumulate dollar credits, as preparations for the next debt payment are understood to have been practically completed. Moreover, money in London continues to display a hardening tendency, so that foreign buying of American securities is less in evidence. At the extreme close prices were under the best.

While opinion as to the probable course of sterling exchange in the immediate future varies somewhat, the view seems to be widely held that it is useless to hope for any real improvement either in point of increased activity or materially higher prices until the Ruhr problem has been solved. Locally the market is at a standstill and quotations are nothing more than a reflex of conditions in London. Cable rates from that centre were apparently not adversely affected by the resignation of Bonar Law, while news of the appointment of Stanley Baldwin to the Premiership of the British Empire exercised a strengthening influence.

As to more detailed quotations, sterling exchange on Saturday last was firm and fractionally higher, with demand at 4 62 3-16@4 62⅝, cable transfers at 4 62 7-16@4 62⅞ and sixty days at 4 60 1-16@4 60½; pre-holiday conditions prevailed, owing to the impending Whitsuntide holiday. On Monday increased strength marked dealings, although trading continued exceptionally quiet; demand advanced to 4 62⅝@4 63⅜, cable transfers to 4 62⅞@4 63⅝ and sixty days to 4 60½@4 61¼. A further slight gain was shown on Tuesday, when quotations moved up to 4 63 1-16@4 63¾ for demand, 4 63 5-16@4 64 for cable transfers and 4 60 15-16@4 60⅞ for sixty days, on a slightly better inquiry. Wednesday's market was reactionary and there was a decline which carried demand to 4 62¾@4 63½, cable transfers to 4 63@4 63¾ and sixty days to 4 60⅝@4 61⅜; trading was dull and nominal. Dulness was the chief characteristic of Thursday's dealings; in keeping with this, changes were small, and the range was 4 62¼@4 62 11-16 for demand, 4 62½@4 62 15-16 for cable transfers and 4 60⅛@4 60 9-16 for sixty days. On Friday trading was in small volume and demand remained practically unchanged, ruling at 4 62¼@4 62 9-16, while cable transfers ranged between 4 62½@4 62 13-16 and sixty days at 4 60⅛@4 60 7-16. Closing quotations were 4 60⅜ for sixty days, 4 62½ for demand and 4 62½ for cable transfers. Commercial sight bills finished at 4 62¼, sixty days at 4 59½, ninety days at 4 58⅝, documents for payment (sixty days) at 4 60 and seven-day grain bills at 4 61½. Cotton and grain for payment closed at 4 62¼.

For the first time in many weeks gold imports were reported. Early in the week the Aquitania brought bar gold to the amount of $2,250,000, while on Thursday the Homeric arrived with £5,465,000 in gold, both shipments being from England. Gold marks are also said to be on their way to this country. Approximately 30,000,000 are expected on the steamer Mount Clay from Germany, consigned to the International Acceptance Bank to accumulate dollar balances with which to make indemnity payments to the Belgian Government. Late arrivals included 30,000,000 gold marks on the Reliance from Hamburg and $5,600,000 in bar gold on the Mauretania from England. The Majestic is expected to bring gold valued at $5,000,000 shortly.

Irregular fluctuations marked the course of Continental exchange and attention centred almost exclusively upon the renewed break in German mark quotations. Opening with a low figure of 0.0019⅞, it soon became evident that the market would not be able to withstand the terrific selling pressure encountered. Huge quantities of Berlin bills were offered for sale with practically no takers. As has been the case during recent weeks, local operators took little or no part in the dealings and the selling emanated mainly from Berlin and other foreign centres, where attempts were made to unload German currency at any price. For a while the Reichsbank apparently withdrew its support, adding materially to the general confusion, and prices gave way precipitately, carrying rates down to a new low of 0.0017, a loss of 4½ points from the close of last week. Later on the institution once more re-entered the market with large buying orders and there was a rally to 0.0019, although the undertone remained weak, with sentiment against the mark, and the close was 0.0018⅝. That very little hope is entertained of pronounced recovery is shown by the fact that mark futures are being quoted at a discount of about 2 points. The collapse occasioned no surprise, as it has been commonly understood that the Reichsbank stabilization program was proving entirely too expensive, especially in view of the steadily increasing volume of German note circulation. Outstanding Germany currency has now crossed the seven trillion mark. Announcement that Germany is shipping gold to this country has aroused much discussion and there are some who assert the metal is to be used as security against commodity imports, although the official explanation is that it is for settlement of Belgian indemnity payments. Less confidence is shown of a speedy agreement in the Franco-German dispute, for the reason that while Germany is expected to make another and more favorable reparations offer shortly, the general belief is that French and German views on reparations are still wide apart. A feature of the week was that for the first time in history, German marks for a brief period dropped to below Polish currency and it took 105 Reichsmarks to purchase 100 Polish marks. In the opinion of some, it is only a question of time when German exchange will have fallen to the level of the Austrian krone.

French exchange gave evidence of support and though trading was inactive, prices were firmly held to near the close at 6.66 for checks. In the final dealings, however, there was a loss of 5 points. Publication of another strong Bank of France statement, showing a further contraction in note circulation, had a good effect and aided in sustaining values. Belgian currency followed a parallel course. Austrian kronen remained stationary and are apparently unaffected by passing political events. Lire were less favorably situated and the quotation was depressed by reports of fresh disturbances in Italy in the form of a split in the ranks of the Fascisti. Greek drachma not only maintained all of the gain of the previous week, but for a time moved up to 2.08, while exchanges on the Central European countries remain without important change, with the exception of Rumanian lei, which have been advanced lately more than 11 points, to 0.60, chiefly, it is claimed, by artificial restriction of supplies by Rumanian banks in their endeavor to control exchange and abolish speculation.

The London check rate on Paris closed at 70.00, against 69.45 last week. In New York sight bills on the French centre finished at 6.61¼, against 6.66; cable transfers at 6.62¼, against 6.67; commercial sight at 6.59¼, against 6.64, and commercial sixty days at 6.56¼, against 6.61 a week ago. Antwerp francs closed at 5.69½ for checks and 5.70½ for cable transfers, which compares with 5.74 and 5.75 a week earlier. The closing rate for Berlin marks was 0.0018⅝ for both checks and cable transfers. Last week the close was 0.0021½. Austrian kronen finished at 0.0014¼ (unchanged). Lire closed the week at 4.79 for bankers' sight bills and 4.80 for cable remittances, in comparison with 4.85¾ and 4.86¾ the week preceding. Exchange on Czechoslovakia finished at 2.98¼ (unchanged); on Bucharest at 0.60, against 0.53; on Poland at 0.0019¼ (a new low record), against 0.0020½, and on Finland at 2.77½, against 2.78 a week ago. Greek exchange closed at 1.93½ for checks and 1.94 for cable transfers, as compared with 1.96 and 1.96½ last week.

As to the neutral exchanges, formerly so-called, trading was dull and featureless and rate variations comparatively slight. The most noteworthy feature of an uneventful week was renewed weakness in Norwegian currency, which broke to another new low of 15.99, a loss of over 30 points for the week.

Bankers' sight on Amsterdam finished at 39.05½, against 39.06; cable transfers at 39.14½, against 39.15; commercial sight at 39.00½, against 39.01, and commercial sixty days at 38.75½, against 38.76 last week. Final quotations for Swiss francs were 18.02 for bankers' sight bills and 18.03 for cable transfers, against 18.02 and 18.03 a week ago. Copenhagen checks closed at 18.52 and cable transfers at 18.56, against 18.56 and 18.60. Checks on Sweden finished at 26.60 and cable remittances at 26.64, against 26.64 and 26.68, while checks on Norway closed at 16.08½ and cable transfers at 16.12½, against 16.30 and 16.64 a week earlier. Spanish pesetas finished the week at 15.22 for checks and 15.23 for cable transfers. Last week the close was 15.21½ and 15.22½.

With regard to South American exchange the situation remains without appreciable change. Argentine checks were a trifle higher for a time at 36.15 and cable transfers at 36.25, but turned weak and closed at 35.85 and 35.95, against 36.10 and 36.20 last week, while Brazil continued weak, closing at 10.30 for checks and 10.35 for cable transfers, in comparison with 10.40 and 10.45 the previous week. Chilean exchange was steady, at 13⅛, unchanged, while Peru remains at 4 29.

Far Eastern exchange was as follows: Hong Kong, 54⅞@55⅛, against 55½@55¾; Shanghai, 75¼@75½, against 75@75¼; Yokohama, 49⅛@49⅜, against 49¼@49½; Manila, 49⅝@49⅞ (unchanged); Singapore, 54⅜@54⅝ (unchanged); Bombay, 31¼@31¾ (unchanged), and Calcutta, 31⅜@31⅝, against 31½@31¾.

Pursuant to the requirements of Section 522 of the Tariff Act of 1922, the Federal Reserve Bank is now certifying daily to the Secretary of the Treasury the buying rate for cable transfers in the different countries of the world. We give below a record for the week just past:

The New York Clearing House banks in their operations with interior banking institutions have gained $4,491,569 net in cash as a result of the currency movements for the week ending May 24. Their receipts from the interior have aggregated $5,511,069, while the shipments have reached $1,019,500, as per the following table:

As the Sub-Treasury was taken over by the Federal Reserve Bank on Dec. 6 1920, it is no longer possible to show the effect of Government operations on the Clearing House institutions. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York was creditor at the Clearing House each day as follows:

Note.—The foregoing heavy credits reflect the huge mass of checks which come to the New York Reserve Bank from all parts of the country in the operation of the Federal Reserve System's par collection scheme. These large credit balances, however, reflect only a part of the Reserve Bank's operations with the Clearing House institutions, as only the items payable in New York City are represented in the daily balances. The large volume of checks on institutions located outside of New York are not accounted for in arriving at these balances, as such checks do not pass through the Clearing House but are deposited with the Federal Reserve Bank for collection for the account of the local Clearing House banks.

a Gold holdings of the Bank of France this year are exclusive of £74,573,797 held abroad. b It is no longer possible to tell the amount of silver held by the Bank of Germany. On March 15 1923 the Reichsbank began including in its "Metal Reserve" not only gold and silver but aluminum, nickel and iron coin, as well. The Bank still gives the gold holdings as a separate item, but as under the new practice the remainder of the metal reserve can no longer be considered as being silver, there is now no way of arriving at the Bank's stock of silver, and we therefore carry it along at the figure computed March 7 1923.

PRESERVATION OF THE INITIATIVE.

In his address at the general session of the eleventh annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in New York City, May 8, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover made the following statement. We are pleased to quote his words and regard the pronouncement as of great value to the people. He said:

"Our goal in economic life is to do this great thing, to preserve individual initiative, an equality of opportunity, and thus a constantly advancing national standard of living. Our economic and social system is fundamentally right. It has produced the largest advance in the standard of living to the whole of our people that has ever been witnessed in history. Its faults are many, but they can be and are being corcorrected without destroying its progress. It has brought us steady advances, despite the fabulous losses of war, and must, therefore, have great inherent vitality. In short, this great conception of America that every man should be given an equality of opportunity to take that position in the community to which he is entitled by virtue of his character and ability is the keystone of our structure. We must preserve it as the most precious thing we possess, for when all is said and done, the finer flowers of civilization do not grow from the cellars of poverty any more than they grow from the palace of extravagance. They grow from the bettering comfort and well-being of the whole of great peoples."

The issue, as Secretary Hoover sees it, is between "those who would dominate the community and thus stifle the initiative and opportunity of the greater numbers"—and "those who would divert actual production and distribution into the hands of the Government." The latter class is the dangerous one, for there are natural laws to aid freedom of individual initiative which will prevent the former class from anything like permanent domination; while, should the Government once become the all-in-all, nothing could save the peoples from a decay from which centuries of upbuilding would be the only release. And here appears a truth not realized by those who clamor for Governmental ownership and control. It is this fact—that they would superimpose on a civilization established by individual initiative that control they vest in the State. It cannot be shown, we think, that Socialism has ever builded a civilization or a State of any importance in the world. The very mentality which fatuously conceives State control is the product of free individual initiative. And the sporadic small attempts at socialism in our own country, short-lived and failures, have been set up by their zealous advocates under a representative republican Government. The gigantic failure in Russia needs only to be mentioned as one effort that tore down a civilization that for all its faults gave greater security, peace and plenty than the present. What hope, then, in this theory and method? And for us it is imperative that the insidious inroads be stopped before the essential character of our Government is changed.

Our own growth is so plainly due to free individual initiative that it seems superfluous to comment on it. Take our physical comforts and well-being—heat, light, power, transportation—are each in turn due to the original inventor willing to sacrifice long years in quest of an idea. It is impossible to believe a primitive State ordering and controlling the individual could or would accomplish as much. Follow this with our production and trade—the intermingling of innumerable personal efforts, the co-operation of countless competitive ideas—and it is at once certain that even our own State, or system of government, cannot originate, cannot control, so vast a power and result. And there is no "dividing line." Men must be free or they must be slave.

We do not entertain great fear of "those who would dominate the community and thus stifle initiative and opportunity of the greater numbers." We have tried to halt "combinations in restraint of trade" with the Sherman Anti-Trust law, only to find it necessary to allow certain combinations to form. We have been compelled to admit that the result of some of the combinations is cheaper goods and greater good to greater numbers. And as long as personal initiative is secure under law no monopoly, so-called, is safe. Scientific investigation may destroy it any day. But a monopoly once in existence, even a State owned and controlled monopoly, protected by the State (man, alone, being prohibited from adventuring opposition) tends toward perpetuity.

Taking our finer or more spiritual accomplishment, here there can be no doubt. Ideas are products of men, not of Governments. Nor can the State even direct the course of this progress. Nor can it control. All censorship is essentially opposed to individual initiative. Yet we find teachers and actors joining a labor-union-monopoly which if it continues must some time transform itself into a State monopoly. Ideas, when free, like atoms, tend to form into the hard rock of public opinion. This thus becomes the arbiter of destiny. The State itself must fall back upon men to administer it. And these, confronted by new conditions, must at last fall back upon the edicts of State. Ideas must be free to grapple ideas, to controvert that opposed by public opinion.

It is said that those who tend a machine, making one part of an article over and over again, lose in mental power. When the State owns all, controls all, directs in minute detail the toil of the citizen, the same result must be expected. It suggests the vast benefit of the right of initiative. Not only the personal welfare is at stake, in the material agencies of life, but the spiritual or cultural. This, then, is what we must preserve at all costs. A people, the individuals of which, each for himself, may follow the dream, the gleam; may convert an idea into a fact; may transform environment to profit, pleasure and plenitude, will be happier and more contented than under any other condition. The man devoid of happiness is a disgruntled voter. He tends toward anarchy; he is ripe for revolution. Our economic progress, our social improvement, our stability in government, are at stake. Socialism, bureaucracy, political domination, destroy the freedom of the individual to initiate his own welfare, and work out his own aims, and with that goes the love of civic representative rule.

THE DEBTS OF THE WORLD.

We know now, as never before, that debts are the inevitable and woeful legacy of war. And these debts, so multiform and colossal, must be paid! Only the far future can tell in what form they will be paid. When we talk of possible repudiation, two or three generations hence, we mean, if we think carefully, that they will not be paid in their customary form—counting that to be, for our present purpose, the bonds of the nations concerned. In such event the loss will fall upon individuals holding the national bonds. This means that the capital so invested cannot be reinvested in producing enterprises—and the people and world are the losers. But this is not escape, since toil and thrift must again produce this floating form of capital, and the people pay in want and woe.

It is at this point we must consider the nature of credit and that of public debt. The former, essentially, is a great beneficence; the latter may be, but this depends upon the manner in which it is treated. We venture to say, therefore, that in the present funding proposal for 62 years for the English war debt to this country, the ½% amortization clause is more important to the future economics and peace of the world than ½% difference in the rate of interest. For amortization means the slow and sure extinguishment; interest does not. On the contrary, the burden of interest, under the present world circumstances, only adds to the want and woe.

The economic contrast between private and public debt is extreme. Take the simplest form of private debt—the store account. Here there is a living, working, man to pay it. The obligation is complete, single and imperative. It is so understood, and unless settled promptly further credit is denied. Take the case of the private corporation. It is a going, an earning, concern. While there is something to say against industrials borrowing on too long time, with public utilities and railroads, there is a fixed and growing population to serve, an occupied territory with its established manufacture and trade, and here time may be longer extended. But it must be said that a growing tendency in this direction ought to be curbed. And at last, we remark that the ideal credit, in an economic sense, is the self-extinguishing commercial credit in transactions of trade that move the forces of civilization.

On the contrary, public debt is never self-extinguishing. It tends to remain through refunding processes. It earns nothing for itself, for the most part. It is a double form of debt in that it can only be paid by taxes on all the people and is owing, generally speaking, to a part thereof. It is issued by a Government. That Government is an arbitrary borrower. If monarchical, it is to some extent tyrannical. If democratic, it is to some extent wasteful and extravagant. So that public debt, while in some instances to be regarded with great favor—yet, for the economic good of the world, should only exist in definite, limited amounts, with clear amortization provided, at very low rates of interest, and should not pass in time from one generation to another. Here appears the lasting and looming after-cruelty of war.

There is no more important matter than the settlement of these public debts of the nations. They are a frown upon the future. They have in them the seeds of revolution. Governments reared suddenly by violence, when conscious of injustices heaped upon peoples, rightly or wrongly, seldom pay in full debts contracted by their predecessors. These debts pass out into the credit circulation of the world, and in time may cause enmity. Say all that you may of the benefactions of credit—debts for which there is no value received are evils. For these and other reasons the stand of France on reparations, a stand it would seem for "the pound of flesh nearest the heart," is indubitably wrong. Great financiers independent of Governments should be called into conference to settle this question that other debts may follow in process. Time, of course, owing to unprecedented war-calarmity, must be extended beyond ordinarily proper bounds, but beginnings and continuance there should be. Perhaps if we could picture to ourselves the long procession of toil-worn men, famished mothers and starving children, of the next hundred years, produced in large degree by the burden of taxes to be laid upon peoples, we would quit quibbling, make liberal reductions, make cancellations where possible, and establish the process of reduction on a business basis.

No man knows the amount of the Governmental debts of the world of to-day. To increase them that we may enjoy what we call a higher civilization must give us pause. After all, private credit, personal and corporate, is sufficient for our needs now, and the job of construction is much better done. Debts of nations and of their States may be approximated, but when political divisions run down the line of school and road districts there is no computation possible.

Now, the cumulative power of credit must have equal bearing in the case of debt. The ideal issuance of credit is where the power of demand and fulfillment are in equilibrium. We have cited instances of this in the case of private debts. But no such condition can exist in a democracy. The republic which borrows, does so through representatives. If the weight is allowed to fall down on another generation—other representatives will pass upon payment. In fact, the weight of public debt extended beyond the generation of issue constitutes a form of slavery. Even the ordering of labor in the new generation would still leave the land as the final resource of payment if labor should elect to refuse to pay. Hence the constant increase of burden and possible cause of conflict.

We want peace and prosperity. Often we stand at the doors of legislative bodies and demand help. Yet by nation, State, county, city, town, township and lesser political divisions, we go on borrowing. Even now that the wheels of our chariots may run smoothly from shore to shore of the wide continent we are bonding the people for highways regardless of the future. It is so easy to refund. We are too often willing to postpone payment. Let the future go hang. We must live in to-day. And Debt, mountain-high, confronts the child unborn. Talk of a rehabilitated Europe, of a restored people—then bring the debts down to the lowest compass consonant with goodwill, and settle—settle now. How terribly foolish to send a military invasion into an impoverished country to collect a debt exorbitant in the first place!

THE DREAM OF "ABUNDANT" MONEY.

A few days ago the German paper mark reached a new "low" at 50,000 to the dollar, and later reports mention a further slump to 57,000 or 59,000; any person with a sufficiently daring speculative mind could therefore invest a single $100 in them, and "when" the mark returns to normal would find himself advanced to the class of millionaires. On May 7 the note issue of the Reichsbank was 6,723,099,516,000 marks, against 2,909,422,000 on July 31 1914, and it is pointed out that while the less than three billions of pre-war marks were worth approximately 725 million dollars, the six to seven present trillions are worth only 113 millions; still further, that the gold reserves of the Reichsbank at home and abroad are 227 million dollars, or approximately double the real value of the mass of marks. A recent report from Berlin says that tons of paper marks are crowding attics and cellars, and that 30 printers are working hard in printing.

Whether all these figures are precisely correct or not, they are near enough to accuracy to point out the grim lesson. The approximately inverse ratio between quantity and quality appears, and we have the apparent paradox that the greater the total of fiat paper the less its total. The varying indications as to the reparations problem and other political questions naturally affect the course of the mark, and no careful person can venture a prediction as to what lies before us in even the next few years; yet rehabilitation of the mark does not seem conceivable. Our own country took the plunge into fiat paper, some 60 years ago, and the paper (or what remained of it after contraction) was rehabilitated, fourteen years after the war, with what difficulty and against what opposition and clamor some of the elders remember, but there was one factor which is now absent: the presses were stopped and the total mass reached a limit.

Before specie resumption in 1879 we had the Greenback movement, trailing through three Presidential campaigns, and in 1896 and later the Free Silver plague was upon us; there is always a cult who imagine that because abundance of money seems good for an individual it would be pro tanto good for an entire country. Some tell us that one man is as good as any other and all have an equal right to credit; also, that the Government mark is not simply a guaranty of metallic content in the gold and a notation on the paper but is what creates the value; also, that whatever people will "take" is good money. In full literalness, the last statement is correct, and if all mankind would forthwith rate and accept the German mark at its normal value that problem would solve itself. Equally, if we were in a world where a "thank you" was a dollar and a smile ten dollars, or where all men loved neighbors as themselves, all problems would vanish, since Love is a universal solvent; but we are not yet in such a world.

Many persons do not realize the existence of economic laws which are beyond the power of paper statutes, and some have great faith in the power of a "be it enacted." Let us suppose it true that the Government stamp makes the value and that whatever will "pass" is sufficiently good money, also, that when something is "enacted" it is perforce accomplished. Put this with the other suppositions, and then suppose a law declaring that anybody's demand note or anybody's personal check upon, say, the Bank of the Universe, should be legal-tender for its face, without demur or recourse. Not even the wildest-eyed theorist could fail to see that when he tendered one of such notes or checks to a grocer as an equivalent for food, the grocer would shake his head and say "Your check is of no value to me, for I can write my own; but the food I have here is real, and I can eat it, so I will keep it." On a movie film such paper tokens might exchange for substance, but they would not so exchange anywhere else.

The dream of an "energy dollar" persists, and it had a special outbreak, a little over a year ago; even Mr. Edison, unique and admirable within his own field, adopted some fantastic notions of his friend Henry Ford and could not see why paper issued against water powers and like potentialities of energy would not be good money. The Chemical bank of this city never suspended specie payment, partly because its note issues were never very great. Mr. Edison thinks we are not now on a specie basis, because not all existing paper could be simultaneously redeemed in gold. Neither could any bank immediately pay over, in any forms of money, its entire deposits; solvency does not demand that, any more than to be out of debt requires that a man must not have, at the moment, any current and accruing obligations outstanding.

The difference between paper issued against unrealized and unknowable potentialities of the future and that issued against specie reserves can be understood by anybody who will open-mindedly take the trouble to study; so can the characteristics which make the "precious" metals the best for their use as the measure of values. Even the most ordinary person could readily see that if paper notes were as abundant as the leaves of plants, or if anybody could have ten millions of gold coin by just shutting his eyes and uttering a wish, the value would shrink swiftly towards nothingness; the plain reason is that people will not exchange material substance, which has cost labor, for something which has not cost labor and anybody can pick off bushes, as it were.

And yet, and yet—the most pestilent notions persist, and the clamor for a flood of money which shall give a plenty to everybody keeps menacing us. Those who know nothing of American history might observe the grim lesson in Europe, but they do not. One journal of large circulation (possibly copied by others less influential with the uninformed) has actually told us that Government could just as well as not print legal tenders and have perfectly good money wherewith to pay the soldiers' bonus, thus disposing of the subject without harming anybody or levying any tax.

The unthinking and the noisy we seem to have always with us, and therefore we must keep on the alert to instruct them and to prevent their getting too great a hold upon our time-serving politicians.

A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT, THE SAVING OF AUSTRIA.

The announcement made this week by J. P. Morgan & Co. that $25,000,000 of the $130,000,000 foreign loan to be raised on behalf of Austria would be offered in this country calls attention to the remarkable work of reconstruction well under way in that country. A year ago the condition of Austria appeared hopeless. Dismembered and reduced to one of the smaller States by the war, impoverished, with a worthless currency and without resources of food, her industries destroyed and her trade cut off, she had lost her nerve and her courage. She faced starvation and was drifting into the abyss of anarchy and chaos.

$110,000,000 of public money had been loaned and become an irretrievably bad debt. Some $180,000,000 had been lost by those who had invested in her paper currency or had accepted it in payment. Large sums had been contributed and expended in charitable aid, and the sources from which it came were drying up. Her available revenue amounted to barely half her annual public expenses. Printing more kronen was only spoiling white paper. Without strong and wise outside aid she seemed helpless and her disintegration appeared inevitable.

Then it was that a Financial Commission created by the Council of the League of Nations appeared and took matters in hand. Further inflationary issue of paper money was stopped and the right of issuing notes was transferred from the Government to an independent Bank of Issue created for the purpose, conducted on business principles. Internal reforms in the administration of the State were introduced with an assured balancing of the national budget cut to meet the situation and made the condition of assistance.

To meet an inevitable deficit for the first two years, which would be necessary for establishing the new system, a total of some £27,000,000 would have to be sought through loans. The first of these was required to be raised by Austria, and as but a small part of this was available at home she needed to look abroad. She could offer security in the form of her customs and tobacco receipts, if these could be assured. To accomplish this a number of countries, including Italy, Great Britain, France and Czechoslovakia, guaranteed each a portion of the loan, and joined in a protocol assuring Austria's political and economic independence and safety.

To make sure that funds so raised should be used exclusively for the end of achieving Austria's permanent self-supporting independence by carrying out drastic reforms and economy, a Commissioner-General was appointed by the Commission, with authority established by the fact that the special revenues involved should be under his hand; and a Committee of Control was created to guard the interests of the guaranteeing Powers.

The Austrian Government immediately enacted the necessary legislation to put the plan into operation; and the issue of inflationary currency stopped definitely on the 18th of November. Six months have passed, and the results already are noteworthy. The new Bank of Issue with capital subscribed at home opened January 2. The kroner was made stable and remains entirely so. The Austrian public are bringing back the foreign exchange which they had hoarded or invested abroad and are asking for kronen in exchange. On the new basis of real value deposits in the banks increased 500% in four months. The loans so far required have been successfully raised. Austria herself subscribed twenty million gold kronen for capital of the new bank, and some fifty million more toward a national loan. She witnessed to her restored confidence by starting bravely on her own resources. Since the new year she has made a foreign loan of £3,500,000, which was largely oversubscribed in the guaranteeing nations; and offers of such further loans as she may need have been guaranteed. Meanwhile her revenues pledged in payment are proving more than sufficient to provide for final amortization of all.

So far the immediate visible results. Much of course remains to be done. Internal reform must go forward with the external aid. She will need steady purpose and perhaps further help and guidance; but the neighbor European States have proved their helpfulness and their good-will. A substantial breach has been made in the wall of perplexity and difficulty that has for several years stood in the way of Europe's recuperation. One swallow may not make a spring, but the first robin is gleefully welcomed even though the frost is not wholly out of the ground and there may be another snow squall.

Real international co-operation, of which we have been so shy, has, if we may trust the report of the head of the Economic Section of the League of Nations, produced one comprehensive and successful scheme of national reconstruction, where open-handed charity, even on a large scale, and piecemeal assistance had hopelessly failed.

FOREIGN TRADE IN 1922.

After a delay of more than two months, and nearly four months beyond the close of the year, the complete foreign trade statement for 1922 was issued at Washington the beginning of May. The delay in tabulation is said to have been occasioned by the confusion incident to the changed classifications under the new customs duties that became effective in September. The October statement of merchandise imports was not available until late in January, more than two months in arrears, and the succeeding months were even more tardy in appearance. It is to be hoped that the former promptness with which this important and valuable information was published will soon be restored.

Merchandise imports into the United States in 1922 were valued at $3,112,548,772. These figures contrast with $2,509,147,570 for the preceding year, an increase of 24.0%. In part the increase is due to higher import prices on some articles, but only in part, and this condition is quite in contrast with that existing in the preceding year, for in 1921 prices were very much lower than they were in 1920, and in many instances the difference was quite material. The improvement in the import trade in 1922 was progressive as the year advanced—in fact, after the recession in the early months of 1921 in imports, a rather moderate improvement appeared toward the close of that year, which became quite pronounced in the first six months of 1922, and this without any marked change in import prices. For the month of September 1922, in which month the new tariff law became effective, in anticipation of which a rush of shipments, to secure the advantage of the lower customs duties occurred, imports of merchandise increased to $298,300,000, the largest valuation for any month since November 1920. The growth in the merchandise imports during the calendar year 1922 will be more clearly apparent if we give the figures in quarterly periods as follows: First quarter, 689 million dollars; second quarter, 730 millions; third quarter, 832 millions, and fourth quarter, 862 millions. For the first three months of 1923 the imports are still larger, amounting to 1,026 million dollars, nearly 49% in excess of the corresponding period of 1922.

On the other hand, merchandise exports in 1922 were 14.1% smaller in value than they were during the preceding year, the figures being: 1922, $3,831,932,193 and 1921, $4,485,031,356, and this decrease has occurred notwithstanding that export prices in 1922 of a number of the important export products were higher than in 1921. Raw cotton was the leading feature in this respect, the value of cotton sent abroad being more than 25% higher in 1922 than in 1921, and raw cotton constitutes 18% of the total exports. The excess of merchandise exports in 1922 over merchandise imports was $719,383,421, as against an excess of $1,975,883,786 in the preceding year. For a number of years prior to 1921 the excess of merchandise exports was between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000, but conditions during that period were abnormal. Prior to the war, the foreign trade of the United States was at the high water mark in 1913. Merchandise exports during that year were valued at $2,484,000,000 and the imports $1,792,000,000, the excess of exports amounting to $691,400,000. The value of merchandise exports in 1922 was 54.2% greater than in 1913, while merchandise imports last year were 73.7% greater than in 1913. There is no means of knowing how much of this difference may be due to the higher prices prevailing in 1922, but it is not unlikely that there is a difference on this account of perhaps one-third.

Of the ten groups into which the export statistics compiled by the Department at Washington are separated there are six of major importance and four that may be considered minor. The six major groups comprise 85% in value of the total of all merchandise exports. The textile group, which includes raw cotton and is one of the largest, is practically the only one in which there was an increase in the value of exports in 1922, as contrasted with 1921, this increase amounting to 23.7%. Exports of cotton in 1922 were 6,113,813 bales and during the preceding year 6,474,105 bales, a decrease in quantity last year of 5.6%. But again the difference in the price of cotton, particularly during the closing months of 1922, upsets all calculations in regard to export conditions. The average export price of cotton in 1922 was 21.3 cents per pound and in 1921 it was 16 cents per pound. The value of cotton exported last year was $673,249,613, and for the preceding year $534,241,795, an increase in 1922 of 26.0%. The gyrations of the cotton market during the past few years have materially affected these export figures. In 1921 the increase in quantity of raw cotton exported, as compared with the preceding year was 5%, yet values in 1921 were considerably less than one-half of those for 1920—$534,000,000 for 1921, contrasting with $1,136,000,000 in the preceding year. The export price of cotton in 1921, as noted above, was 16 cents; in 1920 it was 35.7 cents per pound and in some months it was over 40 cents. The textile group also includes cotton cloth, and while in quantity exports of cotton cloth were 6.5% larger during 1922 than in the preceding year, in value there was an increase of nearly 20%. Yarns, wool and woolen goods are included in the textile group, and though relatively small as to quantity, there is an increase for 1922 over 1921.

The second largest group embraces wheat, corn and other cereal products, and for this group exports for 1922 show a loss of nearly 25% in comparison with the preceding year. Wheat exports for 1922 were only 232,302,391 bushels, flour included at 4½ bushels to the barrel, as contrasted with 355,661,224 bushels for the preceding year, and the export value of this important cereal for 1922 was $291,821,259 as compared with $550,751,561 for 1921. The average export price per bushel for wheat in 1922 was $1 26; for 1921 it was $1 55. For some of the other grains in 1922 there was an increase in exports, notably for corn, the exports in that year amounting to 163,600,000 bushels, as contrasted with 128,900,000 bushels during 1921. Exports of rye were more than 50% greater in 1922 than for 1921 as to quantity, but the value in 1922 was only slightly higher. There was a considerable increase in shipments abroad of sugar in 1922 as contrasted with 1921, the quantity being nearly double, but in value there was not so great a gain.

Next to the group including cereals is that embracing mineral oils, petroleum, coal and other non-metallic minerals. Coal shipments, both of anthracite and bituminous, were but little more than one-half of the exports of 1921 and values were also very much less last year. Exports of petroleum, crude and refined, in 1922, also of gasoline, were somewhat larger as to quantity, but there was a slight reduction in values last year as contrasted with the preceding year. The same is true as to lubricating oils.

In the metals class, which is part of the metal group, exports of iron and steel in 1922 were only 58.3% in value of the exports of the preceding year for the same line. In steel rods there was a very large reduction both in quantity and value, the exports in this department of trade in 1922 being less than one-twentieth of the exports in the same line in 1921. There was also a very large falling off last year in iron and steel plates, but on the other hand exports of galvanized sheets were nearly double in quantity in 1922 the exports of the preceding year. Black steel sheets were about the same, but exports of tin plate for 1922 were considerably less than for the preceding year. Track materials and rails showed some reduction in exports last year as to quantity and in values there was a very large decrease. In wire, plain and galvanized, exports in 1922 were very much larger in quantity than in 1921, but the value in 1922 was smaller than in the preceding year. Export prices of practically all classes of iron and steel products in 1922 as contrasted with 1921 were decidedly lower. Exports of copper for 1922 were somewhat higher in quantity and value than in the preceding year, the value in 1922 being $103,865,464, compared with $97,850,744 in 1921. There was an increase in export shipments of lead and a large gain reported for zinc.

Exports of locomotives were very much reduced last year as contrasted with the previous year, the decrease in value being from $33,696,331 in 1921 to $8,663,764 in 1922. In 1921 there were large exports of locomotives to Mexico; also to China and Cuba. Agricultural implements show quite a large reduction in exports for 1922, the figures being $23,924,805 as contrasted with $37,596,653 for the preceding year. Vehicles, including automobiles, show some increase in exports for 1922, the value being $127,264,422 as contrasted with $123,229,551 for 1921. Exports of passenger cars in 1922 were more than double in number the exports of the preceding year, and the increase in value for passenger cars and parts was very large. There were increased exports in motor trucks, too, but the value in 1922 was less than it was in the preceding year. The exports of automobiles were to all quarters of the globe, but naturally larger to Canada and Mexico; they were also very large to Australia. There is likewise a considerable export trade each year to Belgium, United Kingdom, Sweden, Argentina and British South Africa.

In food products, such as meats, pork, etc., the export movement last year was somewhat less than it was in 1921. The total value of all meats exported last year was $134,919,343 and this contrasted with $150,878,243 in 1921. In some measure, however, the reduced amount for 1922 was due to a lower range of prices for some meat products. Of hams and shoulders, exports last year increased in quantity nearly 25% but in value under 20%; for bacon there was a decrease last year of 17% in quantity and 23% in value. These are important items in the export trade. For dairy products there was a large falling off last year, both in quantity and value in exports as compared with the preceding year. Exports of fish remained practically the same for both years, but shipments abroad of animal and fish oils, greases and fats were nearly 20% less in value last year than in the preceding year, and this includes lard, which figures quite prominently in the export trade. There was an increase last year of 50% in the exports of leather, but not so of boots and shoes, in which export shipments were very much less. Exports of leaf tobacco in 1922 amounted in value to $145,984,896, whereas in 1921 the exports were $204,743,186. There was, however, in lumber, a somewhat larger movement to foreign ports in 1922 than in the preceding year.

In the following table the changes from year to year in a number of leading staple articles of export are shown, also the relation that each of these articles bears to the total movement from this country to foreign ports. The compilation covers five years:

The larger merchandise imports into the United States last year were well distributed among many products. Hides and skins show an increase in imports during 1922 of nearly 60% in quantity over 1921, while the value in 1922 was $107,044,908 as contrasted with $67,561,015 in the preceding year. In leather manufactures, however, there was a decrease, the value in 1922 being $11,144,675 against $15,346,650 for the preceding year. Importations of both coffee and tea were larger in 1922 than for the preceding year, the value of coffee received being $160,854,476 as contrasted with $142,808,719, and tea $23,825,086 against $14,233,971. While the value of coffee was higher in 1922, the quantity was nearly 100,000,000 pounds less. Crude rubber importations in 1922 were very much larger, both in quantity and in value than in the preceding year, the value in 1922 being $101,843,188, an increase of nearly 40%. The value of tobacco imported in 1922 was $73,810,438, as contrasted with $60,252,756 for the preceding year. For textiles there was a large gain last year, the total value of dutiable goods being $336,392,851 and for 1921 $234,385,767; for free importations of textiles last year the value was $520,743,936, against $439,154,538 for the preceding year. This betterment includes cotton manufactures, cotton cloth, jute and manufactures, flax and hemp, wool and hair and silk and manufactures, in all of which importations are heavy. Wood and manufactures also figured much larger in the imports in 1922 than in the preceding year, and this includes wood pulp and paper base stock, the increased imports of the latter in 1922 over 1921 being nearly two-thirds. The importation of paper, other than printed matter, was slightly less in value in 1922 than in the preceding year. Coal importations were very much larger in 1922, being 4,400,000 tons, as against 1,122,000 tons in the preceding year, and petroleum increased from $66,547,379 in 1921 to $70,383,309 in 1922. The importations of precious stones in 1922 were valued at $67,877,473 and for the preceding year $38,127,649. Imports of sugar in 1922 were 63% greater than in the preceding year and only 5% was free of duty. The bulk of the receipts were from Cuba, the latter constituting 93% of the whole. The value of the importation of sugar last year was $251,904,884, which contrasts with $235,286,011 for 1921, an increase of only 7.1%, but while the average price per pound in 1921 was nearly 4 cents, for 1922 it was only 2.6 cents per pound.

Imports of merchandise during 1922 were 60.1% duty free and 39.1% dutiable; for the preceding year the ratios were, respectively, 62.3% and 37.7%, whereas for 1919 the duty free imports measured 69.1% of the whole. During the last three months of 1922, when the new customs duties law was in operation, the ratio of duty free imports was 60.6%, practically the same as for the preceding nine months. Of the duty free imports 51.1% was of crude materials for use in manufacturing; 19.7% of manufactures for use in manufacturing, making 70.8%. Of the remaining 30% foodstuffs in crude condition and food animals constituted 13.3% and manufactures ready for consumption 13.1%. For the preceding year the ratio of crude materials for use in manufacturing to the total was 47.8% and manufactures for further use in manufacturing, 14.1%, a total of 61.9%, as against 70.8% for 1922, as just stated. Foodstuffs in crude condition and food animals in the imports for 1921 constituted 16.7% of the total and manufactures ready for consumption 17.2%. The last mentioned percentages for 1921 were somewhat larger than those for the year just closed. The average ad valorem rate of duty for 1922 is placed at 14.7%; for the preceding year 11.9%. In the case of the exports, manufactures in complete form constituted 34.3% of the total of all domestic exports; manufactures for further use in manufacturing 11.6% and foodstuffs partly or wholly manufactured 15.6%, a total of 61.5%. These percentages apply to the 1922 report. For 1921, the corresponding ratios were 37.1% for manufactures in complete form; 9.1%, manufactures for further use in manufacturing, and 15.2% for foodstuffs partly or wholly manufactured, a total of 61.4%. The re-exports of foreign goods in 1922 composed only 1.7% of the total of all merchandise exports.

Imports from all the grand divisions were larger last year, although some decline appeared in the imports from some of the Central American countries. Exports were reduced all along the line. Exports to France were an exception, that being about the only large nation which purchased more from the United States in 1922 than in 1921. There was a very large decline in the exports to Mexico, the value in 1922 being less than one-half of that for the year 1921, but reference might again be made to the large shipment of locomotives to Mexico in 1921.

There is little indication of any very extensive betterment in the matter of the employment of American bottoms in the water-borne foreign trade of the United States. One-third (33.5%) of the imports of the United States that was water-borne was carried in American vessels. This relates to 1922. For the preceding year the ratio is 35%. As to exports, there is a little improvement, 1922 claiming 38.4% of American bottoms and 1921 36%. The tonnage of American vessels that entered our ports in 1922 was 48.7% of the total; in 1921 it was 50.1%. There seems to be an adequate supply of American tonnage. As to the vessels that cleared, 49% were of American register in 1922 and 48.2% in 1921. Goods carried in American vessels in the import trade were valued somewhat under those carried in British bottoms; on domestic exports the value of goods carried in American bottoms exceeded a little those of the British shipments. Many of the European maritime countries contributed a small quota, both as to imports and exports, the leading countries being France, Norway and Holland. Japanese tonnage also amounts to considerable.

Imports of gold in 1922 were considerably smaller than in either of the two preceding years, amounting to $275,169,785, this contrasting with $691,248,297 for 1921. Gold exports last year continued very small, but were slightly larger than in the preceding year, the figures being: 1922, $36,874,894, and 1921, $23,891,377; for 1920 the exports of gold amounted to $322,091,208. Many countries, as in previous years, contributed to our stock of gold, England as usual holding first place. The amounts from the other European countries were generally less than for the preceding year, as was the case with the total of gold imports, although Denmark and Norway made a much larger contribution in 1922 than in 1921. There was also a considerable shipment of gold from Sweden to the United States, but practically nothing from Germany. Nearly 80% of the gold imports of 1922 was from Europe, including shipments from London, the latter covering some shipments from countries outside of Europe. The direct importations of gold from countries outside of Europe were smaller than in the preceding year. Exports of gold last year would not have been so large except for an unusual shipment to Canada in October, due to a special movement. The Canadian shipments comprised about 60% of all our gold exports in 1922. Some gold was sent to Mexico, British India and China, but otherwise the amounts were small.

The silver movement last year was also without special significance. Exports were valued at $62,807,286 and imports at $70,806,653, these amounts being within a few million dollars of those for the preceding year. The exports were chiefly to China, British India and to London, the latter possibly including shipments for some of the other markets, and these shipments comprised 90% of the whole. The imports of silver were mainly from Mexico, as usual—nearly 70%, although there was also a considerable shipment from Peru.

Bringing together the various balances, we give below a summary covering the past five years, and showing net result of the foreign trade of the United States:

U. S. SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

INCOME TAX LEVIES MUST BE PAID—REQUISITIONED FUEL TO BE PAID FOR AT MARKET PRICE—VALUATION OF PROPERTY IN FIXING RATES.

Several recent decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court are worth noting. In one case the question involved was the proper course for a taxpayer who has a difference with the revenue department in respect to inclusion or non-inclusion of a certain item in his income-tax return. A prominent citizen of Delaware, in the year 1915, received a block of shares in the common stock of a reorganized company in which he was heavily interested, and did not include this in his return for the year, not deeming it taxable income. After two years' delay, he was assessed over 1½ millions as tax on the non-included shares, and he responded by filing a claim for abatement. When this was decided adversely to him by the Internal Revenue Commissioner, he obtained in the Federal District Court an injunction against collecting the assessment, and the Circuit Court of Appeals sustained this. The Supreme Court now reverses the decree and directs that the injunction be dissolved, holding that maintenance of such a suit is forbidden by statute and that Government may rightfully make the conditions under which its action in collecting revenue can be reviewed judicially. In other words, the taxpayer mistook his remedy and may now revert to the proper course, which is to pay the tax first, then sue for recovery, and in the suit to raise and make good, if he can, any questions of fact or of technical procedure which may relieve him from liability.

This does not pronounce upon the merits of the case, but only upon the mode of procedure, and it seems both good law and good sense, though it is impossible to overlook the fact that in some cases it may involve hardship to the taxpayer in compelling the raising of a large sum of money for which he may not be found liable in the end.

Another case decided arose under the Lever law of 1917. Section 10 authorizes the President to requisition fuels and other supplies needed for military use and requires him to "ascertain and pay a just compensation therefor"; if the party in the case demurs, he shall receive 75% of the sum offered him and may sue for enough more to make up a just amount. A large quantity of bituminous coal was taken from a collieries company, and the Government fixed a price based on the cost of mining plus what was assumed a fair profit; but the company contended that it should receive what the coal would have brought had it not been requisitioned. A Federal District Court and a Circuit Court of Appeals agreed with this claim, and the Supreme Court now holds that full market value at the time of taking was the just compensation.

In another action, brought to set aside the rates determined for a telephone company by the Missouri Public Service Commission, the Supreme Court, by Justice McReynolds, with Justices Holmes and Brandeis in dissent, sustained the position of the company, which was that the cost of reproduction at prevailing prices must be considered in fixing rates. It is impossible, said the majority, to determine a fair return on the investment without considering all reproduction costs at the time; if present reproduction cost is disregarded an intelligent forecast of probable future values becomes impossible, for estimates for to-morrow cannot overlook prices of to-day. "It must not be forgotten," said the opinion, "that while the State may regulate with a view of enforcing reasonable rates and charges it is not the owner of the property of public utility companies and is not clothed with the general power of management incident to ownership." In dissent, Justice Brandeis contended that his colleagues gave heed to the opinion of experts instead of basing rates upon ascertainable facts, and held that, if the financing has been proper, the actual investment already made is the just basis on which a fair earning rate is guaranteed; under the majority view, he held, the value for rate-making "must ever be an unstable factor," and the companies want the courts to take as the basis of rates either the reproduction cost or the actual investment, "whichever is the higher." The bearing of this decision upon the problem of transportation rates is obvious.

British Shipping Trade Greater in March 1923 Than in 1913.

British shipping trade established a record in March 1923, when the tonnage of vessels leaving British ports with cargo exceeded the tonnage for March 1913. Tonnage of shipping arriving with cargo in March was less than 3% below the pre-war tonnage for that month. Official figures of the British Board of Trade received by the Bankers Trust Co., of New York, from its English Information Service, gives the comparative tonnages as follows:

	March 1913.	March 1923.
Vessels departing with cargo	5,190,000 tons	6,043,000 tons
Vessels arriving with cargo	3,773,000 tons	3,682,000 tons

The trust company under date of March 19 adds:

The official figures disclose that British vessels comprised two-thirds of the above tonnage arriving and more than half of the tonnage departing in March 1923. A significant feature was important increases in the tonnage of foreign vessels trading at British ports, notably American, Dutch, Japanese, Italian and French ships. These increases are indicated below:

	March 1913.	March 1923.
Ships arriving with cargo:
American	56,000 tons	205,000 tons
Dutch	170,000 tons	207,000 tons
Japanese	9,000 tons	58,000 tons
Italian	13,000 tons	36,000 tons
French	89,000 tons	94,000 tons
Ships departing with cargo:
American	53,000 tons	116,000 tons
Dutch	219,000 tons	373,000 tons
Japanese	24,000 tons	62,000 tons
Italian	76,000 tons	110,000 tons

The recovery of German shipping is shown by the following figures at British ports:

	March 1913.	March 1922.	March 1923.
Arriving with cargo	242,000 tons	55,000 tons	120,000 tons
Departing with cargo	433,000 tons	122,000 tons	347,000 tons

The general increase in tonnage of vessels departing from British ports with cargo during March 1923 was due in part to the enlarged coal export trade, resulting from the Ruhr situation.

The New Capital Flotations in April and the Four Months Since January 1

For the current month of May the total of new issues brought out, owing to the depression in the stock market which has operated to put a damper on new financing, is likely to be light. For April, however, according to the analysis we present below, the aggregate of new capital flotations was of considerable proportions. And yet the amount, while large, fell much below recent maximums, as was also the case in March and February. Our compilations, as usual, include the stock, bond and note issues by corporations and by States and municipalities, foreign and domestic, and also Farm Loan issues. The grand aggregate for April is $458,133,469. This compares with $392,262,540 for March, with $380,187,119 for February, but with $879,268,265 for January. The latter, of course, is to be considered as a wholly exceptional total, the amount for that month having been swollen to extraordinary proportions by the bringing out of several issues of unusual size—the Anaconda Copper Mining Co. alone by its financing having then added, as previously explained, $150,000,000 to the total and Armour & Co. $110,000,000; January as a consequence broke all records for new capital flotations in the United States, the total, indeed, having been of such magnitude that it could not be said to have been even closely approached in the past, the highest previous amount for any month of any year having been $655,817,946 for April 1922.

Comparison with corresponding figures of previous years brings out still more strongly the fact that the April issues, while of no mean proportions, did not equal the high totals of the recent past. At this time a year ago new financing was proceeding on a very unusual scale and even in 1921 it was heavier than in April of the current year. In other words, as against $458,133,469 for April 1923, the new flotations for April 1922 were $656,157,353 and for April 1921 $527,655,718; back in 1920 and 1919, however, the amounts were smaller than at present, having been in those years $407,830,809 and $319,916,001, respectively. This has reference to new capital appeals of all kinds. But as is always the case, a portion of the new issues is for conversion or refunding and goes to take up or retire existing issues. We always carefully separate this from the rest, and the reason lies on the surface. For obviously, security offerings made to provide for maturing issues, or to convert short term into long term obligations or to replace high rate bonds with new bonds bearing a lower rate of interest, belong in a different category from other offerings. Strictly speaking, they do not constitute appeals at all for new capital. The portion covering conversions the present year was large, having been $103,091,400, but, as it happens, it was even larger in April of the two preceding years. In April 1922 conversions or refunding comprised $176,206,336 and in April 1921 amounted to no less than $222,808,000, this last having been the time when the $230,000,000 Northern Pacific-Great Northern Joint 6½% Convertible bonds were offered with such tremendous success, that issue having been almost entirely a refunding operation, its purpose being to provide for the taking up of the $215,227,000 4½% Chicago Burlington & Quincy Collateral Trust bonds maturing July 1 1921. On the other hand, in 1920 and 1919 the portion represented by refunding was very small, having been only $7,702,200 in April 1920 and but $5,842,259 in April 1919—illustrating strikingly the importance of showing, as we do, the refunding part of the new financing separate from the rest.

It deserves to be pointed out that while for April the flotations fall below the highest figures of previous periods, the story is a different one when comparison is made of the figures for the four months from January 1 to April 30. Owing to the very heavy financing in January, to which we have already directed attention, the aggregate of the new flotations for this period in 1923 runs ahead of that for the corresponding period of any previous year. In other words, never in any previous year has the amount of new issues brought out in these four months been of such magnitude as during the four months of the present year. The aggregate for 1923 is $2,111,489,338, which compares with $2,013,368 555 for 1922, with $1,471,430,290 for 1921, with $1,545,829,609 for 1920 and with $1,034,736,416 for 1919. The amount, it will be seen, is larger even than a year ago, when it was of huge proportions, averaging over half a billion dollars a month. The portion representing conversions or refunding has run much the same the last three years notwithstand ng the sharp variations from month to month, having been $376,-734,973 in 1923, $366,530,137 in 1922 and $358,068,175 in 1921. But in 1920 the amount was only $145,086,516 and in 1919 $195,007,460. If we eliminate these from the grand totals it still remains true that the new capital applications the present year exceed those of any previous year, the amount on that basis being $1,734,754,365 for the four months of 1923, $1,-646,838,418 for the four months of 1922, $1,113,362,115 for the same period of 1921, $1,400,743,093 for 1920 and only $839,728,956 for 1919.

The April total of the capital flotations the present year was swollen by the extent of the Farm Loan issues. No foreign securities of any kind were sold in this country during April, but offerings of Farm Loan bonds, comprising eleven separate issues at prices to yield from 4.45% to 4.68%, and amounting in the aggregate to $87,750,000, showed an increase of $64,250,000 over March. The most distinctive feature of this group was the $75,000,000 issue of Federal Land Bank 4½s, 1933-53, offered at 100½, yielding 4.45%. The Farm Loan issues have been conspicuous nearly all through the year, and for the four months of 1923 no less than $219,-250,000 of these have come on the market against only $109,-640,000 in the four months of 1922, $40,000,000 in 1921, none in 1920, and $3,500,000 in the four months of 1919.

On the other hand, State and municipal obligations, which enjoy tax exemption in the same way as the Farm Loan issues, no longer come on the market in the formidable proportions of recent previous periods, fortunately disappointing the fears that had existed that investment channels would be flooded with them by reason of their tax-exempt qualities. For April 1923 the aggregate of the awards by States and municipalities throughout the United States is only $77,764,003, against $137,176,703 in April 1922, $88,104,-218 in April 1921, $66,194,759 in 1920 and $52,713,484 in 1919. For the four months the comparison stands much the same, the awards for 1923 footing up $321,572,054, against $429,-237, 993 for 1922, $232,561,134 for 1921, $240,267,877 for 1920 and $158,952,753 for 1919.

The corporate issues, of course, overshadow in amount those of any other group, though it happens that in April the amount of these falls considerably short of the corresponding totals of the years immediately preceding. For April 1923 the footing of this group is $286,619,466, which compares with $337,644,000 in April 1922, $393,801,500 in April 1921, $331,931,050 in April 1920 and $56,902,517 in April 1919. Making a detailed analysis of the corporate flotations for April, we find that financing on behalf of industrial corporations during the month totaled $173,123,466. This is an increase of 55 millions over the March total, but when compared with the record output of $421,367,500 in January, shows a decline of over 248 millions. In April last year such offerings were only slightly smaller, reaching $161,964,000. The April total of industrial offerings was again the largest of the corporate sub-divisions. Public utilities ranked next, the volume of these being $76,135,000, a decrease of 36 millions from the March total, but an increase of 16 millions over last year. Offerings by railroads amounted to only $37,-361,000, or almost 29 millions less than in March. The total of all corporate issues, as already stated, was $286,619,466, and of this more than 50%, or $147,821,000, represented long-term bonds and notes, and only $20,996,000 short-term obligations, while no less than $117,802,466 consisted of stock issues. It is worthy of note that the total of stock offerings was the largest of any April embraced in this record, which goes back to 1919. The portion of corporate flotations used for refunding purposes in April aggregated $40,757,000 and analysis shows that $33,340,000 of this was to refund existing long-term issues with new long term issues, $2,572,000 existing short term issues with long term issues and $4,845,-000 existing long term issues with various classes of new stock issues.

The largest single new corporate issue in April was $30,-000,000 Illinois Power & Light Corporation 1st & Ref. Mtge. 6s, 1953. These were offered at 98½, yielding 6.10%. Other utility issues which came on the market were $14,000,-000 Public Service Electric Power Co. 1st Mtge. 6s, 1948, placed at 97½, yielding 6.20% and $6,000 000 of 7% Cumulative Preferred stock of this same company, which was offered at 98¾, to yield about 7.10%.

Among the industrial offerings of importance were the following: $25,598,400 par value Capital stock of Standard Oil Co. of California, sold to stockholders at par ($25); $14,-962,530 par value Common stock of Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. (par $50), taken by stockholders at $53 per share, and $10,000,000 7% Cumulative Preferred stock and 168,540 shares of no par value Common stock of Inland Steel Co., the former offered at 104½, yielding 6.70%, and the latter at $47½ per share.

The leading railroad flotations were equipment issues, and included the following: $14,003,000 Equip. Trust 5s, due 1928-38, of Illinois Central Railroad, sold to yield 5.20%; $8,550,000 Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Ry. Equip. Trust 5s, due 1923-38, offered to yield from 5.25% to 5.40%, and $7,875,000 Chesapeake & Ohio Ry. Equip. Trust 5s "U," due 1924-38, offered at prices to yield 5.30%. Of railroad offerings in April aggregating $37,361.000, all but $2,233,000 was to finance the purchase of equipment.

The following is a complete summary of the new financing —corporate, foreign Government and municipal, and Farm Loan issues—for April and the four months ending with April, of the current year. We desire to point out that we now further subdivide the figures, showing in the case of the corporate offerings both the long term and the short term issues for the bonds, and separating the common from the preferred shares for the stocks.

Indications of Business Activity

THE STATE OF TRADE—COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, May 25 1923.

The tone in American business is somewhat more cheerful, partly owing to some improvement in the weather and partly to an increase in retail trade here and there and a cheerful note in the reports of the Federal Reserve Board at Washington. It pronounces business conditions throughout the country to be on a sound basis. There was never any real doubt on that score. Speculation has been for the most part conspicuously absent. Transactions have been predominantly of a legitimate kind in replenishing depleted stocks of consumers. And even now, although there is admittedly a decrease in business as compared with some weeks ago, production and trade are still on a far larger scale than at this time last year. It is a remarkable fact that despite a falling off in the iron and steel trade, production in those industries shows little or no abatement. And leaders in that industry take a cheerful view of the situation. As a rule steel prices have been steady, even though those for pig iron have given away somewhat. It is gratifying to notice, too, that the stock market of late has been more cheerful with an active business at rising prices. Pessimism in certain quarters at Washington has disappeared. It is significant that the National Association of Manufacturers at their recent meeting adopted resolutions calling for non-interference of the Government with the business of the country, while deploring the depressing burden of taxation which the industries of the country are forced to endure. Whatever opinions may be held on the subject of the best method of taxation, it is worth recalling that this highly representative association voted two years ago almost unanimously for the abolition of the present system of taxation and the substitution of the sales tax, and that it now reiterates this recommendation; that is for a tax on gross final sales of all sorts of merchandise. Whether this view is accepted or not there can be no doubt about the vital fact that onerous taxation is effect as the high price of any other commodity. Its use will decrease in accordance with inexorable economic law.

But another form of taxation is the high cost of labor. It has come to such a pass that builders here are in revolt. They are refusing to go on. It is intimated that some of the banks and other lenders of money are disinclined to advance funds on the basis of the present swollen conditions of building costs. The result must be a falling off in the supply of housing, at least for a time, to the manifest detriment of the people at large. It is curious to observe, too, that the Department of Labor notes only the scarcity of workers throughout the country and to all appearance sees nothing amiss in the 3% immigration restriction law, which is largely responsible for the artificial scarcity of labor and to what amounts to a corner in the labor market. If capital were to corner any of the markets there would be a public outcry throughout the country. Nothing is said, however, about the corner in labor or about its correlative, a restraint of trade in direct violation, if not open defiance, of the Sherman law. High labor costs are a millstone around the neck of the business of the country. It is useless to talk about high cost of building materials. The high cost of such materials is traceable very largely to the high cost of labor. Expensive labor is at the core of the whole trouble. Sooner or later, however, the high price of labor will have the same effect as the high price of any other commodity. tIs use will decrease in accordance with inexorable economic law.

Meanwhile it is noticed that a dozen cotton mills or more in New England are closing to-night for a week, as the market is poor for the moment and labor costs are high. This amounts to a reduction in wages for the time being. New England cotton mills are supposed to be at something of a disadvantage in some cases in competing with Southern mills, which have cheaper labor. Meanwhile there is less buying of woolen goods, as well as cottons, and there are rumors that some of the woolen mills are reducing operations. The clothing industry is less active, partly owing to unseasonably cool weather and partly, it is believed, to high costs. The automobile industry is slackening somewhat. Bituminous coal has declined, but anthracite coal prices have been maintained. The grain markets as a rule have declined, with the export business light owing to the competition of Argentina and India in the wheat trade. The American farmer is still at a big disadvantage in combating the high prices levied upon him by labor costs in the big towns and cities of the country. Town products sell for much higher than farm products and the dislocation of American business in this respect has not been relieved. There is no use blinking that fact. Cotton has advanced over $7 50 a bale, owing to cold, wet weather at the South and fears for the crop, which is not getting a good start. Southwestern rains have been beneficial for winter wheat, but spring wheat acreage is estimated at some 10 to 15% smaller than that of last year. All the other grain crops are late, as well as cotton and tobacco. Fruits in some parts of the West were damaged by recent frosts.

And there is still undoubtedly a conservative note in American business. Yet it is also true that while there have been some cancellations of contracts they are not at all general. In the steel and iron trade there have been no cancellations and few if any requests even for delay in shipments. The remarkably large carloadings recently bear eloquent testimony to the fact that the consumption of goods is still large, even if new trading has recently slowed down. But, as already intimated, there is a less apprehensive feeling throughout the country. Talk of "planing down the boom" has ceased. It is regrettable that it was ever heard. The general condition of American business is good. And with favorable weather it would not be at all surprising to see an increase in business in many different lines which have heretofore been unfavorably affected by a remarkably backward spring.

Forty-four large building operations, under way at a cost of approximately $125,000,000, were affected on May 21 when 1,500 bricklayers working for members of the Mason Builders' Association went on strike for $12 a day and a contract at this rate for two years on the basis of $1 50 an hour. The strike stopped the work of the stone crafts on the buildings, and according to Christian G. Norman, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Building Trades Employers' Association, a two weeks' stoppage will throw from 50,000 to 60,000 other employees out of work. On the 22nd inst. 6,000 helpers to bricklayers stopped work. They wished to help the bricklayers in their strike. The trades which would be deprived of employment by a long-drawn-out strike include the plumbers, painters, plasterers, sheet metal workers, carpenters and lathers. The construction concerns hit by the strike are among the largest in the United States. On May 22 the bricklayers' strike spread to 17 additional buildings, bringing the number affected to approximately 61. The second day of the walkout saw 2,000 bricklayers employed by members of the Mason Builders' Association on strike, halting masonry work on $150,000,000 worth of construction. Ten mason builders have signed contracts with the union agreeing to pay $12 a day for two years. Five hundred bricklayers' helpers paid $7 a day struck in sympathy with the bricklayers, demanding $8 a day and a two-year contract. One hundred and fifty men paid $14 a day stopped work on a $6,000,000 apartment house on East 86th Street. Despite agreements between the bricklayers, plasterers' and masons' international unions and the large contracting firms dating back many years, the local bricklayers disregarded the contracts, it is stated, and struck on jobs of two contractors holding such agreements because the concerns were members of the Mason Builders' Association. But things do not run one way forever. July 1, some builders say, will see a different state of things. Thereafter, they say, bricklayers will have little to do on housing operations. Employers expect the shortage of bricklayers to be over by July 1 and they will attempt to hold out in the hope of finding the mechanics then in a more reasonable frame of mind. Moreover, even now a two weeks 'strike of bricklayers and a consequent period of forced inactivity on the part of 50,000 workers in other crafts will have a sobering effect, employers think, on the bricklayers and impress them with some sense of responsibility.

It is not New York alone that groans under high building costs. In Chicago similar complaints are made. And now it is stated that Pennsylvania is complaining that high wages and other costs are checking building. A Harrisburg dispatch on May 22 said: "Shortage of labor which affects several industries and high prices of building materials have caused a falling off in construction activities in many sections of the State, the mid-month reports of State employment offices show. The report as forwarded to the State Department of Labor and Industry to-day disclose a lull in building operations generally and few new construction activities of any consequence."

If newspaper reports are to be believed, some 347 Scottish immigrants barred by the immigration law from landing in the United States because the British quota is filled, arrived at Halifax, N. S., on May 19 on the Cameronia and found American immigration authorities ready to examine them and pass them across the border into the country they are prevented from entering. The 3% law does not apply to Canada.

At Fall River twelve cotton mills, it was reported, will close to-day until June 4 and probably longer. The sales of print cloths there this week are estimated at only 20,000 pieces, the smallest since the week ending Aug. 27 1920. Some of the mills had already been running only four days a week. Boston wired that the Pepperell mill plans to cut operations on narrow looms to four days a week. At North Smithfield, R. I., it was said that the Andrews Mill in Branch Village had closed down and that the Roscoe Mill at Pascoag, R. I., will soon do so owing to dulness of trade. At Lawrence, Mass., despite the fact that employees of some departments of the Pacific Mills maintain that they are working on short time, officials of the plant deny that there is any slackening in their mills there. They say that there has been no interruption in operations. At the Arlington Mill there has been a slight let-up in work in the wool shop, owing to a delay in the receipt of wool in transit to the mill, but the situation is said to be clearing up rapidly. Cohoes, N. Y., reports that textile mills there are as a rule running at 100% of capacity, with no indications of a slackening for some time to come. More operatives are at work there than at any time for three years past. Five mills out of six of the Gray-Separk group in Gaston County, N. C., producing fine combing yarns, will be closed all next week. This includes the Arlington Flint, Gray, Myrtle, Parkdale and the New Awkray.

Brockton, Mass., shoe trade is tied up by a strike and the strikers threaten to spread it to other cities and towns. They demand a wage increase of 21% and the abrogation of the agreement between manufacturers and the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union under which disputes are referred to the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration. They also seek to break the power of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union as the negotiating body between workers and manufacturers. The Manufacturers' Association at Brockton, Mass., announces that it will hold no conferences with the seceding Shoe Workers' Union which has called out the 8,000 workers on strike there.

Writing the opinion of the Appellate Division in an injunction proceeding to restrain a union from picketing a non-union shop, Justice Smith said: "Monopolies are abhorrent to American ideas of government. The law condemns all combinations, whether in respect to labor or so-called capital, which seek to tend to become monopolies and thus oppress the people." The case was that of Harris Yablenowitz, a butcher at 2 East 112th Street, who sought to enjoin Jacob Korn, as President of the Hebrew Butcher Workers' Union of Greater New York, from picketing his shop. He is also suing to recover $20,000 damages. The court held there was ample proof that union pickets had approached Yablenowitz's customers, not only to intimidate them, but to dissuade them from buying.

The weather has been rather cool here until to-day, when it became more summer-like and the temperature at 2 p. m. was 77. It was still cool at the West. In many parts of the South and the Southwest it has been cool and rainy, with something like cloudbursts in some sections. Kansas and the Southwest have had rains which were beneficial for most of the crops. After being cool at the Northwest it has latterly been warmer. The spring on the whole, however, has been remarkably backward everywhere in this country.

Another New High Record for Railroad Freight Loading.

Loading of revenue freight for the week which ended on May 12 was the highest for this time of year in history, according to the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association. The total for the week, according to reports filed to-day by the carriers with the Car Service Division, was 974,531 cars. This, it is stated, was not only the heaviest loading for any one week since Nov. 4 1922, but was approximately within 4% of the heaviest loading for any one week in history, which was that of Oct. 14 1920, when the total was 1,018,539 cars. Compared with the corresponding week last year, the total for the week of May 12 was an increase of 207,437 cars, and an increase of 223,345 cars over the corresponding week in 1921. It also showed a substantial increase over the corresponding weeks in 1918, 1919 and 1920. It was also an increase of 13,502 cars over the preceding week this year. Further comparisons are furnished as follows:

The increase over the preceding week this year was principally due to heavier shipments of ore. The total for the week was 59,619 cars, which was the largest for any corresponding week on record. Compared with the week before, this was an increase of 21,676 cars, and an increase of 45,522 cars over the same week last year. It also was an increase of 35,124 cars over the same week in 1921.

Shipments of forest products totaled 74,424 cars, 2,270 cars in excess of the week before. This was not only an increase of 14,100 cars over the corresponding week last year, but an increase of 25,190 cars over two years ago.

Loading of merchandise and miscellaneous freight, which includes manufactured products, amounted to 588,342 cars, which was a decrease under the week before of 4,019 cars. Compared with the corresponding week last year, this was an increase of 54,857 cars, and with the corresponding week in 1921, an increase of 137,261 cars.

A seasonal decline in the loading of both grain and grain products and live stock was reported. Loading of grain and grain products for the week totaled 31,997 cars, 2,100 cars less than the week before and 9,940 less than the same week last year. It also was a decrease of 2,103 cars below the same week two years ago.

Livestock loading amounted to 29,689 cars, which also was a decrease of 3,819 under the preceding week. While this was, however, a decrease of eight cars below the corresponding week in 1922, it was an increase of 4,175 cars over the corresponding week in 1921.

Coal loading totaled 175,158 cars, or 708 cars less than the week before, due principally to the observance by the miners of a church holiday on May 10, especially in the anthracite fields. The total for the week was an increase, due to the miners' strike last year, of 96,369 cars over the same week one year ago, and an increase of 13,879 cars over the same week in 1921.

Coke loading totaled 15,302 cars. This was not only an increase of 202 cars over the preceding week this year, but also was an increase of 6,537 cars over the same week in 1922. This also was an increase of 9,819 cars over the corresponding week two years ago.

Compared by districts, increases over the week before in the total loading of all commodities were reported in the Alleghany, Pocahontas, Northwestern and Southwestern districts, with decreases in the Eastern, Southern and Central Western districts. Compared with the corresponding week last year, increases were reported in all districts except the Pocahontas, while all reported increases over the corresponding week in 1921 except the Southwestern district.

Loading of freight cars this year to date, compared with those of the two previous years, follows:

April Automobile Output Shows Further Large Increase.

The following table compiled from reports received by the Bureau of the Census in co-operation with the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce gives the total automobile production for each of the last ten months, with the corresponding figures for the same months of the previous year. With few exceptions the reports each month are from identical firms and include approximately 90 passenger-car and 80 truck manufacturers.

Structural Steel Sales Decline.

April sales of fabricated structural steel were less than the March record, according to figures received by the Department of Commerce through the Bureau of the Census, in co-operation with the Structural Steel Society. Sales in April amounted to 80% of shop capacity, as against 95% in March and 88% in April 1922. Total sales of 176,954 tons were reported for April by firms with a capacity of 220,965 tons per month. Tonnage booked each month by 171 identical firms, with a capacity of 226,625 tons per month, is shown below, together with the per cent of shop capacity represented by these bookings. Judge Gary Takes Optimistic View of Business Conditions.

Judge Elbert H. Gary, Chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, in addressing as President the annual meeting in this city yesterday (May 25) of the American Iron and Steel Institute, expressed an optimistic view of business conditions, stating that "when one considers the wealth, resources, increasing production and purchasing necessities of this country, the present business outlook is good." Judge Gary observed that "there has of late apparently been a deliberate and persistent attempt to create an impression that there will be in the near future a substantial recession in business activities"; "the propaganda," he continued, "is inspired by a few short-sighted persons who do not seem to understand that if they could succeed in wrecking the business structure they would themselves be buried in the ruins." Judge Gary's remarks as to business conditions follow:

It is not difficult to ascertain and accurately state what has happened or is occurring in the iron and steel business of this country, or to guess what may hereafter occur; but to state with certainty what will happen in the future, even for a period of six months, is impossible, though many of us in practice, from conditions as they exist, reason to a conclusion as to what is likely to happen in the near future and act accordingly.

At present the furnaces and mills of iron and steel manufacturers are operating nearly to full capacity, limited and modified only by a lack of sufficient working forces. The producers find it difficult to satisfy the peremptory demands of consumers; this has been the situation for some months past. Stocks of finished materials in our warehouses and at the mills are very low. The unfilled orders on the books of steel manufacturers are not less than fifteen or sixteen million tons, and the new bookings and shipments of finished materials per day for the whole industry are eighty or ninety thousand tons. In short, there is nothing in sight to indicate that there will be a substantial diminution of the demand for finished steel in this country during the next six months, to say the least.

Of course, as always, conditions may change materially and suddenly, depending upon circumstances, but the necessities of consumers in the United States and of those in foreign countries who are our customers are so great, the population is increasing so rapidly, and the ability to buy and pay for steel, as shown by financial statements, so large, there is within view no reason to suppose there will be, certainly not in the near future, a material slackening in demand and use. The bank deposits in 25 banks only are said to be about eight billion dollars. Much depends upon the attitude of the business men. This includes both sellers and buyers; and it is to be remembered most of the buyers of our products are also sellers, in some form or another, of the materials which they buy.

There has of late apparently been a deliberate and persistent attempt to create an impression that there will be, in the near future, a substantial recession in business activities. Business men generally understand this. The propaganda is inspired by a few short-sighted persons who do not seem to understand that if they could succeed in wrecking the business structure they would themselves be buried in the ruins.

However, the postponements in some lines of business operations have not wholly resulted from deliberate and unworthy propaganda. In the building lines particularly, where work has not already been commenced, projected operations more or less have been postponed by reason of the extraordinary and inordinate prices charged by certain trades for wage rates, and also by the numerous strikes or threatened strikes for still higher wage rates. One need only read the reports published in the daily press to be convinced of these facts.

As often stated publicly, eighty-five per cent or more of the cost of producing steel, from the raw products to the finished material, is paid to the workmen. When, in order to secure sufficient workmen on buildings, contractors are compelled to pay the carpenters, painters, bricklayers, plasterers, plumbers and others in kindred lines, $10 and upwards per day of eight hours, and this to workmen who are demanding a five-day week, with arbitrary limits of the work done, it is not surprising if the building of costly structures is being postponed until more favorable conditions shall obtain. The wonder is that there has been so much building during the last eighteen months. If one will take the pains to go through the cities and outlying territory one will at present see thousands of buildings in process of construction.

As a matter of course, the public will soon discover, if it is not already generally understood, that extortionate prices for materials or labor must eventually be paid by the consumer. Every unreasonable or unfair burden in business operations must eventually fall upon the user; and the law of supply and demand will sooner or later bring about exposure and remedial action which will secure fair and proper adjustments. In this connection, it is proper, though not necessary, to suggest that the steel manufacturers, in their own interest, must not permit prices for their commodities to go above a point which is fair and reasonable. We were for months selling our products at prices that were too low for a fair return on our investments; but at present it would seem that selling prices are about right. To the extent we believe this statement is justified we should, if possible, prevent them from going higher, notwithstanding the demand is large and urgent.

Building operations, though important, are a small percentage of our business. Even though there should be no more new contracts for structural steel during the next six months, apparently the steel business taken as a whole would be satisfactory.

When one considers the wealth, resources, increasing production and purchasing necessities of this country, the present business outlook is good. And this is said in the face of very heavy burdens of taxation, unnecessary and unreasonable political and social agitations precipitated by those who have nothing financial at stake, the unfortunate troubles pending in foreign countries, and the bugbear of politics.

It must be admitted that if one reads the "Congressional Record" when Congress is in session and visits the rooms of the Congressional committees, where may be found organized minority groups urging propositions that have no merit, many of them with destructive tendencies, there is some ground for discouragement; but if one will turn about face and leave these circles of despondency and go out upon the farms, and in the manufactories, and along the transportation arteries, and into the active mines, one is compelled to conclude that the constructive forces of the United States are so great by comparison that the small standing army of pessimists cannot for long or to any great extent interrupt the onward march of business activity.

Judge Gary was overcome during the reading of his address, having been affected, it is stated, by the heat of the room in the Hotel Commodore, where the meeting was held, and his address was concluded by Charles M. Schwab. Judge Gary was later, however, able to preside at the executive committee luncheon. The address of Judge Gary, while referring to business conditions, dealt largely with his recent Mediterranean trip. He also had a word to say regarding the Ruhr Valley, his remarks on this point being as follows:

The Ruhr Valley.

It may not be out of place to refer to the present situation in the Ruhr Valley, although obviously it would be inexcusable for a private citizen of the United States to publicly express an opinion concerning the merits of the existing controversy.

That it is unfortunate, deplorable, and creates a bad influence extending far beyond the three nations particularly involved, will be generally conceded. The daily cost to the French and Belgians must be enormous; that there is considerable suffering and some deaths in their ranks is probable. On the other side there are many deaths and the daily cost and the personal suffering are very great; and in addition their damage to property and business is appalling. Neither side can afford the losses which will result from the continuance of the conflict, and the adverse effect upon the whole world, as a final result, will be greater than in advance can be appraised.

Recent statements made by important citizens of Germany, Belgium and France, respectively, indicate that the peoples of all these countries generally would like to see an early and satisfactory disposition of all their international differences. What action could be taken, or when, or in what manner, or by whom, is a problem not easy of solution. However, if each of the nations should in due form submit every question involved to a disinterested and impartial foreign nation to be mutually selected, agreeing to abide by the decision, the whole matter could be disposed of with justice to all and injustice to none; or if, for instance, the submission should be made to such a man as Secretary of State, ex-Justice Hughes, and all the pertinent facts furnished, there would be a prompt and early decision, fair, intelligent and just; and it would surely command the respect of all nations, including France, Germany and Belgium. If urged he ought to be willing to serve, notwithstanding the heavy burdens he is carrying.

The desire and thought of every one in the whole universe should be, not how to avoid or postpone a settlement, but rather how to find some way for promptly bringing it about.

Bricklayers's Strike in New York Building Trades.

A strike affecting more than $100,000,000 building construction went into effect on May 21, when between 1,500 and 2,000 bricklayers quit their work. The men asked a two-year contract with an increase in wages of $2 a day, making their pay $12 a day. The employers had offered a contract for three and a half years with $10 a day, the present scale, and a continuation of the bonus of $2 a day that is being paid at the present time until Jan. 1 1924. The employers offered further, as an alternative, a proposal for the creation of a board of arbitration. Some few builders are reported to have acceded to the demand of the workers after the first day of the strike, granting the $12 daily scale. The majority, however, refused to countenance the demands. Among the larger buildings on which bricklayers struck were: Standard Oil, Federal Reserve, Macy's, Times Annex, Pershing Square, Greenwich Bank, Cotton Exchange, two telephone company buildings in Brooklyn and one in Long Island City, Home Insurance Company at Maiden Lane and William St., large apartment buildings at Madison and Sixty-ninth, Lexington and Seventy-third, Broadway and 104th, Park and Thirty-seventh and at 46 West Ninety-fifth and 120 East Seventy-fifth, office building at 200 Fifth Avenue, loft at Fourteenth Street and Ninth Avenue, theatre on West Forty-sixth Street.

Resolutions were adopted on May 22 by the executive committee of the builders' association condemning the strike as an act of bad faith, and re-affirming their determination to stand their ground until the bricklayers return to work. The resolutions adopted on May 22 by the Mason Builders' Association's executive committee reviewed the negotiations between the association and the bricklayers' unions on the wage question previous to the strike and concluded as follows:

Whereas, In disregard of the agreed plan and without notice to the builders, a strike was ordered on all operations conducted by the members of Mason Builders' Association, excepting churches, public buildings, schools and hospitals, and,

Whereas, The outcome of the negotiations could have nothing to do whatever with the amount of money to be actually received by the bricklayers for the balance of the year, and,

Whereas, This unwarranted strike has been preceded by another, namely, a "buyers' strike" against the already high cost of building, constituting due warning that the maintenance of present costs, much less increased costs, will not be tolerated by those who ultimately pay for building:

Be it therefore resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the calling of the strike was an act of bad faith and in complete disregard of the public rights and needs in a time of emergency, and,

Be it further resolved, In view of the public necessity for peace in the building industry, the members of the Mason Builders' Association re-affirm their position and stand ready to arbitrate the present differences as soon as the bricklayers return to work.

A statement made by Frank E. Conover, President of the Mason Builders' Association, on May 21 laid emphasis on the fact that the strike was called without warning, and after an agreement had been made by the unions at a meeting with the association on May 11 that until another meeting had been held the existing agreement should stand. Mr. Conover declared that the real purpose of the strike is not the amount of wages, but an attempt to make a peak wage permanent, and he stressed the seriousness of the situation which might arise out of such an effort in that further increases in building costs would precipitate a buyers' strike which, in turn, would result in a sudden stoppage of construction, bringing general disaster to builders, workmen and all allied trades.

Fred T. Youngs, Chairman of the Arbitration Board of the Mason Builders' Association, issued a statement in support of Mr. Conover's declarations, in which he said that at the last meeting held jointly by their association and the unions, it was proposed to arbitrate the matter of the wage question, the Board of Arbitration to consist of five members, two to be selected by each side and these four to select the fifth. In answer to this proposal, Mr. Youngs said, the association was informed by the unions that it would be called upon at an early date to meet for the purpose of coming to final conclusions but instead of this being done the strike was called, the first knowledge of which was brought to the association by the newspapers.

In his statement Mr. Conover said:

The Mason Builders' Association has always been in favor of agreements which would lend harmony and peace to the industry, increase is productivity and be of general public benefit.

It has always felt, however, that such agreements should be made under circumstances which promised they would be faithfully carried out by both sides.

The important thing at the present moment in the building situation is that the program of housing construction should go on. We want new churches, new hospitals and other buildings of public character. We want all necessary business structures. But the outstanding fact is, that the building projects now under way or contemplated are beyond the capacity of the industry. When too many operations are undertaken, buildings can be only half-manned, wages rise rapidly and prices of materials rise in response to these same influences.

All these, however, produce no more buildings. It simply increases the cost. To prevent an actual crisis some part of the excessive building program must be postponed. We want stabilized conditions, continuous employment and peace.

These are the purposes of this Association, and in our negotiations with the unions over wages and working conditions these are the objects we have had in mind.

Time was when the mason's trades worked only a portion of the year. Such a condition has not existed in the metropolitan district for some years. New methods have been devised by which work can be carried on in the winter months.

The position of the builders, as laid before the unions in a written statement, was declared by Mr. Youngs to be as follows:

The building industry this year is the leading industry in the country and is drawing men from other pursuits on account of the wages paid and the thinking men in the industry must devise ways and means whereby a collapse of the industry will be avoided and a reasonable steady employment made possible. It would, therefore, be very unwise for the Mason Builders' Association and the Bricklayers' Union to agree on a high wage for years to come, and by so doing throttle new building projects.

The present situation must be dealt with intelligently and overcome, and by our actions we must indicate to the building public that the sane and safe minds of the industry are still exerting a controlling influence and will do their best to prevent the short-sighted ones from killing the business.

The worker will charge, and rightly, that the employing side has been offering premiums and hence there is no reason why, as in other instances, labor should not demand the higher wage.

This relates to an existing condition in the labor market; but artificially, by agreement, to maintain this high wage when the occasion for it has disappeated, will automatically throw us all out of work, and deservedly so, for having committed an economic wrong against all the rest of our citizens.

What then are we to do in this cricis? We all admit the desirability of an agreement. We should all realize that to create an artificial wage standard is a grievous mistake and a menace. Would it not, then, be wise to recognize the period of inflation, but not attempt to extend it, and by so doing bring about a condition in which we deliberately wrong everybody else and thus disastrously affect all of us.

Curtailment of Loans for Building Purposes.

A curtailment by local banks and other lending institutions of loans for building purposes as a result of rising costs of labor and materials has, it became known durin the last few days, occurred. Referring to the report on Wednesday that the proposed halting of loans to speculative builders who are blamed for creating an artificial labor shortage and an abnormal material market, the New York "Times" on May 24 said:

Speculative builders in the Bronx and Queens are blamed for bidding up the price of bricklayers from $10 to $14 and $16, and they are charged with demoralizing the material market by offering fantastic prices for spot material.

A movement by New York banks to call a halt on loans to speculative builders would spread to other cities, it was said, and would undoubtedly tend to taper off the present building boom and spread building over a longer period of time. Building trades factors also stated that action of the banks would render the labor and material situation less acute.

Bankers Seriously Concerned.

The bankers are said to be seriously concerned because they have made large loans to members of the Mason Builders' Association whose projects are crippled by the bricklayers' strike. At the present time $469,000,000 worth of construction is under way in New York, and of this amount $200,000,000 is being erected by general contractors in the Mason Builders' Association.

Prior to the bricklayers' strike on Monday speculative builders had hired all the men they could at $14 and $16 a day. Directly the strike was called the mechanics walked off the jobs of the Mason Builders' Association's members and began work on the jobs of the speculators.

Organized labor is confident that speculative building will continue indefinitely and that the bricklayers and other mechanics will have plenty of work for owners not connected with the Building Trades Employers' Association.

In a later item in the matter May 25 the "Times" said in part:

Financial institutions that have made loans aggregating hundreds of millions of dollars annually for building construction have virtually withdrawn from the field, it was said yesterday by officers of companies that have specialized in making loans for housing and building purposes.

James W. Phair, Treasurer of the Lawyers Mortgage Company, yesterday confirmed the reports that loans for new buildings had practically ceased. He declared that his company was making no building loans except for a few small housing projects, which were being put through as a measure of public relief. Building loans had been suspended, he said, because of the instability of the building market. Where millions have been put out on building loans, only thousands of dollars are being advanced to-day by the money-lending institutions, according to Mr. Phair.

Other important figures in the mortgage field made similar statements. Reports published yesterday indicating that mortgage concerns, insurance companies and other institutions were considering the question of curtailing building loans were described as "too conservative by far," and officials reported that the policy of refusing loans for building has been in vogue for several weeks.

Labor Is Not Blamed.

The mortgage interests have withdrawn from the market, it was said, because the supply of labor and materials had made it impossible for any building contractor to say what a specified building may cost and when it may be completed.

Past commitments are being carried out, but no new loans are being made. The mortgage interests are emphatic in the assertion that their action is not meant as an attempt to discipline labor or anybody else. They are of the opinion that it will take several years for the country to absorb the arrears of building contracted for and they do not look for a stable market until that time is in sight.

Exceptions are being made here and there for emergency buildings. No rigid formula is being followed, and there is no concerted plan, it was said, but all the interests affected recognize the critical situation. There is no disposition to blame labor for the present situation, as the officials of the institutions realize that labor is in a position at the present time to sell its services in the highest market.

Retrenchment is Urged.

It was pointed out that the large banks and trust companies make building loans, but that most of the loans for houses and business construction are made by mortgage companies, title companies and insurance companies. These institutions, it was said, have specialized in building loans for many years.

Fear Decreased Valuations.

As a result of inflated building costs, the amount of money advanced for new buildings in proportion to valuation is now at a low point as compared with other years. In 1914 builders had no difficulty in obtaining loans equal to 70% of the appraised valuation of their projects. Prior to the latest increase in wages the average percentage was 60, but few bankers are at present willing to advance that much. As an illustration it was pointed out that a building which would to-day cost $1,000,000 might be replaced in ten or fifteen years for $700,000; thus a loan of 70% on the actual present valuation would be equivalent to a 100% loan when the long-distance view is taken into consideration. It is this factor in the situation which is bringing about curtailment of loans.

According to the Brooklyn "Eagle" of last night (May 25) the policy of calling a halt on building loans, as a means of checking construction and bringing down the cost of labor and materials, does not appeal at all to the title companies in Brooklyn. The "Eagle" said in part:

The local companies have been lending largely to builders in the past two years; they have been enjoying a good market for their mortgages, and business is going on as usual. There is no prospect that any "no loans" signs will be hung out.

Individually, the officers of the title companies of the borough are flatly opposed to any such thing as discontinuing to lend. The building situation here is somewhat different from that in Manhattan, where the strike of the bricklayers for a two-year-$12-a-day agreement with the Mason Builders' Association has tied up many commercial structures under way. Brooklyn's building boom is almost exclusively in apartments and one and two-family dwellings.

Frank Bailey, President of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company, holds that a halt in building loans is not the way to solve the problem of high costs.

"Chicago and San Francisco have solved the building problems," he said, "and we could solve it if we went about it in the right way. For one thing we should have the open shop. Again, the people should be aroused over living conditions as they now exist to a point where there would be a genuine public sentiment against these high costs."

Franklin D. Roosevelt's Letter to Secretary Hoover Regarding Need of Building Index—Response to Appeal for Slowing up of Construction.

Response of the country at large to the appeal of the American Construction Council for a slowing up of all construction, through its resolutions of May 16, has already been "most gratifying," it was announced on May 20 by Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the Council. Mr. Roosevelt made the announcement in connection with the publication of a letter he had written, at the Council's direction, to Secretary of Commerce Hoover, asking that the Department of Commerce publish a building index of a character said not now to be available. In his announcement regarding the slowing up of building construction, Mr. Roosevelt said:

Many local building trades associations have followed the action of the Cleveland body, which met and passed a resolution pledging themselves to support the American Construction Council within a few hours of the meeting here.

The President of the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards, which consists of 28 affiliated real estate boards in as many cities of New York State, in telegraphing its intention of co-operating in this matter called attention to their belief that the postponing of non-essential construction by the State, municipalities and various clubs and philanthropic organizations would immediately result in a lowering of the cost of home building. At the meeting last Wednesday Mr. Donlon, President of the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, made a vigorous and effective appeal for priority in home building until normal conditions were resumed, arguing that until labor could obtain homes at reasonable costs continued demands for increased wages might be expected. The meeting was in full accord with Mr. Donlon's argument, and in suspending new operations it is to be hoped that such suspensions will begin with such essentially non-urgent projects as new Post Office buildings, for instance, and that the building of homes be given the right of way over all other projected work.

The intent of the action taken by the American Construction Council was to prevent a period of reaction and depression before it is too late. There is nothing alarming or calamitous in the situation at this moment, but we have reached the extreme limit of safety, and a further continuance of the present excessive building projects without halting to take breath for a moment cannot fail, in the opinion of those present at the meeting, to result in real disaster.

In his letter to Secretary Hoover Mr. Roosevelt said in part:

We believe that the method of preventing a recurrence of the peaks of overbuilding and their corresponding valleys of extreme depression, is the education of the public at large as to the economic forces which are constantly at work.

We have found that the man who chiefly controls the inflation and depression is not the man who does the construction, but the man who orders the work to be done for himself or his corporation. It has therefore become apparent that it is the individual citizen who needs the information even more than the material producers, contractors and workers concerned.

The executive committee of the American Construction Council, together with many others interested, have therefore requested me to urge you, as Secretary of Commerce, to undertake the creation of certain definite machinery for the purpose of accomplishing this.

It is, of course, our hope that the Department of Commerce will be able to make this undertaking. We realize, of course, the difficulty of changing existing machinery without the approval of the Congress. If, however, you are able to carry this out we shall, of course, be more than glad. If you feel unable to do so we hope that you will approve our undertaking the work.

It is, of course, our desire that this service should not be along the lines of the usually accepted definition of statistics. Masses of figures and graphs will not be understood by the public at large who are the principal people whom we seek to inform. What we seek is the simple statement in plain English which can be as easily comprehended as the daily weather report.

Wage Advances in New York Clothing Market End Strike.

As a result of a strike which went into effect May 14, following the announcement of wage increases in the principal clothing manufacturing centres of the country, wages have been increased in the New York market by practically all of the manufacturers about 10%. The strike, which was called by the union a "stoppage," was of short duration, for coming at a time when the clothing trade was working at capacity operations on orders for fall and with other markets making keen efforts to obtain business, it was virtually impossible for the New York firms to resist the demand for any length of time without seriously handicapping themselves. Moreover, with wage increases general, the demands of the workers were more easily supported.

Employment in Selected Industries in April 1923.

Following the issuance by it last week of preliminary figures relative to the volume of employment in April 1923, the U. S. Department of Labor, through the Bureau of Labor Statistics this week (May 21) made public its detailed statement in the matter. As was indicated in the preliminary announcement, which we gave in these columns a week ago, page 2194, the reports from 5,651 representative establishments in 43 manufacturing industries covering 2,139,053 employees show an increase in April 1923 over the preceding month of 0.5% in the number of employees, an increase of 1.4% in the total amount of wages paid and an increase of 0.9% in the average weekly earnings. The detailed statement of this week follows:

The U. S. Department of Labor, through the Bureau of Labor Statistics here presents reports concerning the volume of employment in April from 5,651 representative establishments in 43 manufacturing industries, covering 2,139,053 employees, whose total earnings during one week amounted to $55,353,080.

Identical establishments in March reported 2,128,816 employees and total pay-rolls of $54,573,958. Therefore in April, as shown by these unweighted figures for 43 industries combined, there was an increase over March of 0.5% in the number of employees, an increase of 1.4% in the total amount paid in wages and an increase of 0.9% in the average weekly earnings.

Increases in the number of employees in April as compared with employees in identical establishments in March are shown in 19 of the 43 industries. The greatest increases were 12.2% in brick and tile, 5.4% in carriages and wagons, 4.9% in petroleum refining, and 4.3% in the automobile industry.

Fertilizers and men's and women's clothing exhibit the ending of their seasons by declines in employment of 7.2%, 6.7% and 3.4%, respectively. Boots and shoes, stamped ware, cigars and chemicals show decreased employment of from 2.2 to 4.2%.

Increases in the total amount of pay-rolls in April as compared with March are shown in 29 industries, brick and tile and carriages and wagons leading with seasonal increases of 16.7% and 11.7%, respectively, while glass, automobiles, foundry and machine shop products, lumber (sawmills and millwork), and pottery show increased pay-rolls of from 5.2% to 7.4%.

The clothing industry, men's and women's, dropped off in wages 14.5% and 12.1%, respectively, followed by cigars with 5.1% and millinery and lace goods with 4.6%.

For convenient reference, the latest figures available relating to all employees on Class I. railroads, drawn from Inter-State Commerce reports, are given at the foot of the first and second tables.

Comparative data relating to identical establishments in 13 manufacturing industries for April 1923 and April 1922 appear in the following table. In this yearly comparison the number of employees increased in the latter year in all industries but men's clothing, which decreased 4.3%, while total wages increased in every industry. The increases in employment were from 57% to 44% in woolen goods, cotton goods, automobiles and car building and repairing, while the increases in total pay-rolls were from 87% to 44% in cotton goods, woolen goods, iron and steel, automobiles, car building and repairing, silk goods and dyeing and finishing textiles.

Current Events and Discussions

The Week With the Federal Reserve Banks.

Increases of about $3,000,000 in discounted bills and of $18,100,000 in Government securities, as against a reduction of $10,800,000 in acceptances purchased in open market, are shown in the Federal Reserve Board's weekly bank statement issued as at close of business on May 23 1923, and which deals with the results for the twelve Federal Reserve Banks combined. Deposit liabilities declined $7,400,000 and Federal Reserve note circulation $5,300,000, while cash reserves advanced $6,700,000. The reserve ratio, in consequence of these changes, shows a rise from 75.3 to 75.6%. After noting these facts, the Federal Reserve Board proceeds as follows:

Moderate increases in the holdings of discounted paper, totaling $25,700,000, are shown for seven Reserve banks, including the New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta and Kansas City banks, while decreases aggregating $22,700,000 are shown for five other Reserve banks, mainly for the Boston, Cleveland and Chicago banks. The New York bank reports holdings of $20,600,000 of Treasury certificates, of whch $5,000,000 represent special certificates to cover advances to the Government pending collection of funds from depositary institutions.

Gold reserves show an increase for the week of $5,400,000 and stand at $3,093,300,000, a new high total for the system. Since Jan. 3 the increases n the system's gold reserves has been about $43,800,000, compared with an ncrease of $132,400,000 for the corresponding period in 1922. The interdistrict movement of gold through the settlement fund has been away from New York City, the local Reserve bank reporting a decrease of $36,700,000 in its gold reserves. Smaller reductions in gold reserves, totaling $14,600,000, are shown for the Philadelphia, Richmond, Atlanta, Kansas City and San Francisco banks. Chicago reports an increase in its gold reserves of $19,500,000, Cleveland an increase of $16,800,000, Boston an increase of $12,900,000 and the three remaining banks an aggregate increase of $7,600,000.

Holdings of paper secured by Government obligations increased during the week from $360,200,000 to $366,800,000. Of the total held on May 23, $201,500,000, or 55%, were secured by United States bonds, $148,100,000, or 40.4%, by Treasury notes, and about $17,000,000, or 4.6%, by Treasury certificates, compared with $204,800,000, $142,700,000 and $10,600,000 reported the week before.

The statement in full in comparison with preceding weeks and with the corresponding date last year will be found on subsequent pages, namely, pages 2365 and 2366. A summary of changes in the principal assets and liabilities of the Reserve banks, as compared with a week and a year ago, follows:

The Week with the Member Banks of the Federal Reserve System.

Aggregate increases of $128,000,000 in investments in connection with the issuance on May 15 of a new series of Treasury notes, accompanied by an increase of $176,000,000 in Government deposits, are shown in the Federal Reserve Board's weekly consolidated statement of condition on May 16 of 773 member banks in leading cities. It should be noted that the figures for these member banks are always a week behind those for the Reserve banks themselves.

Total loans and discounts of the reporting banks advanced about $16,000,000 during the week. As against a reduction of $13,000,000 in loans secured by Government obligations and but a nominal change in loans on other securities, all other, i. e., largely commercial, loans and discounts show an increase of $29,000,000. Member banks in New York City report increases of $38,000,000 in investments and of $9,000,000 in "all other loans and discounts," as against reductions of $14,000,000 in loans on Government securities and of $9,000,000 in loans on other securities. Since May 17 of last year loans and discounts of the member banks in New York City have advanced a little over $150,000,000, or 4.3%, while loans and advances of reporting member banks outside of New York City show an advance for the same period of $868,000,000, or 11.8%. Investments of the reporting New York members increased during the year by $112,000,000, or about 8%, while those of the "outside" banks increased $568,000,000, or about 21.5%. Further comment regarding the changes shown by these member banks is as follows:

Borrowings of the reporting institutions from the Federal Reserve banks show a decrease for the week from $449,000,000 to $445,000,000, the ratio of these borrowings to their total loans and investments remaining unchanged at 2.7%. For member banks in New York City a reduction from $142,000,000 to $94,000,000 in borrowings from the local Reserve Bank and from 2.7 to 1.8% in the ratio of these borrowings to total loans and investments is noted.

As against the increase of $176,000,000 in Government deposits other demand deposits (net) of the reporting banks show an increase for the week of $27,000,000 and their time deposits a reduction of $2,000,000. Corresponding changes for the member banks in New York City comprise increases of $51,000,000 in Government deposits and of $48,000,000 in other demand deposits. as against a reduction of $13,000,000 in time deposits.

Reserve balances of the reporting institutions show an advance of $24,000,000, while their cash in vault declined by about $15,000,000. For member banks in New York City an increase of $28,000,000 in reserve balances and a reduction of $6,000,000 in cash are noted.

On a subsequent page—that is, on page 2366—we give the figures in full contained in this latest weekly return of the member banks of the Reserve System. In the following is furnished a summary of the changes in the principal items as compared with a week and a year ago:

Austrian Loan and Rehabilitation of Central Europe.—Syndicate Headed By J. P. Morgan & Co. to Float $25,000,000 in United States.

The proposed early offering of a loan of $130,000,000 on behalf of the Austrian Government, of which $25,000,000 will be placed in the United States was made known this week, when it was announced by J. P. Morgan that a group of bankers headed by his firm would handle the issue to be offered here. On the afternoon of May 23rd, Mr. Morgan personally made on behalf of his firm the following announcement:

"We have been asked by Dr. Zimmerman of Holland, the Commissioner General of Austria, and by the Loan Commission of Austria, if we would be prepared to undertake the placing of $25,000,000 of bonds of the Austrian Government in this country. After careful investigation of the present condition of Austria, particularly the great improvement made during the past five months, and after consultation with leading bankers in the large centres of the United States, we have advised the Loan Commission that, when their plan for selling this issue of bonds in the various markets of Europe is ready, we would undertake to organize a syndicate to underwrite $25,000,000 of the total issue of $130,000,000 which is to be divided up among all the possible lending countries.

"There for the moment the matter rests, and we are awaiting advices from Europe that final arrangements are completed with the bankers of England, France, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Switzerland, Spain, Belgium, Italy and Czechoslovakia. It is expected that the details in these different countries will be completed in time for a simultaneous issue in all of them about the first week in June and in that issue we are ready to take part as indicated.

"Our main reasons for undertaking this work are, first, we believe the bond to be well secured and, second, that it is the first step toward the economic rehabilitation of Central Europe taken by all the countries working together, and we believe that the American market should take its part when such a concerted effort is being made to better general business conditions in the world."

Mr. Morgan further stated that the original members of the group who would handle the loan were J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., First National Bank, National City Co., Guaranty Trust Co. and Bankers Trust Co., but that many bankers in leading American cities had been consulted and expressed a desire to join in making the proposed loan a success. The full significance of the foregoing announcement can hardly be overestimated. There have been many unofficial statements about the proposed Austrian loan and its importance as the first practical step in putting Central Europe back on its feet. This statement of Mr. Morgan's, however, is the first definite announcement that America is to participate in the loan. Mr. Morgan gave no further details than those contained in his brief announcement. From dispatches from Europe, however, the general outline of the new loan is made apparent. Many months ago, through the offices of the League of Nations, the new Austrian Republic invited Dr. Alfred Zimmerman, former Burgomaster of Rotterdam, to act as Commissioner-General of Austria. Dr. Zimmerman has been busily at work in Vienna since his appointment. He has estimated that a loan to Austria of 650,000,000 gold kronen (being substantially the equivalent of $130,000,000) will see the new Austrian Republic safely through. The proceeds of this loan will, it is expected, enable Austria to balance completely its budget at the end of a period variously estimated from one year to two years. Thereafter, Austria's receipts are expected to be in excess of her expenditures.

As security for the loan, Austria pledges the gross receipts from the customs and the tobacco monopoly. During the four months ending April 30 the receipts from these two sources, it is stated, were at the rate of 149,400,000 gold kronen (the equivalent of about $30,000,000) per annum, which is more than twice the interest and sinking fund charges upon the new loan. One of the unique features of the loan is the unanimity shown on the part of the leading European nations as evidenced by their guarantees. Great Britain, France, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Belgium, Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Holland severally guarantee the loan in designated proportions. While an official statement has not yet been made as to the exact proportions of these guarantees, dispatches from abroad would indicate that Great Britain is to guarantee 24% of each bond and France, Italy and Czechoslovakia each substantially equivalent percentages. With a large excess shown by the pledged revenues over and above the amounts required for the service of the loan, it is believed that these guarantees will not cost the guaranteeing Governments anything. The loan of their credit, however, is a substantial element in the success of the plan, and, apart from the addition of financial security that it gives to the bonds, it affords a high degree of political security for the new Austria.

The importance of the Austrian loan as a first practical step toward the rehabilitation of Central Europe is, of course, of the greatest importance. There has been so much talk in the past about the old Austria having disintegrated that very few people appreciate, it is pointed out, the substantial position that the new Austria occupies as the great economic centre of Central Europe, whether looked at from the natural lines of communication which were made by the configuration of mountain and plain, or from the existing lines of railroads.

Both nature and the works of man, it is contended, have made the great city of Vienna the central point either for east and west traffic between Western Europe and Asia Minor or north and south traffic from the Mediterranean to the Baltic. Not the least of Dr. Zimmerman's services has been the clearness with which he has called attention to the great future importance economically of the new Austrian Republic.

The following bearing on the attitude of the State Department toward the loan was contained in a Washington dispatch published in the New York "Times" of May 24:

It is understood that the question of flotation of $25,000,000 of the Austrian loan here by a syndicate of bankers headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. was brought to the attention of the State Department and that no objection because of political or other reasons involved was made to the plan. There is an understanding that American bankers will consult the State Department in matters of this kind, although not compelled to do so.

The American Government joined the European nations in advancing the reconstruction program in Austria last summer when the Senate approved the proposal to permit Austria to delay payments on loans which had been made by the United States for twenty years or more.

A reference to the approval of a loan to Austria by the Council of the League of Nations was referred to in these columns April 28 (page 1841), indications being given at that time that the United States would participate in the offering.

Plans for Readjustment of Mexican Debt.

Important details of the plan for the readjustment of debt of the United States of Mexico have been made public in a notice issued this week on behalf of the International Committee of Bankers on Mexico to holders of the bonds, notes and other securities of the Mexican Government included in the agreement of June 16 1922 between the Mexican Government and the International Committee. A call for deposits of the securities will be issued shortly. This week's notice says:

Under date of June 16 1922, the International Committee of Bankers on Mexico concluded an arrangement with His Excellency Adolfo de la Huerta Minister of Finance of the Republic of Mexico, for the resumption of the payment of interest on various bonds, notes and other securities.

Following the conferences with the Commission appointed by the Minister for the purpose of agreeing upon the various details necessary to carry out the plan, steps have been taken to prepare the receipts and other documents which will be distributed among the depositaries as promptly as possible in order that the necessary call for the deposit of bonds may be issued. In the meantime, the International Committee announces that the provisions of the plan and the application thereof to the bonds involved, are briefly as follows:

Current Interest from Jan. 3 1923 to Dec. 31 1927, Inclusive.

The Mexican Government during the first five years covered by the plan undertakes to set aside certain prescribed revenues, starting the first year with a minimum of 30,000,000 pesos ($15,000,000 U. S. gold), this minimum increasing by 5,000,000 pesos ($2,500,000 U. S. gold) per annum for each of the ensuing four years, reaching 50,000,000 pesos ($25,000,000 U. S. gold) in the fifth year. Out of this fund payments in cash as set forth in the table below are to be made to the bondholders. The difference, if any, between the full interest on the bonds and the amounts provided to be paid in cash is to be dealt with in twenty-year scrip not bearing any interest during the past five years, but bearing interest at the rate of 3% per annum for the balance of fifteen years.

Interest in Arrears to and Including Jan. 2 1923.

The coupons maturing on or before Jan. 2 1923 are to be lodged with a depositary against the issue of non-interest-bearing receipts. Such receipts are to be purchased or redeemed by the Government from a fund sufficient to retire them in full during a period of forty years, beginning Jan. 1 1928. The receipts will be of two classes—Class "A" and Class "B" (Class "A" to be retired completely prior to Class "B").

The Mexican Government, the notice to security holders says, agrees to set aside annually toward the payment of interest on the bonds maturing Jan. 2 1923:

1. The entire proceeds of the oil export tax.
2. Ten per cent of the gross revenues of the National Railways of Mexico.
3. The entire net operating revenue of these railways.

The interest coupons maturing on or before Jan. 2 1923 with respect to the bonds affected by the readjustment, are to be attached by the respective depositaries and lodged with a depositary agreed upon by the Mexican Government and the committee, and receipts for an equal face amount will be exchanged for them. Such receipts are to be purchased or redeemed by the Government of Mexico from a fund sufficient to retire them in full, extending over a period of 40 years, beginning Jan. 1 1948.

The Mexican Government, it is announced, has agreed to make prompt return of the National Railways to private management and to the control of a board of directors agreed upon with the committee. The Government has also agreed to restore the railways, including rolling stock, to their condition at the time the railway lines were taken over. Furthermore the Government has agreed to guarantee the payment of principal, interest and sinking fund of outstanding bonds of the National Railways System, subject to certain provisions set forth as to payments during the five-year period. The liens created by the existing mortgages are not to be enforced unless the Government defaults in its obligations under the plan; in which case such liens may be enforced in favor of the respective bondholders. Provision, it is stated, is made for taking care of 28 different security issues under the plan. The matured notes of the National Railways of Mexico are to be extended for a period of ten years from Jan. 1 1923 with interest at 5% for the five years and at 6% per annum thereafter. The 6% notes of the Government of Mexico and the National Railway notes secured by 6% Government notes are to be extended for the same period of time with interest at the rate of 6% per annum. All sinking funds are to be postponed for a period not to exceed five years from Jan. 1 1923.

The International Committee of Bankers on Mexico which has worked out the readjustment plan consists of six national groups, representing holders of Mexican securities all over the world, as follows:

The text of the agreement providing for the adjustment of the Mexican debt was given in our issue of Sept. 9 1922, page 1153.

Reports of Loan to French Bankers Through T. W. Lamont and Mortimer Schiff to Finance Mexican Bank of Issue.

The Associated Press carried the following advices from Mexican City May 21:

The newspapers have been informed that United States bankers, through Thomas W. Lamont and Mortimer Schiff, who are now in Paris, have completed arrangements for the $25,000,000 loan to the French bankers financing the Mexican bank of issue. The Government announces that this institution will open next month.

Agustin le Gorreta, Director of the National Bank of Mexico, who participated in the Paris conferences, is expected to return to this city soon to complete the transfer of the funds and to arrange for the opening of the bank.

With regard to the above the New York "Times" of May 22 said:

. At J. P. Morgan & Co.'s it was said that the report was not unlike previous ones heard a short time ago, and that so far as Mr. Lamont's reported connection with the proposition was concerned they felt sure that the dispatch was in error. At Kuhn, Loeb & Co.'s, of which Mr. Schiff is a partner, a statement of similar tenor was made.

The new Mexican bank of issue will be opened next month, it has been definitely announced by the Mexican Government.

Chinese Bank for Habana—Branch of Hongkong Institution Reported to Be About to Open in Cuban Capital to Finance Imports from China.

The Department of Commerce at Washington issued the following announcement May 5:

Within a period of a few months, representatives of two separate Chinese banking institutions have visited Habana to determine the needs for a local branch catering to Chinese interests, says Assistant Trade Commissioner C. A. Livengood. These banking institutions are the Industrial and Commercial Bank (Ltd.), of Hogkong, and the Chinese Merchants' Bank of the same city.

The representative of the latter bank reports that abranch of the Chinese Merchants' Bank will be established in Habana within two or three months. Plans are under way for the carrying out of the necessary legal formalities. This bank, whose capital is stated to be $5,000,000 in currency and $2,500,000 in gold, has an agency in New York. The owners of the bank are reported to be heavily interested in rice, and it is expected that the Habana branch will devote itself to financing shipments to Cuba of Chinese rice, silks, embroidery, chinaware and other oriental products.

Shipment of 30,000,000 Gold Marks to United States from Germany.

A shipment of 30,000,000 gold marks from Germany arrived in New York yesterday (May 25) on the United American liner Reliance. A statement issued in this city on May 21 regarding the shipment said:

It was stated on excellent authority to-day that the gold shipments made by the Reichsbank to this country, concerning which there has been a good deal of discussion in the papers, have not been made for the purpose of exchange manipulations. The gold has been shipped for the purpose of providing cover for the maturing notes given by the German Government to the Belgian Government on account of the indemnity payments under the arrangments made several months ago. The payments of these notes have been arranged through the International Acceptance Bank, Inc., of New York, to which, in turn, the gold now on the ocean has been addressed by the German Reichsbank.

Referring to the shipment on May 21, the New York "Times" said:

The mystery which has surrounded the announcement from Berlin that the German Government has in transit to New York 60,000,000 gold marks —the largest shipment from Germany to this country since the pre-war days —was cleared yesterday, when it was learned that the consignment is in connection with indemnity payments to the Belgian Government. Back of the shipment lies the indisputable evidence, according to banking authorities who have studied the international situation, that Germany has come to the end of her rope in the matter of paying debts with her printing presses and is now endeavoring to meet obligations with gold.

The payment of the present note, drawn up by the German Government in the interest of Belgium, marks the fourth of a series which have been endorsed by five of the leading banking houses of Germany. The present shipment, which is on its way here, is consigned to the International Acceptance Bank, Inc., of New York, and is equivalent to $14,280,000. The bank has made arrangements to pay the fourth German installment to the Belgian Government, and payment will be made in dollar balances acquired through the shipment.

League of Nations Commission Approves Hungarian Rehabilitation Plan.

Regarding the approval by the Reparations Commission of the League of Nations of the Hungarian rehabilitation plan, Associated Press advices from Paris May 23 said:

The Hungarian rehabilitation plan has been approved by the Reparations Commission, but only after League of Nation's supervision, as in Austria. relief had been eliminated, and Hungary had been bluntly informed that the Commission's final action on the detailed proposition for an international loan and Governmental reform would depend on Hungary's good behavior in the meantime, in delivering coal and cattle and otherwise carrying out the execution of the treaty with the exception of cash payments.

M. Barthou had to cast his second vote, as French President of the Commission, in order to secure adoption of the plan. M. Barthou and the delegates representing the succession States first defeated the British and Italian plan, modeled on Austrian relief, under which the League of Nations supervises the execution of the plan, then the revised plan was adopted by M. Barthou's two votes and that of the succession delegates over the British and Italian negative votes.

The new plan also provides that a committee representing the Reparations Commission shall go to Hungary to investigate conditions there. Hungary must furnish guarantees that whatever loans are raised will be devoted to restoration of her finances and some reparation payments.

The appeal of Hungary to the Commission was referred to in our issue of May 12, page 2069.

Reports of Possibility of Renewing Argentine Loan.

The Associated Press in a cablegram from Buenos Aires May 24 said:

It is understood that there is a possibility of renewing the $50,000,000 loan negotiated by Argentina in 1921 through Blair & Co. and the Chase National Bank of New York. The loan falls due on Oct. 1 next.

The question was discussed yesterday at a conference between Minister of Finance Vegas and a representative of the bankers. Argentina, it is indicated, seeks more favorable terms than were obtained originally when the 7% bonds were issued at 97.

Senor Vegas said the bankers' representative called attention to the exceptionally favorable condition in the American market for floating a large loan.

The New York "Times" printed the following in the matter:

Representatives of Blair & Co. and the Chase National Bank, who could be reached last night, said that they knew nothing of a renewal of negotiations with representatives of the Argentine Government in connection with extending the loan which matures next October.

Decision of Argentine Supreme Court in Favor of Holders of 4½% German Loan of 1910 of the Province of Buenos Aires.

The following statement was given out on May 24 by Samuel McRoberts, President of the Metropolitan Trust Co. of New York:

The Argentine Supreme Court has just handed down a decision favoring the bondholders in the long litigation rising out of the demands of the holders of bonds of the 4½% German loan of 1910 of the Province of Buenos Aires. This suit was brought against the Province of Buenos Aires, not because the Province in 1920 elected to pay off the entire loan in marks, and remitted the necessary funds to Berlin to do this, but because the holders of the bonds insisted on receiving their interest in Swiss francs.

The suit was not brought against the Province until after the latter had decided to pay off the loan. Until then the entire service on this loan had been remitted to the Dresdner Bank in Berlin, and this had never met any objection from the bondholders. Article 5 of the loan contract reads in part, "The payment of the matured coupons and bonds called for redemption up to the total amortization of the loan shall be effected in Europe at the Dresdner Bank, the A. Schaaffhausen'scher Bankverein, Berlin, the Nationalbank fur Deutschland, Berlin, the Dresdner Bank, London, the Banque J. Allard and Cie, Paris, and the Aktiengesellschaft von Speyr & Co., Basle (Switzerland). The payment will be made in Germany in marks, in Paris and Basle in francs, and in London in pounds sterling, according to the wish of the holder."

Article 6 of the contract provides for all purchases of the bonds below par to be made by the Dresdner Bank, Berlin, as brokers, and that drawings of bonds for redemption shall take place at the office of the same bank.

A mistaken impression exists in some quarters regarding the suit that has just been settled. When the Province called the loan for payment it remitted the full outstanding amount to the Dresdner Bank in Berlin, and no suit was brought by the bondholders as regards the basis for repayment of principal. It is probable now that a suit over the payment of the principal will be brought by the bondholders as a result of their success in the suit they have just won. But it is a fact that this suit now settled by the Argentine courts was brought solely in connection with interest payments made prior to the repayment of the principal.

The service of the German loan was guaranteed by the share belonging to the Government of the Province of Buenos Aires in the profits of the Banc de la Provincia, and this security was always sufficient to meet all the debt payments. All during the time that the litigation was under way the Province continued to set aside in a special account a reserve from its share in the profits of the bank. At the close of 1922 this reserve amounted to 14,350,000 Argentine paper pesos, equal to over $5,000,000 United States at the average rate of exchange. This reserve is almost enough to take care of all payments that now become due.

It will be remembered that a decision in favor of bondholders was rendered just a short while ago by the Argentine courts with reference to the payment in gold of coupons and principal of the 4½% French loan of 1910 of the Province. While details of litigation regarding the German loan and the basis for the recent court decision are not yet fully known up here, certainly nothing could be more evident than the desire of the Province to do all within its power to place its credit abroad on a firm basis.

American War Claims Against Germany $1,479,064,314.

The war claims of Americans against Germany, presented to the Mixed Claims Commission for settlement, amount to $1,479,064,314, according to announcements made in Washington on May 20, which states that the United States Government itself is the largest claimant, asking for $366,113,000, while the smallest of the 12,416 claims filed with the Commission is for $1. The signing of the agreement between the United States and Germany providing for the determination of the amount of the claims against Germany was noted in our issue of August 19 1922, page 817, and reference to the appointment of the Mixed Claims Commission named in accordance with the agreement was made in these columns Oct. 7 1922, page, 1579. In another item in to-day's issue of our paper we refer to the resignation of former Associate Justice Day as umpire of the Commission. Stating that it was indicated in high official circles in Washington that the $1,479,064,313 total of American claims filed with the Commission is much inflated and gives no faithful indiaction of the amount that Germany will be called on to pay by the final adjudication, special advices from Washington to the "Journal of Commerce" on May 21 continued:

The State Department, it was learned, did not pass in any way upon the merits of the claims or the reasonableness of the amount sought before permitting the claims to be filed. The figure, it was explained, represents the aspirations rather than the expectations of the claimants.

Will Scale Down Claims.

Excepting the $255,544,000 claims filed by the United States to insure the payment of Army costs incurred by the occupation of the Rhine by American forces, it is believed that the claims, scaled down, will be adjudicated for less than $200,000,000. Col. Thomas W. Miller, the Alien Property Custodian, has estimated that not more than $150,000,000 will be required to satisfy them.

The appointment of Edwin B. Parker of Texas, now serving as American member of the Commssion, to act as umpire to succeed former Supreme Court Justice William Day means that the Commission soon will proceed to the hearing of test cases to determine the validity of certain groups of claims. The Administration considers his appointment, in which the German Government acquiesced, as a great personal tribute as well as a testimonial to the fairness of this Government.

Notice has been served by the German Counsellor that his Government will contest the marine insurance claims, the right of Americans to anticipate profits and other principles upon which the total was swelled over the billion dollar mark.

The Associated Press advices from Washington May 20 in reporting the amount of the claims said:

Heading the list of claims by individuals are those growing out of the sinking of the Lusitania by a German submarine. They total $22,606,000 and may be disposed of first by the Commission, Germany having already admitted liability, but not in definite amount.

The stupendous total involved in the proceedings is revealed for the first time in a report made to the State Department by Robert C. Morris, agent for the United States before the Commission. Work on determining the amounts Germany must pay already has been begun by the Commission, which organized last October.

How soon the Commission can complete its work cannot be estimated, but it is to be expedited through classification by Mr. Morris of most of the claims into test cases by which one decision of the Commission will determine the law and principles to be applied to claims of similar character.

The American claims are to be disposed of without regard to the Allied reparations claims, the report of Mr. Morris disclosing that the Commission has entered a formal order that "the machinery provided by the Versailles Treaty and the rules and methods of procedure thereunder governing the disposition of claims, including reparations claims, so-called neutrality claims, claims growing out of exceptional war measures to be dealt with by mixed arbitral tribunals, shall have no application to, and are not binding on, this Commission."

Neither is the door shut against the United States or its citizens to increase the amount of claims presented. Mr. Morris having stipulated on behalf of the American Government and Germany having accepted a proviso permitting the claims to be changed in amount later if circumstances and the facts disclosed should require.

The report of Mr. Morris also disclosed the machinery and rules set up for disposal of the American claims by the Commission. Details of the Commission's organization, with addresses by the American and German representatives indicating a friendly spirit and desire for accord, also were made public.

The largest claim listed in the report is the American Government's of $255,544,810 51 for cost of the army of occupation in Germany now under negotiation with the Allies in Paris by Assistant Secretary Wadsworth of the Treasury. It is understood, however, this claim will not be pressed in the event the Paris negotiations result in an agreement. Other Government claims are for $67,266,626 23 for general damages growing out of the German submarine warfare; $37,982,000 by the Veterans' Bureau for war risks premiums; $5,380,000 by the Railroad Administration and $40,075 for war risk premiums of the Shipping Board.

The $1 claim is presented by Emery Roberts for loss of property while a German prisoner of war.

There are a few other small claims of $1 50 and $2 for loss of parcel post property by shippers, but most of the claims run into hundreds of thousands and millions. Every class of American shipping, manufacturing and business concerns is found among the long list of claimants, all of whose names are disclosed in the reports, although their addresses are withheld.

The largest individual claims are $100,000,000 by Roger B. McMullen for alleged patent infringements and one by William J. Quillion for $96,000,000 damages from German submarine warfare. Other large individual claims include: Carl Schiller, $11,362,000, entitled "consequence of war;" George R. Mosie, $2,000,000, submarine warfare and consequence of war, and Arkell & Douglas, $6,550,000, consequence of war.

The largest Lusitania claim is $5,000,000 for the death of Fred S. Pearson, plus $300,000 for the death of Mabel Ward Pearson. Other large Lusitania claims include those of heirs or estates of the following: Charles Klein, New York theatrical producer, $1,767,000; Justus Miles Forman, $100,000;; Charles Frohman, another former New York theatre magnate, $250,000, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, $250,000, and Samuel and Solomon Friedmann $342,000. Most of the Lusitania claims range from $10,000 to $100,000.

In size of claims, the principal claimants are American insurance, oil, shipping and manufacturing concerns.

Many prominent Americans are among the claimants, the list including John Wanamaker, $97,504 for war risk premiums; Thomas A. Edison, $10,422, for property in Germany; Ford Motor Company, $376,000, property in Germany and war risk premiums; Herbert Hoover & Sons Co., $100, property in Germany; Theodore H. Marburg, Baltimore banker, former Minister to Belgium, $36,868, property in Germany; Albert W. Morris, $5,000,000, property in Germany; August Belmont & Co., $40,055, property in Germany; Baruch & Co., $3,566, property in Germany; Charles Edward Russell, $1,344, submarine warfare.

George Sylvester Viereck, former editor of the "Fatherland" and prominent in pre-war agitation, has a claim filed for $13,000 for property in Germany. Charles J. Vopicka, of Chicago, former Minister to the Balkans, claims $3,000 for property in occupied territory.

Among women, the largest claim is presented by Ruth S. Maguire, of $5,000,000 for war risk premiums and submarine warfare.

Thousands of individuals claims are for property in Germany and in occupied territory, names of claimants indicating German ancestry or relationship. The association of American holders of foreign securities has an omnibus claim of $21,000,000 based upon depreciation of German security values.

Manufacturers of submarine apparatus are claimants for many millions, alleging patent infringement, for which the Submarine Signal Company asks $1,899,000, together with that for $100,000,000 by Roger B. McMullen and for $1,112,000 by the Synthetic Patents Company. The du Pont Powder interests of Delaware have claims for more than $425,000 for war risks premiums and property in Germany, the Sperry Gyroscope Company asks $5,000,000 and the Lake Torpedo Boat Company $1,000,000 for alleged patent infringement.

Probably the largest number and amount of claims is by insurance companies, for indemnities and war risk premiums. Included are: Globe Company, $7,500,000; Chubb & Son, $5,644,000; Atlantic, $5,106,000; Federal, $4,695,000; Aetna, $4,670,000; St. Paul Fire & Marine Insurance Company, $4,154,000; Boston Insurance Company, $3,310,000; United States Lloyds, $2,109,000; Fireman's $2,500,000, and Equitable, $3,430,000.

Shipping companies also are heavily represented among the claimants, for damages from submarine warfare, war risk premiums and other consequences of the war. Among these are the Luckenbach Steamship Company, $25,729,000; American Union Line, $2,303,000; American Transportation Company, $1,848,000; Barber Steamship Lines, $4,000,000; International Mercantile Marine, $1,946,000, and the Housatanic Steamship Company, $570,000. The sinking of the steamer Housatanic was one of the acts which culminated in America's participation in the war.

Among oil companies, the larger claims are:. Standard of New Jersey, $13,920,000 and $7,443,000; Standard of New York, $2,818,000; Interocean, $3,000,000; Vacuum, $4,794,000; Sun, $7,109,000; Huasteca Petroleum Company, $10,000,000.

The Guaranty Trust Company of New York has the largest bank claim, aggregating about $9,500,000, for property in Germany, Spever & Co. have like claims of $310,000, and the National City Bank, $410,000.

Among the Packers Swift & Co. head the list with claims of $32,400,000 from submarine warfare and war risk premiums. Edward F. Swift has claims for $20,500,000; L. F. Swift, $872,000; G. F. Swift, Jr., $195,000; Charles H. Swift, $313,000, and the estate of Anna Swift, $457,000. The Hammond Packing Company seeks $9,176,000, Armour & Co., $5,775,000; Wilson & Co., $2,609,000; Plankington Packing Company, $3,536,000.

Other claims include: International Harvester Company, $10,572,000 and $3,465,000; American Smelting & Refining Company, $2,755,000; Singer Sewing Machine Company, $11,500,000; American Radiator Company, $3,350,000; United Shoe Company, $3,913,000; Southern States Cotton Corporation, $1,600,000; Corn Products Company, $1,890,000; Methodist Foreign Mission Board, $1,115, for war risk premiums, and the Russian Volunteer Fleet, $98,419 for war risk premiums.

Secretary Hoover Denies Claim.

On May 21 an Associated Press (Washington) dispatch said:

In the preparation of the voluminous detail relating to the thousands of American claims, a typographical error in the official reports indicated that Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, was interested. The official list gave "Herbert Hoover and Sons Company" as a claimant of $100 for property in Germany. This caused Secretary Hoover to give our a statement declaring that "neither I nor any connection of mine has made such a claim." Officials explained that the incident was due to a typographical or clerical error, the claim really being presented by Joseph Hoover and Sons Company of Philadelphia.

Resignation of Former Justice Day as Umpire of Mixed Claims Commission—E. B. Parker Named as Successor.

Announcement was made on May 21 of the resignation of William R. Day, formerly Justice of the United States Supreme Court, as umpire of the Mixed Claims Commission named to adjust the American war claims against Germany. Edwin B Parker, of Texas, the United States representative on the Commission, has been appointed by President Harding as umpire succeeding Mr. Day; the post of American Commissioner becoming temporarily vacant. Regarding Mr. Day's retirement the Associated Press advices from Washington May 21 said:

The resignation of Mr. Day, who told the President he wished to be relieved of his duties because he believed a younger and stronger man should serve as umpire, came as the Commission was beginning to consider the 12,416 claims filed. The Commissioners representing the United States and Germany, respectively, Judge Parker and Dr. Wilhelm Kiesselbach, already had begun hearings on the Lusitania claims. These had been presented last week by Robert C. Morris, American agent, and Marshall Morgan, counsel for the Commission in charge of the Lusitania claims. Their reargument after the appointment of the new American Commissioner probably will be necessary, as the duties of Judge Parker as umpire will require him to function only in settling disputes between the American and German Commissioners.

Mr. Day's retirement from the Commission was a surprise. His selection as umpire had met with widespread approval, because of his past experience in mixed claims commission work and his reputation in long public service as former Secretary of State and on the Supreme Court bench. Germany asked the United States to appoint the Commission's umpire and expressly approved the selection of Justice Day.

It was announced at the State Department to-day in connection with the appointment of Judge Parker as umpire that the German Government was glad to approve his selection.

Little delay in disposal of the American's claims, officials said, will result from the Commission's personnel change. President Harding is expected to appoint a new American Commissioner promptly and in the meantime the American agent, Mr. Morris, and his staff will proceed with preparation of test cases for presentation to the Commission. There has been no intimation so far of the probable choice of the President for the Commission vacancy, but the Executive and Secretary Hughes were said to regard the position as one of prime importance, containing great responsibilities to the Government and to the thousands of individuals who are in the long list of claimants.

Resignation of Robert C. Norris from Mixed Claims Commission.

Following the resignation (referred to above) of former Justice Day from the Mixed Claims Commission, named to adjust the American claims against Germany, Robert C. Morris of New York, United States Agent before the Commission, tendered his resignation to President Harding on May 24. As to Mr. Morris's resignation press dispatches from Washington May 24 said:

Announcement was made at the White House that he was retiring "at the insistent call of his personal and prefessional affairs."

Mr. Morris, since the organization of the Commission last October, has been engaged in preparing briefs on the claims that the American Government and its citizens have against Germany as the result of war damages and has built up a staff to conduct the presentation of claims. The staff is now functioning so well that Mr Morris felt he could return to his law practice in New York. The White House announcement of his resignation said it had been postponed "until the organization of the American agency was fully perfected in every way."

President Harding is understood to be desirous that the work of the Commission ve expedited as much as possible and consequently it is expected that he will soon will announce the appointment of successor to Mr. Parker, as American Commissioner and to Mr. Morris as American agent.

Allied Reparations Commission Puts Reparations Payments at Eight Billion Marks.

The following copyright cablegram from Paris, May 22, was reported by the New York "Times":

Germany paid the Allies up to Dec. 31 1922 approximately 8,000,000,000 gold marks, including seizures. Of this amount, 5,000,000,000 gold marks stand to Germany's credit. These facts stand out from an accounting report made public to-day by the Reparations Commission.

The receipts listed, expressed in gold marks, are:

Cash	1,878,515,000	Treasury receipts	13,000,000

Total, 7,940,426,009 gold marks.

Something more than 5,000,000,000 gold marks have been divided among the Allies, as follows:

Serbia	150,685,000	Portugal	4,415,000
Japan	67,978,000	Total	5,184,257,000

The balance of 2,756,169,000 gold marks undivided is made up thus:

Cables	49,000,000
Property ceded by the German Government	2,085,393,000
Allocated value of the Sarre mines	100,000,000
Part value of ships	391,519,000
Miscellaneous	92,631,000
Cash on hand and recoverable credits	37,626,000

The expenses of the army of occupation and the Commission of Control are placed at:

France	1,261,000,000	Italy	10,583,000
Great Britain	942,086,000	Japan	269,000
Belgium	233,677,000	Total	2,447,616,000

The cost of the American Army of Occupation was 1,000,072,193 marks, the payment of which is now being adjudicated.

Advances made to Germany under the Spa agreement, which have priority, total 392,216,000. If from the total divided the costs of the armies of occupation and the Spa advances are deducted, it is seen that the Allies have really pocketed for reparations about 2,300,000,000 gold marks.

Of the payment by the Reparation Commission to France of 1,790,803,000 marks, 143,649,000 marks was in cash, 1,345,112,000 in kind and the property ceded in the Sarre was 302,042,000. Deduct 1,261,001,000 marks, the cost of the French army of occupation, and 238,771,000, France's part in the Spa advances, and it is seen that France has on this showing actually received in payments applicable to reconstruction 291,031,000 marks, or less than $75,000,000. She has borrowed and expended for reconstruction 62,000,000,000 francs (paper), or at current exchange more than $4,000,000,000.

As bearing on the same subject we quote the following from the "Journal of Commerce" of May 23:

The German Industrial and Commercial Chamber has recently issued a counter-statement to that of the International Chamber of Commerce on the subject of reparations payments thus far made by Germany. It is claimed that this is based upon official estimates arrived at after expert valuation. The total obtained is 43,000,000,000 gold marks, as compared with the 6,000,000,000 gold marks arrived at by the International Chamber of Commerce. According to the German statement, the reparation performances fall under the following heads:

1. Deliveries from existing stocks.
2. Deliveries from current production.
3. Deliveries in cash.

Regarded from this point of view, the following values, for the period up to May 1 1921 come into consideration:

	Million Gold Marks.
1. Deliveries from Existing Stocks—
Property of the German State and realm, at home and abroad, excluding Alsace-Lorraine, Eupen-Malmedy and the German colonies	5,508
Saar Mines	1,018
Private cables	78
Non-military material abandoned by the German troops during the evacuation of the territories of the western front	1,897
Armistice railroad material, including railway stock, including reserve parts and motor lorries and plants in the ceded territories, as well as railway and pontoon bridges spanning the Rhine	1,632
Mercantile fleet delivered up	5,825
Inland navigation vessels	107
German property abroad subjected to liquidation	11,740
Securities yielded up (according to Article 260 of the Treaty of Versailles)	393
Germany's forced renunciation of her claims upon former allies	8,600
2. Deliveries from Current Production—
Coal, coke and by-products	1,681
Armistice and other reparation supplies (coal by-products, cattle, dyes, machinery, timber, &c.)	278
Total	1,959
3. Deliveries in Cash—
Yield of the sale of destroyed war material (proceeds of scrap)	26
Rhineland duties and miscellaneous	10
Total amount of the German deliveries up to May 1 1921 (sums 1 to 3)	38,793

For the period from May 1 1921 to Dec. 31 1922 the German reparations deliveries reached the following amounts:

1. Deliveries from Current Production—
Railway parks in the ceded territories (new deliveries), excluding the Memel district, Denmark and Eupen-Malmedy	616
Sea-going vessels	91
Inland ships	3
Coal and coke (world market price)	744
Armistice and other reparation supplies (coal by-products, cattle, dyes, pharmaceutic products, machines, implements, timber, &c.)	340
. Deliveries in Cash—
Foreign payments in foreign exchanges up to Dec. 31 1922	1,750
Sale of destroyed war material (proceeds from scrap)	174
Rhineland duties and other reserve from economic sanctions during 1921	59
English sanction levy	163
Miscellaneous items	48

The total German reparation performances up to the end of 1922 thus total 42.78 milliards of gold marks.

For the sake of clearness it must be remarked that the difference between the German figures and those of the Reparations Commission, as regards deliveries in kind, arises chiefly from the fact that the German valuation is based upon world market prices, while the Reparations Commission has only credited them at German inland rates. The profits accumulating from this divergent estimation of values fall entirely to the recipient countries, without in any way being credited to Germany. As regards coal, it is a well-known fact that the profits accruing from the said divergence in value between the German domestic price and that of the world market is utilized as a source of cheap foreign coal for the great French industrial enterprises.

It is, moreover, misleading that the International Chamber of Commerce, in the main, merely takes count of the co-called "liquid incomes" for the period up to May 1 1921. As a matter of fact, the German reparation deliveries and performances up to this date consisted mostly in transfers of capital values, which could not be realized immediately, and these, according to Article 235, must be credited to the capital account of the reparation debt.

France Assesses Ruhr Fines in Dollars.

We quote from the New York "Times" the following from Duesseldorf, May 22:

Fines in dollars, instead of marks, are being levied by the French military authorities as punishment for sabotage and other offenses against the occupation forces.

The city of Dortmund was fined $345 for destroying telephone and telegraph wires; it refused to pay, and the French seized 15,000,000 marks.

The town of Lennep has been fined $155 because fifteen shots were fired into the station some nights ago, nobody being injured.

Soviet Gives Germans 2,000,000-Acre Grant.

From the New York "Times" of May 19 we quote the following Associated Press cablegram from Riga, May 18:

The German Eastern Relations Society has signed a concessions agreement with the Government at Moscow, by which it receives 2,000,000 acres of forest land along the Moscow-Rybinsk railway. It will undertake to spend $3,500,000 to complete 200 miles of railway.

It is learned that another new German combination has received considerable export and import privileges.

Prussia's "Potash Loan" Well Taken.

The New York "Times" had the following to say in a copyright cablegram from Berlin, May 20:

The first annual corporation balance sheet made out in terms of gold marks has just been issued by the Hamburg Insurance Co. Meantime, as regards the basis of calculating values in commodities, it appears that Prussia's 5% potash loan has been extremely successful.

The ready subscription to this loan has brought the announcement of a second loan for 50,000 tons of potash.

Offering of $4,500,000 Republic of Panama Bonds.

W. A. Harriman & Co., Inc., and the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York offered yesterday (May 25) $4,500,000 Republic of Panama 30-year 5½% external secured sinking fund gold bonds at 97½ and accrued interest, to yield over 5.65% to maturity. The bonds will be dated June 1 1923, and will mature June 1 1953. They are coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500, registerable as to principal only. Principal and semi-annual interest, payable June 1 and Dec. 1, are exempt from any present or future taxes of the Republic of Panama. Principal and interest are payable in United States gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness in New York City at the office of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, trustee. It is stated that the bonds are to be specifically secured by allocation of net income from a "constitutional fund" of $6,000,000, which is invested in first mortgages on New York City real estate and by the unassigned portion of treaty payments due the Republic of Panama from the United States. The bonds are redeemable for the sinking fund on any interest date on 60 days' prior notice to and including Dec. 1 1937 at 102½, thereafter to and including Dec. 1 1942 at 102, thereafter to and including Dec. 1 1947 at 101 and thereafter at 100. They are redeemable as a whole at the option of the Republic of Panama, on 60 days' prior notice, on June 1 1933, or on any interest date thereafter, at the then current sinking fund redemption price. According to a letter addressed to the offering houses by Eusebio A. Morales, Minister of Finance, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the Republic of Panama, the proceeds of "the loan are to be used chiefly for construction of modern highway, bridges, &c., designed to develop further the resources of the Republic. From the proceeds of this loan there is to be deposited with Metropolitan Trust Co. of New York an amount sufficient to pay principal of, and interest on, $420,000 principal amount now outstanding of 5% secured serial gold bonds of 1915, which mature Dec. 1 1923, 1924 and 1925; and thereupon the lien of the trust indenture securing the latter issue is to be cancelled." Other portions of the letter are summarized as follows in the circular:

Relations with the United States.—Under the treaty between the United States and Panama, ratified Feb. 26 1904, the United States was granted in perpetuity the "use, occupation and control" of the Canal Zone. Article I. of this treaty reads: "The United States guarantees and will maintain the independence of the Republic of Panama." By Article XIV, the United States is obligated to pay the Republic $250,000 gold per annum. Pursuant to the same article, the United States paid the Republic $10,000,000 gold, from which payment the Republic established a "Constitutional Fund" of $6,000,000 which is invested in first mortgages on New York City real estate and is to continue to be so invested so long as any of these bonds are outstanding.

Security.—These bonds are to be a direct obligation of the Republic of Panama. They are to be specifically secured, (a) by allocation, throughout the term of this loan, of the net income from the Constitutional Fund (which income averaged $292,610 for the seven years 1916-22); and (b) by allocation of $59,741 per annum during the first 21½ years of the loan, and of $250,000 per annum during the last 8½ years, from the annual payment by the United States. The income so allocated is to be used for interest on, and retirement of, these bonds, any excess to revert to the Republic annually, as provided in the trust agreement.

Sinking Fund.—A cumulative sinking fund, operative semi-annually commencing Sept. 1 1923, is to retire the entire issue by maturity. Sinking fund payments are to be used for purchase of bonds in the open market up to the current redemption price, or if not so obtainable, for redemption of bonds after call by lot. Bonds so acquired are to be canceled.

Relation of Allocated Income to Loan Service.—

Average annual income from the "Constitutional Fund" for the seven years 1917-22	$292,610	Average annual income from the "Constitutiona Fund" for the seven years 1916-22	$292,610
Portion of United States annual payments to be allo- to service of this loan during the first 21½ years thereof	59,741	Entire United States annual payments to be allocated service of this loan during the last 8½ years thereof	250,000
Total	$351,351	Total	$542,610
Annual interest and sinking fund requirements of this loan during the first 21½ years	$281,000	Annual interest and sinking fund requirements of this loan during the last 8½ years	†$479,000

† Increased requirement in these years results from an increase of the sinking fund at the time the entire amount of the United States annual payments is to be allocated to service of this loan.

Debt.—Upon completion of this financing, the funded debt of the Republic will aggregate approximately $7,000,000, of which $6,148,000 will be external debt. The total fixed service on such external debt will be approximately $471,250; whereas net income from the Cnostitutional Fund for the year 1922 plus the annual payment by the United States was $580,131.

The Republic is thus in the unique and advantageous position of carrying is external debt wholly with external resources and without using revenues from taxation.

Application has been made to list the bonds on the New York Stock Exchange. It is expected that trust receipts of the Guaranty Trust Co. will be ready for delivery about June 7.

Offering of Bonds of Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank.

Bonds of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., to the amount of $5,000,000 were offered on May 8 by Blair & Co., Inc., the First National Co. of Detroit and Kelley, Drayton & Co., at 102½ and interest, to yield nearly 4.70% to the redeemable date and 5% thereafter. The bonds, issued under the Federal Farm Loan Act, bear 5% interest, are dated May 1 1923, mature May 1 1953 and are redeemable at par and interest on May 1 1933 or any interest date thereafter. In coupon form, of $1,000 each, they are fully registerable, and the coupon and registered bonds are interchangeable. Principal and semi-annual interest are payable at the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank or coupons may be presented for collection at the office of Blair & Co., Inc., New York. According to a letter from Walter Cravens, President of the bank, addressed on May 7 to the houses offering the bonds, the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank had outstanding on Mar. 31 1923 $23,052,000 bonds, excluding the present issue, and held $27,235,300 of mortgages. The paid-in capital of the bank is $1,661,200, which, under the law, carries double liability. It is added that the bank has paid regular semi-annual dividends since January 1919, and since July 1 1922 quarterly dividends at the rate of 9% per annum have been declared. Mr. Cravens also says:

The policy of the bank is to limit its loans to the best agricultural districts of these States. At the present time it holds first mortgages on a total of 790,360 acres of diversified farm land having an aggregae appraised value of $67,940,000. The loans average about $34 per acre of land, or about 40% of the appraised value of the mortgaged land. The average size of its loans is about $7,500. All loans are for strictly agricultural purposes, and the mortgages as determined by attorneys appointed by the Federal Farm Loan Board are absolutely first liens upon the land. The equity in the farm lands is constantly increasing by reason of the semi-annual amortization payments made upon the loans, and by the increase in farm values, which in the States of Missouri and Kansas, according to United States census reports, has amounted to better than 4% per annum for a period of 60 years.

The satisfactory character of our loans is shown by the following comparative figures of interest in arrears. On Mar. 31 1923 interest in arrears totaled only $46,300 on loans of $27,200,000 and 90% of this amount was only 30 days or less past due. On Mar. 31 1922 interest in arrears amounted to $31,000 on mortgages of about $11,700,000.

The following condensed statement of condition of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank of Kansas City, Mo., at close of business Mar. 31 1923 is furnished:

Official information embodied in the offering circular says:

Each of these Joint Stock Land banks has a paid-in capital of $250,000 and a surplus of $25,000, and each bank is a separate unit, chartered by the Federal Farm Loan Board, and is obligated only for its own bonds. However, the four banks are affiliated and their policies are unified by a membership in a voluntary association which consists of a representative from each of these four Joint Stock Land banks, together with the President of the Association, Mr. W. H. Joyce, formerly a member of the Federal Farm Loan Board at Washington and previously President of the Federal Land Bank at Berkeley, Calif. Mr. Joyce is also an executive officer of each of the four banks.

The officers and directors of the banks are, for the most part, officers of the allied banks and trust companies, which are among the strongest financial institutions of the Pacific Slope. Among the executives of each bank are men thoroughly familiar with the farm loan business in the States in which the bank operates.

As of April 30 1923 the bank at Portland reports $2,000,000 of bonds outstanding; the bank at Los Angeles, $2,500,000; the bank at San Francisco $2,200,000 and the bank at Salt Lake City, $1,000,000.

Offering of Bonds of New York and Pennsylvania Joint Stock Land Bank.

Tucker, Anthony & Co. offered on May 24 a $1,000,000 issue of 5% farm loan bonds of the New York and Pennsylvania Joint Stock Land Bank. The bonds are dated Jan. 1 1923, are due Jan. 1 1953, and are redeemable at the option of the bank at 100 and accrued interest on Jan. 1 1933 or any interest date thereafter. The New York and Pennsylvania Joint Stock Land Bank was organized May 2 1922 as the First Joint Stock Land Bank of New York, and received a charter from the Federal Farm Loan Board to operate in the States of New York and Pennsylvania. The bank's territory combines, it is pointed out, proximity to markets, diversity of products and stability of land values due to its density of population. The loans of the bank are in specially chosen sections of the States of New York and Pennsylvania, and have been made on a basis of 33.5% of the total value of the farms mortgaged as determined by the Government appraisers. The bonds are exempt from all Federal, State, municipal and local taxation to the same extent as the First Liberty Loan 3½% bonds. M. H. Gossett of Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, on Functions of These Banks —Texas Bills to Facilitate Access to New Line of Credit.

Discussing the functions of the newly created Federal Intermediate Credit banks, M. H. Gossett, President of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, Tex., in an address before the Texas Bankers' Association at Dallas on May 16 noted that "there appears to be much confusion in the public mind as to the agencies through which the Intermediate Credit bank may serve." He stated that "the so-called Capper bill, creating National Agricultural Credit corporations with a minimum capital of $250,000 has no relation to the Federal Intermediate Credit banks. The Capper Credit corporations," he noted, "are privately owned, cannot rediscount with the Intermediate Credit banks and have no limit upon the rate of interest that may be charged except the laws of the States in which they operate." Mr. Gossett's further remarks relative to the Intermediate banks are contained in the following extracts which we take from the Dallas "News":

The creation of Federal Land banks in 1916 and Federal Intermediate Credit banks in 1923 was a radical departure from traditional political theories in the matter of the legitimate powers of the Federal Government, banking institutions and lending agencies with capital stock supplied by the Federal Treasury. Beginning with Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations," the controversy started: Too much government in business and not enough business in government. Coming down to the inauguration of Washington as first President of the United States, we find in his Cabinet Jefferson and Hamilton, Jefferson contending that the Federal Government, with its limited powers, should do nothing which the States or the people could do for themselves, Hamilton insisting, in the spirit of the general welfare clause of the Constitution, that the general government should do practically all things which it could do more efficiently than the States or the people.

As a matter of fact, for fifty years we have been talking Jeffersonian Democracy and practicing Hamiltonian Federalism. In the passage of these laws, no party lines were drawn and both dominant political parties supported them.

I am not here to apologize for the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, but rather to explain the scope of services which may be expected of it.

When the Federal Land Bank was organized, six years ago, there were those who denounced it as a heresy in Government and predicted failure in operation. So there are those to-day who in advance of trial condemn the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank and discount its usefulness.

Bank History Given.

A brief history of the Federal Land Bank of Houston may be of interest, if not strictly germane, because of some analogy in the new legislation and promise of service. Many doubted if the Federal Land Bank could be made popular, and, with greater doubt, if it could be made both popular and safe. The Federal Land Bank has loaned to 29,000 farmers in excess of $84,000,000 at an average rate of 5½%, with a saving in interest alone to these borrowers of $2,500,000 per annum. Its operations have had the effect to reduce by approximately 2% per annum the interest rate of other land mortgage agencies of this State, so that the benefit from its operations is not limited to loans made by it.

Proof that the system is both popular and safe is found in the fact that though many millions loaned to many thousands, there have been but nine foreclosures in six years, and with less than one-half of 1% delinquent payments, as on May 1, to-wit, $28,318. This record in this period of agricultural depression, we feel, is proof of the soundness of the bank and the ability and purpose of the farmers to protect the financial integrity of the system which has served them so well. The record challenges the attenion, if not the admiration, of all thoughtful men.

The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank is now organized with an available capital of $5,000,000 subscribed by the United States Treasury. The board of directors and executive committee of the Federal Land Bank are charged with the responsibility of its administration, although its capital assets and liabilities are entirely separate from the Federal Land Bank, and neither is responsible for the liabilities of the other. Its scope of service is to supply what its name would indicate, a new line of intermediate credit for agricultural production and marketing, longer than is usually extended by banks of deposit and shorter than farm mortgage loans. The short-time banking needs of industrial, manufacturing and merchandising enterprises were supplied by commercial banks, or banks of deposit, with the Federal Reserve banks as a reservoir of flexible credit. The turnover of the goods for which a short credit is supplied is from three to four months. The turnover of the products of the farmer and live stock raiser is from nine months to three years. The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank was intended to supply this need.

No Direct Loans.

Like the Federal Land Bank, no loans are made on direct application to the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank by individuals, but may be made only through banks, incorporated co-operative marketing associations, and live stock companies for the use of their customers and members. For the present the discount rate is 5½%, and no borrower can be charged in excess of 1½% over the interest rate of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank. Co-operative marketing associations without capital stock may borrow for their members on security of warehouse receipts on grain, cotton, wool, mohair, tobacco and peanuts. These commodities must be graded and in bonded warehouses and insured. Loans may be made on the security of chattel mortgages on live stock for proper purposes—buying, breeding, fattening and marketing. No loan may be made in excess of 75% of the market price of the agricultural products or live stock.

Fortunately, the general warehouse laws of Texas are the same as those of the United States Government. Indeed the United States warehouse laws passed by Congress were practically copies of the Texas statutes.

Loans may be made for not less than six months, nor more than three years. Until the system is tried out, no loan will be made for a longer period than nine months, but upon live stock paper, assurances of renewal will be given if the security remains intact and meets the requirements of the law in the matter of proper margin of security. Any safe banker in granting a three-year cattle loan on the security of live stock would retain the option to mature the loan, if, upon checking the security, it was found insufficient as the result of death, strayed or stolen, or depreciation in market price below the point of safety. While no note will have a maturity of less than six months, where it is desirable to market the security of the note, pre-payment privilege will be allowed and interest charged only for the time the funds were used.

Much Confusion.

There appears to be much confusion in the public mind as to the agencies through which the Intermediate Credit Bank may serve. The so-called Capper Bill, creating national agricultural credit corporations with a minimum capital of $250,000, has no relation to the Federal Intermediate Credit Banks. The Capper credit corporations are privately owned, can not rediscount with the Intermediate Credit banks, and no limit upon the rate of interest that may be charged except the law of the States in which they operate.

Federal Intermediate Credit banks, should the need arise, may issue and sell tax-free debentures to the amount of ten times their capital stock. Thus the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston has a potential loaning capacity of $55,000,000. To facilitate access to this new line of credit for productive agricultural and live stock purposes, the special session of the Legislature enacted yesterday three bills:

Permitting banks to indorse paper discounted by them with the Intermediate Credit Bank without impairing their borrowing capacity through other sources.

Authorizing the creation of co-operative associations whose members are engaged in the breeding, fattening and marketing of live stock, which corporations are required to have a capital stock owned and held by the borrowing stockholding membership.

The incorporation of associations with capital stock of not less than $10,000, which may be subscribed by non-borrowers, and providing for the automatic increase of the capital stock at the rate of one to ten, and which associations may offer paper to the Intermediate Credit Bank for discount supported by warehouse receipts or chattel mortgages on live stock.

Lower Interest Needed.

It is believed that the basic industries of live stock and farming, which feed and clothe the world, needs a lower interest rate for productive purposes than heretofore available. If the banks of the country supply this need in larger measure, then there will be less for the Intermediate Credit Bank to do.

Capital stock is not required of incorporated co-operative associations which offer for discount paper secured by warehouse receipts on non-perishable agricultural products for productive purposes, or the orderly marketing of the security pledged. Applications for loans with chattel mortgages on live stock as security must come through banks or incorporated associations with capital stock of not less than $10,000. Such associations may discount eligible paper up to ten times its capital stock. The spread, or profit, of 1½% over the Intermediate Credit Bank rate to corporations with less than $10,000 capital would not secure the services of a capable manager for such loan association.

The thought should not be entertained that the funds of the Intermediate Credit Bank is easy money, and that paper will be discounted with less security than safe and sound banking experience would approve. It is probable that many may be disappointed, but many others may profit by its service. Our board of directors and responsible officers will feel that not to handle the business of the bank with proper care and caution would be a blunder scarcely less than a crime. To follow any other course than safe and sound banking would be to invite disaster and destroy in the beginning of its operation a system which promises a large and useful service.

Applications Ready.

We are now ready to supply forms of application for discount of eligible paper to banks, co-operative marketing associations and live stock loan companies on request. We are preparing forms for charter and by-laws for the organization of associations where there is a need of same in a community where conditions appear to justify such association.

Pennsylvania Supreme Court Concedes Right of National Banks in State to Act in Fiduciary Capacity.

The right of National banks in Pennsylvania to act in a fiduciary capacity is conceded in an opinion handed down by the State Supreme Court on April 9. The decision was given in an appeal by the Commonwealth from the decision of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, which in upholding the right of the Corn Exchange National Bank of Philadelphia to act as guardian in the matter of the estate of Edna Frisbie Turner, had reversed the decree of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia County. The findings of the Superior Court were referred to in these columns December 2, page 2431. It appears that the Rittenhouse Trust Co. of Philadelphia had been named by the Court as guardian, and that with the company's merger with the Corn Exchange National, the latter had applied for and secured from the State Banking Department a certificate authorizing it to do a fiduciary business in Pennsylvania. The Orphans' Court, however, refused the bank's application to act as fiduciary and likewise dismissed the petition of the bank for the transfer to it of the funds of the estate. Justice Frazer, in presenting the conclusions of the State Supreme Court, stated that "the contention of the Commonwealth is that to permit a Federal bank to act in a fiduciary capacity in this State . . . would amount to a violation of our laws." Pointing out the main points of difference between the Federal and State acts in the granting of fiduciary powers, the opinion states that regulations established for the government of Federal banks "are paramount to State rules and the latter must yield whenever a conflict arises." Justice Frazer continues:

It was with knowledge of this situation and the existing difference between rules governing State and Federal banks that Congress undertook to define, by the Act of 1918, what would be construed "in contravention of State law." It will be observed the definition refers to "powers" only and not the rules governing the exercise of such powers. It is the right itself, not the rules governing the exercise of the right, to which reference is made. Concede the existence of the right in the State banks and trust companies and we have the same right bestowed upon national banks. Had Congress intended the latter to be governed by state laws in the exercise of the right given, surely expression of that intention would be found in the statute. In the absence of such utterance, we must assume Congress was satisfied with the rules already prescribed by the Federal Reserve Board. If these rules happen to conflict with State regulations on the subject, the latter must yield to the former because the right being conceded the power to regulate the exercise of the right would follow as a necessary incident.

The decree of the Superior Court was accordingly affirmed. Charles M. Caldwell, President of the Corn Exchange National Bank, in terming the decision a victory for his institution, is quoted in the Philadelphia "Ledger" as saying:

We simply asked to be given the same rights as trust companies in regard to fiduciary business. All we wanted was to be placed on the same basis as the trust companies, and this is upheld by the highest tribunal in the State.

In a Harrisburg dispatch April 9 the "Ledger" said:

Officials of the State Banking Department to-day expressed the belief that the opinion handed down by the Supreme Court in Philadelphia giving national banks in Pennsylvania the right to act in a fiduciary capacity would make trust funds held by national banks subject to the same State taxes as similar funds held by trust companies.

"Under a Federal Reserve Board ruling," said Peter G. Cameron, State Banking Commissioner, "national banks now have the right to engage in fiduciary business when this does not conflict with State law or regulations. The Supreme Court decision clarifies their status under Pennsylvania law."

We give herewith Justice Frazer's conclusions

In the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, Eastern District.

In the matter of the Corn Exchange National Bank of Philadelphia, No. 272.

In the matter of the petition of Estate of Edna Frisbie Turner, deceased, Nos. 273 and 274 January Term, 1923. Appeals of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Appeal from the decision of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, reversing Decree of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia County.

OPINION.

Frazer, J.:

These two appeals involve the same question, namely, whether a national bank has the right to act as a fiduciary under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; they were argued together and will be decided in a single opinion.

In settling the account of executors of the estate of Edna Frisbie Turner, a fund was awarded to minor children, beneficiaries under the will of decedent. The Court appointed the Rittenhouse Trust Co., of the City of Philadelphia, guardian of their estate and before the account was called for audit that company was converted into a national bank and consolidated with the Corn Exchange National Bank, with power granted by the Federal Reserve Board to transact a fiduciary business. The latter applied for and secured a certificate from the State Banking Department authorizing it to do fiduciary's business in Pennsylvania and presented a petition asking that funds belonging to the minors be paid to it. This the Court refused to do until the bank secured the approval of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia County, under Rule 21 of that Court relating to approval of fiduciaries. Accordingly, a petition was presented for that purpose setting forth the fact of petitioner's incorporation under the national banking laws and its subsequent consolidation with the Rittenhouse National Bank, formerly the Rittenhouse Trust Co., stating it was authorized by the Federal Reserve Board to transact a fiduciary business and had complied with the law of Pennsylvania governing the transaction of such business; had conformed with the Acts of May 9 1889, P. L. 159, and May 20 1921, P. L. 991, agreeing to be subject to supervision and examination by the Banking Department of Pennsylvania in the same manner as corporations of Pennsylvania; and stipulated, pursuant to requirements of the before-mentioned rule of court, that "securities and other prope.ty received by the corporation both in a fiduciary capacity and from the person or persons for whom it is surety, shall not be taken out of the jurisdiction of the court and shall be kept separate and apart from all moneys, securities and property of the said bank, so that the same can, at all times, be easily identified as belonging to the estate of the person for whose account the same has been received, and that trust funds received by said bank, whether as fiduciary or for the person or persons for whom it is surety shall be deposited in a separate account" in another bank or trust company of good standing. This application was refused by the Orphans' Court, whereupon the bank filed a petition, as guardian of the minors, asking that, notwithstanding the refusal to approve its application to act as fiduciary, the funds in question be awarded to it as guardian. This petition was also dismissed and an appeal taken to the Superior Court which reversed the court below and from that decree we have the present appeals.

The Act of Congress, approved Dec. 13 1913 (38 Statute, 251), gave the Federal Reserve Board power, inter alia, "to grant by special permit of national banks applying therefor, when not in contravention of State or local law, the right to act as trustee, executor, administrator or registrar of stocks and bonds under such rules and regulations as the said Board may prescribe." It was thus left to the courts to ascertain whether, in any given case, the exercise of the powers granted would be in contravention of State or local law. Difficulties arose in the construction of the Act, resulting in its amendment in 1918 (Act Sept. 26 1918, 40 Statutes, 867) by permitting national banks to act as executor, administrator, trustee, guardian, etc., in all cases where State banks, trust companies or other corporations which come into competition with national banks are permitted to act under the laws of the State in which the national bank is located," and also providing that "whenever the laws of such State authorize or permit the exercise of any or all of the foregoing powers by State banks, trust companies or other corporations which compete with national banks, and the granting to and exercise of such powers by national banks shall not be deemed to be in contravention of State or local law within the meaning of this Act." The statute contained further provision that banks exercising fiduciary powers should "segregate all assets held in any fiduciary capacity from the general assets of the bank and shall keep a separate set of books and records showing in proper detail all transactions engaged in under authority of this section . . . but nothing in this Act shall be construed as authorizing the State authorities to examine the books, records and accounts of the national bank which are not held in trust under authority of this sub-section." It also required that "funds deposited or held in trust by the bank awaiting investment shall be carried in a separate account and shall not be used by the bank in the conduct of its business, unless it shall first set aside in its trust department, United States bonds or other securities approved by the Federal Reserve Board." Numerous other administrative provisions are found in the Federal Act that need not be referred to here.

The contention of the Commonwealth is that, to permit a Federal bank to act in a fiduciary capacity in this State, under the statutory provisions referred to, would amount to a violation of our laws. The Act of May 21 1919, P. L. 209, provides, inter alia, that the Banking Department shall have supervision of all corporations or persons receiving money on deposit for safe keeping, including banks incorporated under the laws of the United States, which shall, pursuant to Federal law or regulations, be permitted to act in any fiduciary capacity and makes all such corporations subject to inspection and examination by the Banking Commissioner. By Act of May 20 1921, P. L. 991, it was provided that no person should have the right to appoint, in a fiduciary capacity, any corporation other than a corporation organized and doing business under the laws of Pennsylvania and subject to the supervision and examination of the Banking Department of the State, or a corporation organized under the laws of the United States and doing business in Pennsylvania by resolution of its board of directors agreeing to place itself under and subject to the supervision and examination of the State Banking Department "in the same manner and to the same extent as corporations organized and existing under the laws of this State."

A comparison of the foregoing Federal and State Acts shows the main point of difference is that the Federal statute allows inspection of the books and records of only that part of the assets of national banks as are received in a fiduciary capacity and requires them to segregate all assets held in a fiduciary capacity and prohibits commingling them with other assets in its business, unless it shall first set aside in the trust department United States bonds or other securities approved by the Federal Reserve Board, while on the other hand, the State Acts authorize supervision by the Banking Department of all assets of the corporation and forbids substitution of securities for the funds but requires the companies, in all cases, to keep trust funds separate from its other assets and to indicate all investments made as fiduciaries, so that the trust to which the investment belongs shall be clearly known. It is argued this difference in the two provisions produces a conflict, making the Federal Reserve Act in direct violation of State law by permitting uninvested funds to be mingled with the general assets and removing such funds from the inspection and supervision of State authorities. The Corn Exchange National Bank has complied with every provision of the State rules, regulations and laws, by consenting to the examination of all its assets by the State bank examiners and agreeing to keep trust securities on deposit in a separate bank. This voluntary compliance with State rules would, in itself, seem to render unnecessary a further discussion of the question raised. Appellant contends, however, that the national bank cannot, validly, agree to be bound by State law or by local rule of court, which is contrary or inconsistent with the Federal law and that, consequently, the question still remains whether it was not beyond the power of the bank to agree to comply with the State regulations where they are in conflict with Federal practice.

The answer to this contention is that, in so far as the State law is inconsistent with the Federal Act, the former must yield to the latter, even though the result may be to place upon Federal banks a benefit or burden not received or assumed by the State banks and trust companies.

The definition given in the Federal Act as to what constitutes a violation of the State law takes no cognizance of the fact that certain administrative details in the regulations of Federal banks were different from those governing State institutions. The existence of these difference, however, are not sufficient to deprive a national bank of the enjoyment of its powers under the Federal law.

The establishment of the Federal Reserve Bank was a matter within the scope of Federal power and a State cannot, in any way, interfere with the powers of such banks, except in so far as Congress has permitted them to do so. When the Federal Act was passed Congress had knowledge of the fact that various States had adopted different laws and systems governing persons or corporations acting in a fiduciary capacity. Having this knowledge, they gave to the Federal Reserve Board power to prescribe regulations for the government of Federal banks. Regulations thus established are paramount to State rules and the latter must yield whenever a conflict arises. It was with knowledge of this situation and the existing difference between rules governing State and Federal banks that Congress undertook to define, by the Act of 1918, what would be construed "in contravention of State law." It will be observed the definition refers to "powers" only and not the rules governing the exercise of such powers. It is the right itself, not the rules governing the exercise of the right, to which reference is made. Concede the existence of the right in the State banks and trust companies and we have the same right bestowed upon national banks. Had Congress intended the latter to be governed by State laws in the exercise of the right given, surely expression of that intention would be found in the statute. In the absence of such utterance, we must assume Congress was satisfied with the rules already prescribed by the Federal Reserve Board. If these rules happen to conflict with State regulations on the subject, the latter must yield to the former because the right being conceded the power to regulate the exercise of the right would follow as a necessary incident. We believe this view is fully supported by the opinion in First National Bank v. Union Trust Co., 244 U. S. 416, and cases therein cited.

The decree of the Superior Court is affirmed.

Hearing Before Gov. Smith on New York Legislation Validating Tax on Bank Shares—Compromise Agreement in New York City.

On May 23 a hearing was scheduled before Gov. Smith at Albany on both the Walker bill and the Sheridan bill, validating the 1% tax on national and State bank shares collected in 1920, 1921 and 1922. The passage of these bills by the New York Legislature grew out of the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court declaring unconstitutional the 1% bank tax law. Without the Sheridan bill the cities would have had to return the tax collected under this law for the past three years. Stating that in spite of protests from some of the most prominent lawyers in the State, representing private and investment bankers, Gov. Smith will sign the Walker bill, imposing a 1% tax on money capital in competition with national banks as well as on national bank shares, the "Journal of Commerce" in Albany advices May 23 added:

John W. Davis, Franklin B. Lord and William H. Seward told the Governor that the bill singles out private and investment bankers and imposes an unfair and discriminatory burden on them. They denied the assertions that private bankers are now escaping their fair share of taxation, Mr. Davis declaring that in reality they are paying more taxes than the State and national banks.

As to the Sheridan bill, calling for the refund of the three-year tax collections, the "Journal of Commerce" in its Albany dispatch said:

In New York City an agreement has been reached by which the banks will accept a return of only 50% of this tax. The banks in all the other cities are expected to do the same thing. The Governor postponed the hearing of the Sheridan bill, pending the action of the other cities. If they all accept the 50-50 agreement the Sheridan bill will be unnecessary and the Governor will undoubtedly veto it.

Governor Smith said at the hearing to-day that he would have to sign the Walker bill, as the cities of the State in making up their budgets had calculated on getting the money from this tax. He said that the cities have got to get the money somewhere, and that the whole question of bank taxation will be studied by the Legislative Tax Committee before the convening of the next Legislature.

New Law Probable.

It is probable that the Walker bill will remain on the statute books only during the present year. A more acceptable tax will be devised by the Committee and recommended to the next Legislature. It is likely that it will be along the line of the Knight bill of this year, which imposes a tax of 4½% on the net income of banks. It is understood that the banks have no objection to this bill.

Under the Supreme Court decision States were prohibited from taxing bank shares without taxing all moneyed capital in competition with the national banks. That accounts for the manner in which the Walker bill was drawn.

Referring to the compromise reached with the New York City banks, the New York "Times" of May 23 had the following to say:

As the result of a compromise between Comptroller Charles L. Craig and representatives of banking interests over the levying of a State bank tax, the city will save upward of $10,000,000, it was announced yesterday by the Comptroller, after a resolution he had introduced at a special meeting of the Board of Estimate had been unanimously adopted.

There have been several conferences between the Comptroller and the banking interests looking to a compromise. This came about at a meeting yesterday of the Comptroller and a committee representing Clearing House banks headed by Walter E. Frew, President of the Corn Exchange Bank, and Stephen Baker, head of the Bank of Manhattan Company.

The settlement agreed upon is on the basis of payment of 50% of the principal of taxes for 1920, 1921 and 1922 by the national banks, and the same percentage for the State banks for 1920 and 1921, and 100% for 1922. Instead of the city returning $14,000,000 to the banks as it was ordered to do by the courts it will return $3,357,000.

"It is my judgment," said the Comptroller, "that it is more advantageous to the city to settle this matter on this basis than risk the uncertainties of litigation."

The Comptroller stated that in view of the agreement reached there was no need for the Sheridan bill upon which a hearing before the Governor is scheduled for to-day. The Comptroller was authorized by the Board to go to Albany and recommend that the Governor veto this measure.

Herbert Bissell, President of the State Bankers' Association, has agreed to recommend that a similar settlement be made with the various local municipalities.

Government Withdrawals from Banks the Present Week.

Something like $200,000,000 was withdrawn from the banks this week by the Government, the sum withdrawn from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York alone amounting to over $100,000,000. Following the withdrawal of $81,000,000 on Monday from the depositary banks in the local Reserve District, the Government yesterday (May 25) withdrew further funds of $27,000,000, making the total withdrawals here $108,000,000. Referring to Monday's (May 21) withdrawals, the New York "Times" of May 19 said:

The Government has notified the local Reserve Bank that it will withdraw a total of $81,000,000 on Monday. This large withdrawal of funds is primarily for the purpose of meeting payments due on the Victory notes which have been called for redemption on that date. Taking the country as a whole, it is expected that the Government will withdraw upward of $200,000,000. This, with balances on hand, is expected to take care of all of the Government's requirements for the Victory note redemption. It was said yesterday that a total of $774,000,000 of Victory notes have been called for payment on Monday. Redemption of these bonds will clear the Victory notes from the Treasury's books. In banking circles, however, it is expected that it will be some time before the last bond is paid due to the delinquency of investors to present bonds for payment. Of the $774,000,000 Victory notes outstanding, it is estimated that $300,000,000 were presented in exchange for Treasury notes recently offered. In addition it is estimated that from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 will not be heard from for some time to come, leaving approximately $300,000,000 to be paid off on Monday. About a third of this total is expected to be presented in this district.

Quarterly Meeting of Advisory Council of Federal Reserve Board—No Change in Discount Rates—Cuban Branch.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Federal Advisory Council of the Federal Reserve Board was held in Washington on Monday and Tuesday of this week, May 21 and 22. Only a very brief statement regarding its deliberations was issued by the Council, with the conclusion of its sessions, this indicating that Federal Reserve rates would be maintained at the present level of 4½%, in view of the satisfactory business conditions. A formal statement on its deliberations follows:

A regular statutory meeting of the Federal Advisory Council was held on May 21 and 22 at which general business conditions of the country were reviewed, and reports from all quarters were satisfactory and indicated that business is progressing conservatively and on a sound basis.

The Advisory Council discussed the matter of discount rates and was of the opinion that there appeared to be no reason why Federal Reserve bank rates should be increased at this time.

While other matters, including the question as to whether the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston should be granted permission to establish an agency in Havana or whether the privilege be conferred on the Federal Reserve Bank at Atlanta, came before the Council for discussion, the "Journal of Commerce" points out that only on the subject of business conditions would the Council indicate any conclusions, the proposal to authorize the establishment of a Cuban agency and the program for the elimination of free services to member banks being treated with the utmost secrecy. From the Washington dispatch to the "Journal of Commerce" we quote the following:

In addition to discussing the business situation the members of the Council, which is comprised of a representative from each of the twelve Federal Reserve districts, submitted reports of conditions in their respective sections. These reports have not yet been analyzed by the Board, but were understood to reflect in general a spirit of caution which has developed in industry which is counted upon as a safeguard against over-expansion. The members of the council were understood to see the present situation in the country as a time for observation rather than action.

In its further advices from Washington May 23, the same paper said:

Plans of the Federal Reserve Board for the elimination of free services performed for member banks by Reserve banks remained unsettled after an all-day conference to-day with a special committee of Governors of Reserve banks appointed to investigate the question of effecting greater economy in the operation of the system.

The possibility of reducing the expenses of the Reserve banks by substituting a fee system for the services performed in the collection of notes, drafts and other facilities provided for members banks was gone over, but the conclusion was reached that the matter would have to be submitted to the various Reserve banks for consideration and suggestion before any concrete recommendations could be made to the Board.

Establishment of an agency of the Boston Reserve Bank in Cuba was also taken up by the Governors, but it was stated that the proposal is still pending and Board members offered no indication of when action on that proposal could be expected.

Recommendations of Secretary Hoover's Committee on Business Cycles—Comment Anent Gold Reserves.

The inquiry begun more than a year ago by a committee named by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, incident to President Harding's National Conference on Unemployment in 1921, to devise means to check business depressions, resulted in the presentation of a report last month which, according to Secretary Hoover, "does not suggest panaceas or economic revolution, but seeks to drive home the facts that the enlargement of judgment in individual business men as to the trend of businses, and consequent widened vision as to approaching dangers, will greatly contribute to stability, and that the necessary information upon which such judgments can be based must be systematically recruited and distributed." The report and its recommendations were made public April 1. In submitting its recommendations the committee said:

In conclusion, the committee would reiterate its conviction that unless business men, bankers and others who are responsible for policies and practices in industry begin without delay to study and to act in order to meet the problems of unemployment and business cycles, solutions which may prove to be fundamentally unsound will be attempted without the benefit of practical experience. No problem before the business world to-day offers a more inspiring challenge to sound industrial leadership.

The committee, more familiarly known as the Committee on Business Cycle, was composed of Chairman, Owen D. Young of the General Electric Co.; Joseph H. Defrees, former President of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Mary Van Kleeck of the Russell Sage Foundation; Matthew Woll, Vice-President of the American Federation of Labor; Clarence M. Woolley, President of the American Radiator Co., and Secretary, Edward Eyre Hunt, Secretary of the Conference on Unemployment. In addition to Secretary Hoover's remarks above, relative to the report, Mr. Hoover also stated:

Broadly, the business cycle is a constant recurrence of irregularly separated booms and slumps. The general conclusion of the committee is that, as the slumps are in the main due to the wastes, extravagance, speculation, inflation, over-expansion and inefficiency in production developed during the booms, the strategic point of attack, therefore, is the reduction of these evils, mainly through the provision for such current economic information as will show the signs of danger and its more general understanding and use by producers, distributers and banks, inducing more constructive and safer policies.

Furthermore, the committee has developed some constructive suggestions as to the deferment of public work and construction work of large public-service corporations to periods of depression and unemployment, which, while in the nature of relief from evils already created would tend both by their subtraction from production at the peak of the boom and addition of production in the valley of depression, toward more even progress of business itself . . .

The whole problem belongs to a vast category of issues which we must as a nation confront in the elimination of waste if we are to maintain and increase our high standards of living. No waste is greater than unemployment, no suffering is keener or more fraught with despair than that due to inability to get jobs by those who wish to work.

The Committee in its report says:

From the illustrations of business experience which we have reviewed it is evident that knowledge of one's own business should be strengthened by knowledge of the conditions in the industry of which it is a part, and by information about current and future trends in general business conditions. The business man is placed thereby in a strong position to exercise judgment based on facts rather than on guesses, speculations or approximations.

First, he must have available for his use current facts about general business conditions throughout the country and knowledge of the probable future trend of general business conditions.

Second, he must have the basic facts about his industry. Because his particular business is influenced by conditions affecting his entire industry, he must be in a position, with others in his industry, to study its peculiar industrial problems.

Third, he must secure enough facts about his own business to give him not merely statistics but a proper basis for judgment as to his general policies.

Fourth, he must inform himself in regard to the general credit situation and especially the attitude of his own bank toward extensions of loans.

As to its suggested remedies for controlling the extreme fluctuations of the business cycle the Committee says:

The suggested remedies that have been included in the analysis made by the Committee relate both to the direct prevention of expansion or inflation and to the prevention of unemployment. In the order of their discussion these proposed remedies are:

Control of credit expansion by banks generally.

Possible control of inflation by the Federal Reserve System.

Control by individual business men of the expansion of their own industries.

Control of public and private construction, including construction by public utilities, at or near the peak of the business cycle.

Construction of public works in the depression.

Unemployment reserve funds.

Federal and State employment bureaus.

The following account of the report is taken from the "Commercial":

For "Enlightened Conduct."

The committee considers that before banks, business men and others can take constructive action in the enlightened conduct of business in this relation, there must be recruited and constantly disseminated the foundamental information on which the trends in business can be properly adjudged by each individual business man, and it strongly recommends the recruiting of enlarged and more systematic statistical information by the Department of Commerce and its wider dissemination.

Attention is called to the fact that the ebb and flow in demand for consumable goods is less controllable than that of construction of buildings and equipment, both Governmental and private; that the tendencies of boom periods are to thrust a double burden on the community of providing for increased consumable goods and at the same time undertaking the larger burdens of construction; that, therefore, the construction industries are to some extent the balance-wheel on the ebb and flow of boom and depression.

The committee points out the part the Federal Reserve banks can play in restriction of speculation and at the same time in liberalizing credit in times of depression.

A questionnaire is proposed to business men, bankers, managers of public utilities, wage-earners and public organizations with a view to stimulating organized consideration and inquiry.

The committee states that there is great need also for recording data as to the speed of freight movements so as to show whether the output of farms and factories is being promptly distributed to the consumer.

In collecting figures on stocks and production a list of commodities has been suggested to the committee by experts as most significant in showing the trend of the business cycle. The list follows:

Raw wool and woolen textiles; raw cotton and textiles; hides and leather and shoes; iron and steel and leading fabricated products, such as structural steel and standard tools; zinc, lead, and copper and leading products of each; bituminous coal.

Economic Research.

In connection with its recommendation for research work the committee said:

Industries generally recognize the need of research in physical science. Laboratories have been equipped with large staffs of trained workers. A similar recognition of the importance of economic research and the interpretation of economic facts would be the beginning of better control of business conditions by business men.

The Committee's recommendations as to control of credit expansion by banks, and possible control of inflation by the Federal Reserve System are set out as follows in the report:

Recommendation IV.—Control of Credit Expansion by Banks.

The individual banker, like the individual business man, may properly be asked to assume some measure of responsibility. If only in his own interest, his policies should be determined by the general business situation as well as by the apparent soundness of the particular transactions his customers ask him to finance. The solvency of his customers is inextricably bound up with that of other business firms. The soundness of their transactions often depends upon whether or not the expansion of business is outrunning the purchasing power of consumers. To guide his policies the banker, like the business man, needs access to a large fund of knowledge about the general trend of business activities, and because he is a specialist in finance the banker has a peculiar obligation to give sound advice to his customers. One suggestion is that when prices are rising and business is expanding, bankers should ask borrowers to maintain an increasing ratio of quick assets to current liabilities.

Before the establishment of the Federal Reserve System the banks often expanded their loans until their reserves were reduced to a dangerous point. Forced then to curtail credit drastically, their action had made more severe the reaction following a period of prosperity. It is generally recognized that in 1920 the resources of the Federal Reserve System enabled the banks to carry their customers through a difficult period and thus very likely prevented a panic. Much would have been gained if more of the banks had warned their customers of the impending financial stress.

The individual banks can render another service in the depression. Both the Reserve System and the banks protected customers to an extraordinary extent during the period of falling prices. But borrowing by individual banks from the Federal Reserve banks during the last depression was new to the banks of this country, and many such banks had an uncomfortable feeling of inefficiency and weakness until their loans at the Reserve banks were reduced to small amounts or were entirely eliminated. In many specific instances this undoubtedly resulted in their bringing pressure on customers to liquidate loans as early in the period of recovery as such liquidation was possible. And while in some ways liquidation was helpful, undoubtedly it sometimes resulted in complete or practically complete liquidation of businesses which with a little more time could have regained their feet. Fortunately a reasonably liberal policy in the depression stage of the last cycle was the general practice on the part of banks and of the Reserve System.

Recommendation V. Possible Control of Inflation by the Federal Reserve System.

A close parallel is usually observable between the cycle of business and the cycle of credit. While the relationship between the volume of credit and the volume of business and the movement of prices is not always simple to interpret it appears to be sufficiently close to make it a matter of first importance that the volume and the flow of credit should at all times be tested by the contribution which additions to the volume of credit make to the total of economic production. Additions to credits which cannot be economically validated by a commensurate effect in actual production are speculative, and as such should be subjected to control, so that business and industry can be maintained in a healthy state. Such control is primarily the responsibility of the banker, and secondarily of our agencies of banking supervision.

Credit conditions are of major importance in the upward movement of the cycle and in precipitating the decline, so that the first and most important method of controlling the cycle and preventing excessive expansion should be found in the fundamentals of our banking situation. Control of expansion so that production is allowed to increase and business is actively stimulated to a proper degree, while expansion is checked at the stage when it becomes dangerous, is a fundamental principle already accepted by bankers.

The only automatic check upon the expansion of bank loans in a period of prosperity is the requirement of law that the banks shall always maintain a certain specified minimum legal reserve against their current liabilities. But there should be an additional limitation due to the banker's own realization of his responsibility to the community in the issuance of additional credits. This is particularly important because under the Federal Reserve System the so-called automatic check upon the banker can be rendered ineffective through the replenishment of his reserve by borrowing from Federal Reserve banks.

With the Federal Reserve as the chief agency for the supply of credit beyond the ordinary supply of the banks of the community, the problem requires wise and sagacious administration on the part of the Federal Reserve System, so that this most important function of the Federal Reserve System can be effectively performed. From the point of view of the economic welfare of the country, the Federal Reserve authorities should be given every encouragement and support in the administration of the credit facilities of the System.

The Federal Reserve banks now hold, as a result of the World War, a much larger amount of gold than would suffice to support all of the credit which American industry and agriculture can possibly need on anything like present price levels. Much of this gold we are holding only temporarily—virtually as trustees for the world. With the return of more prosperous conditions in Europe a considerable part of this gold will naturally leave us.

Meanwhile this excess gold might become the basis of a disastrous inflation of our domestic credit, which would be followed by an even more disastrous collapse when the gold goes out. It has been suggested that the Federal Reserve System should, if possible, set aside or earmark as a special reserve against future foreign demands that portion of their gold holdings which is considered by them now in excess of the proportion of the world's gold which this country should normally be expected to hold.

Although it is important that credit should be available at the time of a crisis, it is also important for the general public to realize that the expansion of credit in times of "prosperity" should be guarded by the voluntary action of business men, cautioned and advised by bankers, to the end that "prosperity" may be preserved and not destroyed by inflation, which in due course must precipitate depression and deflation with their inevitable consequences of social and economic distress.

Our banking system represents a common pool of both investment and commercial capital, and for that reason the devices of Europeah systems for the control of speculation are not applicable here to the same extent as they are abroad. A finer distinction between the two broad groups is desirable but is largely impracticable in the United States. The subject, however, warrants research and study. In any event the determination of the time when business passes from the area of economically legitimate hazard to the area of economically illegitimate hazard, or when the proper use of capital for the expansion of production passes into the improper use for the pyramiding of prices requires a large development of economic statistical information and agencies for its interpretation.

In a Government such as ours the most difficult question to solve from the very beginning has been how to centralize in individuals sufficient power to enable the Government machinery to function wisely and promptly and at the same time to impose such restraints and balances as to guard against autocratic or arbitrary exercise of such power. This is the problem which faces us in the development of the Federal Reserve System to its maximum usefulness, and it is a problem worthy of most careful and thorough study by bankers and associations of bankers.

In its recommendation for control by business men of the expansion of their own industries, the Committee said:

Planning production in advance and with a reference to the business cycle, laying out extensions of plant and equipment ahead of immediate requirements, with the object of carrying them out in periods of depression and carrying through such construction plans during periods of low prices, in conformity with the long-time trend, the accumulation of financial reserves in prosperity in order to mark down inventories at the peak, and the maintenance of a long view of business problems rather than a short view, will enable firms to make headway toward stabilization.

In its recommendation for the control of private and public construction at the peak, the Committee said:

The essential steps in any general program are to plan construction work, private or public, long in advance with reference to the cyclical movement of business and in the case of public works to pass necessary legislative appropriations when facts about the trend of business show that it is sound policy to spend money for such purposes.

The Committee calls attention to the need for careful drafting of laws to insure a policy of reserving public works projects, if this is to be done effectively. The need for fixing the responsibility for the preparation of such plans in advance, the importance of securing the release of the projects at the right time by legislation, and the provisions for financing should be considered with special relation to the obstacles, legal and others, which the particular public authority would have to overcome. While the difficulties are great, everything which can be accomplished in this way is valuable.

As to the Committee's recommendations respecting unemployment reserve funds we quote the following from the report:

To provide reserve funds or savings during periods of prosperity from which the worker may draw during periods of compulsory unemployment is one of the important methods advocated as tending toward relieving the fluctuations of business. Such plans of co-operative provision for relief against unemployment are not primarily designed to decrease the amount of unemployment but to alleviate its evil effects.

The idea of employer, employee, or both, contributing during periods of employment to a reserve fund under separate or joint control to help sustain the worker when unemployed in periods of depression and to equalize and stabilize his purchasing capacity merits consideration. It attacks one of the most vital of our industrial problems. The establishment of funds by the employer or by associated workers to take care of foreseen or unforeseen contingencies has proved advantageous in the past. Neither reserves against decline of inventory value set up by manufacturers nor unemployment benefits of trade unions are new things to American industrial life. The principle may well be extended.

The investigation was undertaken with the assistance of appropriations toward its cost from the Carnegie Foundation and with services contributed to the Committee by the National Bureau of Economic Research, the Russell Sage Foundation, the Federated American Engineering Societies, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the American Federation of Labor, the American Statistical Association, the American Economic Association, the Bureau of Railway Economics and the Department of Commerce, and a number of others. It is also stated that the vast compilation of fact and opinion on which the Committee based its conclusions was effected under the direction of the National Bureau of Economic Research, whose Director, Wesley C. Mitchell, is known as an authority on the business cycle.

Subscriptions to United States Treasury Notes.

Subscriptions of $1,234,570,400 to the 4¾% United States Treasury Notes, Series B-1927, offered on May 6, were announced by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon on May 23. The offering was referred to by us in these columns May 12 (page 2075), and as indicated by us last week (page 2200), the subscription books were closed May 12, except that in the case of exchanges for Victory Notes opportunity was left open until the close of business May 16. Of the aggregate subscriptions of $1,234,570,400, $947,900,500 were cash subscriptions and $286,669,900 were exchanges of 4¾% Victory notes. The amount of the offering was $400,000,000, or thereabouts, with the right reserved to the Secretary of the Treasury to allot additional notes to the extent that ¾% Victory Notes were tendered in payment. Allotments on cash subscriptions amounted to $382,052,900, and allotments on exchange subscriptions to $286,669,900, making the total allotments for the issue $668,722,800. Exchange subscriptions were allotted in full in the order of receipt of applications. Secretary Mellon's announcement of May 24 continues:

In making allotments on cash subscriptions preference was given to small subscriptions. Subscriptions for amounts not exceeding $100,000 for any one subscriber were allotted in full in the order of receipt of applications up to one-half of the amount of the offering, and after that were allotted 50%, with full allotments on all subscriptions up to $10,000. Subscriptions over $100,000 were allotted 10%, but not less than $50,000 on any one subscription. The allotments on cash subscriptions in amounts not exceeding $100,000 for any one subscriber aggregated $329,314,200, while the total allotted on cash subscriptions in larger amounts was only $52,738,700.

The subscriptions and allotments were divided among the several Federal Reserve Districts as follows:

Stanley Baldwin Succeeds Bonar Law as Britain's Prime Minister.

For the second time within a twelve-month a new Prime Minister has come into power in Great Britain. Following the resignation of Andrew Bonar Law, due to failing health, Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was offered the post of Premier by the King on May 22 and he accepted. The official list of the new Cabinet of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, issued on May 25, shows that Lord Robert Cecil has been appointed Lord Privy Seal, and that J. H. C. Davidson, who was Secretary to ex-Premier Bonar Law, becomes Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. Mr. Baldwin combines the Premiership and the Chancellorship of the Exchequer. The other members of the Cabinet are practically the same as in the Bonar Law Ministry. The list shows that Prime Minister Baldwin failed to persuade Sir Robert Horne or Austen Chamberlain of the Lloyd George Cabinet to join his Ministry.

Stanley Baldwin, the new British Prime Minister, played a comparatively minor part in British politics until the advent of the Bonar Law regime following the resignation of Premier Lloyd George and the break-up of the coalition which guided British destinies during the war. Under Mr. Lloyd George he was Financial Secretary to the Treasury and later President of the Board of Trade, and it was in recognition of his abilities in the field of finance that he was named to the important position of Chancellor of the Exchequer by Bonar Law. In the United States his most well-known achievement as Chancellor was the negotiation of the war debt settlement with the United States, in the course of which he visited Washington at the head of the British Debt Mission.

Russian Reply to British "Ultimatum."

Following conferences last week in London between Leonid Krassin and Lord Curzon, at the suggestion of the Soviet Russian Government, a note was received by the British Government on May 23 indicating a willingness upon the part of Russia to make new concessions to comply with the recent British note, which was characterized, it may be recalled, as an ultimatum. The date originally set within which the Russian Government could make a full reply to the British note was May 18, but this time was extended by the British Government. The note indicated that the consequences to general peace which might arise from a break between England and Russia were causing the Russian Government serious apprehension. "Not wishing to give anybody grounds for placing, even in the smallest degree, any responsibility for the possibility of such results," the note continued, "even indirectly upon the Soviet Government, the latter is willing to make new concessions." The Russian reply then goes on to describe the character of the concessions it would make, complying with practically all the demands set forth in the recent British note. The full text of the Russian reply, as published in the New York "Times" copyrighted cablegrams from London, follows:

My Lord —I am instructed by my Government to hand you the following communication:

"The Russian Government notes with satisfaction the fact that the British people have clearly revealed their will for the maintenance of peace and the prevention of a break with Russia. Thus the very fact of the extension of the time limit of the ultimatum gives ground for hope that there is possibility of reaching an agreement and of avoiding the consequences of the break which would follow from the English memorandum.

"The consequences to general peace which might arise from a break between England and Russia are causing the Russian Government serious apprehensions. In that event great danger would threaten the preservation of peace, and humanity would as a result be threatened with countless calamities. Serious damage would be done also to the equilibrium of political relations, which are already being disturbed by a number of events, and a basis would be created for the aggressive aims of militarist elements in most countries, even independently of the will of the British Government.

"Not wishing to give anybody grounds for placing, even in the smallest degree, any responsibility for the possibility of such results, even indirectly, upon the Soviet Government, the latter is willing to make new concessions.

"In view of this, the Russian Government is ready in the question of fishing in northern waters to conclude a convention with the British Government granting to English citizens the right of fishing outside the three-mile limit pending the settling of this question in the shortest possible time at an international conference, and to pay compensation for cases in point.

"The Russian Government is ready to pay compensation for the execution of Davidson and for the arrest of the journalist, Mrs. Stan Harding, with the reservation, however, that this willingness in no way signifies that the Russian Government recognizes that there was any irregularity in the repressive measures it took against these spies, because their crimes have been proved definitely and by due legal process, and repressive measures against them were taken before the conclusion of the Anglo-Russian trade agreement, in view of which their claims can in no way be regarded as a condition for maintaining the agreement.

"The Russian Government is ready to take back the two letters signed by Weinstein.

"As to the claims of the British Government on the question of the observation of the conditions of the Anglo-Russian trade agreement in the East, the Russian Government again repels the charge of having infringed the agreement and does not see, as far as this question is concerned, any other possibility of settling the conflict and preventing future recriminations and of co-ordinating the differing points of view and the aims of England and Russia except by detailed discussion of them by specially delegated representatives of both Governments.

"The Russian Government is quite ready to reiterate the undertakings given in the Anglo-Russian trade agreement of March 16 1921, or to confirm them again in a special declaration, provided that a similar declaration is also made by Great Britain.

It is self-evident that if and when the British Government makes to the Russian Government friendly representations as to what it regards as infringements of the trade agreement by any agents or officials of the Russian Government the cases will be carefully investigated and the necessary measures will be taken. This is, of course, on a basis of reciprocity.

"Should the British Government really desire to consider the points at issue between the two Governments, the Russian Government is agreeable to delegate at once Peoples Commissary for Foreign Affairs Tchitcherin to meet the representatives of the British Government."

I take this opportunity of renewing to your Lordship the assurances of my highest consideration.

LEONID KRASSIN.

Sugar Trade Appeals to President Harding for Protection of "Good Name."

An appeal to President Harding "for the protection of our good name" was addressed this week to the head of the Government by representatives of the sugar trades, who state therein "that we know of no conspiracy or organized effort to advance prices and therefore strongly resent these unsubstantiated charges." The letter was drawn up at a meeting in New York City on May 22, attended, it is understood, by sugar brokers, refiners and producers. The letter contends that "the sugar market being governed by the law of supply and demand, prices have risen naturally" and further that "sugar prices throughout the world are on about the same relative level." While expressing the belief "that the present agitation has not unduly interfered with household consumption," the letter says that "it has, however, frightened thousands of retail and wholesale distributors of sugar into reducing their stocks." Anything done to interfere with the normal movement and marketing of sugar," says the appeal, "is against the best interests of the country" and it is suggested that the Department of Commerce issue a statement "bringing the sugar facts of supply and requirements up to date, so that they may officially give the public the benefit of their information." The letter, which was given out at the offices of Lamborn & Co., Inc., follows.

New York, N. Y., May 22 1923.

Honorable Warren G. Harding, President of the United States of America, Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President The sugar trade, an industry in which there are hundreds of thousands engaged, has reason to feel deep indignation because it has been held up to the country by representatives of the Government, and by others, as using unfair methods, working against the best interests of the general public.

We truthfully and emphatically state that we know of no conspiracy or organized effort to advance prices, and, therefore, strongly resent these unsubstantiated charges.

As citizens we appeal to you for the protection of our good name, in confident anticipation that the spirit of justice to industry which has guided this nation since its birth will prevail.

We respectfully invite your attention to the following facts and figures:

1. The sugar supply available from Porto Rico, Hawaii, Louisiana and Philippine Islands for the current year is substantially the same in total as last year. However, the Cuban crop, which is our principal source of supply, is short about 300,000 tons from last year, and on the 1st of January 1923 there was a decrease in stocks in Cuba, compared with Jan. 1 1922, of about 1,200,000 tons; the beet sugar crop of the United States was short about 300,000 tons, making the supplies in countries from which we normally draw our sugar supply 1,800,000 tons less than last year. Against this decrease, the increase in European production has been about 500,000 tons. While the signers of this article may not all reach the identical conclusion from the same statistics, due to the fact that consumption must always be estimated, even if production be known, we all believe the above figures to be substantially correct.

2. The sugar market, being governed by the law of supply and demand, prices have risen naturally.

3. That there has been no undue withholding of supplies by Cuba is shown by the fact that Cuba has to date this year shipped 60% of her available supplies, compared to 55% at the same time last year.

4. The stocks of raw sugar now held by importers in New York are only 17,000 tons, against 31,000 tons held by importing interests other than refiners last year.

5. Sugar prices throughout the world are on about the same relative level.

6. Our principal source of supply is Cuba. United Kingdom, Canada and the continent of Europe are constantly competing with the United States for Cuban sugars.

7. With reduced supplies throughout the world, curtailment of consumption along reasonable lines is obviously necessary. We believe that the recent agitation has not unduly interfered with household consumption. It has, however, frightened thousands of retail and wholesale distributors of sugar into reducing their stocks. It is our belief that anything done to interfere with the normal movement and marketing of sugar is against the best interests of the country. This is particularly true at this time, when we are approaching the period of heaviest sugar consumption and the time when the fruit crops of the country must be preserved in order to avoid various economic loss.

8. We think it significant and worthy of note that the Chancellor of the British Exchequer within the recent past publicly recognized the statistical position of sugar as accounting for higher values.

The Department of Commerce was one of the first to publicly recognize the acute sugar situation, and issued a statement in early February 1923 showing respective supplies and requirements. The fact should not be overlooked that sugar is an agricultural product and that its growth is subject to all of the vicissitudes of climate, soil, weather, labor, &c., and that since the last report by the Department of Commerce, because of a drought in Cuba, the production of sugar has been further decreased. We respectfully suggest that the Department of Commerce now issue a further statement bringing the sugar facts of supply and requirements up to date, so that they may officially give the public the benefit of their information.

Most respectfully,

Cordell Hull on Results Incident to Lifting of Sugar Tariffs in Canada—Urges President Harding to Lower Duties.

Cordell Hull, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who in March urged that "the most immediate and potential single remedy for the sugar situation would be found in the issuance by the President of a proclamation reducing the existing sugar duties 50%," this week argued anew his proposal for a reduction of sugar tariffs. Mr. Hull, who, it is stated, visited President Harding on May 19 and pointed out the results witnessed with the lifting of the tariff on raw sugar in Canada, is quoted as saying on that date:

The recent action of Canada in reducing the tariff of raw sugar 40 cents on 100 pounds and on refined sugar 50 cents on 100 pounds, immediately resulted in a reduction in like amount of the price of refined sugar to Canadian consumers, as reported in the press. Here is positive proof that a reduction of sugar tariffs results immediately and directly in a corresponding reduction in sugar prices to consumers.

In view of these patent trade and economic facts, I again call upon President Harding to issue his proclamation in accordance with the terms of his telegram to the Tariff Commission in March, cutting the sugar tariff rates 50%. Such action would at once reduce the price of sugar to American consumers from one to two cents a pound, and would at the same time destroy the basis on which wild sugar speculation has been built up.

With the world tariff rates of 2½ cents a pound in effect reduced 50% by Presidential proclamation, Java, the British East Indies and other large producing sugar countries would find themselves able to ship and sell to America at least until the price of sugar is brought down to a reasonable profit level.

Instead of making the simple experiment of reducing the duty on sugar, the Harding Administration is still indulging in the most desperate expedients to divert attention away from the sugar tariff outrage, which is costing the American people around $400,000,000 a year in excessive and extortionate prices.

Now that Canada has proved that a reduction of the duty on sugar will bring a corresponding reduction in the retail price, will President Harding profit by that actual demonstration and do as much for the American consumers of sugar as the Canadian Government has done for the Canadian consumers?

Mr. Hull's previous statement was given in our issue of March 31, page 1371, and on April 21, page 1720, we referred to the report of the U. S. Tariff Commission, in which it was stated that advanced sugar prices since January have been "due to causes not connected with the American tariff."

Harry H. Rogers at Texas Bankers' Convention, on Possibilities of Development of Texas as Greatest Cotton Manufacturing State.

Referring to the development of the cotton mill industry in Texas, H. H. Rogers, of San Antonio, in an address before the Texas Bankers' Association at Dallas on May 16, urged a study of the situation by the financial interests, and stated that if the intelligence of Texans can be centred upon this problem for a reasonable time, the State can become the greatest cotton manufacturing State in the Union. His remarks are reported as follows in the Dallas "News":

"The United States grows approximately 60% of the world's cotton and consumes 30% of the world's cotton," Mr. Rogers said.

"In 1919 there were 153,505,000 spindles; of these 59,000,000 were in Great Britain and 34,000,000 in the United States. The 59,000,000 in Great Britain consumed only about one-half as much of the cotton as our 34,000,000. In 1919, of the 34,000,000 spindles in the United States, 14,600,000 were in the South. This was increased in 1920 to 15,031,161, in 1921 to 15,476,672 and in 1922 to 15,915,104 complete, and with those building amounted to 16,232,624.

"In 1919 there were 672,754 looms, of which 44% were in the South. More than 60% of the increase in spindles and looms since 1880 has been in the South.

"The advantages of cotton milling in the South may be enumerated as follows: Proximity to the source of raw material, thereby saving freight and tare; lower tax rates and valuations; abundance of cheap labor and longer working hours; cheaper and better housing and working conditions; cheaper living expenses. The disadvantages may be enumerated as follows: Added freight on certain classes of finished goods, especially those shipped to the extreme East.

"There is no concentration enabling the exchange of labor and bringing a large number of purchasers of the manufactured products. Lack of proper financial support. All of the mills in Texas, with one exception, have been financed locally, and as bankers, as a rule, are not being familiar with the manufacturing business, especially of this character, they are either unable or unwilling to give proper financial encouragement. In many places in the South the mills are unable to do finishing work on account of unsuitable water. This does not apply to all, nor, in fact, do I believe it applies to many localities in Texas.

South Logical Location.

"The best thought of the country has been given to the cotton milling business, and the consensus of opinion is that the logical location for cotton mills is in the South, at least the advantages seem to be with her now, and we see no reason why the situation should change in the years to come. If mills are to be located in the South, why not in Texas? This State offers equal advantages to any other Southern State, and mills have been in operation a sufficient length of time to convince any reasonable man that they can be operated successfully when supported financially, as other businesses are and managed by competent leaders.

"The cotton mill industry began in Texas in 1900 and has had a slow but steady growth until to-day there is a capitalization of over $6,000,000, representing an investment of $10,000,000. The industry this year will consume in excess of $12,000,000 worth of cotton to produce cloth worth $20,000,000. It gives employment to over 4,000 people, with $45,000 weekly pay-roll.

"If the financial interests of Texas will make the proper study of the situation and lend the proper encouragement, there is no question but that the next few years will see the number of mills increased, the present mills enlarged, and this will in turn benefit every other industry in the State, and especially benefit the cotton industry as a whole.

"If the intelligence of her people be centred upon this problem for a reasonable time Texas can become the greatest cotton-manufacturing State in the Union. We certainly can not afford to produce one-third of the cotton crop of the United States and manufacture less than 3%.

Conflicting Estimates of World Carry-Over of Cotton—Doctor Meadows' Statement.

Conflicting estimates of the world carry-over of cotton, which apparently emanated from two departments of the Federal Government, have not only been a more or less disturbing feature but have been the subject of criticism. The two branches of the Government from which these differing forecasts are said to have come, are the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Commerce. While Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover has taken occasion to declare in a letter to the "Journal of Commerce" "that his Department has sanctioned no committee on cotton," "has made no statement which contains any reference to probable carry-over of cotton on Jul 1 and has made no 'forecast or conjecture on cotton,'" that paper had the following to say editorially in its issue of May 24:

The "Journal of Commerce" published yesterday morning a dispatch from Hon. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, relative to the conflicting figures regarding cotton carry-over that have been in circulation for some time past. Mr. Hoover emphatically states that he has never named any committee to forecast the probable carry-over of cotton and that the Department of Commerc has never issued any such forecast or made any conjecture as to cotton. As to this we have not the slightest question, and are happy to afford the fullest and most complete publicity that we can supply with reference to Mr. Hoover's position. We venture, furthermore, to express the opinion that there is in the public service to-day no one who is disposed to work more faithfully with his eye single to the public interest than Mr. Hoover. We wish him and his management of the Department of Commerce the utmost success, and would do nothing to put him or it in an erroneous light.

As to the facts in the case regarding the cotton figures we understand them to be as follows:

1. Varying figures by the Department of Commerce and the Department of Agriculture, one set of which shows the assumed actual carryover of cotton at 6,000,000 bales, and the other at 6,800,000 bales, respectively, are challenged by a Department of Agriculture expert as containing large elements of conjecture or estimate due to the lack of reliable statistics as to foreign stocks. The 6,000,000-bale estimate when reduced to a common state with the other figure, becomes 4,500,000 to 4,800,000, a discrepancy of fully 2,000,000 bales.

2. The 6,800,000-bale figure was prepared by a committee of statisticians, economists and others for the Department of Agriculture and has been circulated, whether with or without official authority, as if sanctioned by the Department of Commerce. The committee which prepared the estimate included in its number two representatives of the Department of Commerce, F. M. Surface and E. G. Monrgomery, who at all events shared in the work, whether they "sanctioned" it or not.

3. There thus seems to be a conflict of evidence or opinion as between the two Departments, while members of both have officially joined in making predictions. As to just where the ultimate responsibility for the various forecasts or reports is located, few are much concerned. Injustice may have been done by correspondents in attributing responsibility for estimates to the Department of Commerce or in suggesting that given steps were taken with its sanction. The statement by a representative of one Department that such estimates were prepared, or that there are errors in the figures which must be allowed for by the other and by the public at large, however, affords basis for doubt and tends to throw the market into confusion.

Now, this is not a matter for the display of heat or passion. The Government is clearly responsible for the publication of erroneous and unwarranted cotton estimates, forecasts and reports. It has been so responsible for years past. Beginning twenty years ago with the notorious cotton scandals in the Department of Agriculture and continuing through the early history of the Census office as a permanent bureau of the Department of Commerce, where the incorrectness of the ginning figures fairly startled the country, the Government has been periodically and steadily publishing false figures. Two years ago there was an enormous error (so admitted by the Department of Agriculture itself) in acreage and in estimated yield. This year there comes the surprising discrepancy to which reference is now made. All this antedates Mr. Hoover himself by many years.

But it is a public question. As such it deserves discussion with a view to correction. The "Journal of Commerce" has steadily maintained the position that the forecasting of yields, production, stocks and other economic matters were quite outside of Government responsibility and that such action was an injury to the community and not a help. It adheres to that position to-day. In the work of the Department of Agriculture, for instance, the definite forecasting of crop yields is absolutely unjustifiable. The department perhaps is warranted in doing its utmost to get percentage figures as to the condition of the crop, obtaining them from as many sources as possible and publishing them for what they are worth, leaving the public then to draw its own conclusions.

Moreover, in so doing the utmost care should be taken to avoid the slightest suggestion of official forecast or responsibility for the conclusions or inferences which may be drawn by the public. As for the issuance of sheer forecasts or conjectures based on opinion and without any explanation of the basis upon which they are made, action of the sort is wholly unjustifiable. It cannot be defended by any use of logic and no one ought to attempt it. The time has fully come to rectify our Government statistics, eliminate all use of conjecture and forecast and prevent the further conflict of opinion and statement between departments or bureaus on any subject.

In publishing Secretary Hoover's letter to it on May 23 the "Journal of Commerce" said:

A new contribution to the discussion of recent cotton figures was furnished yesterday by Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, who in a telegram called attention to comment recently appearing in this newspaper with reference to a reported discrepancy between carryover figures relating to stocks of cotton said to have been published by the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Commerce, respectively. The reports in question refer to the statement of Dr. W. R. Meadows of the Department of Agriculture, who discussed the prospects of the probable carryover at the recent convention of cotton manufacturers in Richmond.

Mr. Hoover's Telegram.

Mr. Hoover's telegram was as follows:

Washington, D. C., May 22 1923.

Editor of the "Journal of Commerce"

Sir—My attention has been called to your editorial of yesterday on "Cotton Error," the entire misrepresentation of which I am totally at a loss to understand. Reference is made therein to "a committee of economists and others who lately put forth under sanction of the Department of Commerce an estimate of the probable carryover of cotton on July 1 next." This Department has sanctioned no such committee on cotton. It has made no statement which contains any reference to probable carryover of cotton on July 1 and has made no "forecast or conjecture on cotton." Therefore, your conclusion that there was an error of two million bales between the estimate of this Department and that of the Department of Agriculture as to probable carryover on July 1 is a complete fabrication, as no estimates of carryover have been made by this department and the criticism is absolutely unwarranted. I must protest against the continued misrepresentation of this Department in an editorial way, attributing to us actions and statement which have never taken place or been made, and I will be obliged if you will have the kindness to give this telegram its proper presentation in correction of your statement.

(Signed) HERBERT HOOVER.

Reply to Mr. Hoover.

The reply sent Mr. Hoover follows:

New York, May 22 1923.

Hon. Herbert Hoover, Secretary, Department of Commerce, Washington D. C.:

Sir—Your wire this date. Editorial in question based on dispatches from Richmond and Washington appearing in this and other newspapers, and reporting speech of Dr. W. R. Meadows. Dispatches represented Department of Commerce as making statement as to carryover of cotton and Department of Agriculture as making forecast of probable carryover, circulating same under sanction of Department of Commerce. Reported names of economists and others who prepared estimate for Department of Agriculture include representative Department of Commerce. This appeared to indicate participation of your department in the statistical work. Glad to publish your telegram prominently and any other statement you may choose to make. No intention here misrepresenting or misjudging either department of yourself in any way.

(Signed) EDITOR "JOURNAL OF COMMERCE."

As to the statement attributed to Dr. Meadows, of the Department of Agriculture, we take the following special Washington advices to the "Journal of Commerce" May 18:

Differences in the figures showing the foreign stocks of cotton account for the 2,300,000 bale discrepancy in the estimated carryover of cotton as sponsored by the Department of Commerce and as circulated by the Department of Agriculture.

Dr. W. R. Meadows, of the Department of Agriculture, who told the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association Convention at Richmond that he believed that there was a two-million-bale error in the estimated carryover as put out with the sanction of the Department of Agriculture on April 20, explained that the disparity in the estima es was due to the use of different totals showing the foreign holdings of cotton. He said that he was familiar with the statistics used by the Department of Commerce in estimating that the world carryover as of April 1 was approximately 4,500,000 bales, but said he did not know upon what figures the economists, bankers and business men invited to interpret the available crop figures in view of the world outlook for agriculture had used in arriving at the prediction of a 6,800,000 bale carryover as of July 31.

The error in the estimate, according to Dr. Meadows, was due to the inaccuracy of the figures that the group accepted as to the stocks abroad, because the figures as to the domestic situation were substantially the same.

Even in the estimates of the Department of Commerce, Dr. Meadows said, there is a possibility of error, as about 2,000,000 bales of the estimated 4,500,000-bale carryover on April 1 represented stocks in foreign countries which had not yet reached the market. The Department of Commerce, he explained, could not estimate with the same accuracy that it figured American stocks, because the same reporting machinery was not set up in India, China, Peru and Mexico.

There is no satisfactory way of determining the interior consumption of cotton in China, India, Mexico and Peru, he added, although it is known that it is rather heavy. For instance, he pointed out that an allowance of 375,000 bales was made for India.

"It cannot be known whether or not perhaps as much as two million of the 4,500,000 bales will ever reach the market," he said. "While I do believe that the Department of Commerce estimate will be found to be accurate, there is this element of uncertainty, which frankly ought to be admitted."

When he was asked upon which figures those who framed the Department of Agriculture's estimate of carryover relied, Dr. Meadows said that he did not participate in the matter in any way and, of course, could not say.

Basis of Estimates.

Officials of the Department of Agriculture have explained in the past that while the statement issued on April 20, showing that it was the intention of cotton growers to plant a 12% larger acreage in 1923 than they had in 1922, the interpretation of the cotton situation, in view of the world and domestic market conditions, was made by a group of economists, business men and bankers who were invited to come to Washington for this purpose.

In this sense it was not an official publication. In the statement issued on Saturday April 21 this committee stated that a carryover of 6,800,000 was indicated at the end of the present cotton season, on July 31.

Thus far it has not been revealed how the group of economists estimated the foreign stocks of cotton. It was stated at the Department of Agriculture, however, shortly after the report was put out that the officials of the Department had laid before this committee all the data that it had and had asked the members to use their best jusgment as to how they should be interpreted, in view of world conditions.

The committee appointed by Secretary Wallace was composed of George E. Roberts, National City Bank; Carl Snyder, Federal Reserve Bank, New York City; Wesley C. Mitchell, National Bureau of Economic Research, New York City; B. M. Anderson Jr., Chase National Bank, New York City; E. N. Wentworth, research department, Armour & Co., Chicago; B. W. Snow, Bartlett-Frazier Co., Chicago; C. Reed, George H. McFadden & Bro., Philadelphia; Warren M. Person, Harvard University; George F. Warren and F. A. Pearson, Cornell University; Thomas S. Adams, Yale; H. A. Wallace, Secretary Corn Belt Meat Producers' Association, Des Moines; H. W. Moorehouse, American Farm Bureau Federation; H. C. Moulton, Institute of Economics; Walter W. Stewart, Federal Reserve Board, Washington; Frank M. Surface and E. G. Montgomery, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce; William T. Foster, Pollack Foundation for Economic Research.

Purpose of Committee.

The Department said the committee had been appointed to consider the agricultural outlook and to prepare a statement which would provide a basis upon which a readjustment might be made by the farmers to meet the situation in time to prevent reverses.

The committee in arriving at an estimated carryover of 6,800,000 bales, stated that it was "largely of foreign short staple cotton."

In view of the stir that Dr. Meadows's statement created, it is believed here that some statement will be forthcoming as to the sources from which the Department of Agriculture produced the statistics that were laid before the committee.

One of the criticisms of the differing estimates—from G. D. Moulson of the Committee on Statistics of the New York Cotton Exchange—appeared as follows in the "Journal of Commerce" May 21:

Although cotton brokers were disinclined to enter into any detailed discussion regarding the admission of Dr. W. R. Meadows, of the Department of Agriculture, that there was a possible error of 2,000,000 bales in the estimate of the world carryover of cotton given out by the department as of April 1, the opinion was expressed that the repeated errors in crop reports by Government departments would tend to destroy confidence in these reports and give rise to the fear that some persons were interested in influencing markets by predictions of future conditions. One of those who consented to be quoted was G. D. Moulson of the committee on statistics of the Cotton Exchange, who said:

"Any announcement that the world's indicated carryover of cotton will be thus and so is simply ridiculous and might lead to wild speculation. I certainly would not venture to estimate the foreign carryover. On April 1 the Department of Agriculture said the amount of American cotton in the world was some 6,000,000 bales, and that the consumption of American cotton for the eight months ended April 1 was about 9,000,000 bales, which would mean approximately 13,500,000 bales for the year, allowing a consumption of 4,500,000 bales for the last four months. This would leave 1,500,000 bales for carryover.

Sources of Information.

"At the season of the year in which the report was put out, in order to estimate the carryover of American cotton in the United States on Aug. 1, it is necessary to base the prophecy on three hypotheses: first, that the Census Bureau reports on the quantity of cotton grown during the past three years are accurate; second, that exports will reach a certain problematical figure; third, that American mills will consume a certain definite quantity of cotton, which in the very nature of things is an unknown factor. The Census Bureau reported 40,000,000 spindles operating on a single-shift basis in the month of March; but no one can say what curtailment may be put into effect during the remainder of the year.

"What can be the object of dealing with future conditions in this or any other market, unless it be to disturb the trade? In the cotton market there are three general sources of information—the various departments of the Government, statistics compiled by this and other Exchanges, and data collected by individuals, or private concerns. For many years the trade has relied upon facts and figures from the Department of Agriculture and the Census Bureau; but lately the Department of Commerce has taken to issuing reports and predictions.

Might Cause Heavy Losses.

"It will be recalled that on May 1 1922 that Department issued an estimate which placed the carryover of American cotton on Aug. 1 1922 at 4,291,000 bales. In November the actual carryover was estimated as being 5,123,000 bales, a discrepancy of more than 800,000 bales. Where the totals are large, an error of this kind is not of such vital importance as it would be in a season like the present, where a few hundred thousand bales might easily make a difference of many cents per pound in the market price of raw cotton. In addition to routine reports of the Department of Agriculture, where an underestimate of 1,800,000 bales, such as occurred two years ago, the cotton trade is frequently called upon to adjust itself to these very misleading predictions and trade prognostigations by the Department of Commerce.

"As though this were not enough, we have had a report of a special committee compiled by economists and statisticians on the cotton situation and outlook. Though the Department of Agriculture, with its staff of trained experts, miscalculated the acreage planted to cotton in 1922 by several million acres, as of June 25, after planting was completed, this committee again attempts to forecast the acreage of 1923 on April 12, before one-tenth of the cotton had been planted.

"The contemplated acreage was placed by an unofficial committee at 12% increase, and the statement was made that the cotton acreage harvested in 1923 would be 36,888,000. But the Department of Agriculture stated on Sept. 1 last year that the area under cultivation was 34,485,000 acres, which, with a 12% increase, would make over 38,600,000 acres.

"Now it can readily be seen that if consumers of cotton had taken these estimates at their face value the trade might have been shaken to its foundations. Repeated errors in these reports, however, have made the trade cautious. Dependable statistics show the American visible supply to be 1,624,000 bales, as compared with 3,162,000 bales last year, and the general visible supply to be 3,327,000 bales, as against 5,256,000 bales last year, which indicates sound conditions in the market.

Estimates Premature.

"Any estimates of cotton acreage before cotton planting is finished, say about the middle of May or the first of June, are absolutely valueless and misleading, and can only be demoralizing in their effect. There is no way of telling with any degree of accuracy what the area of cotton planting is before June, and that is why the Government delays its report on acreage until July. The recent report on the intention of the farmers to plant, issued on April 12, was worse than useless.

"The New York Cotton Exchange spends thousands of dollars yearly in collecting reliable statistics. Its figures are based on the figures of Secretary Hester of the New Orleans Exchange, who estimates the invisible carryover each August, and the reports of the Census Bureau on the amount of cotton ginned, American consumption each month and stocks held by mills. [In this reference to the New Orleans Cotton Exchange Mr. Moulson has obviously been misquoted, as it is well known everywhere that the New York Cotton Exchange gathers and compiles its own statistics.—Editor.]

"With this basis it is possible for us to compile accurate figures on visible and invisible statistics of American cotton. No such machinery exists for the compilation of foreign figures, so that all we can do is to give the visible supply, such as stocks at the ports and in the various European markets.

Shows Foreign Conditions.

"As regards foreign conditions, the only reliable statistics are those of the Master Spinners' Federation of Great Britain, which cover the stocks held by European mills, visible and invisible. For the six months ended Jan. 31 1923 the Federation reported world consumption of 10,192,008 bales and world stocks of 4,460,933."

Other brokers said they would like to have some details as to just how the group of economists called in by the Department of Commerce had arrived at the estimate of the carryover and expressed the belief that the Government machinery was inadequate for such a task.

According to the Richmond "Despatch" of May 18, severe criticism of the Department of Agriculture marked the session of the American Manufacturers' Association held the previous day. The "Despatch" said:

D. M. Jones of Gastonia, No. Caro., in a report on the "Cotton Standards Act," attacked the measure and placed the blame for it upon the Department.

"I want to say that if something is not done to curb the activities of the Department of Agriculture, most of us will live to see both the cotton planter and the manufacturer go on the rocks," he exclaimed.

He declared that the reports issued by the Department relative to the cotton crop were grossly exaggerated, and that they only served to aid the speculator in bringing down the price to the detriment of the farmer and manufacturer.

"The latest report, which came out April 21, gave for this year an increase in acreage of 12%, which meant that there would be planted nearly 39,000,000 acres in cotton this year," he stated. "Last year the Department made a guess on June 25 and missed it several million acres, and at that time the planting was over, while now only 25% has been planted."

He attacked the Department on the ground that it institutes new cotton standards every year, to the detriment of all engaged in the cotton business, He stated that the "Cotton Standards Act" aimed to force foreign countries to adopt these standards. He concluded that the entire Act is "worthless in so far as it will help the cotton planter or the cotton manufacturer."

As to overtures which have been made for a recount of the cotton figures, we quote the following from the "Journal of Commerce" of the 24th:

Strong interest is being expressed by cotton planters, traders and warehousemen in the current figures of the Department of Commerce and the Department of Agriculture with regard to carryover crops. Members of Congress, it is understood, have communicated with the Department of Commerce and Department of Agriculture with a view to supplying such data for the rectification of figures as practicable. According to one well-known member who is largely interested in cotton, it is a very important matter to have the two facts known.

Some Neglected Points.

Among the important points which it is believed are being neglected in making up the figures issued by the Government are the following:

First. Amount of cotton in the world.

Second. Quantity of linters counted as cotton.

Third. Quantity of tenderable grades of cotton—and hence the quality of non-spinnable cotton, &c.

Fourth. The amount of cotton that was turned over to factors, to be settled for at a future date.

Fifth. Quantity of cotton burned, sunk, and otherwise destroyed.

Sixth. Quantity of rotten cotton that has been separated from the bales; and any other facts going to ascertain the exact quantity on hand, and whether or not these deductions have already been made during the fiscal year from time to time.

Seventh. As to the 2,000,000 bales difference in the quantity on hand.

Some Other Important Points

The President of the Cotton Warehouse Co. suggested the following sources of error which further tend to vitiate Government figures:

"A large quantity of the stock on hand has been brought over for the last two or three seasons and perhaps some of it longer. Often this cotton is kept in the country a long time before it is placed in warehouses, and when so placed it is damaged and marked 'as is.' A great deal of it no doubt will have to be picked or sorted, as we call it.

"In getting up your data I beg to call your attention also to a practice which has grown up in the South during the last few years of owners of cotton turning it over to factors, to be settled for at a future date, so many points on or off the future market, and these contracts have been renewed from time to time. I know of some that have been carried eighteen months. I wonder when this cotton is counted as sold—whether at the time it is turned over to the factors or whether at the time it is settled for? Possibly this cotton has been delivered to mills or exported and has long since been consumed.

"Furthermore, it would be interesting to know the number of bales that are tenderable on contract.

"Is there an accurate count of the stock of cotton on hand at the mills? How often is this made?

"I also notice in the press where a large part of cotton in storage has been sold but not delivered. I am sorry the information herein sought could not have been made earlier, so that our planters could have regulated their acreage. Conditions in the South are now such that cotton cannot be grown for the price quoted for the next crop."

Recount and Revision Needed.

A recount and revision of the cotton figures issued by the Department of Commerce and the Department of Agriculture is now regarded as vitally necessary in order to eliminate errors and it is stated on the authority of experts that such a revision would show a result widely different from that which has been published by any of the Government bureaus and departments. There is no disposition to question the honesty of the estimate that has been made, but it is firmly believed that inaccurate, inadequate and insufficient information has led to blunders and discrepancies which have hurt the effect of the reports and tended to damage the market situation.

United States Supreme Court in Public Utility Ruling Holds Cost of Reproduction Must Be Considered in Rate Making.

A ruling to the effect that rates for public service corporations which fail to take into consideration the cost of reproduction at prevailing prices will not be approved by the United States Supreme Court as now constituted was rendered by that Court on May 21. Justice McReynolds delivered the opinion of the court, which was handed down in the case brought by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Missouri. The court's decision to adopt a rule making reproduction costs an essential element in determining whether rates are confiscatory brought a dissenting opinion from Justice Brandeis, in which Justice Holmes joined. From the press dispatches from Washington we give the following account of the court's findings:

"It is impossible," the majority opinion said, "to ascertain what will amount to a fair return upon properties devoted to public service without giving consideration to the cost of labor, supplies, &c., at the time the investigation is made. An honest and intelligent forecast of probable future values, made upon a view of all the relevant circumstances, is essential. If the highly important element of present costs is wholly disregarded, such a forecast becomes impossible. Estimates for to-morrow cannot ignore prices of to-day."

It must not be forgotten, the court added, "that while the State may regulate with aview to enforcing reasonable rates and charges, it is not the owner of the property of public utility companies and is not clothedwith the general power of management incident to ownership."

Asserting that advocates of reproduction cost as an element of rate making would find its application harmful to the public utilities when the cost of material and wages were lower, Justice Brandeis suggested as a preferable basis the money invested in the enterprise. Urging the court to "lay down a rule which will establish such a rate basis and such a measure of the rate of return deemed fair," he criticized his colleagues for leaving many of the elements to be determined by the opinion of experts, instead of making rates dependent upon ascertainable facts.

While contending that reproduction costs as an essential element in rate making are better than the old tests—selling price or net earnings—the minority insisted that "where the financing has been proper, the cost of the utility of the capital required to construct, equip and operate its plant, should measure the rate of return which the constitution guarantees opportunity to earn." Such a rule, it added, would make rates based on facts and not on opinions.

Under the rule which the court adopted the value for rate making purposes, the minority insisted, "must ever be an unstable factor." The public utilities, it was added, would have the courts adopt reproduction cost or prudent investment as the measure of rates," "whichever is the higher."

Rates and charges of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Missouri, as fixed by the Public Service Commission of Missouri, were set aside by the Supreme Court.

We also quote from the "Wall Street Journal" of May 24, the following relative to the Court's conclusions:

After discussing the earlier valuations placed upon the company's property by the commiss on, which reached a total of $9,340,000 in September, 1916, the decision finds that between that date and June 30 1919, additions were made to the properties which added to the original valuations gave $11,-003,898 as the base sum used by the commission for the estimates under consideration.

Must Consider Price Levels

"Obviously," the decision says, "the commission undertook to value property without according any weight to the greatly enhanced costs of materials, labor, supplies, &c., over those prevailing in 1913, 1914 and 1916. As a matter of common knowledge these increases were large. Competent witnesses estmated then at 45 to 50%.

"Witnesses for the company asserted, and there was no substantial evidence to the contrary, that excluding cost of establishing the business the property was worth at least 25% more than the commission's estimates, and we think the proof shows that for the purposes of the present case the valuation should be at least $25,000,000.

Return Was Inadequate.

"After disallowing an actual expenditure of $174,048 60 for rentals and services by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and some other items not presently important, the commission estimated the annual net profits on operations available for depreciation and return as $2,828,617 60, approximately 11 1-3% of $25,000.000. That 6% should be allowed for depreciation appears to be accepted by the commission. Deducting this would leave a possible 5 1-3% return upon the minimum value of the property, which is wholly inadequate considering the character of the investment and interest rates then prevailing.

"Important item of expense disallowed by the commission, $174,049, is 55% of the 4½% of gross revenues paid by plaintiff in error to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. as rents for receivers, transmitters, induction coils, &c., and for licenses and services under the customary forms of contract between the latter company and its subsidiaries. 4½% is the ordinary charge paid voluntarily by local companies of the general system. There is nothing to indicate bad faith. So far as appears, plaintiff in error's board of directors has exercised a proper discretion about this matter requiring business judgment."

Stating that the above decision of the Supreme Court had been widely commented upon in Philadelphia in connection with the valuation proceedings of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co., the "Public Ledger" of that city on May 23 added in part:

The P. R. T. bases its final valuation estimate of $316,423,557 largely upon the present price of labor and of materials. The city of Philadelphia puts a much lower figure, approximately $125,000,000, based largely upon original costs.

In the absence of the full text of the Supreme Court ruling, delivered in the case of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Missouri, City Solicitor Smyth withheld comment yesterday upon its application to the P. R. T.

Coleman J. Joyce, counsel for the transit company, considered the decision a bulwark for the company's contention that reproduction cost was a most important basis for valuation.

He said the opinion of the Missouri case, delivered by Justice McReynolds, substantiated the P. R. T. procedure in its own valuation case.

Mr. Joyce expressed particular interest in that part of the opinion limiting the authority of a Public Service Commission to reduce a rate once established upon a proper basis. He referred to such action taken by the Public Service Commission in New York with respect to a telephone company.

Considers It a Warning.

Mr. Joyce construed the following excerpt from Justice McReynolds' opinion to be a warning against such practice:

"It must not be forgotten that while the State may regulate, with a view to enforcing reasonable rates and charges, it is not the owner of the property of public utility companies, and is not clothed with the general power of management incident to ownership."

All the Philadelphia Rapid Transit testimony relative to present replacement cost of its property has been admitted in evidence by Commissioner S. Clement Jr., who has been conducting the valuation case three years. What effect the entire Commission will give to the calculations made upon that basis is yet to be determined. The Commission will convene here for a public hearing in the rate case on June 7, and all viewpoints will be heard then.

Dr. Emory R. Johnson, Dean of the Wharton School, of the University of Pennsylvania, an expert in the transportation field, said there was nothing startling in the Supreme Court opinion making duplication costs a vital factor in determining valuation.

"I do not see how such a factor could be disregarded," he declared.

Maintenance of Way Men Ask Wage Increases—Some Granted.

Fifteen thousand maintenance of way workers employed by the Illinois Central, Yazoo & Mississippi Valley and Chicago Memphis & Gulf Railway companies recently filed requests with the United States Railroad Labor Board for wage increases ranging from 10c. to 13c. an hour. This new pay increase would entail a total additional annual expenditure of more than $5,000,000. Requests from 2,500 employees of the same classification working along the line of the Chicago Great Western Railroad for advances ranging from 8½c. to 15c. an hour, or an approximate annual total of $780,000, have also reached the Rail Board to be docketed for an early hearing.

Six railroads have notified the Labor Board that they have increased the pay of 27,000 maintenance of way workers from one to three cents an hour. The roads are: Burlington, Gulf Coast, Illinois Central, Maine Central, Philadelphia & Reading and Bangor & Aroostook. Maintenance men of the Louisville & Arkansas road filed application for a 11 to 15 cents an hour increase.

The Board has set June 11 for hearing petitions of maintenance men for wage advances where agreements have not been reached.

Signalmen Seek Wage Increases on Seventy-Five Railroads.

Wage negotiations which involve an annual expenditure of approximately $4,500,000 and affect 15,000 men, have been requested of 75 carriers by the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen of America, D. W. Helt, President of the union, announced at Chicago on May 25. The request, which went to the railroads about May 15, is based on arguments that the cost of living has increased since July 1 1922, the date of the latest cut received by the union men through a Labor Board decision, and that men engaged in similar lines of work outside the railroad have received increased pay. Should the carriers grant the increases ranging from 12 to 13 cents an hour, retroactive to July 1 1923, Mr. Helt said, the war-time wage of the men would be virtually restored.

Philadelphia & Reading RR. Telegraphers Get Wage Increase.

The Philadelphia & Reading Railroad notified the Railroad Labor Board on May 24 that it had granted wage increases to telegraphers of from 3 to 10 cents an hour.

All Embargoes on New York New Haven & Hartford Removed.

The New York New Haven & Hartford Railroad has lifted all embargoes on east-bound freight, including the limitation of anthracite coal shipments to New England, which had prevailed since the fuel shortage of last winter. The order, which was announced May 18, removes he regulation of anthracite through the Campbell Hall Gateway, near Poughkeepsie, which limited to 100 cars a day the amount to be accepted from connecting roads. Removal of the congestion which afflicted all Eastern roads last winter, improvement of equipment and the more equitable distribution of freight along the lines made it possible to lift the embargo, said New Haven officials. The summer demand for anthracite in New England has already set in, they reported, dealers being unable to supply more than a portion of the coal for which they had orders.

Wages Increased by Pennsylvania and Other Railroads.

Increases in railroad wages to employees of five railroads were confirmed in New York on May 22 by those roads who had representatives here. Central Railroad of New Jersey increases were announced as follows: Maintenance of way men, 3 cents an hour to 40 cents an hour; merchanics and helpers, from 2 to 4 cents an hour; station foremen, $5 a month; pier laborers of New York, 2 cents an hour; station freight laborers, 2 cents an hour. All are retroactive, some effective on April 9. It was estimated that the aggregate advance in wages on the five roads, namely the Philadelphia & Reading, the Bangor & Aroostook, the Central of New Jersey, the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railway and the Pennsylvania would amount to $2,250,000 a year.

With reference to the action of the Pennsylvania on wages, press dispatches from Chicago on May 21 had the following to say:

Increases in pay amounting to about $4,000,000 a year have been granted to 55,000 shopmen of the Pennsylvania RR., it was learned here to-day.

The raise in pay, retroactive to May 1, affects allshop employees throughout the Pennsylvania System, according to information here. The hourly increase is three cents in Chicago and two cents outside the city, the higher rate of increase here being due to higher living costs computed for shopmen here.

The new rates of pay will be 75 and 76 cents an hour. The Pennsylvania System reached the agreement with representatives of its company organization of shopmen, it having two years ago declined to allow the Railway Employees' Department of the American Federation of Labor to represent its employees. This act provoked a controversy with the Railroad Labor Board, whose scale for shopmen at present is 70 cents.

The Pennsylvania also is negotiating wages with its clerks and freight-handlers and recently announced an increase amounting to $300,000 a year for maintenance of way employees of the Northwestern region.

United States Coal Commission to Ask Lower Railroad Freight Rates on Hard Coal.

John Hays Hammond, Chairman of the Federal Fact-Finding Coal Commission announced on May 18 that recommendations for lower railroad rates on anthracite coal will be made to the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Although the members of the Commission have not prepared their report on the anthracite industry, Chairman Hammond indicated that they were nearly a unit in considering railroad rate reductions necessary in the interest of the consumer. Rates on anthracite are considerably higher for equal distances, Mr. Hammond said, than the rates on bituminous coal, although railroads perform almost identical service in transporting the two commodities. In addition, he said a large part of the anthracite is sold in competition with the bituminous , and, in the opinion of the Commission, the facts justify a recommendation to the Inter-State Commerce Commission and the railroads for a general reduction in anthracite rates.

Settlements with Individual Carriers.

The United States Railroad Administration reports that up to May 16 1923 it had concluded final settlement with a total of 363 railroads, including 41 short lines. The payment of these claims on final settlement was largely made up of balance of compensation due, but includes all other disputed items as between the railroad companies and the Administration during the 26 months of Federal control. The list of railroads with which settlements have been concluded is as follows. Bold-faced figures indicate payments by the carrier to the Government.

Shopmen's Wages Increased on Baltimore & Ohio.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad reached an agreement on May 18 with its employees who are members of the Shop Crafts Union under which the men receive a flat increase of three cents an hour. There will be no change in rules and working conditions. About 25,000 men on the entire system are affected, 3,000 being in Baltimore. They had been getting from 45 to 70 cents an hour.

United States Supreme Court Dismisses Injunction Restraining Collection of du Pont Taxes.

In dissolving a temporary injunction issued by the Federal District Court for Delaware restraining the Federal Government from collecting income taxes of $1,576,015 assessed upon Alfred I. du Pont on stock issued to him by the Delaware E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co., the United States Supreme Court on May 21 held that pending determination of the validity of the levy the Government can compel the payment of the taxes, but that the protestant has the right to bring suit later to recover the amount alleged to have been unlawfully collected. In thus deciding, the Court said that "it is unnecessary for us to consider whether Section 252 of the Revenue Act of 1921 in connection with Section 3226, Revised Statutes, as amended by the same Revenue Act of 1921, barred complainant's right to pay the tax and sue to recover it back at the time of filing his bill, as held by the District Court. It is certain that by the amendments to Section 252 and Section 3226, Revised Statutes, by the Act of Mar. 4 1923 (Public No. 527), the complainant is given the right now to pay the tax, and sue to recover it back, and in such a suit to raise the questions as to the value of the stock and the amount of the resulting tax and also the bar of time against the assessment which he attempted to raise in the bill." The Circuit Court of Appeals had sustained the District Court in its action in temporarily restraining the Government from the collection of the taxes. The conclusions of the Supreme Court were handed down by Chief Justice Taft; details of the proceedings and the decision rendered this week were given as follows in a Washington dispatch to the New York "Times" May 21:

So important was this case considered by the Government that last March James M. Beck, the Solicitor-General, asked the Supreme Court to advance it on the calendar, saying at the time that two paramount questions were involved: First, could a suit having for its purpose the restraining of the collection of a Federal tax be maintained in any court?, and second, was Mr. du Pont deprived of his remedy to recover back taxes erroneously or illegally collected if they were paid more than five years from the date when the return was due?

Based on Income From Stock.

The case originally came into the courts through the reorganization of the du Pont Powder Co. of New Jersey into the du Pont Powder Co. of Delaware. In the reorganization in 1915 Mr. du Pont received 75,534 shares of the common stock of the Delaware company, valued at $100 par. As a result of this reorganization the Supreme Court determined that a stockholder named Phellis received two shares of the Delaware company for one of the New Jersey company, and that this constituted a separation of past accumulation of profits from the capital of the New Jersey company and a distribution to stockholders. The Court held that this meant taxable income.

In March Mr. du Pont filed a return and an amended return of his 1915 income, but did not include the shares. In November 1917 the Government began an investigation into his liability to pay an income tax on the Delaware shares, and finally ordered an assessment of $1,576,015 06.

Mr. du Pont, when notified of this assessment, which was made Dec. 31 1919, replied that as his 1915 return was filed before Mar. 15 1916, the three-year period for additional assessments had expired. On Feb. 2 1920 a hearing was held, and on Mar. 8 Mr. du Pont filed a claim for abatement on the ground that the three-year period was over and "because the tax was on something that was not income under the law."

"Thereafter, by agreement between the stockholders similarly situated, one stockholder, Phellis, paid the tax due under a similar assessment and brought suit in the Court of Claims to recover it," says Justice Taft in a summary of the case. "Counsel for the complainant herein took part in the argument of that case. The Court of Claims gave judgment against the United States, but on appeal the judgment was reversed. The opinion of the Court was handed down Nov. 21 1921. All claims for abatement had been held and not decided by the Commissioner under an agreement with the counsel in the Phellis case.

"Thereafter the Commissioner rejected complainant's claim for abatement. The bill of complainant was filed Jan. 30 1922. The District Court granted the temporary injunction. The Circuit Court of Appeals on appeal affirmed the temporary injunction for the reason stated in the opinion of the District Court."

Use of Government's Powers.

In the opinion Chief Justice Taft also says:

"Section 3224, Revised Statutes, provides that 'no suit for the purpose of restraining the assessment or collection of any tax shall be maintained in any court.' In Cheatham vs. United States, 92 U. S. 85, 88; State Railroad Taxes, 92 U. S., 575, 613, and in Snyder vs. Marks, 109 U. S. 189, 193, it was said that the system prescribed by the United States in regard to both customs duties and Internal Revenue taxes—of stringent measures, not judicial, to collect them, with appeals to specified tribunals and suits to recover back moneys illegally exacted—was a system of corrective justice intended to be complete, and enacted under the right belonging to the Government to prescribe the conditions on which it would subject itself to the judgment of the courts in the collection of its revenues.

"In the exercise of that right, it declares by paragraph 3224 that its officers shall not be enjoined from collecting a tax claimed to have been unjustly assessed, when those officers, in the course of general jurisdiction over the subject matter in question, have made the assessment and claim that it is valid. This view has been approved in Shelton vs. Plate, 139 U. S. 591; in Pittsburgh Railways vs. Board of Public Works, 172 U. S. 32; in Pacific Whaling Co. vs. United States, 187 U. S. 447, 451, 452; in Dodge vs. Osborn, 240 U. S. 118, 121 and in Bailey, Collector, vs. George, 259 U. S. 16.

"The District Court recognized the sweep of these decisions in respect of the contention of the complainant that the assessment of this tax and the threatened distraint to collect it were barred by limitations under the statute, and was of opinion that as a rule such attacks upon the validity of the tax could only be heard and considered after the tax had been paid in a suit to recover it back. In this view we fully concur.

Time Limit Question Raised.

"The District Court, however, thought that an exception to the operation of Section 3224 must arise when it appeared, as it held it did appear here, that no provision of law existed by which, if the taxpayer when he filed his bill for an injunction had paid the tax assessed, he could bring a suit to recover it back, because it would be barred by the statutory limitation of time in which such a suit could be brought.

"The Court based its conclusion on Section 252 of the Revenue Act of 1918 (40 Stat. 1085 ch. 18) re-enacted in the Revenue Act of 1921 (42 Stat., Pt. 1, p. 268, ch. 136), which reads as follows:

If upon examination of any return of income made pursuant to . . . the act of Oct. 3 1913. . . . it appears that an amount of income . . . tax has been paid in excess of that properly due, then, notwithstaning the provision of Section 3228, R. S. the amount of the excess shall be credited against any income . . . taxes, or installments thereof then due from the taxpayers under any other return, and any balance of such excess shall be immediately refunded to the taxpayer; provided, that no such credit or refund shall be allowed or made after 5 years from the date when the return was due, unless before the expiration of such 5 years a claim therefor is filed by the taxpayer.

"The return was due Mar. 15 1916. The assessment was made Dec. 31 1919. The complainant might then have paid the tax and would have had two years in which to make his claim and, if rejected, to sue to recover it back if, as he now submits, Section 252 limited his right to pay and sue to recover. Under such a construction and application of Section 252, suit must have been brought on or before Mar. 15 1921.

"This is what Phellis did (United States vs. Phellis, 257 U. S. 156) and there was no question raised as to his right to bring the suit in the Court of Claims to recover back the tax paid by him if it had proved to be illegally assessed and collected. Certainly complainant could not, by delaying his payment until his right to sue to recover it back expired, make a case so extraordinary and entirely exceptional as to render Section 2224, Revised Statutes, inapplicable.

Claim Did Not Bar Payment.

"If it be said that he was waiting for the Commissioner to act on his claim for abatement of the assessment, it is enough to say that the Commissioner's delay until after the decision of the Phellis case in November 1921 was due to agreement by the parties. Nor was he prevented from paying the assessment by his claim for abatement.

"The cases complainant's counsel rely on do not apply. The cases of Lipke vs. Lederer, 259 U. S. 557, and Regal Drug Corporation vs. Wardell, decided Dec. 11 1922, were not cases of enjoining taxes at all. They were illegal penalties in the nature of punishment for a criminal offense. Pollock vs. Railroad Co., 240 U. S. 1, were suits by stockholders against corporations to Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 157 U. S. 429, and Brushaber vs. Union Pacific restrain the corporations from paying taxes alleged to be unconstitutional.

"Hill vs. Wallace, 259 U. S. 44, was in part a suit like the foregoing. It was a bill filed by members of the Chicago Board of Trade to prevent the Governing Board from applying to the Secretary of Agriculture to have the Board of Trade designated as a 'contract market' under the Futures Trading Act on the ground that the Act was unconstitutional and its operation would impair the value of the Board to its members. Without such designation, no member could have sold grain for future delivery without paying a prohibitive tax, and if he sold without paying the tax, he was subjected to heavy criminal penalties.

"To pay such a tax on each of the many thousands of transactions of the Board, and to sue to recover them back would have been utterly impractiable. It would have blocked the entire future grain business of the country and would have seriously injured not only the members of the Board but also the producing and consuming public.

Parallel in Hill Case Denied.

"This phase of the situation was so clear that the Government in effect consented to the temporary injunction. See Hill vs. Wallace, 257 U. S. 310, sc. 615. Under these extraordinary and most exceptional circumstances it was held that Section 3224 was not applicable to prevent an injunction against collection of such a prohibitive tax imposed for the purpose of regulating the future grain business with all the unnecessary and disastrous consequences its enforcement would entail if the Act was unconstitutional. Hill vs. Wallace should, in fact, be classed with Lipke vs. Lederer, supra, as a penalty in the form of a tax. Certainly we have no such case here.

"This conclusion renders it unnecessary for us to consider whether Section 252 of the Revenue Act of 1921 in connection with Section 3226, Revised Statutes, as amended by the same Revenue Act of 1921, barred complainant's right to pay the tax and sue to recover it back at the time of filing his bill, as held by the District Court. It is certain that by the amendments to Section 252 and Section 3226, Revised Statutes, by the Act of Mar. 4 1923 (Public No. 527), the complainant is given the right now to pay the tax, and sue to recover it back, and in such a suit to raise the questions as to the value of the stock and the amount of the resulting tax and also the bar of time against the assessment which he attempted to raise in the bill.

"The decree of the Circuit Court of Appeals is reversed and the case is remanded to the District Court with directions to dissolve the temporary injunction and to dismiss the bill."

Income Tax—Treasury Department Revokes Ruling Exempting Certain Distributions Out of Earnings.

The Treasury Department announced on May 21 that it had revoked a ruling issued by it on May 9 under which it had been held that certain corporation distributions out of earnings or profits accumulated prior to Mar. 1 1913 were not dividends within the meaning of the Revenue Act, and were hence exempt from tax. According to the Treasury Department's announcement of this week it has been decided to refer the question to the Attorney-General, and pending his decision the matter has been held in abeyance. The statement issued on May 21 says:

The Treasury Department recently ruled that whenever one corporation has received from another corporation distributions out of earnings or profits accumulated by such other corporation prior to Mar. 1 1913, or out of increase in value of its property accrued prior to Mar. 1 1913, and the receiving corporation, after having first distributed all of its earnings or profits accumulated since Feb. 28 1913, distributes to its stockholders the amount so received by it from such other corporation, such distributions are not dividends within the meaning of the Revenue Act and are exempt from tax.

Due to the technical nature of the question involved, it was determined to refer the matter to the Attorney-General for his opinion. No cases were closed on the basis of this Treasury decision. Contrary to the general impression, this Treasury decision did not constitute a reversal of any previous ruling of the Department. This ruling is the first one made on the subject. Pending the Attorney-General's opinion, the whole matter has been held in abeyance by revoking the Treasury decision.

We give herewith the ruling as announced May 9, which the above announcement revokes:

(T. D. 3475.)

Distribution out of earnings or profits accumulated prior to Mar. 1 1913. Article 1543 of Regulations 62 amended.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Office of Commissioner of Internal Revenue,
Washington, D. C.

To Collectors of Internal Revenue and Others Concerned:

Article 1543 of Regulations No. 62 is amended to read as follows (the part added by the amendment is underscored [italics]):

"Art. 1543. Distribution out of earnings or profits accumulated prior to Mar. 1 1913.—Any distribution by a corporation out of earnings or profits accumulated prior to Mar. 1913, or out of increases of value of property accrued prior to Mar. 1 1913 (whether or not realized by sale or other disposition), is not a dividend within the meaning of the Act. The provisions of the preceding sentence shall be applied uniformly to cases arising under the Revenue Act of 1916, the Revenue Act of 1917, the Revenue Act of 1918, as well as the Revenue Act of 1921. Whenever one corporation has received from another corporation distributions out of earnings or profits accumulated by such other corporation prior to Mar. 1 1913, or out of increase in value of its property accrued prior to Mar. 1 1913, and the receiving corporation, after having first distributed all of its earnings and profits accumulated since Feb. 28 1913 distributes to its stockholders the amount so received by it from such other corporation, such distributions are not dividends within the meaning of the Revenue Act and are exempt from tax. A corporation cannot distribute earnings or profits accumulated or increase in value of property accrued prior to Mar. 1 1913 unless and until all earnings or profits accumulated since Feb. 28 1913 have been distributed. In determining whether a dividend is out of earnings or profits accumulated prior or subsequent to Mar. 1 1913 due consideration must be given to the facts, and mere bookkeeping entries increasing or decreasing surplus will not be conclusive.

A distribution made by a corporation out of earnings or profits accumulated or increase in value of property accrued prior to Mar. 1 1913 is exempt from tax, even if in excess of the cost or other basis provided in Articles 1561-1563 and 1568, of the stock on which declared. However, where any tax-free distribution out of earnings or profits accumulated or increase in value of property accrued prior to Mar. 1 1913 has been made, the distributee cannot deduct any loss from the sale or other disposition of the stock unless and then only to the extent that the cost, or other basis, exceeds the sum of (1) the amount realized from the sale or other disposition of the stock, and (2) the aggregate amount of such distributions received by him thereon.

Example.—A purchased certain stock subsequent to Mar. 1 1913 for $10,000 and received in 1921 a distribution thereon of $2,000, paid out of the earnings or profits of the corporation accumulated prior to Mar. 1 1913. This distribution does not constitute taxable income to A. If A subsequently sells the stock for $6,000 a deductible loss of $2,000 is sustained. If he sells the stock for $12,000, a taxable gain of $2,000 is realized. No gain or loss is recognized if he sells the stock for an amount ranging between $8,000 and $10,000.

D. H. BLAIR, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Approved: May 9 1923.

A. W. MELLON, Secretary of the Treasury.

At the time of the issuance of the foregoing it was said that taxes aggregating millions of dollars would have to be refunded by the Treasury Department as a result of the decision. In stating that Treasury officials were unable to estimate the number of claims for refund, many of which have been pending for several years, that would be made valid by the ruling, press advices from Washington May 11 added:

It was said that undoubtedly some of them would result in full repayments, while the greater portion of those now on file would require refunds to be determined by re-audits of the tax returns.

Among the corporations certain to profit through refunds are some of the larger railroad corporations which have from time to time acquired subsidiary lines. In many instances these corporations have permitted the subsidiary lines to retain their identity throughout the years.

Most of the cases affected by the ruling are believed to be protected by the statute of limitations by claims already presented, and only the amendment of the claim already filed was said to be necessary to make it apply to the taxes collected under the previous bureau practice.

Commenting on the Treasury Department's announcement of May 21, Washington advices to the "Journal of Commerce" said:

Assertion in the statement that the Treasury decision did not constitute a reversal of any previous ruling aroused considerable question, but no clear official explanation of the point was made. It was conceded that before the decision of May 9 it had been the practice of the Revenue Bureau to collect income taxes on these distributions and that the decision exempted them, but it was said that there had been no previous decision on the point.

Although officials were anxious to avoid comment upon the latest order there was a suggestion that a slip had been made from the Government's point of view in the issuance of the decision removing the tax. There was a report that the ruling had been made in a specific case and had not been intended to apply generally. It is recognized that the application of the decision exempting distributions from taxation would involve enough refunds probably to cause a mass of litigation which might result adversely to the Government.

The question at issue to be decided by the Attorney-General is whether these earnings accumulated prior to Mar. 1 1913 lose their identity when they are distributed by the holding corporation to its stockholders. The Treasury recognizes the freedom from taxation of the distributions when they are made by one corporation to another.

Income Tax—Conditions Precedent to Proceedings to Recover Taxes Erroneously Assessed or Collected.

The Treasury Department at Washington, through the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, made public on May 9 the following with regard to the conditions precedent to the bringing of an action to recover taxes alleged to have been erroneously or illegally assessed or collected, or penalties alleged to have been collected without authority:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Office of Commissioner of Internal Revenue,
Washington, D. C.

May 9 1923.

SUITS FOR RECOVERY OF INTERNAL REVENUE TAXES PAID.

To Collectors of Internal Revenue, Internal Revenue Agents in Charge and Others Concerned:

Inquiries have come to the Bureau which indicate that some confusion exists with respect to the limitations upon suits and proceedings for the recovery of taxes and penalties paid under the Internal Revenue laws.

Under Section 3226 of the Revised Statutes as amended by Section 1318 of the Revenue Act of 1921 and Public No. 527, approved Mar. 4 1923, no suit or proceedings can be maintained in any court for the recovery of any Internal Revenue tax alleged to have been erroneously or illegally assessed or collected, or of any penalty claimed to have been collected without authority, or of any sum alleged to have been excessive or in any manner wrongfully collected, until a claim for refund or credit has been duly filed with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, according to the provisions of law in that regard and the regulations of the Secretary of the Treasury established in pursuance thereof.

It is further provided by Section 3226 of the Revised Statutes, as amended, that no suit or proceeding shall be begun before the expiration of six months from the date of filing such claim, unless the Commissioner renders a decision thereon within that time, nor after the expiration of five years from the date of the payment of such tax, penalty or sum, unless such suit or proceeding is begun within two years after the disallowance of the part of such claim to which such suit or proceeding relates.

Section 252 of the Revenue Act of 1921, as amended by the Act of Mar. 4 1923 (Public 527), authorizes the filing of a claim for credit or refund of income, war-profits and excess profits tax at any time within five years after the due date of the return or within two years after the payment of the tax. (T. D. 3457, Mar. 17 1923.)

Section 3228 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, as amended by Section 1316 of the Revenue Act of 1921 and the Act of Mar. 4 1923 (Public 527), provides that all claims for the refunding or crediting of any Internal Revenue tax, other than income, war profits or excess profits taxes, must be presented to the Commissioner within four years next after payment of such tax.

The conditions precedent to the bringing of an action to recover back taxes alleged to have been erroneously or illegally assessed or collected, or of any penalty alleged to have been collected without authority, or of any sum alleged to have been excessive or in any manner wrongfully collected, may be briefly summarized as follows:

1. The amount sought to be recovered must be paid under duress and protest.
2. A claim for refund or credit must be filed with the Commissioner within 5 years after the due date of the return or within 2 years after the date of payment of the tax in the case of income, war-profits and excess-profit taxes; and in the case of any other form of internal revenue tax, a claim for refund or credit must be filed within 4 years after the payment of the tax.
3. Six months must expire after filing the claim for refund or credit before commencing an action, unless the Commissioner acts upon the claim within the 6 months period, in which case suit may be commenced as soon as the Commissioner makes his decision.
4. Conditions 1, 2 and 3 must be complied with and the claimant must commence his action within 5 years after the date of payment of the tax, or within 2 years after the disallowance of the claim for refund or credit by the Commissioner.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue is not authorized to waive the statutory requirements which must be complied with as a condition precedent to commencing suit for the ercovery of taxes paid.

D. H. BLAIR, Commissioner.

Income Tax—Limitation Upon Credits and Refunds in Case or 1917 Returns.

Regarding the limitation upon credits and refunds in the case of income tax returns for the year 1917, David H. Blair, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, issued the following announcement April 30:

(T. D. 3471.)

LIMITATIONS UPON CREDITS AND REFUNDS.

Office of Commissioner of Internal Revenue,
Washington, D. C.

To Collectors of Internal Revenue and Others Concerned:

Under the provisions of Section 252 of the Revenue Act of 1921, as amended by an Act approved Mar. 4 1923 (Public No. 527), the Commissioner of Internal Revenue may, in those cases where the taxpayer has, within five years from the time the return for the taxable year 1917 was due, filed a waiver of his right to have the taxes due for such taxable year determined and assessed within five years after the return was due, allow a credit or refund of the excessive income, war profits or excess profits taxes paid for such taxable year 1917 within six years from the time the return for such taxable year 1917 was due, whether or not claim therefor is filed by the taxpayer.

D. H. BLAIR, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Approved: April 30 1923.

A. W. MELLON, Secretary of the Treasury.

Issuance of Internal Revenue Bulletin Weekly.

In making known the intention of the Bureau of Internal Revenue to issue weekly the "Internal Revenue Bulletin," an announcement by the Bureau on May 7 said:

As a material step in promoting co-operation between the Government and taxpayers, Commissioner of Internal Revenue David H. Blair has inaugurated a new program in the issuance of the "Internal Revenue Bulletin," which contains decisions and rulings on various tax and prohibition questions.

Beginning to-day the "Internal Revenue Bulletin" will be issued weekly. To assure the widest and most expeditious distribution of the service Commissioner Blair has ordered that subscribers on the Pacific Coast and all points west of the Mississippi River be given preference in the mailing of the "Bulletin."

The promptness with which tax information is made available to the public will greatly enhance the value of the new bulletin service, Commissioner Blair said.

The service will include all rulings and opinions of the Solicitor of Internal Revenue, the Attorney-General, and Treasury decisions dealing with income, sales, capital stock, tobacco, oleomargarine and miscellaneous taxes. In addition there will be a great fund of general information on tax and prohibition matters.

Supplementing the weekly bulletin, the Internal Revenue Bulletin Service will now consist of a quarterly digest, which will contain, briefed, but retaining their full import, the rulings previously published in the weekly bulletins, and a semi-annual cumulative bulletin in which will appear in full all new rulings and decisions published during the preceding six months. The semi-annual bulletins will be issued in July and January.

The Internal Revenue Bulletin Service, which was begun in April 1919, was originally intended for the use of the personnel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue only. It was decided, however, in view of the interest to taxpayers of the information set forth—covering innumerable and complex tax questions—that it should be made available to the public. Requests for the service have amply justified this decision. The service now has more than 20,000 subscribers and under the new plan of Commissioner Blair it is expected the subscription list will be doubled. The entire bulletin service is furnished on a subscription basis of $2 a year, and may be obtained from the Superintendent of Public Documents, Government Printing Office.

Theodore G. Smith on Problems Confronting Trust Company Division of A. B. A.—Executive Committee's Resolutions on Death of F. H. Goff and Edmund D. Hulbert.

Theodore G. Smith, in his report as President of the Trust Company Division of the American Bankers Association, presented at the meeting of the Association's Executive Council at Rye, N. Y., on April 24, stated that "instead of the number of problems which we are required to face being on the decline, we are confronted with a situation in many lines which calls for the utmost care in handling and the greatest amount of forbearance which time alone can correct." Reference made made by Mr. Smith to the reports submittd by the officers and chairmen at the meeting, and in giving an outline of the outstanding features contained therein, he said:

The operation of Section 226 (c) of the Federal Revenue Act of 1921, under which the estates of decedents are taxed on an annual basis, takes from these estates many millions of dollars annually in unjust taxation. At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Division held on Dec. 7 1922, at which all phases of this subject were considered, it was decided to seek relief through an amendment to the law and also to conduct a test suit. A satisfactory termination of this matter will favorably affect the estate of any officer or member of the Council who may be so unfortunate as to pass from this life during the first few months of any calendar year while this law is in operation. The costs in connection with the suit are expected to be met from voluntary contributions from the members of the Trust Company Division.

During February of the present year the twelfth annual trust companies' banquet was held in New York City, with a larger attendance than at any previous banquet.

This was held on the evening of the day of the Fourth Mid-Winter Conference. Two sessions of the conference were held. The first session opened at 9.30 a. m. and the second at 2 p. m., adjourning at 5 p. m. Ten subjects of importance to the operation of the business of corporate fiduciaries were carefully presented and discussed. The attendance at and interest in these sessions were greater than at any similar meetings held by the Division. These features are now looked for annually and are counted upon as important branches of our work.

Four meetings of the Executive Committee have been held since the New York convention last October and these have all been attended by the majority of the members of the committee.

Many oddities and monstrosities in the form of bills introduced in the various State Legislatures directly and seriously affecting the business of trust companies, have been carefully watched during the recent sessions of the State Legislatures. This work is continuing during the sessions of the Legislatures which have not as yet adjourned. The report of the committee handling this matter was the subject of long and faithful consideration by the Executive Committee at its meeting this week. Through the extension of inheritance taxation, it is now sought to distribute wealth rather than to raise revenue for Governmental uses. This subject in its many ramifications is being given careful study by the Division and definite recommendations regarding the handling of this question will be presented at the convention in September.

The national campaign of publicity and advertising, so ably conducted during the past two years, is each month exerting a marked influence upon the thought of the public in directing them to protect and conserve their real and personal property through the naming of a corporate fiduciary to handle their affairs after death, and it is also stimulating the creation of voluntary or living trusts which are made during the life of the donor. No more valuable contribution could posssibly be made than this work which is so far-reaching in its beneficial results.

Co-operation with the legal profession in fact as well as in name is proceeding in a most satisfactory manner. The discussions regarding the encroachment of corporate fiduciaries upon the prerogatives of the legal profession, which loomed so formidably a year or two ago, are assuming a more normal condition. This is due in a very large measure to the vigilance and active attention given to the situations in all States and other concrete cases by the special committee having this matter in charge. Several bills directed against the so-called "practice of law" were introduced in State Legislatures during the present year. None of these measures passsed. One bill in Minnesota sought to make invalid any will not drawn by an attorney. The passage of such a measure would be against the public interest and, therefore, we do not believe that such bills will be enacted into law, although the most careful attention must be given each time they make their appearance.

The unification of charges made for trust services is being developed in a very satisfactory manner. The iniquitous practice of price cutting and encouragement of "shopping" by customers is gradually being eliminated.

The great work started a few years ago by Mr. Goff of Cleveland and known as the community trust, is also being developed along the most helpful lines in over fifty cities throughout the country.

Staff relations or the development of personnel is receiving the constant attention of a special committee working upon this matter.

Through a recent investigation made by the special Committee on Research, many encouraging facts were revealed in regard to the beneficent results of the work of corporate fiduciaries. A detailed explanation of these matters will be offered in the near future for publication and will, therefore, be made available to the Council and our membership generally.

Every activity known to the modern trust company and all branches of work designed to help the official and clerical staff are given the most careful handling by the Secretary and staff at the headquarters office. The requests for service and the record of the performances of these services would constitute a report of great volume.

In conclusion, it may be interesting to know the totals of property held by the trust companies of the United States in their banking and trust resources. The banking resources of our institutions as reported a year ago were thirteen billions of dollars and with the trusts variously estimated between forty and seventy-five billions, it can readily be seen that the pride which we have in the usefulness of these companies is entirely justifiable.

Appropriate resolutions respecting the death on March 14 of F. H. Goff, President of the Cleveland Trust Co. of Cleveland, and that (March 30) of Edmund D. Hulbert, President of the Illinois Merchants Banks of Chicago, both formerly presidents of the Trust Company Division, were adopted at the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Trust Company Division on April 24.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace on Progress of Federal Road Development—$540,000,000 Appropriated or Authorized.

According to Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace, since Federal aid for road building was inaugurated by the Federal Aid Road Act, approved July 11 1916, the sum of $540,000,000 has been appropriated or authorized for the fiscal years 1917 to 1925, inclusive. Of the above amount, says Secretary Wallace, $75,000,000 is authorized for the fiscal year 1925 and will not be available for expenditure until July 1 1924. Sixty-five million dollars is authorized for the fiscal year beginning July 1 of this year, leaving $400,000,000 authorized or appropriated for expenditure up to the current fiscal year. Secretary Wallace, whose remarks on the subject were made before the American Automobile Association at New York City on May 22, went on to say:

Of the $400,000,000 authorized or appropriated up to the current fiscal year $226,274,214 had been paid to the States for work completed up to March 31, of which $160,938,223 was paid on projects completed and accepted, and $65,335,991 had been paid in progress payments for work completed on projects which were still under construction on March 31.

On March 31, 21,638 miles had been completed at a total cost of $378,087,845 and the Federal share of the cost amounting to $160,938,223 has been paid to the States.

On the same date 3,413 miles additional had been completed but they had not been inspected for final acceptance. The total cost of these roads was approximately $51,500,000.

On the same date there were 14,010 miles under construction and these roads were reported at the time as 56% complete in the aggregate.

The total mileage completed or under construction on March 31 was 39,062 miles.

While the improvement of the Federal Aid System may proceed more slowly than some would like, and more slowly than it would under more favorable economic conditions, nevertheless almost before we realize it we shall find that we have a Federal road system which will not only serve local needs, but which will make it possible for the tourist to drive from one end of the country to the other and from one part of any State to another, in the assurance of finding good roads the entire distance.

Secretary Wallace also said:

The designation and approval of the Federal Aid Highway System under the Act of 1921 is progressing rapidly. By the end of the summer approximately 179,000 miles will have been designated as a part of this system. Up to May 5 all but three States had submitted tentative systems for approval. The systems of 33 States had been formally approved, including a total of 105,406 miles.

Considering the approved systems in the 33 States we find that of the 1,015 cities of 5,000 or more population in these States 959 of them lie directly on the approved system, and there is not one but will be connected with the system by an improved State or county road. When the system is completed, therefore, one will be able to travel from any town of 5,000 population or greater to any other town of the same population without leaving an improved road.

The detailed study of the availability of the improved roads to the total population has not been completed, but if we take typical States in the East, Middle West and West, we find that the roads on the Federal Aid System will give a maximum of service. In Maryland not more than 2½% of the population lives further than 10 miles from a Federal Aid road; in Indiana less than 1%; in Arizona, where the total population is but 334,000, perhaps one-third will live outside of the 10-mile zone.

A Federal Aid road will cross the Western mountains at practically every one of the important passes. The Rockies will be crossed at Berthoud, Lookout, Gibson, Targhee, Pleasant Valley and Reynolds passes in Montana and Idaho; La Veta, Wolf Creek and Red Mountain passes in Colorado, and Raton pass on the Colorado-New Mexico line. The Cascade range will be crossed at Stephens and Snoqualmie passes in Washington, and Grants Pass in Oregon; and the Sierra Nevadas will be crossed at Truckee and Walker passes in California.

Tennessee Bankers Association Protests Against 3% Excise Tax.

Protest against newly enacted legislation in Tennessee mposing a 3% excise tax on corporations, including State banks, is voiced in a resolution adopted by the Tennessee Bankers' Association in annual convention at Chattanooga on May 16. At the same time the members pledged their efforts toward securing the separation of the State Banking Department from other State departments. The resolutions, presented by W. A. Sadd of Nashville, Chairman of the Legislative Committee, are given as follows in the Chattanooga "News":

Whereas, the late General Assembly enacted a tax law assessing a 3% excise tax upon corporations, including State banks, and said law is inequitable and discriminatory in its effect:

Be it resolved, That the Tennessee Bankers' Association enter its protest against this Act and that we formally indorse the action of our executive council in directing the legislative committee to take any steps in its power to safeguard our interests and to bring about a repeal of this law, or such amendments as will make it more uniform and just in its application.

Second—In the reorganization Act passed by the late General Assembly the State Banking Department was merged with the Insurance Department. In our judgment such a consolidation is not for the best interest of the State or of either of the departments, and certainly it is not to the best interest of the Banking Department.

The present administration in executing this law has wisely allowed the Banking Department to preserve its independence and freedom of action for all practical purposes. While we appreciate this consideration on the part of the administration, we do not fail to recognize the fact that this merger sets a bad precedent which holds the seeds of future mischief if it is allowed to remain.

Therefore, be it resolved by the Tennessee Bankers' Association that the members of this association pledge their efforts to secure the separation of the State Banking Department from all other State Departments, and the legislation committee is directed to give its attention to this matter as soon as there shall be opportunity to secure its modification or its repeal.

Alabama Water Power First Major Project Under Federal Water Power Act.

The Federal Power Commission at Washington had the following to say under date of April 27:

One of the first of the major projects to be constructed and placed in service under the provisions of the Federal Water Power Act is the Coosa River Project of the Alabama Power Co. The license was issued on June 27 1921 and April 7 1923, the first unit of 24,000 horsepower was put into operation at Mitchell Dam. The load on the company's system is growing so rapidly that the immediate installation of two additional units is proposed. The complete development of five units will have a capacity of 120,000 horsepower.

In 1921 the company completed a 110,000-volt transmission line connecting its system with that of the Georgia Railway & Power Co., and power may now be interchanged with companies operating in Georgia and the Carolinas. The need for power is so great in the South that the company has contracted for the use of the Warrior reserve steam plant of 45,000 horsepower capacity and the Sheffield plant of 60,000 horsepower, which are owned by the Government and were built during the war for use in connection with the nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals. Other hydroelectric developments on the Tallapoosa and Coosa rivers are also proposed by the Alabama Power Co., which has on file with the Commission applications aggregating 285,000 horsepower. The company now operates more than 1,250 miles of transmission line and serves a population estimated at 550,000.

At a meeting of the directors of the Second National Bank of Philadelphia at Frankford on May 16, Horace M. Siner was appointed a director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John Biddle.

The name of the Security Co. of Pottstown, Pa., has been changed to the Security Trust Co. We are advised that this change has been simply one of title, no change being made in the nature of the business transacted, the institution having always been a chartered trust company, conducting a trust and general banking business. Under date of Dec. 30 last the company reported a capital of $125,000, surplus and undivided profits of $289,666, deposits of $2,119,281 and aggregate resources of $2,736,450. The officers are: J. Elmer Porter, President; A. J. Bernhart, Vice-President; William M. Bunting, Secretary and Treasurer, and George M. Longaker, Assistant Secretary and Treasurer and Trust Officer.

John N. Wright Jr., the former Cashier of the First National Bank of Federalsburg, Md., and Leon E. Venable, a former insurance agent of Cambridge, Md., indicted at the same time for embezzling the funds of the bank, were on May 21 sentenced by Judge Morris A. Soper in the Federal Court at Baltimore to serve two years and twenty months, respectively, in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta. As noted in these columns in our issue of May 19, Wright pleaded "guilty" before Judge Soper on May 11. Subsequently Venable entered the same plea. In imposing sentence Judge Soper declared, it is said, that he had given the ex-Cashier the more severe sentence because he was an officer of the bank and his degree of guilt was greater than that of Venable. The Court further said:

In considering this sentence I have held a consultation with the District Attorney and counsel for the accused. I have taken into consideration the fact that the Comptroller's office did not think the case should be prosecuted and delayed taking action until recently, although the embezzlements occurred in 1920. I have also taken into consideration the fact that both men pleaded guilty, yet I still think the case warrants a severe sentence.

The Fletcher American National Bank of Indianapolis will increase its capital stock from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. The stockholders on May 19 ratified such recommendation by the directors to become effective on June 1 1923. At the same time action was taken towards increasing the common stock of the Fletcher American Co. from $500,000 to $750,000. With the outstanding $1,000,000 of preferred stock, this will bring the capitalization of the company to $1,750,000. The common stock of the Fletcher American Co. is owned by the same individuals and in the same proportion as the stock of the bank. Each share of bank stock, par value $100, carries with it one share of company stock, par value $25. The entire stock issue has been subscribed by the group of business men who in July 1921 acquired controlling interest in the bank from Stoughton A. Fletcher. However, such subscription is subject to the right of all shareholders to subscribe their pro rata share of the stock. The stock is being offered to shareholders at $135 per share. Coincident with the meeting of the stockholders on May 19 of the Fletcher American National Bank and the Fletcher American Co., at which steps were taken towards increasing the capital of the two, announcement was made that Stoughton A. Fletcher had resigned as President and director of the Fletcher American National Bank and Fletcher American Co. Elmer W. Stout has been elected President of the bank and First Vice-President of the Fletcher American Co. and George C. Forrey Jr. has been elected President of the Fletcher American Co. and First Vice-President of the bank. Thomas Taggart has become Chairman of the board of directors of the Fletcher American National Bank. Theodore Stempfel, Vice-President of the bank, was elected to the additional post of Trust Officer. Leo M. Rappaport has been chosen a director of both the bank and the Fletcher American Co.

Thomas L. Hildebrand, former Cashier of the First National Bank of Columbia City, Ind., was arrested on May 4 on a Federal warrant and later released on a bond of $10.000. Although the only specific charge in the warrant was alleged forgery, it is said, the ex-Cashier would later be charged with embezzlement of the funds of a national bank, misapplication of money and alteration of records. His peculations, it is alleged, amount to approximately $347,000. Hildebrand, who had been in the bank's service 32 years and was greatly respected, was discharged about five months ago when it became known that he was under suspicion of having misappropriated the bank's money and that of depositors left in his care. The shortage, it is said, has been made up by contributions from the officers, S. J. Peabody, the President, contributing $268,000 of the amount, thus keeping the condition of the institution, it is averred, unimpaired.

J. G. Geddes, Vice-President of the Union Trust Co. of Cleveland and the head of its foreign department, was elected President of the Cleveland Association of Credit Men by the board of trustees at its meeting on May 16. Mr. Geddes has been active in the association for some time. For two years he was Chairman of the foreign credits committee of the association, and he has also served on the foreign credits committee of the National Association of Credit Men. During the last year he has been Treasurer of the Cleveland association and a member of its board of trustees. Mr. Geddes is recognized as an authority in matters pertaining to foreign commerce and credits and has been prominent in foreign trade conventions.

A consolidation of the Lewistown State Bank and the Empire Bank & Trust Co., both of Lewistown, Mont., was consummated on March 27 1923. The Lewistown State Bank, however, we are advised, did not go into voluntary liquidation. Our informant, F. R. Cunningham, Cashier of the Lewistown State Bank, adds:

> The merger was effected in accordance with the Montana State laws on the subject by the purchase of the assets of the Lewistown State Bank by the Empire Bank & Trust Co. Either of the banks could have purchased the assets of the other. The reason for the transfer as it was effected was this, viz., that although the Empire Bank & Trust Co. had an authorized capital of $200,000, only $100,000 of the same had been issued. The respective capital of the two banks was $100,000 and the capital of the consolidated bank is $150,000. Hence by consummating the deal in the manner in which it was consummated it obviated the necessity of calling a meeting of stockholders to increase the capital stock of the Lewistown State Bank. Inasmuch as the authorized capital of the Empire Bank & Trust Company was $200,000, with only $100,000 issued, there was no necessity for an increase of capital stock.

The Citizens American Bank & Trust Co. of Tampa, Fla., announces that effective May 1 it resumed the name under which it was organized in 1895, viz., Citizens Bank & Trust Co. Louis A. Bize is President of the institution.

The stock (par $100) is being disposed of at $150 per share. The bank will begin business about June 15. The officers are: Doane Merrill, President; Wm. R. Fee, Vice-President, and W. B. Lower, Cashier.

The 17th annual report of the Sterling Bank of Canada (head office, Toronto) for the fiscal year ended April 30 was submitted to the shareholders at their annual meeting on May 15 and showed favorable results for the period. Net earnings for the twelve months, exclusive of the usual fixed charges, were $243,350. This, with the addition of $38,034, representing the balance to profit and loss brought forward from the preceding year, made the sum of $281,384 available for distribution which was appropriated as follows: $98,656 to cover dividends at the rate of 8% per annum; $115,000 transferred to contingent account for reduction in bank premises account, depreciation of assets, etc., and $31,500 to pay taxes, leaving a balance of $36,178 to be carried forward to next year's profit and loss account. Total assets were given as $23,740,051; total deposits as $17,515,859, of which $3,261,690 were non-interest-bearing deposits, and current loans outstanding as $7,157,437. The bank has a capital of $500,000 with a rest fund of like amount. G. T. Somers is President and A. H. Walker General Manager.

According to an announcement by J. G. Van Breda Kolff, at 14 Wall St., representative for the United States of the Rotterdamsche Bankvereeniging, Rotterdam, Amsterdam, The Hague, the general meeting of shareholders of the Rotterdamsche Bankvereeniging took place in Rotterdam on May 16 when a dividend of 6% for the year 1922, payable May 17, was proposed. Huth & Co. of the same city, as of Jan. 1 1923, which has just come to us, states that the partnership existing between Edward Huth, L. Huth Walters, L. E. Meinertzhagen and the Acorn Trust, Limited, was dissolved as from Dec. 31 1922. The amalgamated firm under the style of Fredk. Huth & Co., and consisting of F. A. Konig, Edward Huth, L. The bank's investments to stand in the books at less than market value as at March 31st last, and all other usual and necessary provisions have been made."

Lloyd W. Smith has been elected President of the Union National Bank of Pittsburgh, succeeding John R. McCune, whose death on May 14 was referred to in the "Chronicle" of last week, page 2220. Charles D. Armstrong has been elected Chairman of the board.

THE WEEK ON THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

The stock market the early part of the week suffered another bad break, but since then has shown marked recovery. On Monday the attacks of the short interests and the lack of adequate support forced United States Steel common to 95½, American Woolen to 86⅞ and Studebaker to 106¾. Du Pont dropped 6 points, Kelly-Springfield 5 points, Mack Trucks 3 points, Stewart-Warner 3 points and Nash Motors 8 points. Reports of a marked decline in wholesale business, together with a rumor of a possible hold-up in many essential industries, had a depressing effect on the trading. Recessions were again conspicuous in the mid-day trading in Tuesday's market, but a sharp rally occurred in the afternoon, and on the whole the market resisted pressure fairly well. Tuesday's closing rally continued in the opening session Wednesday, but in the late afternoon a determined attack was directed against the steel stocks, and Bethlehem Steel dropped to 52, U. S. Steel common to 95½, Studebaker to 107⅝ and Crucible Steel to 65¼. Other notable recessions were: Mack Trucks 73½, Kelly-Springfield 43½, Baldwin Locomotive 126 and American Locomotive 134. A sharp rally in California Petroleum was one of the outstanding features of the day's trading. A strong tone developed on Thursday and many of the issues recovered the whole of the losses of the previous days. Noteworthy in the price advances in the day's trading were: New York Central, which went up to 97¼; American Can from 93½ to 97, American Woolen from 87½ to 91½, Baldwin Locomotive from 125¾ to 129⅞, Bethlehem Steel from 52⅜ to 55½, Du Pont from 124½ to 129½, Famous Players from 75⅛ to 79, Kelly-Springfield from 43¾ to 46⅜, Mack Trucks from 74¼ to 78, Studebaker from 108¼ to 112¼, U. S. Steel from 96 to 98¼. Thursday's buoyancy continued on Friday. The strong stocks of the day were: California Petroleum, which opened at 111½ and closed at 114⅜, and American Can, which advanced to 98.

THE CURB MARKET.

Prices in the Curb Market in the beginning of the week suffered further losses and values touched new low records for the year. Later the market developed a decidedly firmer tone and many issues rallied sharply. The oil stocks were again under pressure for a while, with Standard Oil issues the most conspicuous. Buckeye Pipe Line lost five points to 80, but moved upward again and sold to-day at 86. Ohio Oil, after early loss from 65 to 62, sold up to 68½. Prairie Oil & Gas from 202 receded to 197, then advanced to 212, the close to-day being at 211. South Penn Oil lost about two points to 130 and recovered to 146, the final transaction for the week being at 144. Standard Oil (Indiana) fell from 57⅞ to 54¾, sold up to 61¼ and at 61 finally. Standard Oil (Kentucky) was off from 89 to 85¾, then rose to 92½ and sold finally at 92¼. Standard Oil of New York gained over three points to 40 and ends the week at 39½. Gulf Oil of Pa. advanced from 51½ to 58 and closed to-day at 57½. Imperial Oil of Canada after early weakness from 101 to 99, rose to 110 and reacted finally to 108. Internat. Petroleum was conspicuous for a rise of 3½ points to 18½, the close to-day being at 18¼. Maracaibo Oil Exploration improved from 21¾ to 24½. Among industrials, Durant Motor broke sharply at first from 43¼ to 37⅝ and advanced as sharply to 55¾, the final figure to-day being 54½. Peerless Truck & Motor was off from 42½ to 38½, recovered to 43⅞ and ends the week at 43½. Checker Cab Mfg., after a loss of two points to 46, rose to 54 and closed to-day at 52½. Elsewhere in the industrial list changes were narrow.

A complete record of Curb Market transactions for the week will be found on page 2379.

THE ENGLISH GOLD AND SILVER MARKETS.

We reprint the following from the weekly circular of Samuel Montagu & Co. of London, written under date of May 9 1923:

GOLD.

The Bank of England gold reserve against its note issue on the 2d inst. was £125,693,415, as compared with £125,692,670 on the previous Wednesday.

This week's arrival was on a smaller scale and most of the supplies will be shipped to America, India being but a small buyer.

No arrivals of gold in New York are reported this week.

The Southern Rhodesian gold output for March 1923 was 48,171 ounces, as compared with 49,424 ounces for February 1923 and 54,643 for March 1922.

The Ottawa correspondent of the "Economist" states under date of March 26 as follows:

"There is tremendous activity in the mining areas, and rich new discoveries are announced every other day. Prospectors are flocking to new Rouyn goldfields and the Standard Mining Exchange of Toronto now claims to be the largest of its kind in the world. On March 23 the record number of 1,298,868 shares changed hands. In 1922 Canada's gold production totaled about 22 million dollars, and the expectation is that the end of 1923 will see the 30 million dollar mark passed."

CURRENCY.

It is reported that the new Czechoslovakian gold ducat will be of the ancient fineness—.986—which exceeds that of the sovereign, the quality of which—.916 2-3—has hitherto held the pre-eminence among those of modern minted gold coins.

The ducat which is now being coined by the Czechoslovak Republic has an historical tradition, not only as a coin but also as regards its value. Like the ducat of John Luxemburg, which weighed 53.86 grains, the Czechoslovak ducat will weigh not more than 53.86 grains, with about 52 grains of pure gold. It will be coined from a mixture of roughly 986 parts of gold and 14 parts of copper. The new ducat, being a continuation of the ancient ducat, will bear on the obverse side the portrait of St. Venceslaus with the inscription "Nedej zahynouti nam ni budoucim" ("Let neither us nor our descendants perish"), and on the other side a small coat-of-arms of the Republic, with the inscription "Ceskoslovenska Republika" (The Czechoslovak Republic). The first thousand of the new ducats will be numbered, the rest will bear only the year in which they are minted. The size of the new ducat is 19.75 millimetres. It is not intended to be a circulating medium, but a coin for commercial purposes only, and its price will be fixed by those by whom it will be bought and sold.

SILVER.

The market has been dull during the week under review. This week is the last in which silver shipments can be made in time to reach Bombay for the June settlement, but in spite of this buying orders from India have been small. America has been inactive and although China has both bought and sold, it was owing to offerings to-day from this quarter that prices fel to 32 9-16d. and 32 7-16d.—a drop of 5-16d. for cash and ¼d. for forward delivery. The tone of the market is quiet.

COURSE OF BANK CLEARINGS.

Bank clearings show an increase over last year, but the ratio of gain is small. Preliminary figures compiled by us, based upon telegraphic advices from the chief cities of the country, indicate that for the week ending to-day (Saturday, May 26) aggregate bank clearings for all the cities in the United States from which it is possible to obtain weekly returns will show an augmentation of 3.5% as compared with the corresponding week last year. The total stands at $7,322,787,634, against $7,075,101,194 for the same week in 1922. At this centre there is a falling off of 3.1%. Our comparative summary for the week is as follows:

a No longer report clearings. * Estimated.

Complete and exact details for the week covered by the foregoing will appear in our issue of next week. We cannot furnish them to-day, inasmuch as the week ends to-day (Saturday), and the Saturday figures will not be available until noon to-day. Accordingly, in the above the last day of the week has in all cases had to be estimated.

In the elaborate detailed statement, however, which we present further below, we are able to give final and complete results for the week previous—the week ending May 19. For that week the increase is 11.8%, the 1923 aggregate of the clearings being $8,258,253,044 and the 1922 aggregate $7,384,698,692. Outside of this city, however, the increase is 23.1%. The bank exchanges at this centre for the first time in many weeks showed an increase, but the gain is no more than 3.8%. We group the cities now according to the Federal Reserve Districts in which they are located, and the noteworthy feature of the return is that every one of these Federal Reserve Districts records an increase as compared with the corresponding week last year. In the Boston Reserve District the improvement is 24.4%; in the New York Reserve District (including this city) 4.1%, and in the Philadelphia Reserve District 26.1%. The Cleveland Reserve District has a gain of 41.2%; the Richmond Reserve District of 11.7%, and the Atlanta Reserve District of 20.1%. The Chicago Reserve District registers 21% addition, the St. Louis Reserve District 22.5% and the Minneapolis Reserve District 20.2%. In the Kansas City Reserve District the totals are larger by 6.4%, in the Dallas Reserve District by 10.6% and in the San Francisco Reserve District by 27%.

In the following we furnish a summary by Federal Reserve districts:

Stock of Money in the Country.—Further below we give the customary monthly statement issued by the United States Treasury Department, designed to show the general stock of money in the country, as well as the holdings by the Treasury and the amount in circulation on the dates given. The method of computing the figures has been changed with the idea of eliminating duplications, especially in arriving at the amounts of money in circulation. Under the new form the per capita circulation May 1 1923 is found to be $42.04, whereas by the old method the amount would have been $52.61. The change dates from July 1 1922 and the notice issued in connection with it by the Treasury Department was given by us in publishing the statement for that date in our issue of July 29 1922, page 515. The money and circulation statement in its new form follows:

* The form of circulation statement was revised as of July 1 1922 so as to exclude from money in circulation all forms of money held by the Federal Reserve banks and Federal Reserve agents, whether as reserve against Federal Reserve notes or otherwise. This change results in showing a per capita circulation on May 1 1923 of $42 04, whereas under the form of statement heretofore used it would have been $52 61. For the sake of comparability the figures for May 1 1922, Nov. 1 1920, when money in circulation reached the high point, and April 1 1917, have been computed on this statement in the same manner as those for July 1 1922.

a Does not include gold bullion or foreign coin outside of vaults of the Treasury, Federal Reserve banks and Federal Reserve agents.

b These amounts are not included in the total since the money held in trust against gold and silver certificates and Treasury notes of 1890 is included under gold coin and bullion and standard silver dollars, respectively.

c The amount of money held in trust against gold and silver certificates and Treasury notes of 1890 should be deducted from this total before combining it with total money outside of the Treasury to arrive at the stock of money in the United States.

d This total includes $16,955,642 of notes in process of redemption, $187,405,133 of gold deposited for redemption of F. R. notes, $16,588,724 deposited for redemption of national bank notes, $20,480 deposited for retirement of additional circulation (Act of May 30 1908), and $6,572,623 deposited as reserve against postal savings deposits.

Note.—Gold certificates are secured dollar for dollar by gold held in the Treasury for their redemption; silver certificates are secured dollar for dollar by standard silver dollars held in the Treasury for their redemption; U. S. notes are secured by a gold reserve of $152,979,025 63 held in the Treasury. This reserve fund may also be used for the redemption of Treasury notes of 1890, which are also secured dollar for dollar by standard silver dollars, held in the Treasury. F. R. notes are obligations of the U. S. and a first lien on all the assets of the issuing F. R. bank. F. R. notes are secured by the deposit with F. R. agents of a like amount of gold or of gold and such discounted or purchased paper as is eligible under the terms of the F. R. Act. F. R. banks must maintain a gold reserve of at least 40%, including the gold redemption fund which must be deposited with the U. S. Treasurer, against F. R. notes in actual circulation. F. R. bank notes and national bank notes are secured by U. S. Government obligations, and a 5% fund for their redemption is required to be maintained with the Treasurer of the United States in gold or lawful money.

New York Curb Market.—Below is a record of the transactions in the New York Curb Market from May 19 to May 25, both inclusive, as compiled from the official lists. As noted in our issue of July 2 1921, the New York Curb Market Association on June 27 1921 transferred its activities from the Broad Street curb to its new building on Trinity Place, and the Association is now issuing an official sheet which forms the basis of the compilations below.

Reading Company.

(25th Annual Report—Fiscal Year ended Dec. 31 1922.)

President Agnew T. Dice, April 18, reports in substance:

Surplus.—The accumulated surplus of Reading Co. on Dec. 31 1922 amounted to $38,365,139.

The directors have arranged for the following dividend payments from the above surplus:

On the 1st Preferred stock the sum of $1,120,000 was set apart to make provision for the payment of four quarterly dividends of 1% each upon that stock during 1923.

On the 2d Preferred stock, a quarterly dividend of 1% was declared, payable Jan. 11 1923, and the sum of $1,260,000 was set apart to make provision for three additional quarterly dividends of 1% each upon that stock.

On the Common stock, a quarterly dividend of 2% was declared, payable Feb. 8 1923.

Dividends.—During the year ended Dec. 31 1922 the following dividends were paid upon the shares of the Reading Co. from the earnings of the company for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31 1921: (1) 1st Preferred stock, 4% (paid 1% quarterly); (2) 2d Preferred stock, 4% (paid 1% quarterly); (3) Common stock, 8% (paid 2% quarterly).

Sinking Fund Payment.—Prior to the payment on Jan. 12 1922 of the dividend of 1% upon the 2d Preferred stock, Reading Co. paid to the trustee of its general mortgage $512,303, being the amount required for the sinking fund, which represented 5 cents per ton on all anthracite coal mined during the calendar year 1921 from lands owned and controlled by the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Co. and pledged under the general mortgage. This sum of $512,303 was also paid out of surplus earnings and was applied by the trustee to the purchase and cancellation of $628,000 Gen. Mtge. bonds hereinafter referred to.

Equipment Settlement with Government.—A settlement was made by the Philadelphia & Reading Ry. with the Director-General on June 30 1922 on account of the allocated equipment. Under this settlement the interest of the Philadelphia & Reading Ry. in the allocated equipment was relinquished and acquired for account of Reading Co., and the following units of equipment were delivered by the Director-General, and placed in an equipment trust known as Reading Co. Equipment Trust, Series "J," dated June 30 1922: 30 consolidation locomotives; 2,000 steel hopper coal cars, 55 tons capacity each; 1,000 steel under framed box cars, 100,000 lbs. capacity each, and 500 steel lowside gondola cars, 140,000 lbs. capacity each.

In addition to the above allocated equipment, there was also placed in this equipment trust 100 refrigerator cars, 5 all-steel baggage cars, and 5 all-steel baggage and mail cars.

All of this equipment was leased to the Philadelphia & Reading Ry. and, with the exception of the refrigerator cars and baggage and baggage and mail cars, was in its service on Dec. 31 1922.

Under an equipment trust, known as Reading Co. Equipment Trust Series "I," dated May 1 1922, the following equipment was also acquired for use by the Philadelphia & Reading Ry.: 2,000 steel hopper coal cars, 70 tons capacity each; 45 steel passenger coaches; 45 steel passenger coaches, suburban type; 5 steel combination passenger and baggage cars; 5 steel combination passenger and baggage cars, suburban type; 5 steel baggage cars, and 25 consolidation type locomotives.

All of this equipment had been delivered and was in the service of the Philadelphia & Reading Ry. on Dec. 31 1922, under lease.

The Philadelphia & Reading Ry. Co., which leases practically all of the equipment owned by Reading Co. or being acquired through equipment trust, has performed all its obligations in respect to the maintenance and replacement of the equipment on the basis of tractive power, carrying capacity or gross registered tonnage, as provided in the several leases from Reading Co.

New Terminal at Camden, N. J.—Work upon the construction of the new terminal facilities on the river front at Kaighn's Point, Camden, N. J., progressed favorably during 1922. These facilities were necessitated through the destruction by fire of the ferry house, offices and terminal buildings a few years ago. The temporary structures in use at Kaighn's Point have been inadequate to handle the traffic, and have seriously handicapped operations at that point.

This terminal will provide ample facilities for the passenger and vehicular traffic of the Delaware River Ferry Co. of New Jersey, and the rapidly expanding seashore and suburban traffic of the Atlantic City RR., and involves the erection of a commodious passenger station with waiting rooms, restaurant, offices, and rest and recreation rooms for the use of employees. There will also be a complete re-arrangement of tracks of the Atlantic City RR., which will eliminate passenger train movements from practically all the present grade crossings in the city of Camden.

No final determination has been reached as to the ultimate ownership of the terminal property, but, until a definite decision is reached, Reading Co. will finance the undertaking.

$628,000 Gen. Mtge. bonds of Reading Co. were sold to the trustee of the Gen. Mtge. Sinking Fund during 1922, while the amount of bonds owned by Reading Co. at the close of the year 1922 was $2,164,000.

Of the authorized issue of $135,000,000 Gen. Mtge. bonds, a total of $106,174,000 was issued to Dec. 31 1922. The amount of bonds outstanding was reduced, however, by the $11,547,000 bonds heretofore purchased and canceled through the operation of the Gen. Mtge. Sinking Fund, leaving outstanding $94,627,000.

Philadelphia & Frankford RR.—The issue of $500,000 1st Mtge. bonds of Philadelphia & Frankford RR. dated Aug. 1 1892, heretofore guaranteed as to principal and interest by Reading Co., matured Aug. 1 1922. With the approval of the I.-S. C. Commission, this issue of bonds was extended to Aug. 1 1952, with interest at 4½% per annum. The guarantee of Reading Co. endorsed on these bonds remains unchanged.

Reading Iron Co.—In connection with the proposed segregation of certain of the properties owned and controlled by Reading Co., the Reading Iron Co. on Dec. 30 1922 declared a special dividend of $3,000,000, payable in securities at current market prices, all of which dividend was received by Reading Co. as the owner of the entire capital stock of the Reading Iron Co.

The Reading Iron Co. on Dec. 31 1922, showed assets of the value of $19,824,434, while its current liabilities amounted to $3,202,887. Company has no funded indebtedness.

[The report refers briefly to the equity proceedings by the U. S. Government in connection with the segregation plan. An outline of the proceedings may be found in the "Chronicle" V. 110, p. 1816, 2358, 2488; V. 111, p. 1473; V. 112, p. 745, 2306, 2538. A digest of the second modified plan was given in V. 116, p. 479. The third modified plan, which has been approved by the District Court (see "Investment News" below) was outlined in "Chronicle" of May 19, p. 2256.]

Western Pacific Railroad Co.

(7th Annual Report—Year ended Dec. 31 1922.)

Pres. Charles M. Levey, San Francisco, May 1, wrote in brief:

Dividends.—Four dividends of 1½% each, aggregating $1,650,000, or 6% on the Preferred stock, were declared and paid during the year out of net corporate income and surplus.

Revenue.—Revenue from freight traffic was $9,476,588, an increase of $502,324, or 5.60%. During the first five months of the year freight revenues continued to suffer from the general business depression, which prevailed in 1921. A readjustment of rates on coal from Utah and Wyoming in June somewhat stimulated movement of that commodity, and notwithstanding existence throughout the year of keen competition via the Panama Canal on transcontinental business, and loss of business due to interrupted service incidental to strike of the various shop crafts during July, August and September, the ton miles of revenue freight handled increased 11.06%. A general reduction in freight rates, approximately 10%, became effective July 1 1922, which required the handling of greater tonnage to produce an equal amount of revenue, this fact coupled with variation in commodities carrying different rates tended to show less percentage increase in revenues than in ton miles of traffic handled.

Revenue from passenger traffic was $2,150,177, a decrease of $174,330, or 7.50%. Passenger revenues in common with freight suffered from interrupted service due to strike conditions during July, August and Sept.

Additional train service necessary to handle the increased tonnage added to out transportation costs which were offset, however, by various operating economies.

Wages.—Under decision of the United States Labor Board, effective July 1 1922, adjustments were made in the rates of pay, amounting to reduction of 8.94% of the wages of maintenance of way employees, shop crafts, clerks, &c. The reductions pertaining to maintenance of way employees were partially restored by a later decision, effective Oct. 16 1922. The decision of the Board, which became effective July 1, caused a strike of the various shop crafts, which extended over the period July 1 to Sept. 22. This not only resulted in serious interruption of traffic, with consequent loss of revenue, but necessitated a large expenditure for the protection of company property.

Taxes.—Comparison of railway tax accruals reflects in a marked degree the effect upon net railway operating income, the disposition of Governmental bodies to increase taxes imposed upon railway corporations.

In 1916 the tax accruals of this company amounted to $376,459, or 4.55% of its operating revenues, while for the current year they were $962,894, or 7.70%. The operating revenues for 1922 increased 51.21% over those of 1916, while the tax accruals for the same years show an increase of 155.78% or more than 3 times the ratio of increase in revenues.

Funded Debt.—Feb. 15 1922, $3,000,000 1st Mtge. 6% Gold bonds, maturing March 1 1946, were issued and sold at .977779 and int., the proceeds of which were applied to the redemption of $2,700,000 Equipment Gold notes then outstanding and to reimburse, in part, the company's treasury for the payment of $300,000 of such notes which became due and were paid Aug. 1 1921.

Road & Equipment.—Road and equipment charges during the year aggregate $1,274,757.

Alabama Traction Light & Power Co., Ltd.

Pres. Thomas W. Martin, May 1, wrote in substance:

Results.—Net income before deduction of interest and charges was $3,038,595, an increase of $600,951 over 1921. After providing for int., reserves for depreciation and other charges, including $349,269 paid U. S. Government by Alabama Power Co. for rental of steam power plants leased, there was carried to surplus account $708,037.

Interest on the funds set aside for new construction of Alabama Power Co. during the year has been added to the cost of the work, in accordance with regulations of both the State and Federal regulatory bodies. As the properties are completed and come into operation, such interest as it accrues will be provided from revenue.

Operation of Steam Plants.—The steam plants of the Alabama Power Co. at Gorgas and Gadsden were operated throughout the year, and the U. S. Government steam plant at Sheffield was operated during the dry season. The Birmingham steam plant of the Birmingham Ry., Light & Power Co. was also in service for a limited period.

Kilowatt Hours Generated.—The kilowatt hours generated by the company system during the year exceeded 607,000,000 hours, with a total coincident system peak demand of 153,100 k.w. as compared with 433,000,000 hours and a peak of 115,500 k.w. during 1921.

Contracts.—In view of the urgent demand of industries on the company's system, it was considered advisable to enter into contracts and supply electric power service in anticipation of the completion of Mitchell Dam, and for the production of this energy the steam units of the company with other leased plants were operated at times to full capacity.

The new load so developed will be transferred to the hydro generating units as the same are ready for service, and the operation of the reserve steam plants will be correspondingly reduced to the ordinary requirements of the system.

A proportion of the increased generating costs in producing this new load has been carried to a deferred asset account, and will be written off gradually over a period of time after the Mitchell Dam is in service.

Construction.—The construction of the new hydro-electric generating station at Mitchell Dam was carried out practically in accord with schedule. The dam was completed to the spillway on Dec. 31 1922, when the flood control channels were closed and the reservoir basin filled. The first generating unit was installed, and, after complete tests, placed in service on April 8 1923. The second and third units, it is hoped, will be completed and in service before July 1 1923.

The Mitchell Dam is the first hydro-electric power development in public utility service to be completed and in operation in the United States under the terms and conditions of the Federal Water Power Act of 1920.

The completion of this dam will materially assist the company in carrying the increasing load upon its system, and will enable it at times to dispose of surplus power to other companies through connecting lines.

New Financing.—To provide for capital expenditures on properties constructed or acquired during 1922, Alabama Power Co. disposed of its holdings in United States bonds in which surplus funds carried over from a previous financing had been temporarily invested. It also issued and sold $1,000,000 1st Mtge. Lien & Ref. Gold Bonds 6% Series, due 1951. From the sale of its Cumulative Preferred stock to its customers, employees and investors in Alabama, Alabama Power Co. received approximately $1,000,000. The remaining funds were provided by temporary bank loans, which have since been liquidated from the proceeds of 1st Mtge. Lien & Ref. bonds of a 5% series issued and sold against properties constructed or acquired in the early months of 1923.

Accumulated Preferred Dividends.—In view of the improved earnings of the company throughout the year, your directors felt it opportune to submit a plan whereby the accumulated dividend upon the Pref. stock would be liquidated. In accord with the announcement, dividend warrants were issued to Pref. shareholders of record Dec. 31 1922. These warrants were by their terms exchangeable for Pref. stock at par, this option to be exercised prior to Aug. 1 1923. If not so exchanged the warrants mature and are payable in cash without interest on or before Dec. 31 1925. Approximately 75% of the warrants issued have already been exchanged under the right of conversion into stock, and it is now expected the entire amount will be converted prior to Aug. 1 1923.

Acquisition.—Since the close of the year the Alabama Power Co. has acquired from the Cities Service Co. the properties of that company, consisting of electric power and gas distribution systems and the street railway service in the city of Montgomery.

New York Telephone Company.

(Annual Report—Fiscal Year Ended Dec. 31 1922.)

President H. F. Thurber, May 1, wrote in substance:

Scope of Operations.—Company provides telephone service over its own lines and those of its connecting companies throughout the State of New York, in the 12 counties of northern New Jersey and in a small part of western Connecticut. Population served approximately 15,000,000. In this territory on Dec. 31 1922 there were 2,070,171 telephones and of these 1,838,402 were owned by company and operated directly through its 583 central offices. Under contracts making them a part of the company's system for service purposes, 231,769 telephones were operated by connecting companies. To carry on the work of this huge industry over 48,000 men and women are employed by the company.

The company is the largest of the 25 associated companies, which, together with the parent company, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., comprise the Bell System.

By means of connections with the long-distance lines of the parent company, the scope of the service of the New York Telephone Co. includes all other parts of the United States, also Canada and Cuba.

Company operates under a license from the parent company. It is by reason of the provisions of this license that the company is enabled to make universal connections with all other telephones in the Bell System. The license contract also provides for the use of the telephone instruments owned by the parent company and for the use of all patents owned or controlled by it. It further provides that the company shall receive the benefits of the research and development work carried on by the parent company and assistance and advice in financial, accounting, legal, engineering and operating matters.

This license contract with the parent company has been of the greatest value and benefit to all telephone users and to the entire telephone business of the country.

Control.—The common stock is owned by the parent company. Company is, however, a separate operating unit and must of necessity earn sufficient revenues from its individual operations to yield proper compensation for the service rendered by it.

Corporate History.—Incorp. in New York June 18 1896, and succeeded to all of the business, property and franchises of Metropolitan Telephone & Telegraph Co. and the Westchester Telephone Co. The Metropolitan company was incorp. in May 1880, and at the time of its incorporation acquired the telephone business, property and franchises of the Gold & Stock Telegraph Co. (incorp. 1867) and of the Bell Telephone Co. of New York (incorp. 1878). The territory served by the above companies included the old City of New York and Westchester County and a part of Rockland County. Bell telephone service in the other parts of the territory now served by the company was furnished from the time of the commencement of commercial telephone business in or about 1879 until 1909 by New York & New Jersey Telephone Co., Bell Telephone Co. of Buffalo, Hudson River Telephone Co., New York & Pennsylvania Telephone & Telegraph Co., Central New York Telephone & Telegraph Co. and Empire State Telephone & Telegraph Co. and their precedessors. In 1909 the business, property and franchises of the six corporations last mentioned were consolidated with those of the New York Telephone Co., and since that year have been operated and managed as an entirety.

Comments on the Financial Statements.—The issue of $25,000,000 6½% Pref. stock offered to the public and to employees was the only new financing undertaken during 1922. Due to the large oversubscription it became necessary in the final allotment to limit individual purchases to a maximum of 5 shares. The $16,501,400 of Pref. stock shown in the balance sheet represents full paid stock for which certificates have been issued. In addition, company has received $1,867,482 in installments on stock to be issued when fully paid.

The reserve for employees' benefit fund which was established Jan. 1 1913 at $2,000,000 and has since been maintained at that figure was increased Dec. 31 1922 to $4,500,000 by transfer of $2,500,000 from unappropriated surplus. This increase was made to maintain the reserve in proper relation to the size of the organization and the pay-roll which have increased substantially since the reserve was established.

Company has always followed the conservative policy of charging to depreciation expense during the life of plant in service a sufficient amount to meet the losses incurred whenever the property is retired on account of physical deterioration, obsolescence or inadequacy. Adequate provision for depreciation is particularly important in the telephone business because a large proportion of the property is relatively short-lived and the constant improvements in equipment and methods and the rapid growth of the business necessitate frequent replacements.

Rate Changes.—In 1920 operating expenses had increased to such an extent, due to general economic conditions, that additional revenue was required, and to that end appropriate proceedings were had before the New York Public Service Commission.

During the continuance of these proceedings certain increases in rates were permitted and in Nov. 1922 the Commission concluded its comprehensive State-wide inquiry into telephone rates and made final orders therein on Jan. 25 1923. These final orders established new rates effective March 1 1923 in all of the territory of the company in N. Y. State. These rates are now in effect and, as a whole, will produce a greater revenue than the rates in effect at the time of the commencement of the rate proceedings in 1920.

The company intends to give these new rates established by the Commission a fair trial, but it does not believe that they are sufficient to yield all of the operating revenue to which the company is entitled.

$300,000,000 in Expansion in Next Five Years.—Company must constantly grow to meet the demands for new service. New capital must be provided to build new plant. Additional capital can be raised only through the sale of new securities which must compare favorably with other investments in the open market, both as regards rate of return and stability. Within the next 5 years approximately $300,000,000 must be secured to pay for new facilities. It is in the public interest, therefore, that company's property should be fairly valued and that its earnings should be sufficient to enable it to attract the continued flow of new capital that otherwise will be invested elsewhere.

Demand for Service.—In the last few years the demand for telephone service has been constantly increasing and at the beginning of 1922 company was confronted with a serious shortage of facilities which delayed new installations in many parts of the territory. The number of applications increased in unprecedented volume. The extent of this is shown by the fact that in 1922 the number of new stations applied for was approximately 40% greater than the yearly average for the preceding 5 years.

This enormous increase in demand is the result of several causes. There has been substantial growth in population. There has been extraordinary building activity in residential sections, particularly in districts hitherto undeveloped. The average earnings per individual have increased much more rapidly than the rates for telephone service and the effect has been to extend the demand to a class of the public which in former years did not ask for telephone service. We believe that this last consideration has had the greatest effect in increasing the demand.

Much of the new building for residence and business purposes could not be foreseen, came with little warning and was completed with speed comparable to army camp construction during the war. Telephone construction could not keep pace. Central office buildings must not only be fireproof, but must be specially designed to carry the heavy weight of equipment. Construction peculiar to telephone buildings is also necessary to bring into the buildings and up to the switchboards the large number of wires required to connect the subscribers' apparatus to the central office. Because of these special requirements a materially longer time is required to erect a telephone building than an ordinary office or loft building, and of course far longer time to erect the speculative type of single family or apartment house. A period of 2 or 3 years must elapse from the purchase of land to the completion of a new central office and the installation of the switchboard ready for use.

New Construction.—To meet the extraordinary demand for service a construction program was planned and carried out that would have been considered impossible a few years ago, and it was confidently expected that by the end of the year the shortage of facilities would be diminished to a considerable extent

We have obtained the greatest amount of materials and equipment available and have built, assembled and added to our plant as fast as the maximum number of workers obtainable could rush it through and still maintain the standard of construction necessary for good service. This resulted in 1922 in additions to plant that exceeded by far anything ever accomplished by any telephone company anywhere.

The gross cost of plant added by the company and construction work in progress in 1922 was over $63,000,000, the largest amount ever expended in any one year. The gain in the number of stations was 152,957, but to accomplish this 355,184 telephones were installed and 202,227 disconnected. In New York City alone the gross connections totaled 205,000. In 1921 gross connections of 182,000 in the same area were considered a big year's work. We spent $45,000,000 for new construction in New York City in 1922. We plan to spend $55,000,000 in the same territory in 1923, and the present program calls for an outlay of $250,000,000 there in the next five years.

Cable installed throughout company's system in the last year contained 897,567 miles of wire. If this were in the form of a cable containing 200 wires, it would be long enough to cross the Atlantic Ocean from New York and terminate at Rome, Italy, a distance of 4,400 miles. The aerial wire strung, 18,842 miles, would extend in a single strand more than three-quarters of the distance around the world. These facts shed some light upon the tremendous amount of work accomplished in a year by the 13,000 members of our plant department.

In the same 12 months 15 new central offices were put in service and 224 central office switchboards were enlarged. Seven new buildings and 11 major additions to existing buildings were begun, while 2 large new buildings and 9 building additions were completed. Despite every effort, however, a shortage of facilities continues and new construction is going ahead at a constantly increasing rate.

Telephone Service.—Company operates 583 central offices and has 25,400 operators engaged in this work. These young women are constantly dealing directly with the public, and the efforts of the company are reflected to a large extent by the manner in which their work is done. Our operators are conscientious and efficient.

Our central office switchboards vary in size from those in small communities serving 100 subscribers to those in principal cities which serve 10,000 subscribers' lines that originate approximately 125,000 calls a day.

In the last year 8,265,000 calls were originated daily in the company's system, including 440,000 toll calls which were handled over the toll lines of the company and the long-distance circuits of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The system in New York City is by far the largest of any city in the world. There were on Dec. 31 1922 1,074,000 telephones in the city proper and including the suburban area approximately 1,300,000 telephones. There are more telephones in New York City than the combined total of the following important foreign cities: London, Paris, Rome, Berlin, Vienna, Liverpool, Brussels, Tokio, Budapest and Amsterdam.

Machine Switching.—During the year, to relieve manual offices, there were put into service four machine switching central offices. With this system the subscriber completes connections for local calls by means of a dial on his telephone. At the end of the year the company had in service 7 machine switching boards operating a total of 37,000 stations and giving excellent service. We expect to put into operation in 1923, 10 new machine switching offices serving initially about 60,000 stations and having an ultimate capacity of 150,000 stations.

The introduction of machine switching equipment will not result in the immediate displacement of large investments in manual equipment nor will operators be thrown out of employment. As far as the operating forces are concerned, the effect will simply be that the forces will not increase in number as rapidly as they would have increased had we continued with the manual system exclusively.

United Shoe Machinery Corporation.

(Report for Fiscal Year Ended March 1 1923.)

President E. P. Brown, May 18, reports in substance:

The general improvement in the shoe manufacturing industry referred to in the 1922 report has been well maintained during the current year and the volume of business has been increased.

Our inventories of merchandise stocks, taken at replacement values, have been decreased nearly $2,000,000. The real estate account has been increased by the purchase of property in St. Louis, Mo., to be used for manufacturing purposes. The stocks and bonds and leased machinery account has been increased by the transfer of certain assets from domestic subsidiary companies entirely owned by the corporation which it is now planned to consolidate with the parent corporation, and by a re-appraisal of stocks of subsidiary companies owned by us. It has also been increased by additions to machinery and other investments. Accounts payable have been reduced to $1,632,957.

The stockholders on May 26 approved an increase in the authorized capital stock from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000: the authorized capital after such increase being 600,000 pref. shares and 2,400,000 com. shares, par $25. Following such action by the stockholders on May 28, the directors declared a stock dividend of 40% on the common stock [see below]. The effect of this issue and distribution of additional stock will increase the common stock from $34,670,151 to $48,538,212, and will reduce the surplus account from $32,649,184 to $18,781,123.

In accordance with the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court, the corporation took steps to adjust its leases so that they may be in accord with the full spirit of the decision.

The adoption of the new lease forms to take the place of those which have been in use for so long a time presented many difficult problems both for the company and for the shoe manufacturers, and the company discussed these problems very fully with its customers. A committee appointed by the National Boot & Shoe Manufacturers Association devoted much time and gave earnest thought to the subject.

The new forms of lease that have been adopted are individual in character, each machine being placed upon its own basis in respect to rental, royalty and otherwise. They have been well received by the trade and are now in general use.

During the year under review the foreign business of the corporation has made a gradual improvement over the preceding year. The financial and economic conditions in the Central European countries are in such a chaotic state that it is impossible to make any definite forecast in regard to the companies located in that territory. Generally speaking, however, the foreign business of the corporation, with the exception of Russia and Central Europe, may be considered to be in a satisfactory condition.

On March 1 1923 the corporation had 14,617 stockholders, of whom 9,443 were holders of common stock only, 3,333 were holders of preferred stock only, and 1,841 holders of both pref. and common, an increase of 271 stockholders during the year.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS

RAILROADS, INCLUDING ELECTRIC ROADS.

The following news in brief form touches the high points in the railroad and electric railway world during the week just past, together with a summary of the items of greatest interest which were published in full detail in last week's "Chronicle" either under "Editorial Comment" or "Current Events and Discussions."

Car Loadings.—Car loadings for the week ended May 12 totaled 974,521 cars, the greatest loading for any week since Nov. 4 1922, and within 4% of the greatest loadings of any one week in history, according to the reports filed with the American Railway Association.

While the total was establishing a new record for 1923, the number of loadings in the merchandise and miscellaneous division declined 4,019 cars from the week ended May 5. This decline, the second in as many weeks, means a reduction of freight cars loaded compared with April 28 of 9,481 cars, the total of merchandise miscellaneous cars loaded on May 12 being 588,342. This figure is an increase of 54,857 cars when compared with the corresponding week of 1922, and an increase of 137,261 over 1921.

The total loadings showed an increase of 13,502 cars over the week ended May 5, and an increase of 207,437 cars over the corresponding week of 1922. This increase in the total car loadings was due, in a large measure, to the heavy shipments of ore, the total for the week being 59,619 cars, the largest for any corresponding week on record. This is an increase of 21,676 cars over the previous week, and is 45,522 cars more than were loaded in the same week of 1922.

The shipment of forest products totaled 74,424 cars, 2,270 in excess of the previous week, while coal loadings were 175,158 cars, or 708 cars less than the week before. Grains and grain products totaled 31,997 cars, 2,100 cars less than the week before and 9,940 less than the same week last year. Live stock loadings decreased 3,819 from the previous week to 29,689 cars. A slight increase was shown in coke.

Reports of the car loadings for the last four weeks in comparison with the similar period of the last three years are as follows:

May 12	974,531	767,094	751,186	843,155
May 5	961,029	747,200	721,722	843,025

Car Shortage.—Shortage in freight cars in the United States as a whole on May 14 was 23,761, a decrease of 4,555 since May 7. Compared with Jan. 1 1923 there was a decrease of nearly 60,000 cars and on April 1 a decrease of nearly 45,000. The shortage in box cars on May 14 was only 5,528, a reduction of 3,641 in a week. There was also a reduction of 1,019 in the shortage of coal cars, which reduced the total to 15,653 for the entire country. With the reduction in car shortage there has been a gradual increase in the total number of surplus freight cars in good repair. On May 14 such cars totaled 18,419, an increase of 2,338 since May 7.

Car Surplus.—Surplus box cars in good repair totaled 6,277, an increase of 971 within a week. Surplus coal cars totaled 2,776, a reduction of 419, within the same period. The reports furnished by the railroads also showed 4,725 surplus stock cars, an increase of 1,334 since May 7. Surplus refrigerator cars increased 102 within the same period, bringing the total surplus for that class of equipment to 3,577 cars.

The Car Service Division of the American Railway Association, in authorizing the foregoing figures, calls attention to the fact that, while the number of freight cars loaded with revenue freight is now the largest for this time of year in the history of the railroads, shortage in freight cars virtually has disappeared. This gradual decrease in the shortage has taken place in the face of a consistent increase in loadings.

Matters Covered in "Chronicle" May 19.—(a) Large shipments of railroad locomotives, p. 2194. b Railroad freight traffic of unexampled dimensions, p. 2194. c Continued record loading of revenue freight by the railroads, p. 2194. d Charles H. Markham, in speech at U. S. Chamber of Commerce convention says railroad investors are regaining confidence, p. 2217. e President Smith's letter to New York Central stockholders urging them to combat unwarranted attacks on railroads, p. 2217. f Malicious acts against Lehigh Valley RR. during shopmen's strike, p. 2218. g John Benton's views on forthcoming conference of Progressive-Radical group on re-valuation of railroads, p. 2218.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry.—Acquisition Approved

The I.-S. C. Commission on May 16 approved the acquisition by the Atchison of control of the railroad of the Dodge City & Cimarron Valley Ry. by lease.

By the terms of the proposed lease the Dodge City Co. demises to the Atchison its railroad and appurtenances for the term of ten years from Jan. 1 1923, and thereafter from year to year, subject to the right of either party to terminate the lease upon 90 days' written notice. The lessee agrees to maintain and operate the demised railroad and to pay all interest, all taxes, assessments, and governmental charges, &c. When the proposed lease becomes effective, it will supersede the lease dated July 1 1913, and expiring June 30 1923, under which the Atchison now operates the railroad.

The N. Y. Stock Exchange directs attention to the fact that the privilege to convert the 4% convertible bonds maturing 1960 into Common stock expires on May 31 1923.—V. 116, p. 2248.

Barcelona Traction, Light & Power Co., Ltd.—Interest.

The holders of the 7% Prior Lien "A" bonds are notified that interest coupon No. 16, due and payable June 1 1923, will be paid on and after that date at the Bank of Scotland, 30 Bishopsgate, London, England, and at the agency of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, 16 Exchange Place, N. Y. City. Payment will be made in New York in U. S. currency at the current rate of exchange.—V. 115, p. 2579.

Barnegat Railroad.—Abandonment.—

The New Jersey P. U. Commission has approved the application of the company to abandon its 8 miles of road June 6. The entire $50,000 capital stock is owned by the Pennsylvania RR. The Commission states:

"We find and determine, therefore, that the Barnegat Railroad Co. has since its organization been operated at a loss; that it has not been able in the past to recoup its losses through increased business, that there is no reasonable anticipation of any substantial increase in business in the future, and that it should not be compelled to operate its railway lines at a loss; that there is not sufficient business, either passenger or freight, in the territory through which it operates to produce sufficient revenue to justify the operation of a railway line, and that by reason thereof, public necessity and convenience are such that an abandonment of the line will be justified."

Birmingham (Ala.) Ry., Light & Power Co.—Ordinance.

The City Commission of Birmingham, Ala., has adopted an ordinance, summarized briefly as follows: (1) Cash fares are reduced from 8 to 7 cents. Ticket fares are reduced from 6 2-3 cents to 6 cents, or in books of 20 tickets for $1 20. Fares fixed are maximum, the company binding itself not to ask an increase inside of three years, though the city is free to ask a decrease in fares should conditions warrant such action. (2) The "Jim Crow" ordinance recently adopted by the city will be enforced, but in modified form. Cars with separate entrances for white and negro passengers are to be provided. (3) The company will install 100 street lights at once and others as ordered. A reduction of from $54 to $48 a year in the price of maintenance of arc lights is made. The contract covers a 10-year period. (4) Jitneys are practically eliminated by regulation.—V. 116, p. 1274.

Boston Elevated Ry.—New Bond Issue.—A syndicate composed of Merrill, Oldham & Co., R. L. Day & Co., Estabrook & Co. and Harris, Forbes & Co. has purchased $3,000,000 of 6% 10-year bonds. Public offering will be made early next week.

Although officers will not be chosen until the reorganization plan is formally approved and the receiver discharged, William S. Menden, present general manager, is expected to be elected President. Albert H. Wiggin, Gerhard M. Dahl and Frederick Strauss, who constitute the purchasing committee of the Reorganization Committee and are named as directors in the articles of incorporation, will continue as directors when the permanent board of 15 members is formed. It is expected that the Transit Commission will appoint 3 members of the board to represent the public, as it did in the case of the reorganization of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co.—V. 116, p. 2128, 2006.

Buffalo & Lake Erie Traction Co.—Wages Increased.—The company has granted a wage increase of 5 cents an hour to its platform employees. About 250 men are affected. Operators of one-man cars will now receive 60 cents an hour and trainmen on cars requiring two men will receive a maximum of 55 cents an hour.—V. 116, p. 514.

Buffalo & Susquehanna RR.—2½% Extra Dividend.—An extra dividend of 2¼% has been declared on the $3,000,000 Common stock, par $100, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾%, both payable June 30 to holders of record June 15. Like amounts were paid March 30 last on the Common stock. The company on Dec. 30 last paid a special dividend of 10% on the Common stock in addition to the regular quarterly of 1¾%.—V. 116, p. 933.

Chicago City Ry.—Resignation.—Harrison B. Riley has resigned as a director.—V. 116, p. 1409.

Chicago City & Connecting Rys. Collateral Trust.—Harrison B. Riley has resigned as Chairman.—V. 116, p. 513.

Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Ry.—Notes Sold.—Speyer & Co. and Dillon, Read & Co., have sold at 99 and interest, $7,000,000 3-Year 5½% Secured Gold Notes (see advertising pages).

Dated June 1 1923. Due June 1 1926. Interest payable J. & D. Denom. $1,000 c. Central Union Trust Co., New York, trustee. Entire issue (but not a part thereof) redeemable at 101 and int. on any interest date upon 30 days' previous notice. Principal and interest payable in New York, without deduction for any tax, assessment or governmental charge (other than Federal income taxes exceeding in the aggregate 2% per annum) which the company or trustee may be required to pay, or to retain therefrom, under any present or future law of the United States of America, or of any State, county, municipality or other taxing authority therein.

Security.—Secured by deposit of $11,666,000 First & Ref. Mtge. 4% Gold Bonds, due April 1 1934, the bonds being thus pledged at 60, as against the present market value of approximately 78, or at a margin of about 30%.

Purpose.—Proceeds are to be used for additions and betterments, and other corporate purposes.

Files Suit to have Section in Mortgage Declared Void.—The company has filed suit against the Central Union Trust Co. of New York, and David R. Francis, as trustees of its 1st & Ref. Mtge. of April 1 1904, and J. L. Hecht, as a holder of the 1st & Ref. Mtge. bonds, asking the court to declare void and unenforcible, contrary to public policy, and of no effect whatever, the following covenant contained in Section 3, Article of said mortgage:

"The Railway Company shall not and will not create or suffer to be created, while any of the 1st & Ref. Mtge. bonds are outstadning, any mortgage, pledge or other lien or charge subsequent to the lien of this indenture, upon the mortgaged and pledged premises or any part thereof."

It is alleged in this bill of complaint that the above clause is of no benefit to the 1st & Ref. bondholders; that the creation of a new mortgage, securing a new issue of bonds, junior and subsequent in rank and lien to the 1st & Ref. Mtge, would in no manner interfere with, impair or affect the security, priority, rank or lien of the 1st & Ref. Mtge., and would not in any manner affect the rights of the First and Refunding bondholders, but that, on the contrary, the expenditure of the proceeds of the new bonds upon the property subject to the 1st & Ref. Mtge., would be of great benefit to the 1st & Ref. bondholders, by increasing the value of the property which is security for the 1st & Ref. bonds.

The case has been assigned for hearing June 12.

Equipment Trust, Issue of 1923, Series "L," Authorized.—The I.-S. C. Commission has authorized the company to assume obligation and liability in respect of $8,550,000 equipment trusts, Series "L" dated June 1 1923. See offering in V. 116, p. 2006, 2225.

Citizens Traction Co., Oil City, Pa.—Wage Increase.—The company has voluntarily raised the wages of all motormen and conductors 5 cents an hour, retroactive to April 16 1923. Under the present arrangement for the first six months of service the men will receive 46 cents an hour; for the second six months, 48 cents, and for the third six months and thereafter, 50 cents an hour. One-man car operators will receive 5 cents an hour additional. The old scale of 41, 43 and 45 cents became effective on June 1 1921, and was a 10-cent reduction from the schedule which went into force on April 26 1920.—V. 115, p. 644.

Cleveland Southwestern & Columbus Ry.—Wage Incr.—Motormen and conductors have voted to accept a wage increase of 5 cents an hour. The new wage scale provides an increase of 12% over last year's wages. The new wage scale for the interurban gives first-year men 46 cents an hour, second-year men 50 cents an hour and third-year men 54 cents an hour.—V. 116, p. 2006.

Columbus Ry. Power & Light Co.—Dividends.—The directors have declared the following dividends:

1. On the Commom Stock: 1¼% each payable June 15 and Sept. 1 to holders of record May 31 and Aug. 16, respectively, and 1% payable Dec. 1 to holders of record Nov. 15. These dividends together with the 2½% distribution on Jan. 20 last, will make a total of 6% on the Common for the year.
2. On the Pref. Stock, Series "A": Three quarterly distributions of 1½% each, payable July 2, Oct. 1 1923, and Jan. 2 1924, to holders of record June 15, Sept. 15 and Dec. 15, respectively.
3. On the Pref. Stock, Series "B,": 1¼% payable Aug. 1 to holders of record July 16 and 2¼% payable Nov. 1 to holders of record Oct. 16. These dividends together with those already paid will bring total payments on this issue up to 6% for the year.—V. 116, p. 1759.

Cuba RR.—To Increase Capital—Listing.—The company proposes to increase its Common stock from 200,000 shares, par value $100, to 1,000,000 shares, no par value.

The New York Stock Exchange has authorized the listing of $4,000,000 1st Lien & Ref Mtge Gold bonds, Series "A," 7½%, due Dec. 1 1936.—V. 115, p. 1428, 1425.

Detroit Bay City & Western RR.—May Discontinue.—Judge Arthur J. Tuttle has issued an order for all persons interested in the operation of the road to appear in Federal Court at Bay City, Mich., June 1 and show cause why the court should not order a discontinuance of operation of the road.—V. 116, p. 1275.

Dodge City & Cimarron Valley Ry.—Lease.—See Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. above.—V. 114, p. 1062.

New York Rys.—Judge Mayer Decides $1,500,000 Broadway-Seventh Avenue Bonds Are Enforceable.—
The validity of $1,500,000 Broadway & Seventh Ave. 1st Mtge 5% bonds held by the trustee of New York Railways Co. refunding mortgage has been upheld in a decision handed down by Judge Mayer in the U. S. District Court. The payment on the bonds was refused in 1919 when the New York Railways 4% bondholders' committee ordered proceedings begun for foreclosure of the mortgage securing them, the claim being set up by the Broadway and Seventh Ave. that in law they m st be considered retired. The decision of Judge Mayer declared the bonds are enforceable.
The decision removes the last of the significant legal difficulties in the way of proceeding with the reorganization of the company, and follows the decision handed down in April (V. 116, p. 2007) setting aside claims of bondholders of merged lines of New York Railways system that, by virtue of the merger, their mortgages were extended to all property of the system. The Circuit Court of Appeals will review both decisions on June 12, 13 and 14, as well as the decision, formerly rendered, calling for an apportionment of equipment among lines formerly operated as part of New York Railways system.—V. 116, p. 2007, 2256.

Pacific Electric Ry.—Subway Franchise—Wages, &c.—
The company on April 20 formally filed with the City Council of Los Angeles, Calif., an application for a 40-year franchise for the construction of a rapid transit subway for its interurban trains. In Sept. 1922 the company obtained a 40-year franchise to construct a rapid transit subway for serving Glendale, Hollywood and San Fernando Valley points, but proposes, if granted the right by the City Council, to extend this subway from its Hill Street terminal to Pershing Square as the first unit of a $20,000,000 subway system. Other subways will radiate from Pershing Square terminal east and west. ("Electric Ry. Journal.")
The company recently announced an increase in wages of trainmen approximating $350,000 annually, effective April 16 1923. This increases the present scale 3 to 6 cents an hour, according to the class of train service. In making this announcement, Vice-Pres. D. W. Pontius states that the new rates are partly a restoration of the rates in effect prior to Oct. 1 1921, at which time a reduction was made in the wages because of economic conditions.
The company has announced that 50 new all-steel interurban passenger cars will be purchased immediately at a total cost of $1,800,000. Bids have been asked for the proposed new equipment and the earliest possible date of delivery specified.—V. 116, p. 936.

The men had asked for an increase of 20 cents.

Withdrawal of Deposits—Bondholders' Committee Accomplishes Main Objects.—The bondholders' protective committee of securities included in the Pittsburgh Railways, of which Thomas S. Gates is Chairman, in a letter to security holders who deposited their holdings with the committee, advises that the bonds may now be withdrawn, the committee having been successful in accomplishing the main objects intended. The letter states:

This committee was formed Jan. 10 1918 for the protection of holders of bonds of the various corporations included in the Pittsburgh Railways System. At that time default had been permitted to occur in the payment of interest due upon bonds of 15 different issues. Thereafter additional defaults were permitted to occur so that ultimately 29 bond issues were in default as respects one or more interest payments.
Under date of Jan. 29 1919 a supplemental deposit agreement was made and under it large numbers of bonds were deposited with the committee including Southern Traction bonds and Pittsburgh Railways bonds. The objectives of the committee were principally two:
(1) To exert continuous pressure for the payment of overdue interest; (2) To make determined opposition to all efforts to dismember the System by foreclosure or otherwise.
The committee is happy to report that after five years of vigilant attention to the interests of the depositing bondholders both of these objectives have been attained.
The responsibility of the Philadelphia Co. for preserving the integrity of the System was emphasized in an action brought at the instance of the committee by a depositing bondholder to compel payment of interest by the Philadelphia Co. even upon bonds which bore no formal guaranty. Intervention was secured and defense made to foreclosure proceedings which threatened to dismember the system and thus to impair the security of all the deposited bonds. The Philadelphia Co. was prevented from recouping itself out of the earnings of the receivership of the Pittsburgh Railway for payments of interest made by the Philadelphia Co. in compliance with its guaranties. From time to time, defaults which had occurred upon deposited bonds have been cured by payment until at present interest upon all issues of bonds held by the committee is being paid with regularity and promptness.
Since the original default on the bonded debt of the various railway companies the management of the Philadelphia Co. has been changed and A. W. Thompson has been elected President. The new management of the Philadelphia Co. has worked diligently and successfully for the improvement of the financial and physical condition of the properties. The committee has had good reason to hope that a comprehensive plan of reorganization for the entire System would be proposed and that the plan when proposed would be one which the committee could commend to the bondholders as adequate and satisfactory. It appears, however, that the management of the Philadelphia Co. is of opinion that the proposal of such a plan of reorganization is not expedient at the present time, although the conditions are such that the receivership of the Pittsburgh Railways is likely to be terminated in the near future.
The committee appreciates the considerations which have led the management thus to defer action for the present, and, having succeeded in the main endeavors, does not feel justified in longer withholding the deposited bonds from their several owners.—V. 116, p. 1412, 1050.

Puget Sound Power & Light Co.—New Fare Tariff Filed.
The company has filed with the Department of Public Works at Olympia a new experimental tariff of four tickets for 25 cents, or a cash fare of 7 cents. The present tariff of 20 tokens for $1, or a cash fare of 7 cents, it is stated, has caused a loss during 19 weeks of $10,018.—V. 116, p. 1761.

Quebec Ry. Light Heat & Power Co.—New Control—Underlying Bonds Due June 1 Provided For.—
According to Montreal dispatches, control of the company has passed to the Shawninigan Water & Power Co. The following new directors have been elected: Julian C. Smith, Howard Murray and Wy. S. Hart, Montreal; C. E. Taschereau, J. H. Frotier and James McCarthy, Quebec. The board now stands composed of the above nemad together with Lorne C. Webster, J. P. B. Casgrain, A. Turgeon, D. O. L'Esherance and Charles G. Greenshields, K. C.
The following officers have been appointed: Julian C. Smith, Pres.; Howard Murray, V.-Pres.; W. S. Hart, Treas.; James Wilson, Sec., and Arthur Lemoine, Asst. Sec.
It is stated that the financing of the $2,500,000 5% Quebec, Montmorency & Charlevoix Ry. bonds, due on June 1, is arranged. The Shawinigan Water & Power Co., it is said, has purchased the $2,500,000 5% Consolidated Mtge. bonds of the Quebec Company, due 1934 and as this leaves a balance necessary to meet the impending maturity, because the 5% are selling so far below the market value, the Shawinigan Co. has also advanced sufficient funds to make up the necessary principal sum of the maturities. A further sum has also been advanced in order to meet the full interest on the maturing bonds as well as on the outstanding 5% Consolidated Mortgage bonds, it is said.—V. 116, p. 1761.

Reading Co.—Plan Confirmed and Approved.—
The U. S. District Court at Philadelphia on May 22 filed an order confirming absolutely the third modified segregation plan and dismissed all the exceptions. The Court directed counsel for the company and the other corporations to present a final decree on or before June 20 embodying all the details for the issuance of the new mortgages and the bonds thereunder. The Court says that at the present time it sees no need to order a trusteeing of the stock of the old coal company, pointing out that the decree of June 6 1921 provides for the trusteeing of the stock of the new coal company, but if there is undue delay accomplishing this the Court reserves the right to act on the recommendation of the Attorney-General that the old stock be trusteed pending a final dissolution.
The bondholders' protective committee for the Gen. Mtge. bonds have issued the following notice to the bondholders:
"The committee, under deposit agreement of July 1 1922, between the committee, J. P. Morgan & Co., and Drexel & Co., as depositaries and holders of said bonds, parties thereto, have approved of a plan for the adjustment of the affairs and properties of said companies and the modification of the terms and provisions of the said bonds and security thereof. The U. S. District Court for Eastern District of Pennsylvania has also approved such plan." See plan in V. 116, p. 2256.

This road, extending from Rome, Ga., to Gore, 19 miles, was sold at receiver's sale on April 10 to a syndicate headed by H. H. Shackleton for $35,000. The Rome & Northern Ry. has applied to the Georgia Public Service Commission for authority to issue $10,000 Common stock to raise a portion of the purchase price of the property.—V. 114, p. 1288.

Rutland RR.—Abandonment of Branch Line.—
The I.-S. C. Commission on May 15 issued a certificate authorizing the abandonment by the company of a portion of a line of railroad in Addison County, Vt., and Essex County, N. Y., aggregating in all 1.08 miles. —V. 116, p. 177.

St. Louis-San Francisco Ry.—I.-S. C. Commission Denies Application to Acquire Control of International-Great Northern.—The I.-S. C. Commission on May 18 in a decision handed down, denied the company's application for authority to acquire the Capital stock of the International-Great Northern RR., such acquisition being found by the Commission "not to be in the public interest." The report of the Commission says in substance:

The St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. on Dec. 26 1922 filed an application, pursuant to paragraph (2) of Section 5 of the Inter-State Commerce Act, for an order authorizing it to acquire control of the International-Great Northern RR. by purchase of the Capital stock of that company. The State of Texas recommends that in the event the application be granted the order authorizing such acquisition be so conditioned as not to create a consolidation of the two companies. Communications have been received from representative organizations of business men and shippers in the interested territory, and from public officials and individuals, all recommending that the application be granted. A hearing was held on this application, at which an intervening petition was filed by the Missouri Pacific RR.

In accordance with the agreement for the reorganization of the International company, dated June 1 1922, all the Capital stock of the new company, excepting directors' qualifying shares, was assigned to three individuals as voting trustees, subject to a trust agreement. The voting trustees, with the consent of the holders of a majority in amount of the trust certificates outstanding under the trust agreement present at a meeting called for the purpose, may sell, exchange or otherwise dispose of the stock, as a whole, for the pro rata benefit of the holders of the trust certificates, for such price, property, or other consideration, and upon such terms, as they, in their discretion, shall determine.

On Dec. 20 1922 the applicant made a contract with the voting trustees to purchase all the Capital stock of the International company for $27 75 a share. It is represented that the consideration is based upon the highest market price paid for the stock, which is stated to have been $26 75 a share, plus a commission of $1 a share. The contract is made subject to the approval of the holders of a majority in amount of the voting trust certificates and to the consent of the applicant's stockholders and of any governmental body having jurisdiction.

The stockholders of the applicant have ratified the proposed transaction since the hearing was held. The applicant proposes to finance the purchase by the issue of $2,000,000 of its purchase money notes, to mature 6 months after date, and to be secured by the pledge of the International company's stock and other collateral, with the understanding that at maturity $1,500,000 of the notes, at the applicant's option, may be extended for 6 months, at the end of which time $1,000,000 may be extended for a further period of 6 months, and at the expiration of the second extended period $500,000 may be extended for an additional 6 months. The notes will bear interest at a rate to be agreed upon at the time they are executed.

It appears that the stock of the International company, if acquired by the applicant, will be subject to the lien of the applicant's existing mortgages in so far as such mortgages, by their terms, attach thereto. The testimony shows that the voting trustees declined to negotiate with the applicant for the sale of the stock until after they had been advised by representatives of the Missouri Pacific that the latter did not desire to purchase it.

The Missouri Pacific RR., intervener, represents that the International railroad was constructed to form a continuous line from St. Louis to Houston, Laredo, and Gulf ports, in connection with the railroads of the Texas & Pacific and the Missouri Pacific; that for 40 years it has been preferentially used by the Missouri Pacific in transporting freight and in the operation of through passenger trains between the points named, and because of such long and continued use there has been created a route and channel of trade and commerce over the lines of said carriers, in competition with the lines of the applicant, which is 139 miles shorter from St. Louis to San Antonio and 202 miles shorter from St. Louis to Houston than the route formed by the lines of the applicant and the International company. The largest interchange of traffic by the International railroad is with the Texas & Pacific in connection with the Missouri Pacific.

In our tentative plan for the consolidation of railroads the applicant's line is placed in System No. 18, Frisco-Katy-Cotton Belt, while the International railroad is included in System No. 19, Chicago-Missouri Pacific. Hearings have been held by us in relation to the grouping of lines in the above systems, but a final determination has not been made. If the proposed acquisition be authorized the Missouri Pacific asks that the order be so conditioned as to provide for the maintenance of the existing through route and service, and be without prejudice to its rights in the event our tentative plan for the consolidation of railroads in group 19 becomes ultimately effective.

Upon the facts disclosed by the record we are unable to find that the acquisition by the applicant of control of the International company by purchase of the Capital stock of that company will be in the public interest. —V. 116, p. 2257.

San Diego Electric Ry.—To Operate Bus Lines.—
The company has applied to the California Railroad Commission for authority to abandon certain of its railway lines and replace them with motor coach service. The new service involves the abandonment of approximately 8.64 miles of railway including the line to Old Town and portions of the Point Loma line.—V. 115, p. 1211.

Schenectady (N. Y.) Ry.—City Enjoined on Strike.—
The company on May 18 obtained a temporary injunction restraining city officials from interfering with the operation of trolley cars during the strike now in progress. The injunction was granted by Justice Angell and is returnable at Hudson Falls on June 9, at which time the company will seek to have it made permanent. The trolleymen went out on strike May 17, following a disagreement with the company over its open shop plan. The strike ties up all lines in Schenectady and interurban lines to Albany, Troy and Saratoga. About 600 men are affected.—V. 116, p. 1761.

Steubenville East Liverpool & Beaver Val. Trac. Co.
Following an agreement between the employees and the company, the City Council of East Liverpool, Ohio, on April 16 last enacted an ordinance granting the company a 7-cent city fare with a 1-cent transfer and a five-year exemption from street paving assessments. Prior to the suspension of car service in May 1923, the fare was 5 cents, with free transfers.—V. 116, p. 1051.

The city has stated its intention of carrying this legal battle to the Imperial Privy Council, if necessary, to secure a verdict directing the arbitrators to reconsider their award and it is stated that the company is willing to go as far in an effort to have the award stand.—V. 116, p. 722, 516.

Toronto Suburban Ry.—Bondholders Cannot Stop Sale.
The sale to the city of Toronto of the company's lines within the city, which is now under consideration, has given rise to some objections on the part of bondholders. In reply to a question in the Canadian House of Commons the Minister of Railways stated that:

"The Toronto Suburban Co.'s lines within the city of Toronto are governed by a franchise granted by the former town of Toronto Junction (now Ward 7 of the city of Toronto), which expired in 1921. Under their franchise, the former town of Toronto Junction, or the successors, had the right, upon notice, to take within the limits of the town at a valuation to be agreed upon and fixed by arbitration. The city of Toronto duly gave notice in 1921 of its intention to take over the franchise lines, and a tentative valuation was made between the two parties which has not yet been acted upon.

"An objection was made on behalf of the bondholders that the whole of the lines of the Suburban Co., both inside and outside of the franchise limits, had to be taken by the city on the expiry of the franchise, but this objection was not maintainable. The bondholders are subject to the franchise terms to the same extent as the railway company, and while objection may be made, the direction, by the bondholders to the sale of lines or parts of lines, outside the franchise limits, within the franchise limits the consummation of the sale or taking over by the city depends only upon the fixing of the consideration to be paid.

"The representation of the bondholders claim that they must be consulted and must agree to any value fixed or to any disposal of lines outside the franchise limits. In the correctness of this position the Railway Co. concurs. The terms and the extent of the taking over are now under active consideration by the parties concerned, subject to the rights of the bondholders as stated."—V. 115, p. 2582.

INDUSTRIAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

The following brief items touch the most important developments in the industrial world during the past week, together with a summary of similar news published in full detail in last week's "Chronicle" either under "Editorial Comment" or "Current Events and Discussions."

Steel and Iron Production, Prices, &c.

The "Iron Age" May 24 says:

"Consumers of steel are taking all material due them from the mills, prices are maintained and there is little or no sign of duplicate ordering or of cancellations. Products into which steel enters are also fully taken and the steel trade as a whole sees that substantially the present rate of mill operations will keep up for weeks.

"It is recognized that the test of prices is ahead, and that the falling off in structural work as well as in oil field drilling will be factors, but the possibility of other lines needing more steel is not overlooked. Export trade would come in also for more attention if later the domestic demand should slacken.

"A notable contract just closed by the Steel Corporation is for 25,000 tons of pipe line steel for the Western Pipe & Steel Co., San Francisco. Of this total, 17,000 tons are plates. The buyer is to build the final section of the Hetch-Hetchy line to bring water to San Francisco from the Sierras. Steel deliveries begin in the fourth quarter.

"Among rail contracts lately closed are 40,000 tons for the Burlington, 50,000 tons for the Southern Pacific, and a round tonnage for the Louisville & Nashville. A 15,000-ton Reading order is pending. Japan's latest purchase is 6,000 tons, and her continued buying here is due to the laying down of American rails in Japan at less than the high-production costs there.

"Inquiries for 1,250 to 1,500 hopper cars appeared, the Pennsylvania RR. distributed orders for 15,000 tons of fabricated car parts and the Western Maryland is negotiating for 10,000 tons of such material.

"Steel castings booked in April were at no less than 94% of capacity, though the average of the preceding three months was 115%.

"Though partly seasonal, the decline in fabricated steel work is shown by awards of only 6,500 tons in projects of fair size. Of 13,000 tons of inquiries nearly one-half is for public work and the remainder largely for railroads. Bureau of Census figures indicate total April bookings of 200,000 tons, against 237,500 tons for March, both as good as any month since May 1922.

"A Cleveland sheet bar mill has sold 35,000 to 40,000 tons for the third quarter, prices to be those prevailing at delivery.

"At Detroit there is some slowing in automobile production, but in the main demand for steel for motor car and parts manufacture holds up. Little steel has been bought for third quarter, however.

"In another very quiet week for pig iron, Bessemer and basic grades have declined 50c. per ton in the Pittsburgh district and at Chicago Southern iron has sold as low as $26, Birmingham, though $27 is the prevailing price. Deliveries keep right up and prices of Northern foundry irons are fairly well held, especially in eastern Pennsylvania, though there is no real test of strength yet.

"In Pittsburgh and nearby districts, there are now 126 blast furnaces operating out of 138, the largest number active since 1918. Several furnaces have been blown out for repairs and others are expected to be idle soon for the same reason. Thus it may be hard to hold the very high rate of production reached in April.

"At 5,582,000 tons, April broke all records for a month's consumption of Lake Superior iron ore. The total of stocks in blast furnace yards and at Lake Erie docks was 19,682,000 tons on May 1, as against 25,091,000 tons one year previous.

"The contract price for blast furnace coke for the third quarter has settled definitely to $6 a ton at ovens, or about $1 less than was paid for first and second quarter coke. The week's sales at the new price have been fully 300,000 tons.

"In European markets buyers await lower prices. German prices were marked up 8% May 21, but the advance is less than the drop in the exchange rate.

"The 'Iron Age' pig iron composite has fallen to $29 04 per gross ton, from $29 29 last week and $30 79 for the four preceding weeks. It is now $3 08 above the price at the first of the year.

"Finished steel remains at 2.789c. per lb., the 'Iron Age' composite price recording no change. One year ago it was 2.127c.; two years ago, 2.764c."

Coal Production, Prices, &c.

The "Coal Trade Journal" May 23, reviewed market conditions as follows:

"Spottiness continues much in evidence in the bituminous coal markets of the country. Production is maintained at a rate that inclines consuming interests to the belief that they are warranted in considering their future coal requirements in a leisurely fashion. That danger lurks in the situation the average coal man is convinced, but the average consumer refuses to see it. The result is that, despite the large volume of tonnage moving from the mines to the consumers and retail trade each week, snap is lacking to open market trading, except, possible, in the case of low volatile coals for western delivery.

"The general current of prices, both east and west, is downward. Mine-run and screenings are the greatest sufferers in the decline. In the East, the easiness of slack reflects the movement of prepared sizes for lack loadings. Having been trained to expect lower prices on fine coal with the opening of navigation, the Eastern industrial consumer is not disposed to upset his calculations by purchasing eagerness. In the West, the backward spring maintained domestic demand for prepared coal beyond the normal peak, thereby increasing the tonnage of screenings seeking a market.

"Comparing spot quotations as a whole for the week closing last Saturday with those for the week ended May 12, changes appear in 54.5% of these figures. Of these changes, 80.8% represent reductions ranging from 5 cents to $1 and averaging 24.3 cents per ton. The advances range from 10 to 45 cents and average 21.4 cents. The straight average minimum for all the bituminous coals was $2 23, a decline of 6 cents from the preceding week. The average maximum, $2 65, was 8 cents under the May 12 figure. The averages for the corresponding week in 1922, when the general strike was on, were $4 05 and $4 42, respectively.

"Lake dumpings for the second week of the month totaled 594,731 tons of cargo fuel. This was a marked falling off from the record for the preceding week, when 804,210 tons were dumped for cargo account, but the totals for the season to date are ahead of 1920 and 1922 and less than 200,000 tons behind 1921. During the week ended May 19, there were 320,000 tons unloaded at the Head of the Lakes.

"Domestic demand for anthracite sizes holds up. If there is any sectional abatement, the slack is so quickly taken up in the increased call from other quarters that there is no easing in the market, and independent quotations have now touched $11 50, with pea at $8. In the steam division, No. 1 buckwheat appears to be weaker than rice or barley. Lake shipments from Buffalo last week totaled 121,200 tons."

The disinclination on the part of the Irish people to do business with a company using the word Anglo is said to be responsible for this step.—V. 116, p. 1896, 1764.

Appalachian Corp. (of Georgia).—New Reorganization.

The bondholders' protective committee have adopted a new plan of reorganization, dated May 7 1923, superseding the plan dated Oct. 3 1922 (V. 116, p. 2161).

The committee in a notice to the bondholders states in brief:

Under the management existing prior to the receivership the company became badly involved and as a result of foreclosure the New Orleans warehouse (a valuable property) was sold at sheriff's sale for less than the amount of the mortgages and lost entirely to the bondholders. The Missouri orchards were afterwards sold at receiver's sale and only about $15,000 to $20,000 net was realized for the receivership.

Following these disasters, some of the largest bondholders, realizing that drastic measures were necessary if anything was to be salvaged from the wreck, and believing that the plan of Oct. 3 1922 was very unfair to the bondholders, arranged for a meeting of the bondholders' committee on March 9 1923, and increased the membership of the committee from 5 to 8 and deposed Louis B. Magid as Chairman. The first act of this reorganized committee was to cancel the plan of Oct. 3 1922.

The committee found that practically the only assets remaining in the hands of the receiver were the Georgia orchards and lands, and that the net cost of the receivership will be about $50,000 to $60,000, which must be paid from the proceeds of the sale of the property before any amount can be distributed to the bondholders.

These properties consist of the following: (a) 700 or 800 acres of orchard lands in Habersham County, Ga., on which there are growing approximately 30,000 to 40,000 apple trees of the average age of 7 to 8 years. (b) Between 300 and 400 acres of unimproved lands in Habersham and Rabun counties, Ga.

Under order of the U. S. District Court, this property was advertised for sale for April 20. Committee succeeded in having this sale postponed until June 5 1923, at which time the property will be sold. It will be necessary for the bondholders to buy the property at that time in order to preserve their interests.

The outstanding bonds of the Appalachian Corp. amount to $1,234,400, of which amount $1,124,900 have been deposited with the committee.

Personal investigation by several members of the committee and experts employed by the committee developed the fact that the property remaining has considerable value but, due to present conditions, was apt to bring little above the receivership costs at a forced sale which was to have been held on April 20 1923. Certain members of the committee then personally arranged to temporarily finance the operations of the property, and the committee then arranged for a postponement of the sale of the property until June 5 1923. This property is worth saving for the bondholders.

Present Protective Committee.—F. P. Breckenridge, Chairman, Wil H. Douglas, A. T. Prescott, Noah W. Jordan, Harold Almert, Julius Wyler Jr., A. W. Norman.

Digest of Reorganization Plan, Dated May 7 1923.

New Corporation.—A new corporation will be formed in Georgia.

Capitalization.—New company will have: (a) $400,000 8% cumul. pref. stock (in which all voting rights will be vested until it is retired); (b) $1,500,000 common stock (non-voting until all pref. stock is retired); (c) in addition, new corporation will authorize the issuance of $200,000 8% first mtge. bonds due in 10 years, but callable at 105.

Subscription to New Bonds.—All bondholders of the present Appalachian Corp. will be permitted to subscribe for such portion of the $200,000 of first mtge. bonds as will be presently sold, each in the proportion of 15% of their present holdings, with the condition, however, that the minimum subscription will be $50. All amounts subscribed are to be paid to the committee in cash upon demand.

Bondholders (or others) subscribing to the new issue of bonds, will receive from the Committee the following securities: (a) Bonds of the new issue equal to the amount subscribed for; (b) Pref. stock in an amount equal to twice the par value of the bonds of the new issue received; (c) Common stock of the par value equal to the par value of a bondholder's present bond holdings in the Appalachian Corp., provided that third persons, who are not bondholders, shall receive one share of Common stock with each share of Preferred stock issued to them.

Non-Subscribing Bondholders.—To those bondholders who advance no new money the committee will deliver Common stock equal to the par value of the bondholders' present bond holdings in the Appalachian Corp. as deposited with the depositories.

Purchase of Property.—The committee will purchase the properties at the receiver's sale. The committee will transfer all the properties to the new corporation and will receive as the purchase price therefor the following: (a) First Mtge. bonds equal to the amount of cash subscribed for and paid in by the bondholders; (b) Preferred stock in an amount of par value equal to twice the amount of the bonds received; (c) Common stock in an amount sufficient to give to all bondholders (and others) the common stock due them as provided.

Expenses of Committee.—To take care of the expenses of the committee the depositors will be charged with the payment of such amounts and any bondholders wishing to withdraw their bonds must deposit with the committee in cash 3% of the amount of the principal of the bonds deposited.—V. 116, p. 2133.

Armour & Co. (Ill.).—Extension of Time, &c.—
The company has been granted an extension until Nov. 17 1923 in which to dispose of the remaining stocks of canned goods, groceries and other merchandise, not a specific product of the meat-packing industry, under the agreement entered into with the Government. The company in a petition said the delay in disposal of the stocks was due in part to the "glutting of the market" by the Government in selling surplus war goods. The total value of the stocks which the company was directed to sell was given as in excess of $20,000,000, of which $2,000,000 still remains in its branches throughout the country, it is said.
It is stated that hearings on Armour-Morris merger before representatives of the Packers' and Stockyards' Administration of the Department of Agriculture have been indefinitely postponed.—V. 116, p. 2126, 2010, 1897, 939.

Bethlehem Steel Corporation.—Claim Rejected.—
According to Washington dispatches, May 23, the claim of the corporation for $8,500,000, alleged to be due under wartime contracts, has been tentatively disapproved by the Shipping Board's claim committee in a decision which was said to have the approval of a majority of the board. The decision, it is stated, was based on a formal legal opinion setting forth a new and sweeping interpretation of Government contracts which, if sustained by the courts, will result in the recovery by the Government of hundred of millions of dollars paid out in settlement of emergency construction.
In brief, the opinion held that, a contract to the contrary notwithstanding, a contractor cannot collect from the Government under the so-called "savings clause" The Bethlehem contract, like scores of other important war-time industrial agreements, provided that the company should receive a fixed fee plus a stipulated percentage of any economies it might effect which would bring the cost of the work below a set figure. In the opinion of counsel consulted by the committee and affirmed by the Department of Justice, a contractor is bound in honor and at law to give the best possible results in performing the work he undertakes, and to effect without extra compensation all possible economies.
Under this interpretation the $20,000,000 already paid the Bethlehem Corporation as fees under its contract would be regarded as closing that contract, and the large sums claimed as "savings" would have no standing —V 116, p. 2260, 1897.

Earnings.—Combined net earnings, after depreciation and maintenance, but before Federal taxes, have averaged for the past five years in excess of $444,000 per annum, or approximately 15.2 times the greatest annual interest requirements of this issue.
Purpose.—Proceeds will be used to retire a small mortgage debt, now less than $50,000, and to erect new factory buildings.

Burns Bros.—Merger Plan—Existing Prior Preference and Preferred Stock to be Paid Off—Class "A" and "B" Stocks to Receive 8% Cumulative Stock in New Company.—The stockholders will vote June 14 on approving the merger of the Burns Bros. into National Coal Corp.
Under the plan the present Prior Preference stock will be paid off at $120 per share and the Preferred stock will be paid off at $110 and divs. The Common stockholders will receive 8% Preferred stock in the new company as stated below.

Digest of Plan as Outlined in Letter to Stockholders May 15.

Merger.—The stockholders will vote June 14 on an agreement of merger with the National Coal Corp. In the event that this agreement is approved and the merger is consummated, the National Coal Corp. will forthwith assume the name of Burns Bros., insuring to the present company the benefit of the continuance of the good will associated for so many years with the name of Burns Bros.

Present Capitalization of Burns Bros.

	Authorized.	Outstanding.
Prior Pref. 7% Cumul. stock (par $100)	$1,292,100	$1,292,100
Cumul. Class "A" Common stock (no par)	100,000 shs.	80,944 shs.
Class "B" Common stock (no par)	100,000 shs.	80,940 shs.

Terms of Retirement of Preferred Stocks and Exchange of Common Stocks.
The proposed conditions of the merger in respect of exchange of stock are as follows:
(a) The new company will pay to the holders of the Prior Preference stock of Burns Bros. $120 per share and all cumulative and unpaid divs. thereon and an amount equal to a dividend at the rate of 7% per annum from the last dividend date to the date set for the surrender thereof.
(b) The new company will pay to the holders of the Preferred stock of Burns Bros. $110 per share and all cumulative and unpaid divs. thereon and an amount equal to a dividend thereon at the rate of 7% per annum from the last dividend date to the date set for the surrender thereof.
(c) The holders of the Class "A" Common stock of Burns Bros. will receive in exchange for each share of such stock one share of 8% Cumul. Preferred stock of the new company (par $100) and one share of the Common stock of the new company.
(d) The holders of the Class "B" Common stock of Burns Bros. will receive in exchange for each share of such Common stock one share of the Common stock of the new company.
Capitalization of New Company.—The new company will be capitalizaed with an authorized par value of Preferred stock of $10,000,000 and an authorized issue of 500,000 shares of Common stock (no par value). Of such Common stock 25,000 shares have already been issued at a nominal price to be distributed among managers of this company and parties to be interested in the underwriting of the new stocks and will remain outstanding.
Upon the consummation of the merger and the contemplated new financing, there would, therefore, be outstanding approximately 80,944 shares of Preferred stock (issued in exchange for the present Class "A" stock) and approximately 348,776 shares of Common stock without nominal or par value (consisting of 80,944 shares issued in exchange for the present Class "A" stock, 80,940 shares issued in exchange for the present Class "B" stock, 25,000 shares already issued to the present stockholders of National Coal Corp., as above, and 161,884 shares to be issued for cash as aforesaid.)
National Coal Corp. To Provide Necessary Funds.—The agreement of merger requires the National Coal Corp. to provide the funds necessary to pay off the present Prior Preference and Preferred stocks of Burns Bros. and it is contemplated that to accomplish this the National Coal Corp. will issue for cash shares of its Common stock substantially equivalent in amount to the aggregate shares to be issued in exchange for the outstanding Class "A" and Class "B" stock of this company. There will be submitted to the meeting detailed information relative to financial arrangements and relative to rights which may be offered to stockholders to subscribe for the new Common stock.
Dividend Outlook.—The present annual dividend and sinking fund requirement of Burns Bros. for all classes of stock at the current rate of dividends, is approximately $1,404,577. If there were to be available for disbursement as dividends practically the same amount, to wit, $1,519,422, each holder of the new Common stock could receive dividends at the annual rate of $2 50 per share instead of $2 as at present, this being made apparent by the fact that the new 8% Preferred stock would have a dividend requirement of $647,552 and to pay the $2 50 per snare on the Common stock would require the sum of $871,920, making the total aforestated $1,519,422, so that with a continuance of the present net earnings, an additional income to the present stockholders of Class "A" Common stock and Class "B" Common stock could reasonably be assured.
The remainder of the stock provided for in the capitalization will remain unissued until such time as it can be used for the acquisition of such additional properties as might be for the best interest of the company and would substantially add to the profits thereof.
Carl J. Schmidlapp, Vice-President of the Chase National Bank and George Haring have been elected directors, succeeding Gerhard Dahl and S. M. Wertheim.—V. 116, p. 1653.

Calumet & Arizona Mining Co.—Dividend of $1.—
The directors have declared a dividend of 10% ($1 a share) on the outstanding $6,425,210 capital stock, par $10, payable June 25 to holders of record June 8. A like amount was paid March 26 last. This compares with quarterly divs. of 5% each paid during 1921 and 1922.—V. 116, p. 2134

Dollar Portland Lumber Co.—Bonds Offered.—Carstens & Earles, Inc., San Francisco, are offering at 100 and int., $1,325,000 7% 1st Mtge. Serial Gold Bonds (see adv. pages).

Dated May 1 1923; due semi-annually May 1 1927 to Nov. 1 1940. Interest payable M. & N. at Anglo California Trust Co., San Francisco, trustee, without deduction of normal Federal income tax up to 2%. Denom. $1,000 and $500c*. Callable on any interest date on 30 days' notice at 102½ and interest.

Company.—A Delaware corporation. Is successor to the timber and lumber manufacturing business of the Portland Lumber Co. and its predecessors. The Robert Dollar Co., in acquiring 51% of the Common stock of the Dollar Portland Lumber Co., brings under its control two splendidly located tracts of timber containing 1,406,984,000 ft., and a modern electrically driven mill located on 12 acres of fee simple owned water front property in the city of Portland, Ore., together with other substantial assets.

Security.—Bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by an absolute first mortgage on the hereinafter described properties conservatively appraised at $3,212,222: (1) Approximately 24,000 acres of standing timber in Linn and Lane Counties, Ore., cruised in December 1922 by James D. Lacey & Co., timber appraisers, who estimated the merchantable timber thereon at 1,406,984,000 ft. (90%) Douglas fir, valued at $2,462,222.

(2) Real estate consisting of 12 acres in the city of Portland, Ore., fee simple owned, with water frontage of approximately 600 ft. on the Willamette River, and appraised at approximately $250,000.

(3) Modern individual unit drive, electrically operated saw-mill, located on the tract last above described, including machinery and equipment, valued at $500,000. $416,000 fire insurance is carried thereon, with loss payable clauses in favor of the trustee for additional protection of the bondholders.

Earnings.—In the acquisition of 51% of the capital stock of the Dollar Portland Lumber Co. by the Robert Dollar Co., careful investigation was made by the latter of future operating profits. With its ownership of a modern electrically driven mill strategically situated in one of the largest log producing areas on the Pacific Coast, Dollar Portland Lumber Co. can operate profitably either through the purchase of logs in the open market or by cutting its own timber. Operating the Portland mill, by purchase of logs and based on a lumber output of over 100,000,000 ft. per year, with adequate provision for administrative and operating expenses, taxes, depreciation, &c., the Robert Dollar Co. estimate net profits exceeding $200,000 annually. The maximum interest charges on the 1st Mtge. bonds amount to $92,750.

Company.—Is about to be incorporated in New Jersey for the purpose of acquiring the properties and assets, good-will, &c., or all or substantially all of the Common stock, of the Globe Automatic Sprinkler Co. of Pa. The original Globe Automatic Sprinkler Co. was incorporated 18 years ago with a capital stock of $100,000. The business is one of the best known concerns of its kind in the United States. The automatic sprinkler system consists of the scientific distribution of water at the point and moment of fire, and is now universally conceded to be the sole reliable agent of first importance in fire prevention and control. The installation of automatic sprinkler systems is constantly increasing. Practically every new commercial or public building of any importance installs automatic sprinkler systems. There is also an increasing demand for the installation of sprinkler systems in old buildings of every description. The sprinkler system not only affects a material saving in insurance premiums, but minimizes fire hazards as well.

Company maintains two plants, one at Warwood, W. Va. (near Wheeling) and another at Philadelphia. At the Philadelphia plant special valves and similar devices used in the "Globe" systems are manufactured. At the Warwood plant are fabricated the complete automatic sprinkler systems.

Gorton Pew Fisheries Co.—Reorganization Plan.—William L. Putnam, 60 State St., Boston, one of the largest stockholders in the company acting individually but as he believes in the interest of the stockholders, proposes to organize a corporation which he hopes will be able to purchase the property of the company as a going concern and to carry on its business.

A circular to the stockholders says in substance:

The exact price at which this can be done cannot be determined without some negotiation and some legal formalities, but it is believed that the purchase will be greatly facilitated if the new corporation can be organized and its capital subscribed immediately.

The plan has the approval of the directors and the preferred stockholders' committee (Fred D. Jordan, Chairman).

If the purchase goes through as planned, Messrs. Carroll, Gorton and Putnam and their associates will continue in the management.

Company's operating earnings during the year ending March 31 1923 were sufficient to have paid all the interest and sinking fund on the notes or bonds and dividends on the preferred stock contemplated by the plan after setting apart adequate reserves for depreciation on what is believed to be the fair value of all the company's property. It is believed that the company will do better after the termination of the receivership and that the net earnings for the year ending March 31 1924 will be larger than those of the preceding year.

The amount of the claims of the banks is about $1,350,000, therefore it is believed that the purchase price will not greatly exceed this figure. There is a certain amount of cash now available in the hands of the company and that cash together with the amount that can be raised by this plan from stockholders and about $600,000 to be raised by notes or bonds should be amply sufficient to carry out the plan and leave the company with adequate working capital.

McElwain Co. are engaged in business; (3) to tend to create in the respondent a monopoly in inter-State commerce in the shoe business. The stockholders will vote June 6 on increasing the authorized Capital stock from 150,000 shares, without nominal or par value, to 300,000 shares without nominal or par value.

The Republic Rubber Co. of Youngstown, Ohio, has been purchased by John J. Watson, Jr., and his associates. Mr. Watson is Chairman of the Board of the Lee Rubber & Tire Co. An official announcement says:

"The sale of Republic marks the passing into new hands of one of the oldest rubber companies, whose products, including pneumatic tires, truck tires, tubes and mechanical goods have always been noted for their fine quality. Like many other rubber companies, Republic had large commitments for fabric and rubber in 1918, which it was unable to liquidate in a declining market. C. H. Booth, of Youngstown, was appointed receiver and during his administration he effected a complete reorganization in the company's personnel and methods of manufacture and distribution. As a result the company prospered. Sales for March 1923 were 52% over Feb. 1923 and were the largest in any month in net sales since Oct. 1920.

"It is understood that a new Ohio corporation will be formed, the stock of which will be owned by the Lee Rubber & Tire Co. The transaction, will further strengthen the position of the Lee Rubber & Tire Co., which already occupies one of the strongest financial positions of any of the rubber companies. Lee Rubber has no bonded debt nor Preferred stock. The company's Capital stock is its only security now outstanding.

"It is understood that the new company will continue to manufacture the old Republic products, including Republic Grande Cord Tires with the Staggard Tread, Republic Solid Pneumatic Truck tires and its other products, including Republic belting, hose, packing and heels.

"The sale of the Republic Rubber Co. was consummated between the bank and merchandise creditors and Mr. Watson after the creditors' committees had offered the properties to the stockholders with a plan of reorganization [V. 116, p. 1422] which the stockholders were unable to accept. Announcement of the details and the formation of the new company will be made shortly."—V. 116, p. 1058.

Middle States Oil Corp.—Effect of Price Cuts.—

Chairman C. N. Haskell, when asked what effect the recent price cuts for crude oil would mean to earnings, declared that, although it is a fact that recent reductions in the basic price of oil have almost wiped out the increases in such basic price of oil made in the early part of 1923, yet, on account of the oil being now paid for on a gravity basis, corporations whose production, like ours, averages on a high gravity basis, are receiving on an average 75% more in price than before the gravity classification became effective, when oil was paid for at a flat rate. Our corporations, judging from the results of 5 months of this year, therefore, said he, in my estimation will show greater earnings this year than they did last year.

National Conduit & Cable Co., Inc.—Offer to Bondholders to Purchase Bonds at 70.—

The protective committee, consisting of Charles E. Mitchell, James H. Perkins and W. O. Gay, representing the 1st Mtge. 6% 10-Year Sinking Fund Gold bonds, has issued a notice to the holders of these bonds announcing the receipt of an offer from a responsible party to buy all of the bonds of this issue deposited with the National City Bank, New York, at $700 net cash for each $1,000 bond. The committee says:

"The committee has received an offer from a responsible party to buy all 1st Mtge. 6% 10-Year Sinking Fund Gold bonds, which are deposited with the National City Bank, 55 Wall St., New York, on or before June 5 at 70c. on the dollar of principal, without interest, that is, at $700 net cash for each $1,000 bond, with the coupon due Oct. 1 1921, and all subsequent coupons attached, payable at said bank, in New York funds, on or before June 20; provided that if less than 70% of the total issue of bonds should be deposited with the bank on or before June 5 the party making the offer will have the right either to purchase at said price the amount of bonds which has been deposited or to withdraw the offer and refuse to take any bonds.

"To avail themselves of this offer, holders of certificates of deposit for bonds deposited with the committee under the bondholders protective agreement, dated April 1 1921, should immediately send in their certificates of deposit to the bank, so that they will be received not later than June 5, and holders of bonds which have not been deposited under the agreement should immediately send in their bonds, with all unpaid and unmatured coupons attached, as above stated, so that they will be received at the bank not later than said date.

"If the above offer is accepted by the holders of the requisite amount of bonds, the committee will forthwith terminate the bondholders protective agreement, dated April 1 1921, and will fix a sum to cover its expenses which will be approximately, but not exceeding $10 for each bond which has been deposited, but in order that the above offer may afford a net price to the depositing bondholders who accept it, the committee has arranged to collect from the purchaser a sum which will be sufficient to cover their proportion of such expenses.

"The committee has made diligent efforts to find a responsible purchaser for the property of the company at a satisfactory price, but no such purchaser has appeared, and the attempted sale of the sheet mill or north plant under the order of the Court resulted in no bid. In preference to the uncertainties and delays of reorganization or liquidation, the committee recommends to all bondholders the acceptance of the above cash offer for their bonds. The committee has already received assurances from holders of more than a majority in the amount of the bonds that they will accept the offer."—V. 116, p. 2265, 1187.

Philipsborn's, Inc., Chicago.—Sales.—
Sales for the first two weeks in May amounted to over $1,400,000, a substantial increase over the similar period a year ago. It is announced that, due to the fact that this company handles only wearing apparel and accessories, its sales during April felt the effects of the unseasonable weather and the early Easter, and registered a slight reduction in volume as compared with April 1922. In the first quarter of 1923 up to Mar. 24, the company's sales were substantially in excess of the 1922 record, though for the six months ended Dec. 1922 there was a slight depreciation from the volume of business in the same period of 1921.—V. 115, p. 2055.

Pilgrim Oil Co.—Fraud Complaint.—
Collecting nearly $1,000,000 in 3 months from investors and being credited with only $8,877 in assets at the end of that period, is the record of the above company, against whom a fraud order was issued May 9 by Postmaster-General Harry S. New. W. H. Hollister, G. M. Richardson and H. E. Robinson, trustees of the company, were also cited in the fraud order. These men, evidence discloses, were previously connected with other concerns, and one of them is under criminal indictment with Dr. Frederick A. Cook, of North Pole fame.
The Pilgrim Company arranged with the officers of oil companies on the point of dissolution to merge into the Pilgrim corporation. The stockholders of the merged companies were advised by their officers in letters written, it is said, by the Pilgrim company, to transfer their stock. Common stock was transferred at par upon the payment of a transfer fee of $1. However, investors were especially urged to buy Preferred stock in the Pilgrim company, which was offered upon the payment of 50% cash. In addition to the Common stock, Preferred stock was supposed to receive 100% dividends before dividends were paid upon Common stock.

Postum Cereal Co., Inc.—To Increase Capital—100% Stock Dividend Probable.—
The stockholders will vote June 6 on increasing the authorized Common stock from 200,000 shares (all outstanding) to 400,000 shares, no par value. Power Corporation of New York.—Bonds Offered.—E. H. Rollins & Sons and F. L. Carlisle & Co., Inc., are offering at 94½ and int., to yield about 6½%, $1,000,000 1st Mtge. Sinking Fund 6% Gold bonds (Series "B"). The bankers state:
Dated May 1 1923. Due Nov. 1 1942. Int. payable M. & N. in New York or Watertown, N. Y., without deduction for any normal Federal income tax not exceeding 2%. Red. as a whole on 60 days' notice at 110 and int. less ½% for each full year of expired term, or in part for sinking fund at 105 and int. Denom. $500 and $1,000 c* & r. Equitable Trust Co., New York, trustee. Company agrees to refund present Penna., Maryland, Conn. and District of Columbia 4-mills taxes.
Company.—Incorp. in 1922 in New York to own, operate and develop water powers. Has acquired developed and undeveloped water powers in St. Lawrence, Lewis and Jefferson counties, in New York State. Properties consist of water powers on the Black River and Raquette River, in northern New York, estimated at over 100,000 h. p. upon completion of proposed storage. Of these water powers, 37,500 h. p., on which these bonds are a direct first mortgage, are at present developed and income-producing and have been appraised by the J. G. White Engineering Corp. at $10,358,400, or over 172% of the bonded debt.

Capitalization After This Financing—	Authorized.	Outstanding.

Purpose.—Proceeds will be used for the construction of a new modern hydro-electric power plant at Herrings of 6,500 h. p., replacing the 3,838 h. p. mechanical plant now in operation. Balance of proceeds will be used for electrification of the Norwood plant.
Earnings.—Company has sold the entire output of its developed water powers under a joint and several contract extending beyond the life of these bonds to the St. Regis Paper Co. and Hanna Paper Corp., and the entire output of the Herrings and Norwood hydro-electric plants when completed will be purchased under a long-term contract by the Northern New York Utilities, Inc.
The net earnings of the Power Corp. from these contracts alone are computed to exceed double the maximum interest charge on the bonds without regard to earnings that in the future may accrue to the company from its present undeveloped water powers.
For the 6 months ended April 30 1923 (being the first six months of operation) net earnings from the contracts with the paper companies were $367,877, and the proportion of interest on the bonds outstanding, for that same period $162,500. These net earnings were at the rate of $735,000 per year. Upon the completion of the electrification of the Herrings and Norwood plants the revenue therefrom on the basis of the above contracts is computed to increase these net earnings for a like 6 months' period to $418,000, against which the proportion of total bond interest will be $192,500. See V. 116, p. 305; V. 115, p. 2055.

Pueblo Gas & Fuel Co.—Plan Operative.—
The holders of certificates of deposit for 1st Mtge. 5% Gold bonds, 5% Sinking Fund Gold bonds, and the notes of the company, are notified that the plan for rearranging the finances of the company has been declared operative. Ray Consolidated Copper Co.—47th Quarterly Report.—
The report covering the first quarter of 1923 shows:
Production.—The total net production of copper from all sources was 14,009,441 lbs., compared with a total of 12,249,695 lbs. for the preceding quarter.

January.	February.	March.	Total.	Monthly Av'ge.
4,382,657	4,253,056	5,373,728	14,009,441	4,669,814

There were milled 582,600 tons, dry weight, of ore averaging 1.59% copper, an average daily tonnage of 6,473 tons as compared with an average of 5,399 tons per day for the previous quarter. The mill recovery was 78.26% of the total copper contained in concentrating ores, as compared with 79.53% for the previous quarter. The underground development was advanced 6,961 ft., making the total development to date 801,115 ft.
The average cost per net pound of copper produced was 11.99 cents, as compared with 11.30 cents for the previous quarter. Both figures include all general expenses other than depreciation and Federal tax reserves, and also take into account miscellaneous income and the value of gold and silver recovered. The increase in costs for this quarter as compared to those of the previous one was due in large part to an increase in wages, which became effective in the latter part of the quarter, coupled with a considerable amount of extraordinary expense incurred in reopening and resuming operations at the No. 1 Mine and charged to operations.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.—Supreme Court Holds State, in Making Rates, Must Consider Present Cost of Reproducing Property.—
The U. S. Supreme Court on May 21 reversed the decision of the Missouri State Supreme Court in the case of the above company against the Missouri P. S. Commission involving the valuation for rate-making purposes. The State Supreme Court held with the P. S. Commission that the valuation figures need not be present reproduction costs but the costs at time of construction. The U. S. Supreme Court, however, held that the present reproduction cost of properties must be considered in valuations for rate-making purposes. The majority opinion rendered by Justice McReynolds said in part:

"It is impossible to ascertain what will amount to a fair return upon properties devoted to public service without giving consideration to the cost of labor, supplies, &c., at the time the investigation is made. An honest and intelligent forecast of probable future values, made upon a view of all the relevant circumstances, is essential. If the highly important element of present costs is wholly disregarded, such a forecast becomes impossible. Estimates for tomorrow cannot ignore prices of to-day. It must never be forgotten that while the State may regulate with a view to enforcing reasonable rates and charges, it is not the owner of the property of public utility companies and is not clothed with the general power of management incident to ownership."

Asserting that advocates of reproduction cost as an element of rate making would find its application harmful to the public utilities when the cost of material and wages were lower, Justice Brandeis in a dissenting opinion suggested as a preferable basis the money invested in the enterprise. Urging the Court to "lay down a rule which will establish such a rate basis and such a measure of the rate of return deemed fair," he criticized his colleagues for leaving many of the elements to be determined by the opinion of experts, instead of making rates dependent upon ascertainable facts. PHILADELPHIA AND READING RAILWAY COMPANY

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT FOR FISCAL YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1922.

Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company, General Office, Philadelphia, April 18 1923.

The Board of Directors of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company submits herewith its report for the fiscal year ended December 31, 1922.

Attention is invited to the gratifying showing made by the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company during the year 1922, notwithstanding the many adverse conditions under which the railroad properties in the United States were compelled to operate during that period.

The year opened with an exceedingly pessimistic outlook. The business situation showed much unsettlement everywhere, and the threat of strikes in industries was heard on all sides. On April 1st there was a complete cessation of mining in the anthracite region, which lasted until September 11th. A somewhat similar situation existed in the great bituminous producing sections. There was a consequent slowing up in general business. The various shop crafts on some of the principal railroads of the country were in a state of unrest, which finally resulted in strikes and the deferring of much needed repairs to railroad equipment which were required to bring the equipment back to the pre-war standard.

Through the cordial relations which existed between the management and its great body of loyal and contented employes, and a clear understanding of their mutual obligations, this Company was spared the disastrous results attendant upon a railroad strike and was enabled to place its equipment in such good repair during this period that it was prepared to handle, without delay or embargo, the great volume of traffic which developed increasingly in the late Summer and Fall upon the resumption of anthracite and bituminous mining.

The gratifying results achieved by this Company clearly indicate that if the rail properties generally could be assured of a period of undisturbed conditions, they could quickly recuperate from the severe strain under which they have been compelled to operate the past several years, and be in a position to serve the public more advantageously and economically.

The Consolidated General Balance Sheet appears on the next page.

The increase in Property and Plant account is chiefly due to the acquisition of a plant located at Sharon, near Pittsburgh, Pa., in which it is planned to concentrate the manufacture of transformers, and the purchase from the Emergency Fleet Corporation, of approximately two hundred dwelling houses located near your works at South Philadelphia, Pa. These houses are now being offered for sale to employees in the South Philadelphia Works. No important additions to the present manufacturing facilities are at present contemplated.

You were notified by circular letter dated April 5 1923 of an offering of $14,962,530 common stock to provide additional working capital. The payments for this stock are due on or before May 21 1923, and will place the Company in a strong cash position.

The relations between the Company and its employees are satisfactory. Under the Company's Insurance and Savings Plan 66% of the number of employees on March 31 1923 owned insurance of $500 or more each. Since the inauguration of the plan, death benefits aggregating $524,500 have been paid to the beneficiaries of 574 employees. The deposits by the employees in the "Savings Fund" are accumulating at a rate in excess of $100,000 a month and the total savings at this date are in excess of $2,000,000. The savings are invested for the benefit of the employees under the direction of your Board of Directors and are not used in any way in the Company's operations.

The Krantz Manufacturing Company, Inc., which has heretofore appeared in the annual report as one of the proprietary companies, has merged its business with the Parent Company.

The books and accounts of the Company and the proprietary companies were audited by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, Certified Public Accountants, and their certificate is reproduced below.

The Board of Directors has pleasure in hereby expressing its appreciation of the general devotion to the Company's interest evidenced throughout the year on the part of the officers and employees.

General business conditions in and about Portland have been steadily improving since the spring of 1922, which improvement has resulted in materially increasing the demand for the service furnished by your Company. During the year the number of consumers of electric energy served by your Company increased 5,277 and on December 31st the electric consumers had reached a total of 62,754. A similar rate of increase for the past six years is shown by the following chart:

The gross earnings of the Company increased $198,656 00. Operating expenses increased $4,968 00 and net surplus increased $133,181 00. We believe it reasonable to assume that railway earnings during 1923 will be at least as high as in 1922, and there is every indication that the earnings of the Light and Power Department, both gross and net, will in 1923 materially exceed the results for 1922.

RAILWAY DEPARTMENT.

There were no changes in rates of fare on the railway systems of the Company during the year and there were no changes in the wage schedule of the employees of this department. The railway system was well maintained and the policy of improvement of tracks and equipment was continued throughout the year. During the year we concluded the purchase of twenty-five one-man Birney cars from the United States Shipping Board, which were leased to us during the war period. The equipment of the city lines is now adequate for present traffic requirements, and it is anticipated that improvements in this branch of our operations will during 1923 be confined to reconstruction of tracks where necessary. No extensions of city lines are at this time in contemplation. We are maintaining an adequate service and the city street railway department during the year earned more than sufficient to pay its proportion of fixed charges. Because of the greatly increased cost of operating the Railway Department is still providing an inadequate return on the equity of the stockholders in the railway property, and improvement in this department may be expected to result from a continuance of the policy of building up traffic density along existing lines of street railway. Extensions of the street railway system cannot reasonable be expected until the lands adjacent to existing lines become more fully occupied. The average hourly wage scale of employees of the Railway Department is still more than 100% higher than the wage scale in force January 1st 1917. Street and interurban railway systems throughout the country have been struggling against popular opposition in the matter of rates of fares, but your directors believe that with the increasing knowledge of the facts public opposition to fair treatment of railway systems is gradually being eliminated. In Portland much of this change of sentiment may be attributed to the increasing interest of investors in the Company's securities and to the efforts of Company employees at all times to give competent and courteous service.

LIGHT AND POWER DEPARTMENT.

The growth of this department has been very gratifying. The year did not bring any new consumers of magnitude, but there were added to the service of the Company a large number of small industrial loads and the greatest number of new residences ever connected to the Company's lines in a single year. Increased output of electric energy for power purposes was largely due to increased consumption by existing industrial concerns. There are in prospect for 1923 several large installations, but it is apparent that the growth of this department for 1923 will, to a great extent, reflect enlargements and additional requirements of a considerable number of existing industrial consumers as well as a continuation of the increase in residence load.

One of the most interesting developments of light and power service has been the increase in consumption of energy in the average residence in Portland, which, during the last five years, has more than doubled. The efficiency and utility of electrical appliances now being manufactured, coupled with the convenience and cheapness of the service, may be counted upon for a steadily increasing average residence consumption of electric energy.

The growth of the light and power department is indicated by the following comparative table:

Kilowatt hours sold	139,860,803	153,841,376	167,374,143	173,018,239	188,333,469
Connected load in kilowatts December 31 (exclusive of Company railroad load)	105,766	112,979	125,877	133,826	143,213
Number of Light and Power customers December 31	44,974	48,361	53,285	57,477	62,754
Gross Earnings of Light and Power Department	$2,397,553 60	$2,931,520 99	$3,268,769 23	$3,478,834 47	$3,790,153 00
Total Generation for all purposes (including Company Railway), in kilowatt hours	258,424,940	271,600,300	292,023,900	297,950,100	323,645,100

Work on the installation of the Oak Grove hydro-electric development of the Company progressed steadily throughout the year and is being pushed vigorously with the expectation of completion of the first unit in the summer of 1924. During the year a new 5,250-k.v.a. unit was installed in the Bull Run hydro-electric plant of the Company, bringing the installed capacity of that station to a total of 21,000 kilowatts. The steam generating plant, located at North Portland and formerly known as Station N, was during the year moved to Salem and installed at that point to aid in caring for the increasing load in the Willamette Valley district, and to supplement the two transmission lines of the Company connecting Salem with the other plants operated. Many other improvements in the substations, transmission and distribution systems of the Company were made to care for increasing business and to maintain dependable service.

Because of the rapidly increasing load in this department your directors have authorized a further increase in the capacity of Station L steam station in Portland, and there will be added to that station, prior to the low water season of 1923, an additional 6,000 kilowatt turbo-generator with the additional boiler capacity required for its operation. The improvements made in existing hydro-electric stations and the increases made in steam generating stations during 1922 and now in contemplation for 1923, your directors believe, will provide for all demands upon the Company until the completion of the first unit of the Oak Grove hydro-electric plant in 1924.

ADDITIONS TO PLANT AND PROPERTY ACCOUNT.

Expenditures for betterments during the year 1922 were the heaviest in recent years, aggregating $3,525,832 04, divided as follows:

	Gross Expenditures.	Sales and Retirements.	Net Additions.
Railway Extensions and Improvements	$204,237 05	$91,811 30	$112,425 75
Cars	155,171 52	2,158 03	153,013 49
Power Plants, Substations, &c.	2,088,815 64	388,640 24	1,700,175 40
Wire Lines and Service	631,878 51	65,068 80	566,809 71
Transformers and Meters	214,342 24	14,962 63	199,379 61
Salem Gas Plant	3,992 37	758 00	3,234 37
Real Estate, Buildings and Miscellaneous	227,394 71	47,752 67	179,642 04
	$3,525,832 04	$611,151 67	$2,914,680 37

It will be noted that practically 90% of the construction expenditures made in 1922 were for the benefit of the Light and Power Department and were occasioned and justified by the steady growth of that department.

Your directors have authorized construction expenditures in 1923 of more than $5,000,000 00, which will be expended in practically the same ratio as between Railway and Light and Power as in 1922.

GENERAL AND FINANCIAL.

The new financing of your Company during 1922 consisted of the sale of $1,101,900 00 of 7% Prior Preference Stock and the sale, in September, 1922, of $2,500,000 00 of First Lien and Refunding 6% Bonds. All proceeds of new financing were expended for betterments and additions to the Company's property.

On December 31st, 1922, the Company had 1181 stockholders of its Prior Preference Stock, of whom 996 were residents of Oregon. In addition 1,244 purchasers were at that date paying for the stock on installments. The sale of this security, through the Investment Department maintained by the Company, is continuing, and the distribution of this stock in Oregon is increasing daily. In addition to the distribution of Prior Preference Stock through the Investment Department of the Company, the Company has, this month, sold $1,000,000 00 of Prior Preference Stock to The National City Company of New York City and your directors are advised that in the resale of this stock by the National City Company it has been largely placed on the Pacific Coast. The growing interest and confidence of investors in the securities of the Company is certain to produce satisfactory results to both the investors and the communities served. The Prior Preference stock was offered first on January 23rd, 1922, at $96 00 per share and on October 1st, 1922, the price was increased to $98 00 per share, at which price the stock is now being sold. The requirements of the Company for the construction program of 1923 will be provided through the continued sale of Prior Preference Stock and by the issuance of further First Lien and Refunding Bonds.

During 1922, there was an increase in street paving assessments of $59,310 39 and a payment during the same period of $98,090 56, a net reduction of $38,780 27.

Street paving assessments against the Company are paid in the same manner as assessments for street paving against private property, in annual installments.

Deposits in Sinking Funds to retire bonds amounted to $847,900 00. In addition there was added $190,972 50 as interest earned on bonds held uncanceled in the Sinking Funds. Purchase of Company bonds for Sinking Funds, computed at par value, were as follows:

Portland General Electric Company 1st Mortgage 5% Bonds, due 1935	$75,000 00
Portland Railway Company 1st and Refunding Mortgage 5% Bonds, due 1930	168,000 00
Portland Railway, Light & Power Company 1st and Refunding Mortgage 5% Bonds, due 1942	411,700 00
Portland Railway, Light & Power Company 1st Lien and Refunding Mortgage 7½% Bonds, due 1946	416,500 00

The Portland General Electric Company Bonds and First Lien and Refunding Bonds were canceled while the other bonds purchased are held alive in the Sinking Funds, the income from them being used to acquire additional bonds. On December 31st, 1922, there were held in Sinking Fund Investments:

Portland Railway Bonds of 1930	$1,492,000 00
Portland Railway, Light & Power Company Bonds of 1942	2,720,300 00

During the year, in accordance with the provisions of the First Lien and Refunding Mortgage, $670,000 in par amount of First Lien and Refunding Bonds were issued in lieu of a like amount of underlying bonds purchased for the Sinking Funds.

The following is a comparison of the outstanding funded and floating debt of the Company on December 31st, 1921, and December 31st, 1922.

(DELAWARE)

AND SUBSIDIARY COMPANIES

ANNUAL REPORT 1922.

To the Stockholders, Cosden & Company:

Appended hereto is Consolidated Balance Sheet of your Company and Subsidiaries as of December 31 1922, together with details of Surplus Account and operations for the year 1922.

Through sale of 187,406 shares of common stock to its stockholders in October 1922 the Company provided for the redemption of its entire bonded indebtedness. It has long been the desire of your Directors to eliminate the Company's funded debt and the management is gratified that this has now been accomplished, leaving the earnings of the Company, except for Preferred stock dividend requirements, available for the Common shares without the burden of heavy sinking fund and interest charges as in the past.

It will be observed from the Balance Sheet that after providing for redemption of the Fifteen-Year Six Per Cent Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of the Company called January 1 1923 the Company shows Current Assets of $14,872,901 35, against Current Liabilities of $4,827,821 35, which Liabilities included the dividend payable February 1 1923 on the Common Stock.

The operations of your Company show Net Income after Taxes but before Depreciation, Depletion and Leasehold Development Cost of $12,403,900 84. After payment of dividends on the Preferred and Common stocks aggregating $3,860,496 72 there was, in accordance with the usual liberal policies of the Company respecting conservative book values, charged off a total of $6,928,872 13 for Depreciation, Depletion and Development Cost.

The large appreciation in value of properties discovered and developed during the year has not been reflected on the books of the Company and it is the view of the management that the value of the properties is largely in excess of the figures at which carried on the books.

The Company has begun the year 1923 under the most favorable conditions. Its Financial Statement discloses an exceptionally strong situation without bonded indebtedness, its production is the largest in its history, conditions and operations are satisfactory and the outlook for the year 1923 is favorable.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of your Company held March 23 1923 a resolution was adopted recommending to the shareholders an increase in the Common Capital stock of the Company from 1,400,000 shares without par value to 3,000,000 shares without par value.

The Board of Directors regard this increase in the authorized Common shares advisable as only a small amount of stock remains available for issue. While no sale of this stock is contemplated, it is desired to have the stock available for corporate purposes as occasion for its issue may arise.

As the proposed increase will require the affirmative vote of a majority of the stock outstanding and entitled to vote, the Stockholders are requested promptly to sign and return the enclosed proxy without delay.

By order of the Board of Directors,

J. S. COSDEN, President.

New York City, May 14 1923.

[The introductory remarks usually appearing here will be found to-day in an earlier part of the paper, immediately following the editorial matter, in a new department headed "INDICATIONS OF BUSINESS ACTIVITY.]

COFFEE on the spot quiet; No. 7 Rio, 11¾@11⅞c.; No. 4 Santos, 15 to 15½c.; fair to good Cucuta, 15¼ to 15¾c. Futures have been irregular, May declining latterly and July advancing some 20 points. Washington issued some stimulating figures, the Department of Commerce showing that the supply of all kinds of coffee available for consumption in the United States is only 979,585 bags, or not more than five weeks' consumption, based on an average monthly total of about 840,000 bags. Of course, this was nothing new. Official statistics of the Exchange had already made that plain. Yet it had a stimulating effect. It had the cachet of the Government. July responded, if May remained inert, being practically a thing of the past. Distant months were braced up, too, by Wall Street and foreign buying attributed to either Europe or Brazil. May trading ceased to-day. The quantity of Brazil in sight for the United States is now 570,068 bags, against 581,486 on the 23d inst. and 1,070,008 bags a year ago. New York has actually only 317,895 bags on hand, against 634,662 bags a year ago. And Brazilian cables have latterly been higher.

There was a report that the Brazilian Government had been a large buyer of futures in Brazil for the coming six months. If that is so, some think that probably it was mostly for July, August and September deliveries. If, again, that is true, it would naturally lift a considerable weight from the market and with small existing stocks in consuming markets might strengthen prices noticeably, especially if receipts continue to be restricted by the Brazilian Government. There is said to be no little uneasiness among exporters in Rio and Santos who, it is said, hesitate to sell for forward shipment, even though they may have contracted for the coffee in the interior, because there is so much uncertainty as to time of arrival in Santos and therefore as to the ability of anybody to deliver in specified periods. To-day prices advanced 20 points on July, with Rio up 750 to 800 reis and better buying, mostly of September. For the week there is a rise here of 40 points on July. May went out at 9.75c.; July ended at 9.80c. Prices closed as follows:

Spot (unofficial)	11⅝	July	9.80@ 9.82	December	8.38@ 8.40
		September	8.83@ 8.84	March	8.33@ ---

SUGAR.—Cuban raws were quiet early in the week at 6½c., but there was an impression that bids of ⅛c. less would have been successful. Refiners, however, held aloof. Their product sold but slowly at 9.50 to 9.90c. The only bright feature for them was what looked like the virtual disappearance of second-hand stocks on the market. It was said that though some resale sugar was still obtainable at 9.40c., the quantity was small. On May 21 trade interests were the principal buyers of futures, but the total business was small. A New Orleans refiner paid 6.30c. f. o. b. for 3,000 tons of Cuba, and it was reported that a prominent refining company was bidding 6⅜c. c. & f. Cubans still held at 6½c. They are said to be confident that the world will pay this and more for the limited balance of their crop. Latterly Europe has shown rather more disposition to buy. Forth thousand bags of Cuba, it is said, have been taken at 6.35c. f. o. b. Cuba. This was doubted in usually well-informed quarters. On Wednesday 1,000 tons sold to Europe. Here 6½c. c. & f. continued to be quoted, though trade was quiet. Porto Rico acted steadier. London, too, was firmer. On the remainder of a cargo 31s. 6d. c. i. f., equal to 6.35c. f. o. b. Cuba, was bid. Also it seems that Batavia shippers were to buy back Java white. European buying, some think, will be the next feature of outstanding interest.

The Punta Alegre Sugar Co.'s San Juan mill has finished its crop with an outturn of 400,000 bags, the same as had been estimated. The Punta Alegre's Baragan mill made 440,904 bags, the Florida 266,660 bags and the Trinidad 95,189, a total this season for the Punta Alegre Co. of 1,202,753 bags, as against the previous estimate of 1,200,000 bags. The "La Planter" says: "Field work was interrupted by heavy rains throughout the sugar belt Monday night and Tuesday, followed by clear weather. Toward the end of the week the ground had dried out sufficiently to resume operations. The weather continues unseasonable, the cool days and nights not being conducive to rapid growth. The condition of the crop, while retarded by an unusually cool spring, is generally good. With warm weather the crop will grow rapidly and soon overcome the effects of the late and cool spring." Atlantic port receipts were 75,939 tons, against 61,371 last week, 62,804 in the same week last year and 57,755 two years ago; meltings, 72,000 tons, against 80,000 last week, 90,000 last year and 60,000 two years ago; total stock, 205,570 tons, against 201,631 last week, 215,744 last year and 209,967 two years ago. To-day Cuba was 6½c. c. & f., with reported sales of three cargoes at that price. A better demand is expected shortly. About 15,000 tons sold for May-June at 6½c. Refined sells more readily at 9.75c. to 9.90c. Futures to-day advanced 12 to 16 points, closing 30 points higher for the week on July. Prices closed as follows:

		September	6.57@ 6.58	March	4.82@ 4.84

LARD quiet; prime Western, 11.85 to 11.95c.; refined to Continent, 12.75c.; South America, 13c.; Brazil, in kegs, 14c. Futures fluctuated but little in the early business. The relative smallness of offerings offset big receipts and some decline in hogs. Besides packers gave support. So that a decline at the outset on the 21st inst. was followed by a rally. There was no export demand but domestic cash trade was good. The exports of lard last week reached 18,041,000 lbs.; of bacon, 23,330,000 lbs. To-day prices declined 5 to 7 points, closing, however, 8 to 15 points higher than a week ago, the latter on May.

PETROLEUM.—Gasoline is still relatively quiet Many would not be surprised to see a reduction in the price in New Jersey very soon Weather conditions have not been up to expectations, and stocks are very large. And export demand has been disappointing. On the 22d inst. gasoline in the Mid-Continent field was advanced 1½c. Kerosene quiet and tending lower. Bunker oil rather quiet at $1 70 to to $1 72c. per bbl. for grade C at local refineries However, a fair amount of this oil is going abroad, and the outlook is considered favorable New York prices:. Gasoline, cases, cases, cargo lots, 28.25c.; U. S. The daily average production east of the Rocky Mountains was 1,266,850 bbls., showing a small decrease. California had 685,000 bls., a drop of 10,000 bbls. from the previous week.

RUBBER higher early in the week on a stronger London market. Business was quiet. Considerable speculative buying interest was reported at a little under the market, but sellers were not inclined to make any recessions. First latex crepe and smoked ribbed sheets, spot, 28⅛c.; May and June, 27⅞c.; July-September, 28⅛c.; October-December, 28⅝c. Paras in Brazil of late have been reported firmer on buying by Great Britain. Later in the week spot here was 28⅞c.; May, 28⅝c.; June, 28¾c.; July-September, 29c.; October-December, 29¼c. Speculation dominates the market at the moment and prices swing quickly one way or the other. A Washington dispatch said that the Department of Commerce inquiry into foreign monopolies of crude rubber production is to be begun shortly. Plans for the investigation for which Congress appropriated $500,000 have been practically completed, it was understood, and only await the final approval of Secretary Hoover. The Department plans to set to work a special staff of rubber experts, some of whom will be sent to foreign rubber centres, to study both the possibilities of the development of American controlled sources of crude rubber supply and the best methods of production. Meanwhile studies will be made in this country of market conditions, means of avoiding high prices and the control of production in British colonies. In London on the 24th inst. prices advanced ¼d., reaching 14⅛d. after a decline early in the week.

HIDES were quiet in the forepart of the week and rather weak. In foreign hides there was little business. Sales of frigorifico steer hides were made at $43 25. Later reports from the River Plate section stated that 4,000 Anglo South American frigorifico steers recently sold at 17⅜c. and 2,000 Smithfield cows at 14⅛c. Here common dry hides were in fair demand and some 1,200 Orinocos sold at 18½c., it is stated. Bogotas met with rather more inquiry around 21½c. for the good descriptions. On the 22d inst. frigorifico hides were reported slighly higher. There were reports of two lots of Artiga frigorifico steer hides sold to large European buyers at $44. There was said to be a better inquiry in the River Plate section. But here trade was still dull. In Chicago it appears kipskins sold to the extent of 10,000 April slaughter packer skins at 16c. Country hides were weak there with local dealers offering extremes at 13½c., running one-fourth grubby and buyers holding aloof.

OCEAN FREIGHTS have been quiet and more or less weak with tonnage plentiful. In a review, Finch, Edye & Co. said:

Coal fixtures constituted the bulk of the transactions, although several reported were done previously, and details withheld until this week. The French-Atlantic ports took up half a dozen boats for May or late May-early June loading, rates scaling down successively from $2 75 to $2 50 and $2 25, the last two fixtures being at the last-named figure, but carrying the option of Antwerp discharge. Nothing in the way of definite business showed up for Antwerp-Hamburg range. In grain a general state of stagnation prevailed, the demand being limited to one or two orders from Montreal to Mediterranean not east of western coast of Italy or the same destination with Greek options. The rate on this has declined to 20c. to Mediterranean and 22c. for Greece, at which figure a limited business was closed; 17c. was done from the Range to west coast of Italy and shippers are not showing much interest even at this figure, some talking 16c. Continental ports disclosed no demand. In sugar one fixture appears to have been closed at 20s. 6d. from Cuba to United Kingdom for May loading, option three ports loading at 21s. Lumber is about the same as last reported; tonnage is offering freely for all workable orders, particularly for Gulf cargoes to the River Plate. Chartering slow. Time charters fell off in every trade and rates are weak, barely maintaining the basis of previous fixtures.

CHARTERS included grain from Montreal to Mediterranean at 20c., May-June; coal from Atlantic range to a French Atlantic port, $2 25 prompt; deals from Miramichi to Glasgow, 67s. 6d., June; timber from Gulf to Rotterdam and Greenock, 125s., June-July; coal from Atlantic range to French Atlantic port, $2 25 prompt; one trip across in transatlantic trade, $1 35, May; deals from Miramichi to Glasgow, 67s. 6d., June; coal from Hampton Roads to Three Rivers, $1 35, May; one round trip in West Indian trade, 2,618-ton steamer, 90c., May; coal from Atlantic range to Antwerp-Hamburg range, $2 25, May-June; from Philadelphia to Dunkirk, $2 25 prompt; 9 to 12 months time charter in general trades, 2,821-ton steamer, 4s. prompt; three months time charter, 2,172-ton steamer, in West India trade, 95c. prompt; coal from Philadelphia to Rio Janeiro, $3 15, May-June; linseed oil from Rosario to New York, $6 50, early June; pit props from Newfoundland to Bristol Channel, 40s.; option Carston at 42s. 6d.; free loading discharging and expenses at loading port prompt; wet pulp from Port Alfred to Queensborough, 19s., June 10; salt from Cadiz to St. Johns, N. F., 12s. 6d., early June.

COAL has been in moderate demand and at Hampton Roads rather weak, with less inquiry. Later in the week bituminous here also sold less readily. Pool No. 1 was $6 75; No. 2, $6 50 or less. Trade feels the absence of really good trade. Shipments have increased to tidewater. Export demand has fallen off. New England buying has practically ceased in the spot market.

TOBACCO has been in only moderate demand. The sales were mostly in small lots. Buyers are operating cautiously, pending further developments. It is true that as a rule supplies are reported to be unusually small and sales of cigars, it is said, have recently increased, whatever may have been the case six to eight weeks ago. The feeling is therefore not unhopeful. Just at the moment, however, in homely parlance, it is in a sense between hay and grass in the tobacco business. Everybody is awaiting the advent of the new crop and keeping close to shore in the meantime.

COPPER, though steady, has been quiet. Electrolytic, 15⅜ to 15½c. There was quite a little trading done early in the week, but it was confined largely to small tonnages. Consumers, it is believed, are covered for 30 to 60 days, and are therefore not inclined to purchase freely for the present. The copper labor problem is becoming more acute. Organized mine workers of Butte, Mont., have, it is said, appealed to employers for recognition of the union, an increase in wages and a change in working conditions. Thirty-five per cent of the underground workers in this section, it is claimed, are members of the union.

TIN firmer; spot 42½c. On the 23d inst. there was some buying interest shown, but business was not active. Earlier in the week prices were easier in sympathy with London.

LEAD early in the week was quiet. Later there was a better inquiry and prices were firmer. Spot New York 7.26c. to 7.35c.; East St. Louis, 7.10c. to 7.15c. Receipts at East St. Louis for the week were 59,095 pigs, against 49,640 pigs in the previous week; since Jan. 1 they were 1,197,020 pigs, against 1,617,820 last year. Shipments were 26,800 pigs, against 18,200 last week; shipments since Jan. 1, 600,720, against 713,530 in the same time last year.

ZINC early in the week was stronger. There was a better inquiry, but actual business was small. Not only was domestic business small, but foreign orders were very scarce. Later prices declined with London. Spot New York 6.85c. to 6.90c.; East St. Louis, 6.50c. to 6.55c.

STEEL has been quiet and in most cases steady. And there have been no cancellations of orders or requests for a suspension of shipments. Consumers take shipments readily even if they send few new orders. Production continues with little lessening. Recent big buying was legitimate. Speculation cut scarcely any figure in it. That is naturally regarded as an encouraging feature. The underpinning of the market is considered sound. The continuance of output on a very large scale also argues confidence in the future. The country needs steel. New orders may slacken from time to time but not the actual needs of the American consumer. These are times of construction. The days of war destruction are happily past. It is true that sheets have weakened somewhat. They are one of the exceptions that prove the rule of predominant steadiness. In black sheets two independent makers quoted $2 under the Steel Corporation price. Other independents have lowered their prices to those of the principal manufacturer. Full finished sheets have been rising of late, it is said, at Youngstown. They are quoted at 5.35c. for 22 gauge auto body stock beyond July. There has been business of importance, it is said, in sheet bars, billets and slabs beyond July delivery. Wire rods from independent rollers are $53 to $55. Orders for steel rails have increased. The Chicago Burlington & Quincy has just ordered 45,000 tons of rails from the Illinois Steel Co.; the Southern Pacific has ordered 50,000 tons; the Louisville & Nashville has also ordered a certain quantity; the Philadelphia & Reading is inquiring for 15,000 tons. Japan recently took 6,000 tons of rails.

PIG IRON has been quiet and lower. Steel-making grades of pig iron, it is stated, have dropped 50c. per ton to $27 50 valley furnace, in the case of basic, and $29 50 for Bessemer pig iron. Birmingham iron has been sold, it is said, in the Chicago district at $26 furnace, though the nominal price is $27. Lower prices have been quoted in Virginia and Buffalo, as well as in Central Pennsylvania. The weak feature is that with trade dull 126 blast furnaces out of a total of 138 are in operation, the highest rate in 5 years. Steel-making grades the past fortnight have been weaker than foundry grades. Basic iron has fallen $7 in a month and a half, and heavy melting scrap has recently had a conspicuous decline. Yet of cancellations of pig iron orders there are none. That fact attracts attention, as well it may. Nor are there any requests for delay in shipments, despite the recent downward drift of prices. That is also suggestive. Production keeps up if new buying flags. Of course there are two ways of looking at that fact. It may be the herald of still lower prices. It may mean confidence that later on the product will all be wanted.

WOOL has been quiet here and more or less irregular. Ohio and Pennsylvania unwashed fine delaine 57 to 60c.; XX, 52 to 54c.; ½ blood, 55 to 56c.; ⅜ blood, 52 to 53c.; ¼ blood, 50 to 51c. Territory clean basis fine medium staple, $1 45 to $1 50; clothing, $1 35 to $1 40; ½ blood, staple, $1 32 to $1 35; ⅜ blood, $1 05 to $1 10; ¼ blood, 96c. to $1 00. Texas clean basis, fine, 12 months, $1 45 to $1 50. Pulled, scoured basis, A-super, $1 20 to $1 24; B, $1 02 to $1 07; C, 80c. to 86c. Domestic mohair, best combing, 78c. to 83c. In the East, Ohio and Pennsylvania delaine, 57c. to 58c.; fine, 51c. to 52c.

At Bradford, the woolen market was poor and the bids were below replacement costs in all departments.

No further large exports are expected at this time. The Western markets show little change on a clean landed basis. Of recent exports the greater part was low-grade wools, it appears, apparently Lincolns. Foreign wool brokers estimate the shipment of these wools from the three principal ports at something like 2,000,000 lbs. Lincoln wool exported was sold, it is said, at around 18½ to 19c. f.o.b. Boston. Fine noils, 82 to 83c. for single combed clear lots. It is said 12 months' clip in Texas from the Del Rio section has been sold, being of very light shrinkage, and the clean landed basis cost in Boston not more than $1 40, although the price in the country was 57½c. grease basis. Some other clips, it is said, sold at $1 50 for good 12 months' wool. In Montana and Wyoming there has been some trading at prices which show no great change, if any. The season is late in the bright wool States, as it is everywhere in this country.

At Wellington, New Zealand, on May 24 17,500 bales were offered and 13,000 sold. Selection all crossbreds and no merinos. Demand fair from Yorkshire and the Continent. The close was firm with prices of average to super crossbreds, 46-48s, 11d. to 15½d.; 44-46s, 10d. to 14½d.; 40-44s, 9d. to 11½d.; 36-40s, 8d. to 8¾d. Lambs, good qualities, were ½d. to 1d. higher. The Boston "Commercial Bulletin" in its issue of Saturday, May 26, will say:

The wool market is still drifting more or less, except for the finer grades of worsted wools, which are steady. Carded woolen descriptions are easier. The manufacturing situation, however, seems to be clearing a bit as regards cancellations. Further exports, chiefly of low wools, are being made.

The foreign markets are generally steady with hardly anything available in the primary markets.

Buying in the West has been somewhat irregular this week. It is estimated that fully half of the territory wools have been sold and that easily three-quarters of the fine wools have been moved.

Mohair has been fairly well disposed of in Texas. In this market there has been little business in the staple, although prices are firm.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from Jan. 1 1923 to May 24 1923 inclusive were 64,806,000 pounds, against 33,798,000 pounds for the same period last year.

The receipts from Jan. 1 1923 to May 24 1923 inclusive were 257,995,500 pounds, against 155,294,750 pounds for the same period last year.

COTTON.

THE MOVEMENT OF THE CROP, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening the total receipts have reached 36,894 bales, against 26,647 bales last week and 35,332 bales the previous week, making the total receipts since the 1st of August 1922, 5,493,416 bales, against 5,493,815 bales for the same period of 1921-22, showing a decrease since Aug. 1 1922 of 399 bales.

NOTE.—Exports to Canada.—It has never been our practice to include in the above table exports of cotton to Canada, the reason being that virtually all the cotton destined to the Dominion comes overland and it is impossible to get returns concerning the same from week to week, while reports from the customs districts on the Canadian border are always very slow in coming to hand. In view, however, of the numerous inquiries we are receiving regarding the matter, we will say that for the crop year from Aug. 1 to Apr. 30 (no later returns are as yet available) the exports to the Dominion the present season have been 169,614 bales. In the corresponding period of the preceding season the exports were about 155,000 bales.

In addition to above exports, our telegrams to-night also give us the following amounts of cotton on shipboard, not cleared, at the ports named.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been active at rapidly rising prices, mainly owing to cold, wet weather over large tracts of the South. There has been a chorus of complaints of heavy rains and low temperatures from both east and west of the Mississippi River. Latterly there has been a low barometer over Texas and Oklahoma. Heavy rains have fallen in Oklahoma and also in Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi and various parts of the Mississippi Valley. And the Government figures on the "par" yield per acre for May averaging about 208 lbs., as against 221.5 for this month last year had a very striking effect. It caused a number of crop estimates to be scaled down about 700,000 bales. That is to say, one of 11,650,000 bales was tentatively changed to 10,950,000 bales. Another of 12,580,000 bales was reduced to 11,890,000 bales. Another estimate made before the par figures were published was 11,250,000 bales. In other words, all the estimates thus far are under the indicated world's consumption of American cotton of 13,500,000 bales this year, on the basis of the consumption for many months, that is to say of 1,125,000 bales. Moreover, the condition in private reports has thus far been nowhere openly given as above 72%, while one report was as low as 69, as against 69.6 a year ago, and a 10-year average of 73.6 for May 25. All this has given rise to a fear that the Government report on June 1, the data for which it is well known comes down no later than May 25, may be unfavorable. Moreover it is pointed out that very often, if not invariably, if the season starts with a condition below the 10-year average, it is apt to be the forerunner of an unsatisfactory yield. And certainly all the estimates thus far have been under the 10-year average. Whether this actually prefigures a poor crop remains to be seen. Of course there are exceptions to all rules. Very favorable weather from now on may change the outlook for the yield. But there is a very general opinion that it must be very favorable to bring about such a result.

There is universal complaint, as already intimated, of the prolonged wet weather with cold nights and, it may be added, of grassy fields in some parts of the belt. In other words, the month of May has been disappointing. There is a very general agreement that May ought to be dry and warm, with merely occasional showers to help germination. The month of May 1923 has been quite the reverse. Cold nights and undesired rains have been the rule. And now there are reports that the weevil is appearing in Texas, Georgia and some other parts of the belt. Moreover, much replanting must be done. Some call it simply a waste of time to plant again at this time of the year. They believe that an early start is absolutely essential to escape the worst ravages of the weevil. The successive broods of the pest which come later on, it is feared, will get the late planted cotton. It is all very unfortunate. The world needs a good crop in this country. It needs 13,000,000 bales and 14,000,000 bales would be all the better in bringing back normal conditions to the cotton business of the world. And yet not only is there a dubious outlook for the crop but it seems that there is a conflict of opinion between the Census Bureau and the Department of Agriculture as to the size of the stocks held by consuming establishments and warehouses and compresses in this country. There is a difference between the totals of some 264,000 bales. Naturally this is very much regretted. But practical cotton men try to dismiss the subject with the thought that in any case the statistical position is strong. Meanwhile spot markets at the South have been a little more active at rising prices with the basis also advancing. England, Japan and Germany and other Continental countries are said to have been buying rather more freely in different parts of the South. And on the 24th inst. there was a report that Japanese buyers had taken all the remaining holdings of the Texas Farm Bureau. This report is mentioned here merely for what it is worth. The vital point is that the demand has increased, that the South is far more hopeful and that there is some renewal of the talk of 30-cent cotton as possible some time before the end of this season.

On the other hand, some think that the big advance of late amounting to some 450 points on July and 300 on October has discounted, for the time being at any rate, anything at all bullish in the situation, not excepting the probability of a very unfavorable Government report on June 1. And there can be no doubt that the short interest has been greatly reduced since the great advance began on May 12. Also that cotton goods are quiet at home and abroad. A number of mills in New England are reducing their output. Some, indeed, are closing. Eight or ten mills in Fall River, it is understood, are running on a four-day week. Worth Street has been quiet and at Fall River the sales have been small, even though of late there have been reports of a rather better inquiry. Manchester has been practically closed much of the week for the Whitsuntide holidays. But before that its trade was anything but satisfactory. Liverpool's spot sales of late have been down to 4,000 bales. That may have been due to the fact that Manchester's trade was taking a holiday. But even before the holidays it was noticed that American cotton formed only a smaller percentage of the spot business in Liverpool. Liverpool has been using Peruvian and other growths to the exclusion of American on a larger scale than for years past. And as for the American crop, the month of June is apt to be favorable. A change in the weather, even a pronounced change for the better, would not be at all surprising after so prolonged a period of unfavorable conditions. The weather seems to have its reactions like everything else. And after all, the actual spot sales at the South day by day do not always chime with the reports of a big demand; far from it. It is also true that the rise here has been very largely due to covering of shorts rather than to any new outside bull speculation. The changes in cotton prices during the last couple of months have been so violent as to frighten the outsiders. To-day prices reacted on week-end liquidation after the recent great rise. Also, weekly statistics were less favorable. Cloths were dull. Some Fall River mills are closing for a week. Spot markets were dull. Liverpool, Wall Street and scattered interests sold. Final prices, however, show a net rise for the week of 148 to 173 points, the latter on July, with the tone steady. Spot cotton ended at 28.55c. for middling, a rise for the week of 155 points.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—Reports to us by telegraph from the South this evening indicate that the weather has been somewhat warmer and temperatures have averaged about normal. There have, however, been frequent rains in almost all sections of the cotton belt except in parts of Texas and in many instances these rains have been excessive.

Mobile.—Poor progress has been made in farm work, and cultivation of low lands is at a standstill due to the heavy rains. Condition of cotton in the uplands is fairly good, but some of the fields are grassy.

Texas.—Condition and stands of cotton fairly good except in the drier sections where the condition is rather poor, but with the crop clean. Fairly good progress has been made in chopping. The boll weevil is appearing in the lower Rio Grande Valley where cotton is blooming.

BREADSTUFFS

Friday Night, May 25 1923.

Flour has been quiet and fairly steady. For stocks, though large here, are decreasing, showing the effects of recent big exports, not to mention the withdrawals for home consumption. But the fact remains that they are still unusually large. To make matters worse, flour is being offered freely from nearby points, including Philadelphia. It is true that of late the receipts have been moderate, but not a little flour is in transit to New York. The movement from the Lakes by water and rail is believed to be extensive. So that before long the receipts here could conceivably increase quite noticeably. Meanwhile export business is dull. European buyers profess indifference. Greece now forbids the importation of flour, supposedly because of a recent advance in exchange and the decline in wheat, which opens the way for more advantageous buying abroad than in the United States or even Canada. At Kansas City trade has been slow. Car lots of flour quoted per bbl., as follows: Bulk basis, hard wheat, short patent, $6 25 to $6 40; long patent, $5 70 to $6; straight, $5 50 to $5 70; first clear, $4 35 to $4 60; second clear, $3 35 to $3 75; low grade, $3 25 to $3 40. Soft wheat, fancy patent, $6 70 to $7; standard patent, $6 45 to $6 60; straight, $5 80 to $6 30; clear, $4 90 to $5 40; low grade, $3 60 to $3 85. At Minneapolis trade has been dull with jobbers and bakers stocked up, especially at the East. Prices show little change. The "Northwestern Miller" says: "The flour situation in some of the larger Eastern markets is distressing. Stocks of flour in New York City last week were estimated to be approximately 625,000 bbls., compared with 400,000 normally. Philadelphia warehouses are represented to be filled with flour, a lot of which is consigned and resellers are peddling this out at unheard of prices. Eastern markets generally are said to be in a demoralized condition on account of consigned or distressed shipments."

Wheat declined at first and then rallied. But the price swings were within a rather small space. This in spite of the fact that the American visible supply decreased last week to the rather remarkable extent of 4,110,000 bushels, against only 1,576,000 in the same week last year. The total is now 37,109,000 bushels, against 26,410,000 a year ago. Some unfavorable crop reports were received on the 21st inst. It is said that in parts of Kansas the yield per acre is not much over 10 bushels. Estimates were circulated indicating that on the basis of present outlook Kansas may raise a crop of 90,000,000 bushels. This kind of talk, and also some unfavorable ideas as to the appearance of the crop in parts of Indiana and Illinois and Ohio, caused a certain amount of covering at one time. But in general the weather early in the week was favorable and there was an absence of foreign buying. More favorable crop developments in Europe were reported; also, it was said that Russia was offering wheat to Germany. Yet the decrease of 4,110,000 bushels in the American visible supply as well as a decrease of 2,034,000 bushels in bonded stocks more than offset an increase of 1,169,000 bushels in the Canadian "visible" and caused a spurt of buying for a moment. But it was only for a moment. Europe did nothing. The Whitsuntide holidays were on early in the week. Foreign exchange is so irregular as to hurt foreign business for forward delivery. This factor alone, it is feared, may keep export business down, for a time at least, to a minimum. Speculation was becalmed. The outside public largely ignored it. Bad crop reports for the most part fell flat. Later the tone was on the whole steady; the fluctuations were not remarkable. But with stocks rallying, cotton up, and the Federal Reserve Board at Washington talking more cheerfully about the financial and general business outlook, the tone was not depressed, despite better weather at the Southwest, where recent rains have been beneficial. The Kansas crop was estimated by some at as high as 110,000,000 bushels. Still, export demand was light. In two days the export sales were only 450,000 bushels. London had sold one or more cargoes of Gulf wheat for future shipment at prices equivalent to about 6c. over Chicago July as a hedge against purchases of similar quantities in India at relatively lower prices. Liverpool cables were disappointing. India, it was repeatedly said, was offering wheat at below American prices. Argentina is offering wheat to Liverpool more freely with cheap freights. Can surplus American stocks be easily sold? That is a question which some are considering with no small interest, even, it is intimated, with a certain anxiety. Meantime, too, the technical position is regarded as weaker. Flour is dull, with sharp competition for business. Yet wheat has acted better than might have been expected. There are persistent reports of a decrease in the acreage at the Northwest and of recent crop deterioration in the Southwest. The season is said to be about two weeks late. Special reports to the Chicago "Price Current Grain Reporter" to May 19 indicate the season is uniformly ten days to two weeks late, but favorable weather and soil conditions will give rapid growth. Yet on the other hand wheat was powerless to advance much. Kansas has had rains of one to two inches. The soil there is in much better condition. Chicago operators took the ground that any unfavorable crop news has lost its effect as a trade stimulant, the heaviness at Minneapolis, despite indicated large decreases in seeded area, having a more or less depressing influence. The apparent indifference of outsiders has led some of the traders in Chicago to sell. To-day prices, after an early advance of ½ to ¾c., reacted and closed slightly lower, but ¾ to 1c. higher than last Friday.

Indian corn, like other grain, kept its price movements within very small limits early in the week. But did decline half a cent with the cash demand much smaller. Southwestern cash markets were weak, with wheat none too steady. Yet receipts have been small. Last week at primary points they were only 1,325,000 bushels. But the demand being small also and with the weather more favorable for planting the tone became more or less depressed. Speculation for a rise was less aggressive, less confident. With a lull in both speculation and cash trade, the comparative indifference of the market, even to such a decrease in the American visible supply last week as 2,872,000 against only 1,241,000 last year, is not very difficult to understand. To be sure, the total is now down to 12,427,000 bushels, against 30,660,000 a year ago, but on the 21st inst. May corn was 80c. against 61 last year, July 79¾ against 64⅛c. last year. It is said that corn is now being hauled to some extent in parts of Central Illinois to interior elevators, but offerings at Chicago to arrive were small. Outside markets were overbidding Chicago. Meantime it is asserted that 25% of the central Illinois corn acreage will have to be re-planted and further rains were reported in Iowa and Nebraska. Later 300,000 bushels were taken for export. But domestic cash business was small. The price is too high, say feeders. They are comparing corn with hogs. And there are predictions of larger receipts at primary points. Seeding, too, it seems, has made greater progress. Talk of considerable re-seeding of wheat being necessary tended to steady corn prices. At one time, indeed, they rallied sharply on covering. But fluctuations in the main during the week have been anything but striking and the drift was downward in the main. Kansas reported planting still in progress in the western half of the State. To-day prices advanced slightly and then reacted, ending ⅞ to 1⅛c. lower for the week.

Oats kept within narrow bounds early in the week, but there was a slight decline. The American visible supply, it is true, decreased last week 1,935,000 bushels, against a decrease in the same week last year of 1,417,000. This leaves it only 16,133,000 bushels against no less than 51,509,000 bushels a year ago. But statistics do not seem to help oats much, if at all. Trade has been too dull. The weather has been better and the crop reports more cheerful. May oats were 42½c. against 37⅞c. a year ago. Later May was at a small premium over July. It was also said that a better cash demand from the South had appeared with some business for shipment from Chicago and Iowa points. Still later 30,000 bushels were sold for export. Of course this was nothing at all important unless it may, perchance, be the forerunner of larger European buying. Time will show. The depression at times in other grains, to go no further, was a drawback to oats. Trading as a rule has been small. Nothing seems to be able to stir it into new life. To-day prices advanced a fraction, then receded and closed ¼c. lower than a week ago.

Rye declined with little demand, either home or foreign. Liquidation set in and its effects were plain enough, especially on May rye. Yet some of the crop reports from the Northwest were not favorable. They failed to move the market, however, in the existing dulness. The American visible supply decreased last week 382,000 bushels, against an increase in the same week last year of 146,000. The total is now 19,987,000, against 6,354,000 last year. May rye on May 21 was 76½c., against 1.05¾ on the same day last year. Later on, the weather at the Northwest was better and prices fell some 1 to 2 cents, with big liquidation. It was followed by a further decline in the May delivery of 1½c. with the technical position weaker. So many shorts had covered. Later months acted better than May, though unable to advance. There were sales to Germany estimated at 200,000 bushels. To-day prices advanced ¼ to ½c., then reacted and ended 3 to 4c. lower than a week ago.

WEATHER BULLETIN FOR THE WEEK ENDING MAY 22.—The general summary of the weather bulletin issued by the Department of Agriculture, indicating the influence of the weather for the week ending May 22, is as follows:

In most of the country the week ended May 22 was decidedly unfavorable for warm weather crops. Generally cool weather continued throughout the interior States with too much soil moisture in many localities which retarded germination and field work. Generous rains were very beneficial in the western Lake region while additional needed moisture was received in the Central Rocky Mountain States, the western plateau area and in much of the Far Northwest. No extensive areas were needing moisture at the close of the week, although rain was needed in Southern Texas, much of Arizona and New Mexico, Eastern Montana and in some sections of the Far Northwest. The soil was generally too wet in the East Gulf States, Arkansas and much of Oklahoma, while field work was delayed in considerable portions of the Ohio Valley area, principally from soil wetness due to preceding rains.

The weather was mostly favorable for farming interests in the Atlantic States, except too wet in some northern sections and good growing weather was the rule west of the Rocky Mountains. There was rather severe hail damage in the Arkansas Valley and Colorado and heavy rains washed fields badly in parts of the Southeast. Agitation continued from ten days to two weeks backward in most sections of the country.

COTTON.—The first half of the week was generally cool in the cotton-growing States, but the latter half was somewhat warmer; the temperatures for the week as a whole averaged 2 or 3 degrees below normal, except in much of Texas, where the weekly means were normal or slightly above. Rainfall was frequent in nearly all sections of the belt, except in most of Texas, and amounts were heavy in many localities.

The week was decidedly unfavorable for cotton because of wet weather and cool nights, except that fairly favorable conditions prevailed in most of Texas and in the Carolinas. Fields were clean in Texas and chopping progressed favorably with the condition and stands mostly fair; weevils were appearing in the lower Rio Grande Valley, where cotton was blooming. It was too cool and wet in Oklahoma, however, and cotton made poor progress, while heavy rain caused much washing of fields. Cotton needed cultivation badly in Arkansas and very poor growth was reported from that State with plants dying in some localities and much replanting being done.

Growth was slow in Louisiana and Mississippi, especially on the low lands, and fields were becoming grassy in Tennessee. Cotton plants showed fairly good growth in Alabama, but much of the week was rainy and field work needed, especially in the South. Deficient sunshine, cool nights and heavy rains were decidedly unfavorable in Georgia, where weevil were reported as appearing generally. The crop showed some improvement in North Carolina, while progress and condition were fair in South Carolina in the latter part of the week, being more favorable in that State.

WHEAT.—The week was generally cool throughout the principal winter wheat belt and moisture was ample in all sections. Wheat continued to make satisfactory progress in nearly all districts between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains, although there was complaint of thin stand in Nebraska and the crop continued very late and threatened with weeds in Western Kansas.

Good growth continued in the eastern two-thirds of Kansas and the plants were heading out in the southeastern portion.

Winter wheat continued to show improvement since the rain in the Ohio Valley States, but there was much flooding and washing of fields in Indiana and the general condition of the crop continued very poor to poor in many places in Ohio. The crop improved generally in the Middle Atlantic Coast area and rainfall in many wheat districts from the Rocky Mountains westward was beneficial, although more rain was needed in portions of Washington.

Spring wheat made good progress under generally favorable weather conditions for that crop. The coolness favored stooling of the early sown and seeding was practically finished in all sections. The crop was generally up to a good stand in North Dakota, although some fields were reported thin because of freezing temperatures at germination. Much spring wheat was up to a good color and growing well in Montana.

OATS.—Oats harvest was interrupted in the Southeastern States by frequent rain, but this work progressed favorably in the West Gulf area. Other cereals made fair progress in the Southwest, while spring oats grew well throughout most interior sections of the country. Some oats seeding was yet to be done in New York where the soil was generally too wet to work. Rice seeding was completed in California, but the early sown grew slowly because of cool weather. The rice crop continued backward in Louisiana. Flax seeding was well advanced in Minnesota, and seeding progressed in North Dakota.

CORN.—Corn needed warmth and more sunshine throughout the principal planting area. Planting was delayed by wet soil in many Ohio Valley localities and there was much planting still to do, especially in Ohio, while the cool weather prevented satisfactory germination. Planting was well along in Iowa, but not much corn was up and there was some complaint of rotting seed. The condition of the crop was fair in Missouri, but warmth and sunshine were needed for rapid growth. The crop came to a good stand in Eastern Kansas, where the fields were being cultivated, but planting was still in progress in the western portion of the State.

Seeding was well along in Southern Nebraska and was making good progress in the North, but much corn was still to be planted in South Dakota. Conditions were mostly unfavorable for corn in the Southern States, although the crop made fairly good progress in Texas and rains were beneficial in Florida. Cultivation was badly needed in Arkansas and Tennessee and most of the Central and East Gulf localities.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE

Friday Night, May 25 1923.

Quietness has continued to prevail in markets for textiles during the past week, and the general undertone has been easier. Goods have been offered at lower prices in different quarters of the primary markets, and while the weather has been unfavorable for the sale of goods there appears to be something more than the weather affecting prices. Trade banking factors have been watching the merchandise stocks of their clients closely, and where novelties and seasonably high-styled goods have not moved satisfactorily, suggestions have been made that have resulted in stock reductions at liquidation prices. This development, however, has been confined largely to the smaller converters or concerns whose resources are limited. That the seasonable quiet has been extended beyond expectations is admitted in many places, and factors responsible for this include less buoyant trade in general, and the reports of strikes in building circles which have been mentioned in conjunction with the movement that is under way to restrict investment in new enterprises while costs continue so high. All of these developments are no doubt having their effect in reducing the purchasing power at retail centres. There has already been considerable talk of consumer resistance manifesting itself, and while the average dry goods trader is as yet unconvinced that business will not expand when the weather becomes more seasonable, it is felt that so much of the distribution has been delayed that a great deal of it will likely be deferred permanently, or at least only hastened by price concessions at retail. On the other hand, the opinion is expressed among many of the local merchants, that if the weather turns hot and remains so for a reasonable period many of the immediate difficulties in the way of more active business will be solved.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS: There has been no urgent demand for domestic cottons during the past week; in fact, the buying has been of limited proportions, and in some cases at easier prices. The general movement throughout the country against high prices has encouraged many buyers to confine purchases for the most part to current needs. The unsettlement prevailing in the markets for raw material has also had a tendency to check activity, while the unseasonable weather has likewise been an adverse factor. Furthermore, merchants are inclined to view more soberly the possible diminution in the purchasing power of consumers involved in the intentions of capitalists and others to refrain from further expansion in building construction, and in the popular desire that strikes among the building trades for still higher wages shall be fought to a finish. In an effort to keep up sales or reduce burdensome stocks, many of the jobbers have been offering several lines of cotton goods very cheap. It is not generally believed, however, that sales will amount to anything more than a cleaning up before inventory. While there are some houses who appear to be insistent about driving for business when customers are indifferent, most of the conservative merchants are content to sit back until some new development may occur to lead to renewed activity. It is generally predicted that a period of good retail trade would follow a sustained spell of hot weather. It is also hoped that when the June Government report on cotton is issued, many uncertainties concerning the start of the new crop will be cleared up and result in more settled views of crop prospects which at the present time are very much mixed and give just cause for uncertainty of opinion concerning cloth values. Print cloths have ruled very quiet during the week, 28-inch, 64 x 64's construction are quoted at 7⅝c., and the 27-inch, 64 x 60's, at 7⅛c. Gray goods in the 39-inch, 68 x 72's, are quoted at 11⅜c., and the 39-inch, 80 x 80's, at 13c.

WOOLEN GOODS: There has been no activity in markets for woolens and worsteds, in fact the quiet in some departments has gone beyond a seasonable falling off. Some of the mills in Rhode Island are closing, and, according to reports, there have been many revisions of orders for fall that are virtually considered cancellations. The clothing trade, as well as the cloak and suit business at retail has fallen off, and is dull in some sections. Where goods are overdue on delivery a general desire to cancel has been manifested. It is claimed, nevertheless, that there is still a good volume of firm orders on the books of mills and little likelihood of a slump that will amount to much before July at least, and by that time it is hoped that general business will have improved sufficiently to remove the present uncertainties.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS: Markets for linens appear to have settled down awaiting a revival of buying. Aside from dress linens, which are selling fairly well, the market in general has ruled quiet, and many salesmen on the road who are not justifying their trips out of town are being recalled. Owing to the lack of buying, sellers have displayed more willingness to offer price concessions below the regular list in order to move goods. No cancellations have developed, however, although importers have been prepared for such a development for some weeks back. The market for burlaps has been dominated by speculative interests during the week. Consumers have purchased sparingly, and the market in general has been dull. Owing to the absence of demand, the undertone has been easy. Light weights are quoted at 5.25 to 5.35c., and heavies at 6.90 to 7.00c.

California (State of).—Legislature Adjourns.—The 1923 Legislature adjourned sine die on the evening of May 18.

Minnesota (State of).—Small Independent School Districts May Issue Bonds in Unlimited Amount, According to State Supreme Court Decision.—The State Supreme Court of Minnesota on May 18, hearing an appeal brought from the District Court of Hibbing by the Oliver Mining Co. in a suit brought by that company and others against the St. Louis County Independent School District No. 35 to prevent the issuance of $1,750,000 school construction bonds, decided in favor of the district. The appellants contended that the bond issue was illegal because it necessitated increasing the tax levy to a figure above the 8 mills per dollar limit placed on school taxes by statute. This the Supreme Court denied, holding that the 8-mill limitation was to be construed as meaning that no greater levy than 8 mills was to be levied in any one year for the purchase of school sites and erection of school houses, and then added: "But it is not a limitation upon the power of the electors of such a district to issue bonds for the same and other purposes and when such bonds are issued the school board must levy a sufficient tax to meet interest and bonds as they mature unaffected by the section which provides the 8-mill limitation." The court, in supporting its holding, also stated that there is no provision in the statutes relating to the issue of bonds by districts in the class of St. Louis County Independent District No. 35 (which has a population of not quite 5,000, according to estimates) that places any limit upon indebtedness that may be created. The following is taken from the Minneapolis "Journal" of May 18:

In a decision involving $2,300,000 in the specific case affected and the probable expenditure of many millions more the Minnesota Supreme Court held to-day that independent school districts legally may spend any amount their voters authorize in purchasing sites and erecting and equipping school buildings.

A limitation in the statutes of 8 mills on the dollar as the maximum tax levy that may be imposed by a school board in such a district does not apply when the electors vote bond issues, the court held.

The far-reaching decision is of particular importance in northern Minnesota, where Hibbing with its $2,000,000 high school has set the pace, and where mining companies have protested what were termed excessive and extravagant tax burdens for construction of public buildings.

To-day's decision was in the case of the Oliver Mining Co. and others against Independent School District No. 35. The plaintiffs in the action protested a bond issue of $1,750,000 voted by the people for the construction and equipment of schools at Buhl and Kinney, and revived an old statute which provides that "in independent districts no tax in excess of 8 mills on the dollar shall be levied for the purpose of school sites and erection of school buildings."

After contracts had been let and work on $2,300,000 school construction was 75 to 80% complete, the mining companies sought and obtained a temporary restraining order against the district and the contractors on the ground that the contracts were illegal and that the bond issue was not authorized by law because it entailed expenditure in excess of the 8-mill limitation on the school board.

Many Twin City contractors, including the National Contracting Co., were engaged in the work with large sums invested when the restraining order became effective in October 1921. Since then no work has been done. J. D. Shearer, attorney for some of the contractors, estimated to-day that $500,000 of Twin City contractors' money had been tied up.

The Supreme Court in its decision to-day held that the bond issue was legal and reaffirmed the principle that when the electors vote bonds the levy must be made to meet interest on and maturity of the bonds.

The bond sale was authorized by the voters in 1919 and work was begun on an enlargement of the Buhl high school and the construction of an elementary school at Kinney. The Buhl school specifications called for one of the most magnificent educational institutions of the State—a competitor of the $2,000,000 high school at Hibbing. In October the mining companies went into District Court of St. Louis County and obtained a temporary restraining order, stopping all work. The litigation attracted State-wide interest, involving not only the contractors but bondholders as well.

The case went to trial before District Judge Martin Hughes at Hibbing. Attorneys for the plaintiff set up the old statute which made specific limitations, and they held that, regardless of action by electors, 8 mills on the dollar represented the maximum levy that could be imposed on taxpayers. They called the expenditures excessive and extravagant, and a plain imposition on the mining companies. The defense was that there had been no abuse of discretion by the voters of the district and that the schools were needed for the proper training of children and adults in the iron range district.

Judge Hughes denied the injunction and held that, while the expenditure seemed large, the evidence of school authorities showed it was warranted. This evidence showed that at Buhl 435 children had been given virtually no accommodations. Classes were conducted in basements, store buildings and the public hall. The court in its findings emphasized that 500 adults had been taught in these unsatisfactory places, whereas Americanization work was held vitally important. It held that the amount of the bonds to be issued was a matter for determination by the voters and not the court.

Attorneys for the contractors and the school district charged the mining company had led the contractors into a trap in permitting them to proceed for 18 months and then stopping the work.

Although the district court by its findings automatically dismissed the temporary injunction, it remained in effect when appeal was taken to the Supreme Court by the mining companies.

In arguments before the Supreme Court, as well as in District Court, counsel for the contractors and the school district set up that the charge that the heavy expenditures for school construction were an imposition on the mining companies was ridiculous, since the man with a real estate valuation of $1,000 paid the same proportionate tax as the mining companies. The "widow's mite" was held more difficult to pay than the large sums turned into tax revenue by the heaviest taxpayers.

School needs of the territory were cited again before the Supreme Court. The Kinney school, according to the arguments, would serve a territory of 5,000 persons with 1,500 school children.

"This provision 'In independent districts no tax in excess of 8 mills on the dollar shall be levied for the purchase of school sites and the erection of school houses,' is construed as a limitation on the school board, so that the board may not in any one year levy a greater tax for the purpose stated," the syllabus of the Supreme Court decision read· "but it is not a limitation upon the power of the electors of such a district to issue bonds for the same and other purposes and when such bonds are issued the school board must levy sufficient tax to meet interest and bonds as they mature unaffected by the section which provides the 8-mill limitation.

"That such is the proper construction is indicated by sections 5 and 6, article 8, of the constitution and by the bonding statute.

"No provision in the statutes relating to the issue of bonds by independent school districts, in the class of the defendant district, for the purposes mentioned in said subdivision 4, section 1855, places a limit upon the indebtedness that may be thus created. Hence, the contracts, for the construction of the school buildings involved, entered when the issue of sufficient bonds had been authorized to meet the amounts of the contracts are not in violation of section 2058, G. S., 1913, even though the 8-mill tax levied under section 2917 is not sufficient to care for the interest and maturing bonds.

"Contracts made when not sufficient bonds had been authorized to meet the obligations incurred may be validated by the electors voting to issue sufficient additional bonds and appropriating balances from funds not otherwise set aside to cover all the contracts let.

"The findings that the school district had not recklessly, arbitrarily on extravagantly used its powers in the erection of school buildings involved is sustained.

"It is also held that the evidence sustains the finding that plaintiffs had been guilty of such laches in beginning the suit that, as a matter of law, they should now be estopped from questioning contracts under which the district has acquired valuable structures which it now retains and uses for a proper purpose."

The decision is of vital importance to Minnesota school bondholders, Arthur J. Edwards, Vice-President of Wells-Dickey Co., said.

"This decision is of extreme importance to holders of Minnesota school bonds in holdings that when bonds have been issued pursuant to vote by the people," he said, "the school board must levy a tax sufficient to meet interest and principal as they mature. Many school bonds are outstanding held by the trust funds of the State of Minnesota and by private investors, for the payment of which the limited 8-mill tax contended for by the mining companies would have been insufficient. That the voice of the people in voting bonds carries with it the necessity of levying sufficient taxes to pay same when due has been generally considered to be the law in Minnesota until recently questioned in this case, and we are pleased to see the Supreme Court so vigorously reaffirm this principle."

New York City, N. Y.—Mayor's, Controller's and Borough Presidents' Salary Increase Bill Approved by Mayor Hylan and Governor Smith.—Other Salary Increases Vetoed by Mayor—A bill increasing the Mayor's and Controller's salaries from $15,000 to $25,000 and the Borough Presidents' salaries from $10,000 to $15,000, was signed by Mayor Hylan on May 23 and by Governor Smith on the 24th. At the same time that he signed the measure increasing his own salary, Mayor Hylan vetoed several bills increasing city employees' salaries and pensions. The Mayor's reason for vetoing the pension bills was that the city was not financially able to pay the increases.

New York State.—Hospital Bond Bill Signed—Income Tax Law Amended.—The $50,000,000 hospital bond bill was signed by the Governor on May 23. The measure specifically authorizes the State Comptroller to issue bonds at not less than par in an amount not to exceed $50,000,000. The bonds are to be free of taxation and are to bear interest at a rate not to exceed 5%, payable semi-annually in New York, and are to mature in 25 equal annual installments, the first one year from date of issue. The bill carries a referendum clause, placing the bond issue before the voters at the election this fall.

On May 22 a bill amending the income tax law by making more liberal exemptions for married men or heads of families was signed by Governor Smith. The bill increases from $2,000 to $2,500 the amount of personal exemption granted to married men or heads of families in cases where the income is less than $5,000. The amount of exemption that may be claimed on incomes of over $5,000 remains at the old figure of $2,000. The exemption allowed for a dependent is increased from $200 to $400 by the bill. The text of the bill follows, the new matter being in italics and the old matter to be omitted in bold face brackets:

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows

Section 1. Section three hundred and sixty-two of chapter sixty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An Act in relation to taxation, constituting chapter sixty of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter six hundred and twenty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and nineteen, and last amended by chapter one hundred and ninety-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 362. Exemptions. The following exemptions shall be allowed to any taxpayer:

1. In the case of a single person, a personal exemption of one thousand dollars, or in the case of the head of a family or a married person living with husband or wife, a personal exemption of two thousand five hundred dollars, unless the net income is in excess of five thousand dollars, in which case the personal exemption shall be two thousand dollars. A husband and wife living together shall receive but one personal exemption [of two thousand dollars against their aggregate net income; and in case they make separate returns, the personal exemption of two thousand dollars shall be equally divided between them]. The amount of such personal exemption shall be two thousand five hundred dollars, unless the aggregate net income of such husband and wife is in excess of five thousand dollars, in which case the amount of such personal exemption shall be two thousand dollars. If such husband and wife make separate returns, the personal exemption shall be equally divided between them. In no case shall the reduction of the personal exemption from two thousand five hundred dollars to two thousand dollars operate to increase the tax, which would be payable if the exemption were two thousand five hundred dollars, by more than the amount of net income in excess of five thousand dollars.

2. [Two] Four hundred dollars for each person (other than husband or wife) dependent upon and receiving his chief support from the taxpayer, if such dependent person is under eighteen years of age or is incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

Sec. 2. This Act shall take effect immediately, but it shall not apply to any return rendered for the taxable year ended prior to the date of this taking effect.

THE TRANSPORTATION ACT OF 1920 IN MAY 1923.

On March 1 1920 the railroads of the United States, which on Jan. 1 1918, as a war measure, had been taken over for operation as one system by the United States Railroad Administration, were, in so far as still under its control (the short lines having previously been surrendered), restored to their owners. Federal control was thus terminated pursuant to a proclamation issued on Dec. 24 1919 by the President of the United States and subject to the terms of the Transportation Act of 1920, approved by the President on Feb. 28 1920. The complete text of the Act was printed in the "Chronicle" of Feb. 21 1920, pages 715 to 732, with an amendment in V. 110, p. 2250.

On Sept. 1 1920 the Government guaranty of income which was granted to assenting roads for the six months following the end of Federal control expired by limitation.

On March 1 1922, two further provisions of the Transportation Act expired by limitation, namely: (1) The provision of Section 15 (a) making it incumbent on the Inter-State Commerce Commission when adjusting freight and passenger rates during the two years beginning March 1, to aim at establishing such rates for the railroads of the country as a whole or in districts as should afford "as a fair return" on the tentative valuation which was fixed by the Commission in July 1920, a sum equal to 5½% per annum and in addition at the discretion of the Commission an additional ½ of 1% to make provision for improvements, betterments or equipment; (2) The provision in Section 210 (a) permitting the carriers to apply for loans from the Federal Revolving Fund within two years from the termination of Federal control.

On May 24 1922 the Inter-State Commerce Commission, as required by the Act, made known its decision as to what would be a new reasonable rate of return on the investment of the roads, for use when fixing rates for passenger and freight transportation. The decision of the Commission was reached in considering the question of rate reductions, and the full text of the Commission's report and opinion in that case, in which a horizontal cut of 10% in freight rates was made, was given in the "Chronicle" of May 27 1922, pages 2317 to 2329. The conclusions as to the rate of return will be found on page 2327. The Commission ruled: "That on and after March 1 1922 a fair return upon the aggregate value of the railway property of the carriers defined in Section 15a of the Inter-State Commerce Act, determined as th rein provided, will be 5.75% of such aggregate property value as a uniform percentage for all rate groups or territories designated by this Commission."

Following a decision handed down March 17 1923 by the Federal Court at New Orleans upholding the constitutionality of the provision in the Transportation Act generally known as the "recapture" clause (which was regarded as a test case (see V. 116, p. 1723), the Inter-State Commerce Commission on Mar. 23 1923 issued an order requiring all railroads to report by May 1 1923 as to their earnings during the year 1922 and to pay over to the Government under the Transportation Act one-half of the amount by which such earnings exceeded a 6% return on the value of the investment. V. 116, p. 1243.

The Transportation Act of 1920 was designed to enable the railroads as a whole to meet their financial problems caused by the war and Federal operation, and to assist them in their future financing by giving them a reasonable, though extremely moderate, return on their investment. The immediate effect was most disappointing owing to an enormous increase in labor costs and a precipitate decline in railroad traffic. (V. 113, p. 1732 to 1734.) The railroads were therefore obliged to curtail their expenses drastically and to seek a reduction in the wages of their employees.

1922	----	2,467,672,000	5,558,923,093	759,946,000	-----

In April 1921 the Railroad Labor Board ordered the abolition on July 1 1921 of some of the provisions of the "National Agreements" which the railroad managers claimed had cost the railroads of the U. S. $300,000,000 per annum, but laid down 16 cardinal principles that must be maintained. (V. 112, p. 1580, 1581; V. 113, p. 34, 805, 893, 915, 916, 1326, 1429, 1644, 1731, 1732.)

Subsequently in 1921-22 the national agreements were revised by the Labor Board, removing some of their most burdensome features in the case of railroad labor other than trainmen's brotherhoods. See below.

The United States Railroad Labor Board, at Chicago, on May 10 1922 handed down a decision holding the practice of contracting shop repair work to outside firms as a violation of the Transportation Act. V. 115, p. 34, 1597, 2342, 2540; V. 114, p. 2084, 2174.

In May and June 1921 the Labor Board announced its decision that the exigencies of the situation demanded a substantial decrease in railroad expenses, and for that reason railroad wages on the larger roads should be reduced on the average 12%. A strike against this decrease and to forestall any further changes in wages and working conditions was ordered by the four trainmen's brotherhoods and the switchmen's union; but on Oct. 27 1921, on the eve of its becoming effective, was declared off, as below stated.

In Nov. 1921 many reductions in freight rates had already been made (since Aug. 1920), and the railway executives, in order further to reduce these rates as demanded by the public, posted notices of a proposed additional wage cut of about 10% with the intent of wiping out the remainder of the wage advance of 1920. The railroads agreed to pass on all benefit from this further wage cut to the public, and in anticipation of same put in effect on Jan. 7 1922 an experimental reduction of 10% on agricultural products for all parts of the country, this reduction to stand during the six months in which the plan to reduce wages will come before the Labor Board. See also V. 113, p. 2153, 2470, 2786. It was not until May 1922 that the Labor Board announced its decision as to further wage reductions, and it then promulgated decreases in the pay of the shop craft employees, maintenance of way men, freight car men, signal men, clerks, &c., effective July 1 1922, which it was computed would effect a saving to the carriers of $135,000,000 per year.

This led to a prolonged strike, as noted further on in the article on Railroad Wages. V. 114, p. 2432, 2541, 2784. The maintenance of way men, who did not join in the strike, had a portion of the decrease remitted to them on a rehearing, the remission amounting to 2 cents an hour.

Late in 1921 and early in 1922 the Federal Government sold a large amount of its holdings of equipment trusts (see below), and was using the proceeds to settle its accounts with the railroads.

The sale of these equipment trusts and the improved financial outlook late in 1921 led the Federal Administration to withdraw their support of the so-called Funding Bill, which, as an amendment to the Transportation Act of 1920, would have permitted the settlement of the large amounts due by the Government to the railroads on account of compensation, guaranty, &c., and the funding of $500,000,000 of indebtedness due by them to the Government for expenditures made during Federal control on additions and improvement account. Compare V. 113, p. 2371, 2043, 2043, 2042, 1730, 1115, 910 to 914, 805, 696, 488, 487, 149.

For tentative valuations of 150 roads filed in 1921, see V. 113, p. 1008, 1011, 1539. Further tentative valuations have been noted in subsequent issues of the "Chronicle" in our "General Investment News" department. See also article entitled "Federal Valuation of the Railroads in the United States," by the Committee on Railroad Securities of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, in "Chronicle" of Oct. 21 1922, page 1798.

The general railroad consolidation plans submitted tentatively in 1921 were outlined in V. 113, p. 1429 to 1431, 1950 to 1952. Hearings on the so-called Ripley plan, approved with certain modification by the Inter-State Commerce Commission, scheduled to begin before that Commission on April 24 1922 were postponed until Nov. 17 (V. 115, p. 2232), when they were resumed. Several hearings have since been held on some of the proposed systems, principally the Northern Pacific-Burlington, the Great Northern-St. Paul, the Union Pacific-Northwestern and the Frisco-Katy-Cotton Belt systems, and in May 1923 on the Baltimore & Ohio-Reading, the New England Great Lakes, the Pennsylvania and the New York Central systems, but a final determination has not been made.

[Refutation of statements that railroad securities are badly watered. Penna. RR., "Chronicle" V. 112, p. 2712; N. Y. Central, V. 112, p. 2046.]

The following outlines the Transportation Act of 1920:

GUARANTEED INCOME FOR SIX MONTHS.—Railroad companies signifying by March 15 1920 their acceptance of such guaranty shall be guaranteed by the United States Government for the first six months ending Sept. 1 1920 following the termination of Federal control, sums at the same rate as their compensation during that control.

RATES MUST BE ADJUSTED SO AS TO YIELD A FAIR RETURN —Rates shall be adjusted from time to time so that the carriers as a whole, or as a whole in each rate group or territory, will, under honest, efficient and economical management and reasonable maintenance expenditures, earn an annual net railway operating income, as nearly as may be, to a fair return upon the aggregate value of the property of such carriers held for or used in the service of transportation.

To this end the Commission, pending the completion of its valuation of the railway properties in the United States, is required to make tentative valuations of the several roads as a basis for rate making.

RETURN ON CAPITAL FOR FIRST TWO YEARS.—During the two years beginning March 1 1920 the Commission shall adopt 5½% as a fair return on the actual value of railroad properties and at its discretion may add a sum not to exceed a total of ½% for improvements, betterments or equipment chargeable to capital account.

DISTRIBUTION OF EARNINGS IN EXCESS OF 6%.—Net railway operating income in any year in excess of 6% of the value of the property shall be utilized as follows: (a) One-half of such excess shall be placed in a Reserve Fund maintained by the railroad; (b) the remaining one-half shall go into a General Railroad Contingent Fund (see also page 3 of this publication). A list of the carriers which have paid into the Treasury excess earnings during the guaranty period will be found on page 5.

REFUNDING OF CARRIERS' INDEBTEDNESS TO THE UNITED STATES.—The net indebtedness of each carrier to the United States for additions or betterments may be funded for a period of ten years (or less at option of company) from the termination of Federal control with interest at 6% per annum, subject to the right of the carrier to anticipate the payment of the whole or any part of the indebtedness. Any remaining debt to U. S. to be evidenced by 6% notes running one year or less.

CONSOLIDATION OF RAILROAD PROPERTIES—STOCK CONTROL, &C.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission is directed to prepare and adopt a plan for the consolidation of railroad properties into a limited number of competing systems, and consolidations are authorized when in harmony with the plan so adopted and approved by the Commission. See remarks above and plans as proposed in 1921, V. 113, p. 1429 to 1431 and 1950.

The Commission shall also pass on any proposed measures for the control of one road by another by consolidation, lease, stock ownership or otherwise. In any consolidation the total amount of outstanding stock and bonds of the consolidating company shall not exceed the value of the consolidated properties as determined by the Commission.

JOINT USE OF TERMINALS.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission whenever in its opinion there exists an emergency may require such joint or common use of terminals, including main-line tracks for a reasonable distance outside of such terminals as in its opinion will best meet the emergency and serve the public interest.

INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION MAY INITIATE RATES.—In the exercise of its power to prescribe just and reasonable rates, the Commission can initiate as well as modify and establish rates.

CONTROL OVER SECURITY ISSUES.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission is given exclusive control over the issuance of all railroad securities, except notes maturing in less than two years when the total issues of said notes of the railroad amounts to less than 5% of its capitalization See regulations. V. 111. p. 1814. 1049, 587.]

LABOR BOARDS TO ARBITRATE DISPUTES BETWEEN WAGE-EARNERS AND EMPLOYERS.—The law authorizes a system of labor boards of adjustment to be established by employers and employees. A central railroad labor board of appeal is created with power to hear disputes and initiate investigations.

The members of this board, three of whom are to represent labor, three railroad managers, and three the public, to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. There are no penal provisions for the enforcement of the decisions of this board. [See list of members on page 232.]

Federal Control—Standard Return.

The proclamation of President Wilson assuming control of the roads was dated Dec. 26 1917. See V. 105, p. 2509; V. 106, p. 35; V. 108, p. 2081.

CONTRACTS FOR GOVERNMENT CONTROL—RENTAL PAYMENTS.—The form of contract which the Government executed, with slight variations, with the railroads, will be found in V 107, p. 1157, 956.

The Act of Congress approved March 21 1918 (cited in V 106, p. 1421) authorized the President "to agree with and to guarantee" to any carrier "that during the period of such Federal control it shall receive as just compensation an annual sum (herein called standard return), for each year not exceeding a sum equivalent as nearly as may be to its average annual railway operating income for the three years ended June 30 1917." In a few cases for special reasons extra compensation was granted. Disputes, however, arose and when Federal control was terminated Feb. 29 1920 there still remained a number of roads concerning which the question of compensation, whether the standard return or a larger sum, was still to be determined.

Out of the aforesaid compensation as supplemented by the company's non-operating income, including interest and dividends on any bonds or stock owned, and other outside items each company was required to pay all Federal (war) taxes, interest and other fixed charges, and also any dividends allowed on their capital stock.

A list of the compensation contracts finally executed up to Sept. 15 1920 will be found, with the amounts of the compensation agreed upon, on pages 6, 7 and 252 of the issue of this Section for Nov. 27 1920. Others have been noted from week to week in subsequent issues of the "Chronicle."

EQUIPMENT TRUST AGREEMENTS OF JAN. 15 1920.

Equipment trust agreements were executed early in 1920 by some 80 leading railroad companies with the Director-General of Railroads and the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York as trustee, covering approximately $323,000,000 worth of new rolling stock, built and building. This rolling stock was ordered by the United States Railroad Administration during the period of Federal control of railroads and has been allocated to the railroad companies named below and accepted by them. (Compare V. 109, p. 1668, 1955, 2406.)

The notes, while issuable from time to time as equipment is delivered to the roads, are all dated Jan. 15 1920, payable both principal and interest, in gold of present standard. Each issue will mature in 15 equal installments on Jan. 15 in each year, 1921 to 1935, both inclusive, and will bear interest at 6% per annum, payable semi-annually, July 15 and Jan. 15 at the office of the trustee in New York City. They will be subject to redemption at the option of the maker prior to maturity at 103 and interest on any interest date after 60 days' notice, but only as entire issues.

The War Finance Corporation, in a statement issued by Managing Director Eugene Meyer Jr., on Jan. 22 1922 announced that the Director-General had addressed a letter to all railroads of which the U. S. Treasury still held issues of equipment trust obligations no part of which had yet been sold by it, asking [in order to increase the salability of its holdings] that he be permitted to subordinate to the remainder of the issue [which remainder he might then sell] not alone the last five maturities, 1931 to 1935, or any one or more of them, but such portion of the maturities of any year as he might determine. The official statement said:

"'Eleventh: Upon request of the holder, or holders, of all the notes which by their terms shall be due and payable in any year, and upon presentation of such notes for that purpose, the trustee shall stamp thereon, or upon such part thereof as said holder, or holders, may designate and request, the following words:

"'For value received and as an inducement to purchases of unstamped notes, the holder of this note has caused the same to be stamped pursuant to Article Eleventh of the Equipment Trust Agreement mentioned in the note, and, as provided in said Article Eleventh, the unstamped notes shall be payable in preference and priority to the stamped notes out of any moneys received or collected by the Trustee under said Equipment Trust Agreement upon enforcement of its rights or remedies in case of a default of the carrier.'

"For the present, it is the purpose of the Director-General, upon the execution of the supplemental agreements, making the amended clause operative, to makes sales of railroad equipment trust obligations under an arrangement, to subordinate, on the part of the Government, approximately 33 1-3% of the principal amount of each maturity; and the Director-General will be prepared to sell 66 2-3% of issues of equipment trust obligations, unsubordinated, at par and accrued interest to date of delivery. The Railroad Administration will thus retain the one-third subordinated part of all serial maturities."

NATIONAL RAILWAY SERVICE CORP. EQUIP. TRUSTS

This company was incorporated in Maryland July 29 1920 at the instance of the National Association of Owners of RR. Securities (S. Davies Warfield of Baltimore, President) to co-operate with the I.-S. C. Commission in assisting the railroads of the country to finance their needs for new rolling stock, as permitted by the amendment to the Transportation Act of 1920. (Compare V. 111, p. 458.)

The certificates were described by President Warfield substantially as follows (compare V. 111, p. 1661, 458, 493):

Corporation.—A public corporation, operated without profit. The entire capital stock, which is nominal, has been subscribed by the National Association of Owners of RR. Securities and will be deposited with the Secretary of the Treasury.

Description.—The initial certificates were issued in two series, not to exceed $30,000,000 each, maturing in 15 years in 30 semi-annual payments. Seven railroads or systems (see below) were to be included.

Class of Certificates.—The Certificates of each series are divided into (a) Prior Lien and (b) Deferred Lien Certificates. Trustee, Guaranty Tr. Co. on conditional sales basis; Bankers Trust Co. on lease basis.

The Prior Lien Certificates are prior in lien, bear int. at rate of 7% and will be taken by life insurance companies and investment institutions to the extent of 60% of the present issue of each series.

Deferred Lien Certificates to the extent of 40% bearing int. at 6% will be issued to secure the Government loans to the Service Corporation as the terms to each carrier are approved by the I.-S. C. Commission.

Security, &c.—The Deferred Lien Certificates are deferred both as to principal and interest to the Prior Lien Certificates in the hands of investors. A contingent fund and a sinking fund are provided under the trust agreements, which, with the carrier contracts are to be administered by the Corporation and the corporate trustees. As additional security to the Certificates, each carrier deposits with the trustee its notes for the purchase or rental of the equipment.

Railroads Included in Present Series.—The carriers which were to be included in one or the other of the initial series were as follows (compare V. 113, p. 183; V. 112, p. 1144, 372, 62):

Baltimore & Ohio RR.	Minneapolis & St. Louis RR.
Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Ry.	New Orl. Tex. & Mex. (V.112,p.1144)
Bangor & Aroostook Ry.	Wheeling & Lake Erie Ry.

In Nov. 1921 there had actually been issued (a) on the conditional sales basis $6,580,000 Prior Lien and $6,179,000 Deferred Lien Ctfs., and these had been created for the B. & O., N. O. Tex. & Mex. and Bangor & Aroostook; (b) on lease basis an additional amount for Chicago R. I. & Pac., Minn. & St. Louis and Wheeling & Lake Erie, viz., Prior Lien Ctfs., $7,760,000 (excl. $128,000 already paid); deferred lien ctfs., $5,258,730.

RAILROAD WAGES.

On July 20 1920 the U. S. RR. Labor Board, acting under Transportation Act of 1920, granted wage increases to the 2,000,000 railway employees of the United States, retroactive to May 1 1920, which the Board estimated would add approximately $600,000,000 to the pay roll, but which the Association of Railway Executives estimated at $625,921,085, or 21%, but which appears to have aggregated possibly $720,000,000. Increases aggregating about a billion had been demanded. See V. 111, p. 347 to 350, 459, 460; V. 110, p. 2252, 2254, 2624.

RAILROAD WAGES.

On July 1 1921, after careful investigation, the U. S. Labor Board permitted the railroads, aside from the so-called short lines (which are in a class by themselves), to make a wage decrease of about 12%, as against the aforesaid wage advance of May 1 1920. It was estimated that this would effect a saving in the yearly pay-rolls of the roads of $375,000,000. (Compare V. 112, p. 2143 to 2150, 2377; V. 113, p. 33.) While the decrease was duly put in effect, the question whether it should be accepted or should be opposed by a strike was referred by the leaders of the 16 railroad unions to their local organizations (V. 113, p. 149), which, it appears, were quite generally in favor of a strike, both to recover the lost wages and prevent further unfavorable changes in wage or labor conditions.

When, however, it came to the actual declaring of a strike only the four trainmen's brotherhoods and the switchmen's union were prepared to take this step in the face of a strongly adverse sentiment on the part of the public and the Federal Government, and even in the case of these unions, on a number of roads, notably the Pennsylvania Eastern Lines, the necessary 66 2-3% vote was lacking (V. 113, p. 1326, 1706, 1718, 1730 to 1738).

The strike was scheduled to begin in the various sections of the country Oct. 30 to Nov. 5 1921 (V. 113, p. 1735), but it was called off on Oct. 27 1921 after a hearing before the Labor Board, in view of the vote by the latter that it would not take up the matter of wage decreases until all the questions relating to national rules and regulations had been disposed of by it. (V. 113, p. 1849 to 1852, 1943.)

In 1921-22 the national rules were rewritten by the Labor Board on a somewhat more reasonable basis for the shop crafts and maintenance of way men, clerks and station employees, signal men, supervisors, firemen and oilers, train dispatchers, railway express employees, &c., but not for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Order of Railroad Conductors, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Switchmen's Union of North America. The efforts of the railroads to get these latter bodies to agree to a wage reduction of about 10% and to submit to various changes in the rules failed in April 1922.

Reductions in wages of shopmen, maintenance of way men, freight car men, signal men, clerks, &c., aggregating approximately $135,000,000 per annum, were announced by the U. S. Railroad Labor Board in May and June 1922, effective July 1 1922. V. 114, p. 2432, 2541, 2784.

Following the wage reduction, the shop craft organizations went on strike July 1 1922, and for three months thereafter the railroads of the country were seriously handicapped in their operations. V. 115, p. 139. On July 17 1922 about 8,000 stationary firemen, engineers and oilers also were called out. President Harding made strenuous efforts to get the strikers to return to work and held numerous conferences with representatives of the unions and with railway executives. But his proposals for the settlement of the strike of railway shopmen, though accepted Aug. 2 1922 by the employees, fell through, because the carriers rejected the recommendation that the men return to work with their former seniority and other rights unimpaired (V. 115, p. 611, 612). Later in the month, however, many of the roads made individual agreements with their men on the basis of the so-called Baltimore plan or other separate arrangements and where this was not done the strikers in large numbers gradually drifted back, so that by the end of September 1922 the strike ceased to be much of a disturbing influence. V. 115, p. 2123, 1596, 1282, 1283.

A preliminary injunction restraining the officials of the Federated Railway Shop Crafts from interfering in any way with the operation of the railroads was granted at Chicago Sept. 23 1922 by Federal District Judge James H. Wilkerson, and later was continued in force. This was an additional aid in breaking up the strike. (V. 115, p. 1495, 2123.) On May 1 1923 leaders of the strike of railroad shopmen abandoned their case in defense against this injunction and announced that their principal contentions in the case had been upheld. Attorney-General Daugherty, however, declared that the injunction proceedings in Chicago against leaders of railroad shopmen who were on strike last year "must be carried to a final conclusion in order that universal strikes which interfere with the transportation system of the country shall be a thing of the past." (V. 116, p. 2086.)

The threatened strike of 400,000 maintenance of way men had meanwhile been stayed, E. F. Grable, President of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers, having reached an agreement with the Railroad Labor Board to withhold any strike order until the Board could arrange for a rehearing (V. 115, p. 139, 395). After the rehearing the Labor Board (Oct. 14 1922) granted the employees, represented by the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers, an increase, effective Oct. 16 1922, of 2 cents an hour over the reduced schedule put in force on July 1 1922 (V. 115, p. 1790).

The rules as revised for the other unions in general add from one to two hours to the eight hours that must be worked at the regular pro rata rate before the punitive extra pay becomes operative.

An increase totaling over $3,000,000, together with the eight-hour day and time-and-one-half for overtime, was granted to approximately 65,048 members (freight employees and common laborers) of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, effective March 1 1923. V. 116, p. 898; V. 115, p. 2446, 2343.

The right is reserved to refund the Prior Lien 3½s into 1st M. 4s of 1898 due 1948, and to extend the due date of the S. W. Div. 3½s to date not later than July 1 1950.

The aforesaid 390 miles embrace: Main line Cincinnati to Toledo, 201 miles, including 141 miles leased from Dayton & Michigan RR. (a very profitable lease; see caption of that company); Tontogany to North Baltimore, 19 miles; Deshler to Findlay, 18 miles; Hamilton to East Middleton, 13 miles; Piqua to Troy, 9 miles; Dayton to Ironton Jct., 123 miles; other, 8 miles.

The B. & O. Reorganization.—On Aug. 29 1916 the Boston & Maine RR. was placed in temporary receivership on account of inability to pay its maturing obligation of nearly $20,000,000. Pres. James H. Hustis was appointed temporary receiver and continued in this position until reorganization and consolidation of the system on Dec. 1 1919.

The reorganization plan (V. 107, p. 1918, 2375, 2474), which became effective Dec. 1 1919, provided as follows:

(1) Consolidation of the Boston & Maine RR. with its seven directly leased lines and the assumption by the consolidated company of all subleases and other obligations.

(2) Payment in cash of principal and back interest of all matured obligations of the eight consolidating companies.

(3) Payment in cash of back interest on unmatured bonds and debentures of the consolidating companies, these being left as original or assumed obligations of the Boston & Maine RR.

(4) Exchange of stock of consolidating leased lines on which dividends had been paid as rentals for like amounts of Boston & Maine Cumulative First Preferred stocks, the latter to be issued in series with dividends corresponding to the dividends on the old leased line stocks, but for a period of 5 years these dividends to be paid at 20% less than the normal rates.

(5) Preferred stock of the Boston & Maine remains undisturbed, except that it is subordinated as to dividends but not as to principal to the First Preferred stock, and the regular 6% rate reduced to 4% for the period of 5 years. However, it has been stipulated that the dividend on this stock must be paid if earned.

(6) The Common stock of the Boston & Maine is undisturbed, but is to receive no dividends for a period of 5 years, except under conditions mentioned below. In case of liquidation all three classes of stock are to share equally in assets after providing for obligations and accumulated dividends on the First Preferred and Preferred stocks.

(7) The money necessary to pay off the matured obligations was obtained by the selling of $19,879,000 bonds to the U. S. Govt., these bonds being secured by the consolidated properties under a mortgage which equally secures all the outstanding bonds of the consolidated companies, except that $8,338,000 bonds of the consolidated companies which previously have been secured by mortgages retain these mortgages, which are senior in lien on the divisions covered to the lien of the new general mortgage.

(8) The agreement in respect to the reduction of Preferred dividends and non-payment of Common dividends during 5 years is modified by the provision that if during the period of 5 years the company shall sell $12,000,000 6% First Preferred stock at par and apply the proceeds in the reduction of debt to the Government, restrictions in respect to Boston & Maine Pref. and Common stocks shall lapse, but curtailment of dividends on the First Preferred stocks shall continue.

(9) The amounts earned for the stocks and not paid out on account of the reduction in dividend on the Pref. stock and the omitting of dividends on the Common are to be paid to a trustee to be applied in the purchase from the Government of the bonds it takes for its advances or invested in impts. V. 107, p. 1918, 2375, 2474.

CAPITAL STOCK.—First Pref., authorized, $50,817,900, of which $12,000,000 is reserved to retire $12,000,000 of new bonds. Issued, $38,817,900. Pref. only as to divs. (see paragraph 4 above). Preferred and Common stocks (see paragraphs 5 and 6 above). The Boston RR. Holding Co. holds $21,918,900 Common and $654,300 Preferred stock, and this has been ordered by the Court to be sold by Oct. 1 1923. V.108, p. 2122 Voting trust agreement, V. 116, p. 1176.

BONDS.—In exchange for the $19,879,060 advanced by the Government the company issued $17,606,060 5% bonds payable July 1 1920 and $2,273,000 6% bonds payable Jan. 1 1929. CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS.—In 1919 a company under the name of "Canadian National Railway Company" was incorporated by the Dominion Government with the intention of having that company take over and operate the railways owned or controlled by the Government. This company was organized in October 1922.

Co-ordination of the Canadian National and Grand Trunk Ry. systems has been carried out, according to announcement made Feb. 1 1923 by Prime Minister Mackenzie King. The voting capital stock of the Grand Trunk Ry. Co. of Canada, amounting to $37,073,492, held by the Minister of Finance in trust for His Majesty, in the right of the Dominion of Canada, has been transferred to make the amalgamation of the system complete.

An Order-in-Council dated Jan. 30 provides for the necessary transfer of stock. The directors of the Canadian National Ry. are authorized by the order to take all necessary steps to complete the amalgamation and to carry the same into effect. The Canadian National Ry. as constituted by such amalgamation is to have a capital stock of $180,424,327 and one share is to be issued for the whole of this amount, subsequently to be divisible into any number of shares of lesser denominations as may be requested from time to time by the Minister of Finance. The Minister of Finance will be registered on the books of the amalgamated company as the holder of this share of stock in trust for His Majesty.

About 22,300 miles of railways are being operated by the directors of Can. Nat. Rys. on behalf of the Dominion Govt.

In May 1920 Wm. A. Read & Co., New York, offered $15,000,000 7% equipment trust gold certificates, dated May, 1920, and due May 1 1935.

Semi-annual payments of $500,000 each beginning Nov. 1 1920 must be used by the trustee to purchase certificates at or under par, if obtainable. At the end of each six months any unexpended balance must be used at the direction of the railway to purchase either certificates or Canadian Government obligations due before the maturity date of the certificates. Certificates may be purchased at a premium and tendered by the railway company to the trustee, under the foregoing provisions.

In Nov. 1918 an Order-in-Council was passed transferring the management and operation of all the other Government railways in Canada to the board of directors which had been appointed to manage the Canadian Northern Ry. system.

In June 1919 the Canadian National Ry. was incorporated at the instance of the Canadian Government, which owns its entire capital stock, to operate all the Government-owned lines. On June 30 1919 the title to the physical property of the Canadian Northern Ry. Co. and its subsidiaries was still vested in the several original companies, and they were directly liable for their bonds though Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railway, on June 30 informed the Canadian House of Commons that if the net earnings of the Canadian Northern Ry. are insufficient to pay the bond interest the Government had arranged to provide for such interest for the current fiscal year.

DOMINION CONTROL AND LOANS.—In 1914 the Canadian Government guaranteed $45,000,000 of 4% debentures and took over additional $33,000,000 of the capital stock over the $7,000,000 previously acquired. In 1918 the balance of the $100,000,000 was acquired. The total capital stock is now $100,000,500 of which $500 is outstanding in the hands of the public. V. 106, p. 2344; V. 107, p. 1191; V. 108, p. 1822; V. 98, p. 1600, 1607, 1918.

In 1917, under Act of the Canadian Parliament, the Government advanced to the roads of the system $25,000,000 with which to meet coupons and other maturing obligations (V. 105, p. 496, 996, 1207, 2271, 2364; V. 106, p. 2344. In 1918 further agreed to assist the company by guaranty of principal and interest, in renewing or postponing maturing obligations of the system. V. 106, p. 1796, 2223. Also in 1918 voted to grant a further loan of $25,000,000. Compare V. 106, p. 2559, 2344, 2336, 2223.

CAPITAL STOCK.—Of the $125,000,000 cap. stock as increased in 1914, $25,000,000 was issuable only in exchange for Income Charge stock, the right to exchange expiring Jan. 1 1922. V. 98, p. 1600; V. 100, p. 393; V. 105, p. 996.

DEBT.—The $45,000,000 debenture stock was guaranteed in 1914, principal and int., by the Dominion Govt. under plan outlined in V. 98, p. 1600, 1607, 1918. HISTORY.—Reorg. in 1887 without foreclosure; V. 44, p. 714, 716; V. 105, p. 1707. Concerning coal properties, see Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Co. and Lehigh Coal & Navigation under "Industrials." In 1901 Reading Company acquired control, owning $14,500,000 stock. The latter company will dispose of its holdings under its dissolution plan. V. 113, p. 1469; V. 112, p. 743, 2304; V. 72, p. 86, 136, 241, 391, 721. In Sept. 1913 the Govt. brought suit alleging violation of both the Sherman law and the commodities clause of the I.-S. Commerce Law. In Oct. 1915 final decree of U. S. District Court dismissing said suit ordered that this company must dispose of its interest in the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Co. within 90 days. Both parties appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. On April 26 1920 the U. S. Supreme Court sustained most of the Government's charges. The plan for the disposal by the company of all the stock of the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Co. owned or controlled by it (as embodied in the dissolution decree of the Reading Co. dated Feb. 14 1921), provided that the stock be disposed of within six months after entry of the decree or previous to any other later date which may be fixed by the Court. Announcement was made on Nov. 17 1921 that the company had sold its 169,788 shares of Coal Co. stock to a syndicate for $32,500,000. See V. 114, p. 737, 946, 2578; V. 115, p. 182, 644, 868; V. 113, p. 1982, 2184, 2719; V. 112, p. 743, 2641; V. 101, p. 1464, 1807; V. 110, p. 1816. Full Crew Law, V. 105, p. 1897, 2093. Rebate decision in V. 109, p. 1891.
